This, the par excellence of all Piano methods, maintains the front rank, and its sale eclipses that of all others—Foreign or American, combined. The publishers claim its annual sale of 25,000 copies is indisputable proof of positive and intrinsic merit, and its success is no mystery, but due to thorough excellence in all its departments—rudimental and instructive; to its valuable exercises as well as its charming recreations.

A new edition just issued contains "Schumann's Maxims" and the famous "Czerny's Letters on the Art of Playing the Piano." "Richardson's New Method" thus contains over 260 pages full music size, and is justly claimed to be the best Piano method extant.

The Land of the Green Maple Leaf.

BY EVAN MACCOLL.

Of all the [illegible] lands you can name boys,
There's one we may well rank the chief;
'Tis that we our own proudly claim boys—
The land of the Green Maple Leaf!
A majestic land well may be, boys,
That land of bright annal though brief;
Whoever would feel truly free, boys,
Should live 'neath the Green Maple Leaf.

To praises of moorlands and mountains
They well may grow readily deaf,
Who dwell by the lakes and the fountains
Fair-fringed by the Green Maple Leaf,
Or roam where the woodman's axe bringeth
The lords of the forest to grief,
Till up to a paradise springeth
His Home by the Green Maple Leaf.

He, here, who a bachelor liveth
May well be set down for a "calf,"
Well shunned by each darling who giveth
Love's kiss 'neath the Green Maple Leaf.
The heart that is proof to such graces
As theirs, must be hard as a reef;—
Let's hope that such desolate cases
Are scarce 'neath the Green Maple Leaf.

In lords and their lackeys dependent
'Tis well that our list is but brief;
The homage on tinsel attendant
They'd miss 'neath the Green Maple Leaf.
Where Autumn the toils of the ploughman
Rewards with a fifty-fold sheaf,
The true lords of the soil are our yeomen
Who guard well the Green Maple Leaf.

Sam Slick more than once, in full feather,
To grab it tried hard—the fool thief!
For his pains we well riddled his leather,
And our own kept the Green Maple Leaf;
And our own—ours alone—it shall be boys,
Despite all who'd work it mischief,
Till first in the van of the free, boys,
Shall flaunt our beloved Maple Leaf.

Life on the Gold Coast About a Century Ago.

The catalogue of pleasures by which Loadon, in his newly published book on the Gold Coasts, endeavors to support his theory of the agreeableness of life in that part of the world is not very attractive. The first amusement noticed is a picnic in the forest on the arrival of a ship of war. Dinner parties are also frequent, and generally followed by a dance. To the dancing, indeed, there was the trifling objection that there were no ladies; but the young officers enjoyed dancing with each other to the strains of a drummer and fifer. Another pleasure was listening to the band of the Gold Coast Militia. This band was composed of four very dilapidated veterans; they could not stand, because they all suffered from the guinea-worm which had got into their legs and feet. However, they were wrapped up in cloth and placed upon stools. One of them performed upon the big drum, which was unluckily so much torn at one end that the stick occasionally disappeared in the inside, a second had a key hole, some of the keys of which had fallen of, whilst the springs of others were braken; the two remaining musicians had a clarionet and a tambourine. Then, again, there was a billiard table, torn and uneven, it is true, but still a table. Out door amusements were more difficult to obtain. Cape Coast being surrounded on every side by dense bush, there was only one practicable path. One of the other roads was too 'hot and muddy,' another lay by a graveyard, against which the inhabitants of Cape Coast had a pardonable prejudice, and the sea beach was too much frequented by natives for various purposes. The popular promenade to which there was no serious objection except that it was bordered by a hedge of prickly-pear, of which the thorns were apt to get into the feet of passers-by, and which gave protection to large numbers of venomous snakes, led to a certain salt lake. This salt lake was of great importance for purposes of recreation. Boating by sea was impossible, on account of the strength of the surf and the violence of the frequent squalls. But regattas could be got up upon the lake, by the help of rigging native canoes. The canoes generally upset on the first attempt to put them about; but the lake was not very deep, and there were always paddling canoes at hand; so that the only result was a sound wetting, to which the yachtsmen soon became accustomed. After running over this catalogue of the pleasures of Cape Coast, Dr. Gordon remarks that "though life presented some of the phases mentioned, it was not all play." There was so much to be done that people could not give themselves up entirely to the exciting round of dissipations which we have described. In fact, owing to some prejudice about the discomforts of the region, officers were only sent in sufficient numbers to do the necessary work. But, as a large portion were always ill, an undue quantity of work was thrown upon the remainder. Thus Dr. Gordon has known an officer perform divine service, serve out the rations, repair a gun-carriage, superintend the erection of a lighthouse, make a barrack inspection, and wind up by the cheerful employment of commanding a funeral party over a brother officer. Obviously, though the attractions of life may have been as great at Cape Coast Castle as at Knightsbridge, an officer of a West India regiment could not partake of them with a mind as free as that of an officer of the Guards. However, he endeavors to set before us the "general tenor of life" by some doggrel verses, written by one of his friends to a brother officer absent from ill-health. This letter describes a dinner at the Wesleyan Mission-house. Both the writer and the recipient of the letter, we may add, died within a few years. The party consisted of twelve, and the bill of fare included soup, beef, potatoes, turkey and ham, roast and boiled mutton, fricassees,

Pastries and pies, plum-pudding and rice,
And many things else which looked very nice.

There were, moreover, stout, pale ale, and champagne, with madeira and sherry, enough to make the party, perhaps with a view to the rhyme, "exceedingly merry." It must be admitted that the entertainment was tolerably substantial for a missionary, especially in a climate where the thermometer seldom or never falls below eighty degrees Fahrenheit. A more striking account, however, of the means by which the British officer keeps dull care at bay in the tropics is given in another instructive anecdote. Dr. Gordon tells us how narrowly he escaped an adventure at Accra in 1847. Some English officers were stationed at the fort, and it was of course their duty to suppress the slave trade as far as their power extended. One day a rakish looking schooner appeared, and from it landed a very agreeable Yankee skipper. He was asked to dinner, became very jovial, and invited all the officers to accompany him on board his ship for a few days' 'pogg' fishing. The invitation was accepted, but next morning the officers remembered in time that it might be rather awkward for them to be found by a British cruiser on board of a ship which was well understood to be a slaver. Their withdrawal was lucky, for the next morning appeared H. M. S. 'Devastation,' which immediately gave chase to the schooner. After a time the schooner was overhauled, and brought into the roads of Accra. No slaves were actually on board, and the Yankee captain had taken good care to have his papers in order. Accordingly another dinner took place, including the officers of the 'Devastation,' as well as the previous party. Dinner was very lively, and was followed by a game of leapfrog; after which the guests tried how many chairs they could clear at a standing jump. A good many falls naturally occurred at these postprandial athletics; and, as the fun became more boisterous, the Yankee skipper avoided liquors, and managed to withdraw quietly as became a decent slave-trader. The naval officers returned to their ship a little before dawn; and when they got up the next day the Yankee schooner had taken leave without notice. A few days afterwards it came out that she had shipped her cargo of slaves and departed in safety.—Saturday Review.

The Ottawa Times

MONDAY, MARCH 2, 1874.

Hon. H. Blanchard, M.P.P., and Lady, of Halifax, N.S., have arrived in Ottawa, and are staying at the St. Lawrence Hall, Sussex Street.

The Hon. Malcolm Cameron left on Saturday night for Whitby, to take part in some meetings which are being held in the County of Ontario, in furtherance of the prohibitory league movement.

Amongst the later appointments of the Disraeli Cabinet is that of the Earl of Abercorn, as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. If we are not mistaken this nobleman was in Canada, as an officer of the Guaads, at the time of the Trent excitement, and subsequently married a daughter of General Magruder, a Southern officer then and long after a resident of Montreal.

The report of the Montreal Harbour Engineer shows that a great deal of work in the improvement of the channel and the harbour by dredging and the construction of new wharves, was performed during 1873. A large sum of money has, as a necessary consequence, been spent, and the work is to been continued till the port is in a condition to accommodate easily all the river and ocean vessels likely to visit it. The wharves will soon extend as far down as Hochelaga.

The public must heave a sigh of relief at the conclusion of the Tichborne trial, which relieves it of a legal wrangle and social puzzle, without example in British annals. The case for the claimant having fairly broken down, and the prosecution against him fully succeeded, the controversy about his identity may ere long die out, so far as most people are concerned; and yet it will be long, perhaps, in the absence of any confession of fraud by the convict, before many will abandon the belief that he is the real Roger, cruelly deprived of his rights. The future career of this remarkable man can hardly fail to be a subject of interest to a great number for many a day. The Government, no less than the public, may be glad to be done with this wearisome trial. The prisoner may not have to serve out his fourteen years' sentence.

THE BALLOT IN ONTARIO.

Election by ballot will, doubtless, soon be the rule in all British North America. The bill with this object, so far as Ontario is concerned, is likely to receive its third reading in a few days. Our columns, on Saturday, presented a synopsis of the discussion on the second reading, which was carried without a division, although the Leader of the Opposition, Mr. M. C. Cameron, expressed his disapproval of the principle of secret voting. He took care to guard against the impression that he spoke for all his party on the occasion, distinctly declaring that many of his friends favoured the ballot. We have already made known our belief that this law was far less called for in Ontario than in some other countries, such as the United Kingdom, where the improper influencing of voters by landlords, clergymen, and employers was anything but an uncommon practice, still, at the same time, the same influential classes may to some extent abuse their advantages in Canada, too, while bribery is an evil always to be apprehended. Probably not one elector in Ontario to ten in Enland, taking the same population in each, is at the mercy of the parties inclined to resort to coercion; but it is important that the right, the privilege or the trust of the franchise—however it be regarded—should be exercised in all cases, so far as legal machinery can secure this object, according to the honest wish of the elector. It would be a hardship if even 1,000 electors in 100,000 were forced to vote against their consciences, and there may be more than that number in Ontario, in such an unpleasant position. The chief evil to be combatted here, as in all communities where the number of ignorant and poor is considerable, is bribery. The ballot operates as a direct discouragement thereto, since the man who pays has no security, whatever, for getting the thing promised, or the worth of his money at the polls. Secret voting should also prove one of the agencies on the side of order. We are told this has been the experience of the Old Country, although the late elections furnished a good many violent rows. Clearly, however, when party feeling runs high, there is less risk of personal assault on account of a vote, the destination of which is a mystery, than were the matter perfectly known. Whether perfect or general secrecy can be secured, remains a problem. The admirers of the old system contend that it is impossible in many, if not the majority of instances, as the elector will make the fact known himself. It may be found impracticable to enforce the penalty for revelation. Not many, unless actuated by spite, would take the trouble to inform against a man who had published his act, and even in court itself, the defendant would have all the chances of the law's delays, and clever defence on the side of acquittal. The chief value of the ballot will be manifested in regard to the time and transactions anterior to, and terminating in the casting of the vote. The system is worth a trial in this part of Canada, where coercion and corruption have been on the increase of late years, with party feeling higher than formerly. Such influences, in connection with the operation of secret and other societies, require to be guarded against, in order that the calm, honest sentiment of the voter may find practical expression at the polls.

THE FISHERIES OF CANADA.

Our readers will have noticed by our report of the proceedings of the Dominion Board of Trade, on Friday, that the important subject of the Canadian Gulf Fisheries was not forgotten. The Hon. Mr. Howlan, of Prince Edward Island, who had a day or two before, described himself as a politician, who had fulfilled a mission at Washington, for his Province, in connection with this interest, was the introducer of the subject. He was properly accorded an extension of time, for his speech, to enable him to notice at least its leading features. We have given already a brief report of his remarks, which bear out the view taken by the Party now in power and, for that matter, by some of the members of the present Opposition, as to the one-sided character of the Washington Treaty so far as our fisheries are concerned. Mr. Howlan is an intelligent, experienced public man, evidently well versed in business, and possessing a thorough knowledge of the Island and the Gulf Fisheries; so his testimony is certainly entitled to credit with the people of the West. It is, moreover, wholly free from any suspicion of partizan motive, for the Macdonald Government was the instrumentality in bringing Prince Edward Island into the Union, on terms anything but illiberal. No ill will therefore can be felt towards Sir John and his colleagues, on personal grounds, by a man in Mr. Howlan's position. Well, he distinctly asserts before a Commercial Assembly in Ottawa, that the Americans got the advantage of Canada in the treaty, and that they are pushing their advantage with a vigor amounting to recklessness. So far Canada has received no equivalent for this great concession, the value of which we, Western people, have little or no idea of. Mr. Howlan spoke of 1,000 New England fishing vessels being actively engaged off our Gulf Coasts, from which they carried away valuable freights to the United States markets. In fact this marine harvest represents an annual value of $6,000,000 to $7,000,000. The British and American Commission, not having yet met, to determine the balance of advantage by the Treaty, Canada has, so far, received an inadequate return for her surrender. The American fisheries being exhausted, Canadians can do nothing there, while their own are the richest in the world attracting not only their neighbours, but the French and other fishermen. It is high time the bargain between Canada and the Republic were equalised, and it is satisfactory to observe a prospect of this result in the Commission shortly to sit at Halifax. Mr. Howlan does not, however, lay so much stress upon the access to our fishing-grounds, enjoyed by foreigners, as the propriety of the enforcement of the best regulations for the protection of this valuable interest. He spoke as if it was really in danger from greed, wastfulness, ignorance or recklessness on the part of our neighbors. This may be the fact, and Canadians, also, may not be blameless. Unquestionably it would be folly, when we think so much of our lumbering and mining interests, to treat the fisheries with apathy. They produced last year, with sales at the low prices got on the coasts, $11,000,000 to Canadians, and might, with better methods of curing and preserving fish—not to speak of improvement in the art of catching—be made still more profitable to us. There is no need to insist upon the value of these fisheries to the Dominion, in a national point of view, as a nursery for seamen. As, at present, the third maritime power of the world, we shall want the material for a good navy, to ensure our safety at home and our respect abroad. It was every way wise and timely, therefore, for the Dominion Board of Trade to adopt unanimously Mr. Howlan's motion, for further information and statistics with regard to our fisheries, and additional steps looking to their proper protection.

The papers from British Columbia show that what was at one time thought a very serious popular movement, was a rather unimportant affair after all, and one that made no impression likely to prove permanent, or lead to results of consequence. The mob demonstration at the Legislature was got up by Dr. Helmcken and friends, including some Americans, through personal motives, including jealousy of Mr. De Cosmos, and a desire on the part of his enemies to get the government of the Province and the Ottawa representation into their own hands. Of course the motives of these gentry were not far removed from their interest, while their distrust of the Dominion Government, and opposition to the capitalization of the Graving-dock guarantee, were the merest sham. None know better than the scheming Doctor that the present Federal Ministry would be quite as favorable to British Columbia as the last, to put it in the mildest way, while far more honest in the matter of making promises. The little game, however, has failed, as DeCosmos and other friends of the Government have been elected, large subsequent meetings condemning the riotous conduct of Helmcken's gathering. General confidence is felt in the good faith and friendliness of the Mackenzie Cabinet, which, no doubt, events will justify. The Doctor's selfish policy has recoiled upon him, sadly, even the Local Ministry having gained by the violent, demagogue outburst, of which the enemies of both Governments vainly hoped so much.

Horses Saved.

The lives of thousands of horses have been saved during the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half as successful or given such universal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. IMMIGRATION AND TEMPERANCE.

In referring further to the interesting and valuable Report of the Honorable the Commissioner of Agriculture and Public Works for Ontario, on Immigration, we notice that in adverting to the various agents employed, and their work, in the British Isles and Europe, our former townsman, Alexander Begg, Esq., Chief Commissioner for Scotland, is specially mentioned as having sent out a large number of excellent emigrants, of whom seventeen hundred and ten presented bonus certificates from him at Quebec on their arrival. In his report to the Hon. Mr. McKellar, he states that over 2,000 persons were directed to Ontario during the season through the Glasgow office. He also states that the current of emigration from Scotland has been turned from the United States to Ontario this past season. In this we find he is correct, as the comparative statement of arrivals at New York for the half year ended 30th June, 1873, showed a decrease of Scottish immigrants of about 1,000, whilst the returns at Toronto showed a comparative increase of over 1,200. At the Hamilton agency, the Scotch arrivals for 1872 were 530, in 1873 they numbered 1,316. These are very satisfactory results from the Scottish agency, especially when it is borne in mind that the £2 5s rate did not take effect from Glasgow, the port of embarkation from Scotland to Quebec; consequently those emigrants were obliged to pay the £4 5s and £4 15s rates. To overcome this drawback, it appears from Mr. Begg's report, that he advanced over £200 sterling, (say $1,000) in connection with the six dollar bonus to assist poor emigrants to complete their passage money. Of this sum, we understand, that not one cent has yet been re paid.

In addition to the report of his years work in Scotland, Mr. Begg writes a supplementary report from Bracebridge, Muskoka District, dated 31st January last. His object in visiting that section of country was to obtain information as to the best location for a proposed temperance settlement or colony. The Ontario Government will doubtless grant every facility to such a desirable and reliable class of settlers. This movement we look upon as one of the most important that has yet been brought forward to open up that region of country which forms the basin of the Nippissing, and which contains large tracts of land fit for settlement. We have no doubt of the success of the colony—every lover of Canada will wish it success. The Sons of Temperance have already extended the right hand of fellowship to the new comers, as will be seen from the following circular from the Grand Worthy Patriarch, Mr. Rose, who has already done so much in the cause of temperance:—

TORONTO, February, 1874.

To Sons of Temperance, Good Templars and Members of other Temperance Organizations.

DEAR SIRS AND BROTHERS:—

I have much pleasure in bringing under your notice the proposed establishment of a settlement or colony, to be composed of Temperance people, in the townships of McMurrach and Perry, Parry Sound District.

Mr. Begg Ontario Emigration Commissioner for Scotland, has been applied to by a number of persons in Great Britain, holding temperance views, who are desirous of emigrating to some suitable country, where the community would be free from the evil influences and effects of the use of intoxicating liquor.

After considerable negotiation with the agents of the different British Colonies and the United States, the promoters of the colony decided in favor of Ontario. Mr. Begg was requested to choose a tract of land for the settlement. He made a special visit to the Free Grant District, and after obtaining all the reliable information possible, decided to recommend the townships above mentioned, which the Government have allowed for the use of the proposed colony.

The plan of settlement is as follows:—On each lot suitable for agricultural purposes, almost two-and-a-half acres will be cleared, and a log house built. To accomplish this it is proposed to set to work a body of men, as early in May next as practicable. They will be composed of able bodied members of the colony, and will be supplied with provisions, and allowed a certain rate of wages. So much of the wages as will be equal to the value of the house and clearing on the lot to be occupied by each individual pioneer, will be retained to apply on the said improvements—the balance will be paid over to him. The work of clearing, erecting houses, opening roads, etc., will be continued during the summer, and such other work as is practicable, until the spring of 1875, when families (if any) of the pioneer workmen and the main body of the colony will arrive and take possession of the houses and locations which have been prepared. A saw mill will be erected early in the summer of 1874, to supply lumber, shingles, lath etc., for finishing the house. An oatmeal mill will also be added as soon as required for the colony. The Government are opening a leading road through the townships, eastward from Monteith, to intersect the Muskoka Road, leading northward from Huntsville.

A Joint Stock Company is about to be formed (The International Temperance Settlement Company) for the purpose of managing the affairs of the colony. The stock will chiefly be held by the members of the settlement—none of whom, except the pioneer body, will be entitled to hold locations, unless holding stock to at least the amount of the value of the improvements on the location.

As, doubtless, there will be many of our own people in Canada who will desire to form part of such a community, and whose knowledge of clearing, and building houses, etc., would be of great advantage to the settlers from the Old Country, it has been deemed proper to place approved applicants, resident in Canada, on the same footing on those who emigrate to the colony from Great Britain.

Forms of application for membership may, pro tem, be obtained from Mr. J. B. McLachlan, Immigration Department, Toronto.

It is not to be expected that I should urge the foregoing plan of settlement upon your acceptance. To me it appears practicable; and, I think, only requires to be properly managed, to prove highly successful, and become the model settlement of the Dominion. The right hand of fellowship, cordially extended to our brethren and sisters from the Old Country, will greatly encourage them; whilst your practical knowledge of reclaiming the forest, and the best mode of conducting farming operations here, will, should any of you join their ranks, greatly assist towards their comfort and prosperity. Schools must be erected, and churches will not be lost sight of. Scotchmen, in their fatherland, are noted for their respect of the Sabbath; and they must not be left in this new colony without having the opportunity of following up those time-honored practices which, more than anything else, has made Scotland what it is. Englishmen and Irishmen too will desire to participate in those privileges.

There is no question about the salubrity of the district—pure water in abundance—no miasma or ague. The townships of McMurrich and Perry, although somewhat broken, contain sufficient land of good quality to sustain a very large population. Beautiful lakes and numerous streams, abounding with fish, diversify the country. That portion of the township which cannot at present be made available for agricultural purposes, will be valuable as reserves and pasture grounds when cleared—affording shelter to the settlement, and rendering the whole face of the country picturesque. Our glorious and revered principles cannot but flourish under such favourable circumstance. The Banner of Temperance will float, at least over one spot in this wide Dominion, where King Alcohol will have lost his power.

Yours fraternally,
GEO. MACLEAN ROSE,
G. W. Patriarch, Sons of Temperance, Ont.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

Feb. 27th, 1874.

SIR,—As a letter by Mr. Charles Horetsky, appeared lately in your columns, it may be presumed that you have some influence with that gentlemen. Would you, therefore, ask him to explain for the information of ordinary mortals who are not engineers, the two last pages of a pamphlet on the North-West, which he published not long ago. These pages may seem quite clear to himself. But to those who have no way of ascertaining what he means except through his words, they are quite unintelligible. He talks about about a "Pine river summit lake pass," and leads us to look for a description of it, but immediately wanders away by a mazy track through the Peace River Valley. Having thus confounded the luckless reader, he adds: "When we consider that the line just pointed out is via the Pine River, Summit Lake Pass, (which he has not pointed out) only fifty miles longer than that by the Tete Jaune Cache, &c

Mr. Horetzky takes us through the Rocky Mountains by the Peace River Valley, "at an elevation rarely exceeding 1,800 feet" (p. 28.) This is bravely done. But before ending the page, the writer with a degree of cruelty, of which only a Pacific engineer is capable, informs us that we have still to surmount a height of 2,400 feet, and this after having passed the Rocky Mountains! Do the Plains between these Mountains and the Ocean surpass them in height? Or is there what few are aware of, a higher range than the Rocky Mountains between them and the Pacific.

I cannot resist thinking that it is in great measure owing to the recondite modes of expression used by our engineers that so much difficulty has arisen on the question of a railway route to the shores of British Columbia. Let Mr. Horetzky, for one, be perspicuous, and we shall owe him thanks; for he suggests a route which promises to be practicable and available in many ways. Some years ago, Mr. Editor, your correspondent said: (Canadian Illustrated News, July 30, 1870,) "The valley of the Peace River may yet be adopted as the great intercolonial, nay, the international route from ocean to ocean—the route which will, one day, bind together by the ties of commerce—it may be also of lasting amity—four great divisions of the globe—Europe, America, Asia and Oceanica."

The Church of England.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—A work entitled "The Spirit of the Church," labelled on the inside of the cover "Christ Church, Ottawa, S.S. Teachers' Library, No. 14," and issued, as I am credibly informed, by the Church Book Depository in Kingston, and, therefore, doubtless having a considerable circulation throughout the entire Diocese of Ontario, has within a few days past been placed in my hands. Imagine my surprise and indignation on finding that in this volume, intended for the instruction of the teachers of the children in the Sunday Schools of our Protestant Church of England, that the doctrine of the Real Presence in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is openly and unblushingly taught and set forth as the doctrine of our Church; and also to find in the same work that the doctrine "of Priestly Confession" and "Absolution" is made the subject of an entire chapter in the work referred to, undisguisedly encouraging private confession to a priest as an integral part of the penitential discipline of the Church of England.

While there are many other subjects treated of in an equally unscriptural and unprotestant style in this work, I will on this occasion content myself by giving a few extracts from the chapter or paper "On the Holy Eucharist," and likewise from that "On Confession and Absolution."

First, then, I will give extracts referring to the ordinance of the Lord's Supper. On p.p. 190–91, the following may be found: "But the word 'Body' is no figure, for our Lord says—'This is my Body;' and not only so, but 'This is My Body, which is given for you.' Since then it was His true Body which was given for us upon the Cross; it is His true Body which is given to us in the Sacrament." The author gives the above as a quotation from an allegory in a work entitled "The Presence of Christ in the Holy Eucharist," p.p. 30-32, and then goes on to say with reference thereto: "But if we had the right to allegorize, how can we find the heart to do it, when once we picture to ourselves our Lord rising, taking, blessing, giving, speaking as He did? When we see and hear these things from the four great witnesses? We are so persuaded that it is so unnatural, that nothing but the force of education and blind fears of Rome could induce any serious person to decline the simple sense of the Saviour's words, were He only to be at the trouble of placing the four accounts side by side, and of marking the awful care and accuracy of the statements, and the deep solemnity of the transaction."

Again on page 192—"What other meaning, too, has consecration, than that the presence is in the elements? What else by the adoration, of which St. Ambrose and St. Augustine speaks as the universal practice? In our own office how distinct is the effective nature of this act, being a prayer by the Priest alone, to which the say Amen." * * * * *

I might continue to give extracts from the chapter in question of a like character with those already quoted, but it will suffice to give the following as a sample of the tenor and teaching of the entire paper "On the Holy Eucharist."

The writer says—"No man receives the teaching of Holy Scripture, the testimony of the Catholic Catholic Church, and the doctrine of this branch of it to which he belongs, unless he believes Christ's Body and Blood are present in His Sacrament, and this in the elements which are consecrated by His institution to be their shrine and channel."

Now let us proceed to examine a few of the passages in the chapter entitled "On Confession and Absolution," page 175.

The chapter in question opens in these words:—"We are strongly impressed with the practical importance of Confession." The writer of the paper proceeds to enumerate the many advantages that would accrue to members of the Church of England through the use of priestly confession and absolution. He says page 178—"How many torture themselves with difficulties, even in plain matters of belief, allowing them to breed inward sorrow and disquiet of mind, when a prudent confessor might set all to rights by a single word, if he knew the secret of the disorder?" We are convinced that there are many persons throughout this country, either consciously or unconsciously pining for want of a wise and moderate confessional system."

The writer goes on to speak of the value of priestly confession and absolution in certain cases in these words: page 180. "It would strengthen all that was real and earnest, while it would check all that was bold and presumptuous. It would give an assurance such as the heart longs for, grounded upon the promise of Christ, and conveyed through the sacerdotal absolution."

The writer of the paper "On Confession and Absolution" with a candour truly refreshing laments "the present dearth of English works on the subject," and proceeds to say, "it would be impossible to avoid referring to Roman Catholic sources," and in justification of this he makes use of the following language: "If the work of a German Protestant may be read, because it illustrates scripture or ecclesiastical history, a fortieri, the writings of St. Francis de Salles, or St. Carlo Barromeo, ought to be studied, because they illustrate the most difficult science of guiding souls."

He further says page 186:—"Undoubtedly, if private confession is to be used amongst us as a means of grace, we need confessors; and as unskilful confessors are most dangerous, we need them to be well instructed beforehand in this particular department of the pastor's office * * * We hope the period is not far distant, when steps shall be openly taken, both to encourage the practice of private confession, recognizing it as an integral part of our penitential discipline, and at the same time using every precaution to secure to the members of the church, a numerous body of prudent, learned and holy confessors."

This entire work should receive the careful examination of all who desire to preserve the Scriptural and Protestant character of the Church of England. It contains chapters on subjects equally dangerous in their character and tendency as are those from which quotations are given. Surely parents and guardians of the young must view with horror the instilling of such hurtful and soul-deluding doctrines as are set forth in "The Spirit of the Church." Churchmen and Churchwomen, fathers and mothers, examine this book for yourselves without delay, as you value the present and eternal welfare of those committed to your care.

A full attendance is urgently required upon the part of all the members.

THE DUNCAN ACT.—The by-law to prohibit the dispensing of liquors by retail in the Township of McNab was voted on last Friday, 20th inst. The vote stood thus: For by-law, 38; against, 104; by-law lost by 65. In Westmeath Township, where this by-law has been in force during the past year, a vote of the people was taken, and by a majority of 17 they decided to return to the whiskey.

JUNCTION OF THE BRIDGES.—Furious driving over the bridges is a habit much indulged in of late and if not discontinued will be attended with loss of life some day at the junction of the two bridges at the head of Rideau Street. On Saturday a lady was knocked over, but fortunately escaped further injury by the reckless driving of a Jehu, over the new bridge. It is to be hoped that the by-law regulating driving over bridges will be strictly enforced.

Temperance Meeting.

The usual Sunday Temperance Meeting was held in the Temperance Hall, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and was numerously attended. Mr. J. Johnston, Assist. Commissioner of Customs occupied the chair; and besides on the platform we observed the Rev. A. A. Cameron, Messrs. Hannum, McMillan, Beattie, Porter, and Russell.

The Chairman opened the meeting by giving out an appropriate Hymn of praise, which was joined in by the entire congregation; after which Mr. Porter read a portion of Scripture, and the Rev. Mr. Cameron engaged in prayer.

After concluding the introductory service, the Chairman said before calling on the Rev. gentleman, who was about to address the audience, he desired to correct an impression that had gone abroad in regard to some remarks made by him anent the work being done in the State of Ohio in support of the temperance cause, by the ladies of that place. He was made to say by the Citizen of the following day "that he approved of the movement, and trusted the ladies of Ottawa would go and do likewise." He knew the difficulty Reporters laboured under at times to give correct reports of meetings, and under these circumstances did not dispose to be fault finding, but wished it to be distinctly understood, that however commendable such a course might prove to be, yet he did not ask the ladies of Ottawa to emulate the example set by the ladies of Ohio. He knew that prayer was a powerful means for any purpose, and he thought its use by the ladies towards eradicating the evils of intemperance, had been attended with great success. He would add nothing further, but call on the Rev. Mr. Cameron to address the meeting.

The rev. gentleman in coming forward, stated that he thought he must somewhat differ from his friend the President as to the ladies' movement in Ottawa. He thought the resolve to do so could be as successfully maintained here, as in any other community. He said he appeared to some disadvantage in addressing an Ottawa audience on the subject of temperance, as he had spoken so often that he was now nearly run out of texts. He, however, thought that the temperance question had received new life and a fresh impulse from recent events. It had received accession to its forces in the influence of woman. He was pleased to see the good work being done by this meeting, as its influence was extending to the citizens generally: He adverted to the success that was attending the exertions of the late President, Mr. Watson, in the establishing of prohibitory leagues throughout the country. He thought there was but little doubt as to the success of prohibition, as he believed the members of the present Government were all favorably disposed towards such a measure. He next adverted to the "Women's Crusade" in the neighboring States, and drew the conclusion that it was the most powerful agency yet devised to crush out the demon of intemperance. He had read the commentaries of the various religious and secular journals on the movement, and all were agreed that it was the most effective crusade against intoxicating liquors ever yet known. The speaker next delivered a very elequent and touching address on the influence of women, citing many incidents of their power in this respect. He stated that temperance and total abstinence societies had been formed to war against king alchohol for years, and although they had worked hard and done much good, yet they had not eradicated the evil. Every system of organization had been tried to stay the demon, but without effect. Woman at last comes to assist in the good cause, and by virtue of her power does a mighty work. She meets the rum-seller in his bar, expatiates upon the evils done by his sale of strong drink; remonstrates with him as to the ruin he has inflicted upon a loved husband; accuses him of leading astray a son whom she adored, or relates the fact of having a daughter who has fallen, through the agency of the demon of intemperance. Woman, he said, brought her tears, her love, her enthusiasm, her devotion and self-sacrifice into the work, and used prayer in connection with all these, and he therefore asked, what could withstand such influence? Such batteries could rarely be overcome, and were almost sure to vanquish the citadel of the sin of intemperance. No one ever heard of such a warfare being waged before as that which was being now waged by this "Crusade" in the United States. He next spoke in eloquent terms of the efficacy of public prayer as compared with secret supplications; and attributed the success of the last great intemperance movement to this fact. He concluded a very fine address by drawing a comparative statement as to the temperance of the rich and poorer classes, stating that in proportion to numbers, the rich were more addicted to this vice than the more humbler classes, although it did not manifest itself in the same way. He trusted that this demon, which infested alike the beggar's cot and the Queen's palace, would be eradicated from the land, and leave but temperance and temperance principles alone to be enjoyed by a Christian community. He resumed his seat amidst loud applause.

After the collection was taken up, the usual Doxology was sung.

Mr. Porter then pronounced the benediction, after which the meeting dispersed.

CURLIANA.—On Friday afternoon last, a keenly contested curling match between four member of the Dominion Board of Trade and a like number of the City Club, was played at the Rink, Slater street, and resulted as follows:—Board of Trade Rink—W. McCullough, Montreal; W. P. McLarer, Chicago; C. S. Starke, Montreal, and Alex. Mitchell, Montreal, skip, score 10 points. Ottawa Rink—Dr. Bently, D. S. Eastwood, C. S. Scott and J. Thorburn, skip, score 12 points.

THE WEATHER.—The genial and balmy breezes of Spring have been ushered in upon us, with the month of March. It seems early to have the streets slushy and running streams of water, as if Winter were about to take its departure. Yesterday was a warm and beautiful day, the sun shining out in its fullest splendor, and melting the snow very rapidly. Ladies will have to veil their pretty faces for a time now to protect their fair complexions, unil it will be in season to raise the almost indespensable parachute. Winter is not yet gone however, and may yet return to bid us a final good bye, for it is said "if March comes in like a lamb it is sure to go out like a lion," and the truth of this proverb has been often verified.

C. Y. M. S. CONCERT—The attention of our readers is directed to an advertisement in another column, respecting a concert to be given on Thursday evening next, in the Rink, Music Hall, under the auspices of the Catholic Young Men's Society. Judging from the manner in which their concert was conducted last year, and taking into account the new and increased attraction offered on this occasion, there will be doubtless a liberal patronage awarded the endeavors of the society. The concert was postponed from the 16th of February, owing to the death of His Lordship the late Bishop of Ottawa; so that parties who held tickets for that occasion can still use them for Thursday night. The Rink will be kept warm all week, and consequently there need be no alarm as to its being uncomfortable on that evening.

Thomas Lyons, charged with interfering in some way with the duties of the person authorized to remove night soil, was dismissed.

Walter Thomas was charged with entering the store of Mr. Michaels and taking money and articles therefrom.

Mr. Michaels, being sworn, said he did not sleep about the door; sometimes he left money in the store drawers; on night of the 17th missed ten dollars; on the [illegible] inst. I missed three or four dollars in silver, cigar-holders and other things; I spoke to some friends, and on the night of the 25th Messrs. O'Neill and Gibson watched, but caught nobody; they watched the night following when prisoner was caught; I left some money in the cash box; it was not taken; I left [illegible] in the till, 50cts. of which was taken; pipe produced he said was once his property; could not say whether or not he had sold it; a large brass key produced was not his.

Witness then searched the prisoner, and got the pipe produced, and a lot of matches on him. Witness then brought the prisoner down to the police station.

Mr. John H P. Gibson was next sworn, and corroborated Mr. O'Neil's evidence.

Thomas was then committed to stand his trial at the Assizes.

Electricity! Thomas' Eclectric Oil! — Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Bro., Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cents.

CITY COUNCIL.—A regular meeting of the City Council will be held on Monday evening in the City Hall.

DR. WHEELER'S Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya.

SANDY CREEK, Aug. 21st, 18[illegible].

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you I have been for two years using LARGELY in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anæmic women, of whom we have so many, and in cases convalescing from prostrating diseases, I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is the remedy.

I am yours truly,
J. LYMAN BUCKLEY, M.D.

MONTREAL.

Contested Elections—A Fatal Blunder—French Canadian Re-union—The Charge Against Mr. Brydges—Markets.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28.

Proceedings in the contestation of elections having been hitherto delayed, owing to the absence of printed copies of the law on this subject, the Judges of the Supreme Court have very recently procured printed instructions of the rules to be followed in these cases. The first step in this direction was taken yesterday by Mr. Girouard, advocate, who filed notice with the prothonotaries of the contestation of the Beauharnois county election. Mr. B. Devlin presents his petition contesting the Montreal Centre Division election tomorrow.

The Mousseau vs. Witness libel case stands adjourned till Monday next.

An application before Judge Ramsay, by Messrs. Carter, Q. C., and McRae, the representatives of Mr. Brydges, is under consideration, with the view of obtaining the issue of a writ certiorari to quash the verdict of the Coroner's jury against that gentleman for manslaughter. The petitioners desire to have the record brought before the Queen's Bench, but it is replied that that has already been done. The application, which was to have been made to-day, has been postponed until next week, as the Solicitor General, owing to indisposition, was unable to be present.

A young man lately from Scotland, died last night at the General Hospital. He was attacked with measles, and under the mistake that it was small pox he was sent to the hospital, where he caught the latter disease and died.

The project is being agitated by L'Opinion Publique of having a grand reunion of all the St. Jean Baptiste Societies in Canada and the United States in Montreal to celebrate the National French Canadian Festival on the 24th June next. It thinks that such a meeting would do much good in strengthening the attachment of French Canadians to their native country, stemming the tide of emmigration to the States, and inducing many of those who have left to return. It knows thirty or forty societies in the Eastern States that would be willing to come to this city to celebrate the above anniversary, if the Montreal St. Jean Baptiste Society would invite them, and recommended a subscription in aid of the project, if necessary.

The Harbour Commissioners met this afternoon. A committee was appointed to consider a letter from the Department of Public Works, asking for further information respecting the contracts. The Commissioners were informed by letter that that the warrant for $60,000 on account of the deepening of the channel had been issued.

PRESCOTT.

The Ice Bridge Gone—Nearly a Serious Accident.

PRESCOTT, March 1.

The ice bridge opposite the town to Ogdensburg having been broken up by the late continued thaw and heavy winds, crossing is effected by means of row boats.

This afternoon about three o'clock, while a heavy south wind was blowing, John Gordon and Wm. Abott, ferrymen, started with three passengers, one of whom was a lady, and after getting out about 80 rods from the shore, the boat commenced filling with water, and after drifting about 200 yards, it capsized when close to the St Lawrence and Ottawa Railway Dock. The wharf being about six feet above the water level, great difficulty was experienced in rescuing the unfortunates. Gooden was insensible when taken out of the water, but Dr. Brouse, who was promptly in attendance, succeeded in restoring him to consciousness. Beyond the ill effect arising from the wetting, all are doing well, though it proved a very narrow escape.

Wilkins, Farnham; Robert Monketrick, Dudsville; Hermidas Lapoole, grocer, 605 St. Joseph street, Montreal; Flavien Papineau, 326 Ontario street, Montreal; Francis X Valade, 67½ St. Antoine street, Montreal; Emanuel Beauchemin, lumber merchant, Kingsley; Damase Marceau, tanner and currier, St. Michel. Dissolutions of partnership—Magloire Bouchard & Sons, dry-goods, Quebec; Boillard & Marios, traders, Quebec.

ORILLIA.

Sale of Liquor in Stores.

ORILLIA, Feb. 28.

The by-law for prohibiting license to stores was voted upon to-day. Only 147 votes were polled, which is scarcely half the votes in the municipality. Of these, 144 were for prohibition, and 3 were against the by-law. The Council will not grant more than nine hotel licenses, and no saloon licenses will be given. It is thought by some that the by-law can be upset. It is said that some of the liquor store proprietors having large stocks on hand intend to build stores outside the Corporation, and get licenses from the township to sell liquors ad libitum, and so defy the total abstainers.

PETROLIA.

Wells Stopped—Temperance Mass Meeting.

PETROLIA, Feb. 28.

The Western of Canada Oil Company shut down about fifty of their wells to-day, thereby throwing about seventy-five men out of employment. The cause is the depressed state of the oil market.

ENGLAND.

Abandoned—Installation—Peerage—The Claimant Found Guilty—The Ashantee War—News from Central Asia.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The company which issued proposals a few weeks ago for laying a light telegraph cable between England and America has abandoned the enterprise, because of scanty support, and gives notice that money deposited by subscribers to its stock will be refunded on demand.

Professor Huxley was yesterday installed as Rector of the University of Aberdeen.

The Right Hon. John Wilson is to be raised to the peerage.

The jury in the Tichborne case after being out a short time brought in the following verdict: "Guilty of all the charges," and the claimant was sentenced to fourteen years penal servitude. There is great excitement over the verdict.

Advices from Gold Coast represent that up to the 29th of January, it was doubtful whether the Ashantees meant peace or war. News having been received that a large force of the enemy was collecting in rear of the British forces, a reconnaisance was made, and this led to the series of battles previously reported, which ended in the capture of Coomassie.

A special to the London Telegraph from Central Asia, says the Yamus Turkomans recently made an attack on the Russian fortifications. They were defeated. While crossing a frozen river during their retreat, the ice broke, and a large number were drowned.

General Kauffman is to return to Khiva in April.

UNITED STATES.

Anniversary.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—Senate—The celebration of the 100th anniversary of American independence was discussed, which should be international in its character, and to which Kings, Queens, Emperors, Princes and Potentates should be invited. It was said against the proposal that it would not be consistent with American self-respect to invite them, and a World's Fair in America would make but a poor show on account of the spareness of the population, especially so soon after the Vienna Expedition.

Decrease.

During the month of January there has been a decrease, as compared with January last year, in the exports from Great Britain to the United States of clothing, earthen and chinaware, hardware, machinery, copper, railroad iron, pig-iron and writing and printing paper. The decrease in some cases is over one-half.

Suit.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—A suit has begun in the United States District Court by the United States against the York Street Flax Spinning Company, to recover $100,000, for alleged under-valuation of invoices of linen goods. The Company is English, and the suit is against its agent here.

Channel Improvement.

A meeting of the Coast Side Association was held last evening to consider the importance of the subject of the improvement of the channel at Hell Gate. Resolutions were adopted, one of which urges Senators and Representatives in Congress to secure an appropriation of at least $700,000 to complete the work and keep employed the men already engaged.

Release of Prisoners.

WILMINGTON, Feb 28.—The Warden of Newcastle Jail is accused of being in the plot to release the prisoners. It is said the outside party of confederates was very small. A carriage was found on the road to Philadelphia broken down and the horses nearly dead from over-driving. It is understood that the Warden has resigned. He was recently suspended by the Sheriff for allowing the escape of two other prisoners.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Christopher Rafferty was hung at Waukegan for the murder of Policeman O'Meara in Chicago two years ago.

Vote by Ballot.

The Ontario Government have at present a bill before the Local Legislature for the institution of vote by ballot. It provides for the supplying of ballot boxes, ballot books and all necessary appliances for each polling sub-division, and makes the returning officer responsible therefor. When a voter has proven his identity in the same manner as the present, he is handed a ballot paper on which the names of the candidates are printed in different colors, with a number on the back corresponding to a number previously placed against his name in the voters' list, and which number also corresponds with another on the counterfoil in the book from which the ballot paper has been separated; both ballot paper and counterfoil being also initialled by the deputy returning officer in charge. When he has received this paper the voter goes behind a screen, marks the person for whom he votes, folds the paper across so as to expose nothing but the officials initials, returns it to the officer, who, verifies his own initials, and then deposits it in the box in the presence of all persons entitled to be present. Provision is made for the votes of those who are blind, or unable to write, being marked by the officer in presence of the agents of the candidates. As soon as the poll is closed the deputy returning officer in the presence of the agents of the different candidates, makes up into separate packages each ballot box, the unused or spoiled ballot papers, and the voters' lists, sealing them with his own seals and those of the agents. These he must deliver personally to the returning officer with a statement of all the necessary particulars, to be called "the ballot paper account." After counting the votes, and rejecting those which may be regarded as invalid from any of the directions not having been complied with, the returning officer sends a report of his proceedings, with his returns, to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, all these papers are to be retained by the latter official for at least a year thereafter. The returning officer, when he has ascertained who has the majority, announces the same, and if there is no tie, has then, and then only, a right to record his own vote. Certain offences are marked and the penalty for each of these, in the case of a returning officer, is two years' imprisonment with hard labour, and in every other case six months, also with hard labour. All officers are to maintain perfect secrecy, and everyone convicted of in any way violating such secrecy is to be liable to six months imprisonment with hard labour; while no one can be compelled, even in any legal proceedings connected with the election, to disclose how he voted. Reasonable expenses are allowed to be paid out of the revenue fund of the Province, and no election is to be declared invalid from any technical mistake, if those who try such election believe it to have been conducted in accordance with the spirit and principle of the Act.

P. E. Island Affairs.

From the Charlottetown Herald.

The Examiner still continues to demoan the dismissals that have taken place. One would fancy on reading the lamentations, that there never was such an efficient public servant as Mr. Joseph Pope or one so charmingly adopted to perform the duties of a Treasury. Now, every man in the colony knows, that the "old gentleman" did positively no work all the long months he has borne the title of Treasurer, and Manager of the Savings Bank. He has been a mere shape in the office, while an underpaid and most efficient officer did all the work that was done. Mr. Joseph Pope of course had no objection to pocket a handsome salary, won for him by another man. In these circumstances the obvious course suggested by common sense was to put into the office the man who could perform its duties; and this has been done. For years Mr. Robins has done the hard work, at a servant's wages, it is time, therefore, that he should receive the full value which the Government allows for such services as he performs. Ornaments are not much needed in public offices, and as the most exhausting portion of Mr. Joseph Pope's work was "to move about, and in and out," his removal will probably facilitate the progress of work, and will certainly add to the duration of the carpet.

The Examiner attributes the dismissal of Mr. Joseph Pope to feelings of spite on the part of Mr. Laird. We would rather say, that it was on account of the "old gentleman's" acknowledged uselessness in the place where he was, and to a very widely spread feeling of dissatisfaction with his living without earning a livelihood at the expense of the country. If Mr. Laird had not insisted upon the dismissal of Mr. Joseph Pope, public opinion would. It would be flattery with a greater amount of falsehood in it than flattery usually has, to tell Mr. Joseph Pope that he has been a respected and obliging public servant, or that he carries public sympathies with him to his retirement. No doubt he feels disappointed, but he has no reasonable ground for such a feeling. He was thrust into office by his son James, when the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald was virtually dead. His appointment was a usurpation by a defunct ministry of the privileges of their successors. The only cause for blame that we can see, is that more of those gentlemen who were appointed in the same dishonorable manner have not shared the same fate with Mr. Joseph Pope.

Is the mind a ponderable or an imponderable substance; an essence, vapor, or an indescribable something which cannot be grasped, felt, or withheld? Man thinks, studies, invents, tires the brain by overwork, and loses his reason; rests his intellect, becomes calm, uses restoratives; and again thinks. When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphities, we cannot but conclude that the subtle power is really ponderable matter, from the fact that the ingredients are supplied which render it support and give it vitality. Persons who study hard should preserve their balance of power by using the Syrup. 2505

—OF—

Richardson's New Method

FOR THE

PIANOFORTE.

This, the par excellence of all Piano methods, maintains the front rank, and its sale eclipses that of all others—foreign or American, combined. The publishers claim its annual sale of 25,000 copies is indisputable proof of positive and intrinsic merit, and its success is no mystery, but due to thorough excellence in all its departments—rudimental and instructive; to its valuable exercises as well as its charming recreations.

A new edition just issued contains "Schumann's Maxims" and the famous "Czerny's Letters on the Art of Playing the Piano." "Richardson's New Method" thus contains over 250 pages full music size, and is justly claimed to be the best Piano method extant.

PRICE $3.75.

Used by thousands of Teachers and sold by all book and music dealers.

SECURITY SHOULD BE THE PRIMARY CONSIDERATION.

This old and favorite Company offers this in its large Capital, and the unlimited liability of the shareholders.

Special attention is drawn to a new feature in in Life business, just introduced by this Company,—that of insuring on the half-credit system. By this method, persons who wish to insure for their families an insurance for a large amount, but whose present income, though improving, will not admit of it, or persons in business who wish to utilise their funds to the fullest extent, and cannot therefore spare the necessary premiums for a large life policy, can insure $5,000 for the same amount of premiums as is required for $2,500, the remainder half-premium standing at 6 per cent. interest, as a debt on the policy until paid off.

Persons insuring now, or within the next few weeks, will obtain the benefit of one year's bonus.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color, has divested our current politics of half their bygone intensity. However parties may henceforth rise or fall, it is clear that the fundamental principles which have hitherto honorably distinguished the Republicans are henceforth to be regarded as practically accepted by the whole country. The right of every man to his own limbs and sinews—the equality of all citizens before the law—the inability of a State to enslave any portion of its people—the duty of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of this liberty until he forfeits it by crime—such are the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and palsied be the hand which shall seek to displace them! Though not twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of man and the benignant smile of God.

Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and humble from violence and oppression—to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilisation—to stimulate Ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economising Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gains of Industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, the Tribune contributes its zealous, persistent efforts.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially elucidated in its Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful tillers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who has $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as the Tribune. And we aspire to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage enables us to do; and we are resolved that our success of former years shall be exceeded in varied excellence and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our journal better and better, by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us!

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School, Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, LL.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published, and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers"

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of Dr. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on this local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of Dr. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of Dr DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its Early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen Physician to Guy's Hosp......

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

Dr. Granville F.R.S., Author of the 'Spas of Germany.'

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the Pale Oil."

Edwin Canton, Esq., F.R.C.S., Surgeon to Charing Cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL sold only in Imperial Half-pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 4s. 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; Capsuled and Labelled with his Stamp and Signature

GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength, Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, oitments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labell on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

VINEGAR BITTERS
VEGETABLE

DR. WALKER'S
CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

The American Publishers urge upon all intelligent readers in this country a liberal support of the Reprints which they have so long and so cheaply furnished, feeling sure that no expenditure for literary matter will yield so rich a return as that required for a subscription to these the LEADING PERIODICALS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

A FIEND IN UNIFORM.

DELIBERATE MURDER OF A YOUNG GIRL BY A POLICEMAN.

Circumstances of the Crime—Story of the Acquaintance Between the Assassin and his Victim—Desperate Conduct of the Murderer—A Terrible Scene in the Wooster Street Station House—A Mother's Curses and a Father's Grief.

The record of the New York Police Department was embellished yesterday by the deliberate murder and attempted outrage of a charming young girl, Mary Elizabeth Lawler, aged twenty one, by her suitor, John Doyle, a uniformed officer of the Fifteenth Precinct, in the hallway of No. 83 South Fifth avenue. The girl was called from her daily work to her death by her assassin, who, though under the influence of liquor, was not by any means intoxicated at the time.

Mary was the eldest of a family of thirteen children, six of whom are living, viz., Margaret, Josephine, Annie, Kate, Elizabeth, and Thomas Francis. All were born in New York, and the children of Thomas Lawler, a watchman in the employ of the National Express Company, and his wife Eliza, and lived happily together at No. 183 West Houston street. The family is an industrious and thriving one, and the mother still a comely woman, was more like an affectionate sister than a mother to her daughter, the eldest of whom was her favorite. The father at the time of the murder had been confined to his bed by sickness over two months, and left his sick couch where he had been carefully tended to moan and wring his hands over the mangled body of his child. Mary earned her own living by skirt making at George Bowman's manufactory, No. 83 South Fifth avenue, and received good wages on account of her industrious habits. She was the favorite of all the work girls, who loved her for her affectionate, obliging disposition. John Doyle, the murderer, was born in Ireland on the 17th of March, 1845, and learned the craft of a dock-builder. He came to this country when a youth, and was naturalized on the 15th of October, 1866. It is said that he was appointed a police in New York in that year, and was dismissed on the force for intoxication, but the Central Office books show no such record, although it is quite possible he might have been smuggled in the force under an assumed name with forged naturalization papers. His present term of police service began on the 23rd of June last, but no information was obtainable at Police Headquarters yesterday as to who recommended him for the position. He was honourably mentioned on the minutes of the Police Board two months ago for saving the lives of three boys who were in danger of suffocation at a fire in Rothschild's millinery establishment in East Fourteenth street.

Doyle became acquainted with the Lawler family seven or eight years ago, and began paying attentions to Mary two years ago, when he was President of the St. Joseph's Father Matthew T. A. B. Society, and worked as an artisan. It does not appear that they ever were formally engaged, but Doyle was gallant and took her out walking and to places of amusement frequently. It is pretty certain that three or four years ago Doyle was a drunkard, but his habits improved on his joining temperance society spoken of, and love of liquor rejoined the police. Mary had a horror of topers, and the first time she saw Doyle intoxicated she avoided him for several weeks, and only reconciled when he promised to mend his ways. Doyle, however, persisted in drinking, and several quarrels were the result. The last serious dispute about Doyle's drinking occurred about two months ago, on which occasion Mary told him that she would leave him forever if he did not reform. Doyle for several weeks pretended that he had done so, but the girl watched him, and found that he was deceiving her. Last week he wrote her a letter asking her to be dressed and ready to go to the theatre with him on Friday night. She waited for him at the appointed time, but he did not keep his appointment. Mary ascertained that instead of taking her out he went on a spree, and told him and her mother that "all was over between them." Monday afternoon Doyle, who was in uniform, and appeared to be intoxicated, called at No. 83 South Fifth avenue, and asked to see Mrs. Lawler. Mrs. Bowman, wife of the girl's employer, suspected that something was wrong, and told him she was out. Mary went home crying to her mother, and insisted on Doyle being restrained from annoying her, saying that she had done with him.

About two p. m. yesterday Doyle, who was on duty at the Mercer Street station house, asked to be excused for a short time as he wished to get his dinner. The request was granted, and he immediately went to No. 83 South Fifty Avenue, walked up the high stoop, rang the bell, and asked to see the proprietor. The girls in the work-room, which is the front parlor, thought a policeman had called to order the snow to be cleared away from the sidewalk. Mary, who was at her work, recognized Doyle's voice and went into the hall, which extends from the street into the back yard, and is divided off at the street end into a space about ten feet long and five feet wide by the front door and an inner door. Mary talked with Doyle several minutes, and Kate Gallagher who was employed in the skirt manufactory, herd the latter talking very loud and swearing and the words, "I'll shoot that man," and and the reply from Mary "Don't talk so, Johnny." Mary returned to the work-room after an absence of ten minutes and appeared much excited. She put on her cloak and hat, and told one of the girls she was going home. She then left the room, and nothing more was heard in the hall for fully five minutes, when a pistol shot was heard, followed by a heavy fall. Della G Connor, a work girl, rushed out of the front parlor and found the inner front door closed. Opening it she saw Mary in the space between it and the outer front door lying on the floor with her feet towards the yard. Doyle was at Mary's head sitting on the floor with his back to the door. He had his uniform cap on, and as the door was opened by Della he began rocking himself to and fro, howling and cursing like a maniac. Della placing her hand on Mary's face, found it bloody, and exclaimed, "Oh, you have killed her." Doyle caught hold of the dead girl's hair, pulled it violently, and then snatched Dell's dress and tore it in several places, so that it was with great difficulty she got away from him.

The girls in the work-room and the other inmates of the house, alarmed by the pistol-shot, Delia's shrieks, and Doyle's howling, attempted to get out of the front door, but Doyle sat with his back to it and exit was impossible. Doyle grew more and more violent, and taking off his cap placed it on Mary's head and pulled her hair and her clothing in an insane way. This lasted several minutes, till Mr. Boileaneau, a French artificial flower-maker, who lived up stairs, went through the basement, ran to the Eighth Precinct station-house, and secured the services of Officers Bliss and Reagan, who were on station-house duty. The officers attempted to enter the house by the front door, but Doyle kept his back against it and they had to go in through the basement. Doyle was dragged from his sitting position, and at first appeared to take his arrest in good part and was quite calm. When, however, he got to the street he became very violent and attempted to escape. The officers closed with him and threw him, but such was his strength and cunning that it required the additional help of officers Martin and Maran before he was secured and taken to the Wooster street station-house, where he was immediately locked up.

A stretcher was taken to No. 83 South Fifth Avenue, but Mary was quite dead. As her body was being taken out of the house her mother, who had been sent for, arrived, and threw herself on the remains with agonising screams. The corpse was wrenched from her with difficulty, and was taken to the station house and laid out in the day room. The death wound was discovered about an inch under the left eye and three quarters of an inch to the left of the nose. The wound took an upward direction, and the bullet had evidently entered the orbit and penetrated the brain. The weapon must have been held quite close to the girl's comely face, as the skin was filled with powder, the lashes of the left eye were burned, and the eyes, nose, and cheeks were considerably ecchymosed. Shortly after the arrival of the body, the father, who had heard the news in his sick bed, entered the station house and gave way to the most violent expressions of grief.

Coroner Woltham was summoned, and empannelled the following jury: Nathan Bardick, 117 Prince street; Robert H. Bolden, 131 Wooster street; Henry Gerchen, 109 Prince street; G. H. Eichoof, 106 Prince street; Frederick Bumster, 111 Wooster street; Frederick Kneale, 121 Prince street; J. W. Earney, 121 Wooster street; E. B. Henriques, 229 West Fourteenth street; Hewey Shute, 131 Wooster street.

The jury viewed the body, and were about to be discharged until Monday, when the inquest will be held, when Coroner Woltman asked Captain Williams to produce the prisoner. The jury were at moment in the day room, grouped around and staring at the body in common with a number of officers and citizens; the father and mother were seated a short distance from the body, wailing piteously, and an undertaker was preparing a coffin. Captain Williams sent the doorman and an officer to bring up Doyle from the cells below. They appeared to be gone an unusually long time, when suddenly a horrible din of stamping, shouting, and execrations alarmed the whole station house, and a number of officers, rushing down stairs, found the murderer engaged in a fierce combat with the doorman and officer. The officers closed on Doyle, and had a terrible struggle with him. The prisoner appeared to be endowed with superhuman strength, and was dragged inch by inch to the foot of the stairs leading to the day room, and then by half inches to the top step of the stairs, where he again fought like a tiger. Nothing could be more tragic or horrible than the scene. To the left the disfigured body, the weeping parents, the scared jurors—in fact, a panting mass of men, some with bloody faces, and in the midst of them a red-haired, red-faced demon, breathing like a locomotive and gasping curses. "Let that man go," shouted Captain Williams, and graping him as in a vice, he half dragged, half carried him within a foot of the corpse. There he released him. Doyle quailed; his head dropped as his eye fell on the corpse of his victim. His head rolled as on a pivot, and he looked away wildly.

Then came an equally horrible scene. The mother and father slowly rose, parted the crowd between them and the murderer, and with every nerve and muscle strained, advanced a pace or two, and the mother began a fearful curse: "Do you see that lying there, (pointing to the corpse), you bandit, you assassin, you drunken vagabond? Do you know who that is? That's my darling [illegible] me in her life, who was my own, my beautiful own! And there she lies, slain by you, you son of a brood of murderers! Oh, you slaughtering wretch! is there no revenge for me? will no kind person, no avenging heaven give me an arm? Curse you, you vagabond! curse you, you snake! May you feel my curses till the day you are dragged out, dog that you are, to die on the gallows!" As soon as possible Captain Williams took the prisoner by the arm and walked the prisoner back to his cell. Doyle offered no resistance, and his whole demeanor was changed. He informed Captain Williams that he did "it" because he was drunk; but the testimony of people at No. 83 South Fifth avenue shows that there was no sign of liquor on him when he called at the house yesterday, and Sergeant Robers, who saw him when he was brought to the station house, did not consider him intoxicated. Several circumstances show that an attempted outrage followed the murder. The excitement in the Eight Ward is intense, and had a crowd time to gather Doyle would have been lynched before getting to the station house. Mary's body was removed to her late home last evening.

Electricity! Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric Oil! — Worth Ten Times in Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cents.

The Ottawa Times

TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1874.

We publish a full account of the terrible accident on the Great Western Railway, resulting in a serious loss of life. It is to be hoped it will prove a warning and a guide in the adoption of a better means of protecting life for the time to come.

M. A. Plamondon, Esq., one of the leading Barristers of Quebec Province, and a respected resident of its capital, is in Ottawa on business. He is a staunch member of the Liberal Party, and well worthy to represent it anywhere.

We believe L'Evenement is right in stating that the appointment of Mr. Chaloner of Quebec, as Shipping Master is cancelled. He was named by the late Government on the eve of its exit from power, to replace Capt. Russell, an old and deserving officer, who was to have been thrust aside without consideration after a very long and useful term of service. This gentleman, though advanced in life, is anything but incapable.

With regard to our paragraph respecting the Lord Lieutenant for Ireland, appointed by the Disraeli Government, we are obliged to a correspondent for setting us right with the following information: The nobleman referred to as having served with his regiment in Canada, in 1862, was Lord Abinger, who now commands the Second Batt. Scots Fusilier Guards. The Duke of Abercorn was Lord Lieutenant when the Conservative Government were last in power. The resemblance in the names had much to do with our mistake, for which we had provided by the phraseology of our paragraph.

We learn with pleasure that the Quebec Deputation has succeeded in making a good impression on the Government in regard to the object of its mission, which is to secure for the benefit of the citizens, the property now covered by the military fortifications, extending from the old St. Louis Gate to St John's Gate, and thence round to the Artillery Barracks; also Cove Field, and other property formerly occupied by the troops, and which contributed nothing to the municipal revenue, any more than the large amount of property owned by the religious orders. With those military grounds, the city can be greatly improved, as gardens, promenades and miniature parks may be formed with little expenditure. Thus may the attractions of the ancient capital be materially enhanced. The deputation, which was well chosen, has worked judiciously, and its prospects of success will be good news to Quebec.

CANADIAN IMMIGRATION.

The scheme, on foot in Montreal, to secure a grand celebration of St. Jean Baptiste Day, on the next recurrence of this anniversary, is one which we wish every success. The Montreal Society, if we understand the programme, is to invite the various similar societies in the United States and elsewhere, to assist in the demonstration and festival in that city, and money is called for to meet the expenses of their journey and entertainment. The objects at heart in this matter are important and laudable. Not only do they include a very proper and natural desire to fraternise with fellow-countrymen now in a foreign land, but a design to draw back their affections to old Quebec or Canada, in order to their settlement among us once more. Many of these sons of the soil left for the States in dull seasons, and have since fared no better in the Republic, but, being located there, they have gradually resolved to bear with their lot, which they imagined would not be improved by a return to the Dominion. This, in many instances, has been a mistake. The country is more prosperous than formerly, and all willing and able to work can find it, either in the cities or country, without ever going to the backwoods. Great numbers of our farmers fail to take half as much out of the soil as they might for want of hands, while lumbering, the new railroads and the Ontario free grants present avenues of employment to hosts of good labourers. Besides, new factories are springing up all over the country, the last notable instance being the Hudson Cotton Mill, at Montreal. There is no need to descant upon the value of the excellent workers who have settled in the States. The French Canadian is a patient, quiet, industrious toiler. He makes a capital chopper, field hand or artisan, and may be made most useful in lumbering or clearing operations. At a time when great efforts are making to attract strangers hither, who don't know our country, or methods of working, it is well worth while to try to bring back the men inured to the climate, hardy and handy in its various employments. The French Canadian wood-man would be invaluable in making the clearings in the Free Grant district, in Ontario, decided upon for the emigrants from Great Britain, or in cutting out a home for himself in either Province. The new railroads by the North Shore of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa will also require large bodies of vigorous workingmen. Everything possible should be done, therefore, to attract to these Provinces their children, now in the States, both in their own interest and that o' Canada.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE TIMES will not be held responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—In answer to Colonus' query, would refer him to page 23 of the pamphlet he speaks of, fourth line from the bottom, where the words occur: "Either "by a supposed practicable and low pass, in "about latitude 55½ north or through the gap," etc., etc.

The pass referred to is one at present only used by Indians, and its practicability for a railroad has not yet been ascertained, but sufficient information regarding it was collected in the winter of 1872-'73 to warrant the idea that it may eventually be found available for the passage of a railroad.

Colonus appears to have followed me, in comparative safety, through the Peace Valley, and if he can imagine a great river like that flowing pass this city, passing through an immense chain of mountains, for a couple score miles, flanked on both sides by peaks a mile high, he will realize the Valley route to perfection.

I am sorry to be obliged to inform Colonus that between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Coast, there do exist a few trifling obstables, Canada's western province being essentically a "hilly" country, and that, of all the mountain ranges through which the Canada Pacific must pass, the Rocky Mountains offer, perhaps, the least difficulty.

I cannot answer the query as to the "plains" between the Rocky Mountains and the "Coast," not knowing where they lie.

I am, Sir,
Truly yours,
CHAS. HORETZKY.

Ottawa, 2nd March, 1874.

To all Whom it May Concern.

In the capacity of General Manager of "The Babcock" Manufacturing Company for the Dominion of Canada, I have the honor of putting before the public the following facts, as I consider it a duty I owe to the public as well as to the Company I represent. The "Fire King" Extinguisher Company of Toronto, from its very start, has thought proper to take a most unfair course towards "The Babcock" Company. It procured a charter and established their Company in 1873, for manufacturing Extinguishers, Engines, &c. "The Babcock" Company had purchased the rights of the Patent for Canada, and finding "The Babcock" Company were exercising these rights, procured an injunction by misrepresentation, thereby preventing "The Babcock" Company operating in Ontario, and this, doubtless, was done with the idea of gaining sufficient time to proceed with their manufacture of the Extinguishers. At the earliest opportunity (21st Jany. last), the hearing was obtained and the "injunction" was raised.

They are now engaged in an active opposition to the 'Babcock' Co., and in order to enlist the good opinion of the public they have made up a record which never existed in fact for their 'Fire King,' forming this record, which is printed and distributed, out of the long series of records of the doings of 'The Babcock' in most cases substituting the names 'Fire King' for that of 'The Babcock,' and in others leaving out the names and dates altogether; and which has been, pronounced by the signer as fraudulent since they had never seen the Fire King, I ask the public if this is correct. If this machine, the 'Fire King' were equally as good as that known as 'The Babcock,' I would not feel any uneasiness, but there are defects, small in themselves, discoverable only by a practiced mechanic and chemist, which eventually will 'kill it off,' resembling ours as it does in appearance, and placed before the public with the record of our machines, I feel it to be an imposition practiced upon both the public and our company. What I assert with regard to the record, the purchasers can satisfy themselves about by comparing them, but with respect to the defects of the machine, they must run the risk themselves when purchasing, as the 'Babcock' Company fell into the same error, and has had to pay dearly in the remedying of it, and, moreover, it is not our business to point it out, only as it may materially affect the character of Chemical Fire apparatus generally, and ours in particular in the future, as well as the sale of them. I put forth this caution.

HOMER BAKER.

Montreal, 27th Feb., 1874.

QUEBEC IN WINTER.

Not many think of running down to take a look at the Ancient Capital in winter, or spend a few day among its hospitable citizens, except urged thereto by business. But, to persons who like the place, or enjoy the privilege of friendship with any of its people, there is pleasure in store for them go when they may, in storm or shine. As usual business has been dull this season, but that has not prevented the inhabitants making the most possible of their social opportunities by balls, musical parties, and other neighbourly re-unions. The early part of the winter was enlivened by the proceedings of the Local Legislature, with its party contests, and personal encounters, after which came the Dominion elections, resulting in the choice of Messrs. Cauchon and Thibadeau, supporters of the Federal Government. The Liberals thus gained a seat, which they are not likely to lose with any sensible management. Lately, much interest has been felt in the city with regard to the filling of the vacancy in the Legislative Council, caused by the retirement of Mr. Thos. McGreevy, who had to resign to qualify for a seat in the Commons. Among the names mentioned for the appointment were Messrs. J. B. Parkin, Owen Murphy, John Giblin, —Sharples and John Roche. The first, though an experienced, accomplished, able lawyer was not considered, by many, in the line of luck on account of his strong Liberal principles. Nor is it likely he would accept the position were he offered it. With regard to the other gentlemen, there was much speculation some days ago, not a few believing that whatever their respective claims on the Local Government, Mr. Sharples was likely to be the happy man. Whether the honour is worth much competition is a question with some people, and not the less that the Opposition in the Local Legislature have been thinking of a serious attempt to abolish the Upper House, as an expensive and not very useful portion of the constitutional machine. As the TIMES has already stated, the public mind of Quebec has been taken up wholly, of late, with the scheme for the construction of the North Shore Railway. All parties wish it well, and would like the road, as promising great advantage to Quebec, by whomsoever constructed. Mr. Thomas McGreevy has great confidence in his ability to execute the contract, and has gone to England to raise the necessary capital.

Among the changes in Quebec of late, is the opening of the old "Russell Hotel," now the "Albion Hotel," in Palace Street, under the management of the well-known and popular Dr. Kirwin, long a resident and City Councillor of Quebec. The hotel is in capital order, with a good corps of servants. The Doctor is, as always, civil, attentive and obliging, and he succeeds to perfection in making his boarders feel at home. He has a good business before him no doubt.

Few, or no new buildings are going up in the city, but all expect a great improvement when the North Shore and Levis and Kennebec Railways are constructed.

NEW NORMAL SCHOOL

It will, doubtless, be pleasing to our readers to hear what steps are being taken towards the erection of the proposed new Normal School, and as to the character of the building about to be constructed. The following extract from the report of the Commissioner of Public Works of Ontario, will therefore be read with some degree of interest.

NORMAL SCHOOL, OTTAWA.

"According to your instructions, and for reasons given in reference to the Inebriate Asylum plans, the services of Mr. W. R. Strickland, Architect, Toronto, were secured, and after due consultation, with the Deputy Superintendent of Education, and other officers at the Normal School, Toronto, two sets of plans were prepared, and submitted for competition, after due advertisement, but, as in the case of the Inebriate Asylum, the tenders were much higher than the appropriation for buildings viz; $80,000, and after submitting the question to the Superintendent of Education, he advised that the plans should be referred to the decision of Dr. Sangster, formerly Head Master of the Normal School, Toronto, who made a very full report on the same, and therefore a third set of plans were drawn by Mr. Strickland, under the directions of Dr. Sangster, which were fully approved by him and the Chief Superindent of Education. These plans were again submitted to tender, the builders who sent in tenders for the first plans being duly notified. Several tenders were received, and are still under consideration, the amount of the lowest tender being higher than was expected.

"Early in May last, I accompanied you to Ottawa, for the purpose of selecting a site for the proposed Normal School, and after inspecting several locations, the offer of the Committee of the City Council of four acres on the By estate was approved, the Government only to pay $16,000, any amount required beyond that sum to be supplied by the City of Ottawa. The site is an excellent selection, being central, it can be easily drained, and supplied with water from the works now in course of construction.

THE SITE.

The following description is by Mr. W. R. Strickland, the Architect:—

The buildings when erected in accordance with the plans now prepared, will be in the Norman style of architecture, and will consist of Normal and Model Schools, containing lecture rooms, school, class and gallery rooms, with necessary waiting rooms, laboratory apparatus, master and teachers' room, also library, depository and storerooms.

The Normal and Model Schools will be connected in the form of a T, the Normal School forming the front part facing the south-east towards Elgin street, and will have a frontage of 157 feet, the centre projecting both to the front and rear. This part of the building is for the accommodation of the Normal School students of both sexes, and will contain three large lecture rooms, two waiting rooms, with lavatories and cloak room off, library, depository, apparatus room and laboratory, also masters' rooms, visitors' room, closets and janitor's room.

The Principal's lecture room, which will be 46 feet by 42 feet, will be situated on the ground floor opposite the principal entrance, and will have waiting rooms on both sides for either sex, and is calculated to contain 54 double desks for 108 students.

The entrance to the principal lecture room will communicate directly with the stairways leading to the first floor, upon which will be situated the Mathematical and Natural Science Lecture Rooms, with commodious laboratory opening off the latter, and apparatus room between the lecture rooms, communicating directly with them.

These lecture rooms will be 43 x 32 feet each, and will contain 40 double desks each. The library and depository will also be situated on this flat, and also the Master's private rooms.

The lecture rooms will be situated in a central position, with approaches and entrance on either side, so that the several classes can be dismissed simultaneously, and pass from one room to another, or to their respective waiting rooms, without meeting. This arrangement will also prevent the sexes from communicating with each other during intermission, without its coming under the notice of the masters.

Each lecture room will be well lighted and ventilated, and the desks and black-board placed in the most favorable position in regard to the former.

The Model School will be 144 feet in length and 59 feet in width, with central projection, and will be two storeys in height, the lower flat to be devoted to boys and the upper flat to girls. This part of the building will be connected with the main part, or Normal School proper, and will extend 144 feet to the rear, having Biddy street on the eastern side, and the Park on the western side; the play sheds and yard to be situated at the northern end, where the entrance to the Model School will be placed.

Each flat will contain one large school assembly room, 56 feet x 38 feet, and three class rooms and three gallery rooms, each of the latter to accommodate 60 pupils, and the school room 180.

The school is arranged upon the system of grading the pupils into divisions and sub-divisions or sections. Each sex to be divided into three divisions of two sections each, or six sections in all of each sex, so that each division will have its own class and gallery room, the school or assembly room to be common to all the divisions and to be used for assembling the school for roll-call, for prayers, and to be used as a class room. In addition to the school and class rooms, private rooms for Teachers, store rooms, lavatories and cloak rooms will also be provided.

The exterior of the building will be built with Gloucester stone in random, coursed or shoddy work, and Hull stone dressings.

The principal front will have centre and gabled projections, and flanking projections with grouped windows, relieved by label mouldings and pilasters, dressed arches and jambs. The front ends will be further relieved by base, sill and string courses and corners in Hull stone.

The principal entrance will be from the south-east side, or front, and will have cut stone steps and landings leading to the entrance porch, the doorway being relieved by moulded arch and pilasters.

The students' entrance will be from the eastern and western ends.

The centre part of the building will be carried up higher than the adjacent parts, and will be surmounted by a belfry; the flanking projections to be surmounted by ventilating turrets.

The roof will be ornamented by an iron cresting, as also the gables, belfrys and turrets.

The Model School will be similar in appearance the the Normal School, but plainer.

The boiler room will be situated in a projecting basement outside the main walls, near the junction of the two buildings, so that the distributing point for the steam for heating will be as central as possible.

The whole building will be well lighted and ventilated, every lecture, class and gallery room to have ventilated flues.

The number of students which can be accommodated according to the plans, will be 75 of each sex, 150 in all; and the number of Model School pupils, according to the system of grading recommended by Dr. Sangster, 180 of each sex, 360 in all.

The rooms are calculated to afford a minimum of 300 cubic feet of air for each student, and 160 feet for each Model School pupil."

"THE GREAT LONE LAND." — The Rev. Lachlin Taylor, D.D., will deliver a lecture on Manitoba and the Northwest in the Eastern W. M. Church, corner of King and Besserer streets, on Tuesday evening, March 3rd, at eight o'clock. The Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, Premier, has kindly consented to take the chair. 2504-3in.

CITY AND VICINITY.

The Arnprior Council at its last sitting decided to impose fifty dollars for shop, and thirty for tavern, licenses.

S. S. ARRIVAL.—The 'Hibernian' arrived at Portland on Saturday last, and the English Mail by her was distributed in the city Post Office yesterday.

FREIGHT.—The Grand Trunk and Brockville and Ottawa freight sheds are well filled at present. Large quantities of goods are being transhipped from the former to the latter, for the Ottawa district.

CLERICAL CHANGE.—The Rev. Alex. Smith, brother to Rev. J. K. Smith, late of Knox Church, Galt, has applied to the Ottawa Presbytery for admission into the Old Kirk Synod; Mr. Smith has been for some years a minister to the United States; and comes to this country well recommended.

NEGRO MINSTRELSY.—Cool Burgess and troupe are about to make a tour of the Maritime Provinces. We have no doubt they will make hosts of friends there as well as in Canada, and that African minstrelsy will not be the least attractive feature of their performances.

His Worship Mayor Featherston, starts for Toronto this morning to attend the Ontario Legislature in the interest of the city in the passage of what are usually termed the 'Water Works' and 'Broad Street' bills. Pressure of private and city business prevented His Worship getting off any sooner.

PERSONAL.—At the meeting of the City Council last night, that body was honored with a visit from some of their confreres of the Corporation of the City of Quebec. Councillors Hearn and Wood, and Treasurer Dorion, a brother of the much respected Minister of Justice, were the persons who thus essayed to listen to the debates in the Municipal Hall last night.

CURLING.—A match was played on Saturday last between the married and single members of the Pembroke Curling Club, which resulted in a victory for the old men. A barrel of flour to be given to the Protestant Benevolent Society, was the wager played for.

A RED PAPER. — The Manitoba Nor'-Wester comes to us printed on a dark red paper, being truly attractive—even startling. Whether perused much or not, it is red all over, its announcements appearing in glowing clours. Our contemporary doubtless has done its best, and if the paper maker was slow or unfortunate in crossing hundreds of miles of prairie, it is not to blame. Better to appear in colours of blood than not appear at all; though the look of war may be with the journal, it is all in the eye, for the settlement is peaceful. We hope our contemporary will soon be able to show a clean sheet.

HEAVY INVESTMENT.—That fine property on the corner of Rideau and Sussex streets, usually known as Howell's corner, has again changed hands. Mr. P. A. Eagleson, merchant tailor of Sussex street, is the buyer, at the sum of $23,000, he paying of that amount $12,000 cash. It is to be hoped Mr. Eagleson will now take steps to have several handsome shops erected on this very eligible business site, and thereby contribute somewhat to the appearance of the city. It is rather singular that the first site in the city should be made from time to time an object of speculation, to the detriment of the improvement of very valuable property.

ATTENTION, NATURAL HISTORIANS.—The Wapiti, or Canada elk, was an animal which abounded in the forests of this part of the country in old times, although now extinct. The horns are, however, found in fragments here and there, in proof of the existence of this magnificent animal. It is interesting, however, to know that an odd member of this gigantic family of the Cerridal may still be found in remote places. An Indian is reported to have killed a large Wapiti on the upper waters of the Gatineau River, between the sources of the Gatineau and the St. Maurice. This animal, it seems, was killed in October. The horns measured six feet from tip to tip, and had nine branches.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.—We learn that the celebration of the coming 17th of March is going to be a grand affair in Ottawa. There will be a grand procession with bands of music, high mass and a sermon in St. Patrick's Church, and in the evening a grand concert in the Rink Music Hall, which will be sustained by the leading amateur talent of the city. In addition Mdlle. Rosa D'Erina has consented to take part in the concert, and will, we understand, take the whole of the second part of the programme, leaving the first part to the local amateurs. This is an excellent arrangement, and will no doubt have the effect of drawing a crowded house.

POOR BRUTE.—A man named Coombs, a baker by trade, in driving his usual rounds yesterday, met with a rather severe loss, in consequence of his horse running away. It seems that the horse came out of the affair second best, having broken two of his legs in his headlong escapade. Mr. Coombs having given the affair some consideration, came to the conclusion to take an axe and knock the horses brains, as he believed it to be an impossibility, by any amount of surgical skill, to restore to their wonted gait, the broken limbs of his favorite Rosinante. He therefore dispatched from off this mortal spere all that was left of a once prancing steed. The matter now rests with the Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, to determine as to the character of the crime of which Mr. Coombs is guilty.

The New Orange Hall.

The new Orange Hall on the corner of Albert and O'Connor streets will soon be finished and ready for occupation. It presents a very fine appearance, and is sufficiently commodious to meet the requirements of the Orange fraternity. It is a handsome edifice, and a credit to the Order, through whose enterprise the city is indebted for the latest addition to its public buildings, and the architect, Mr. Hodson who drew the plans. It is built in the Italian style of architecture, with white brick, Ohio sandstone dressings and Mansard roof, three stories high. The whole cost of the structure is $100,000, and it may be considered remarkably cheap at that sum. The main entrance fronts on O'Connor street, with arched doors in a slight projection, which reaches to the base of the roof and where there is a large semi-circular domer window. The extreme dimentions of the building are 40 x 65

THE GROUND FLAT.

On entering through the main entrance there is a spacious hall 8x13, on the left of which they are two rooms intended for committee purposes 12x15; on the right is the principal stair case leading to the upper flat. The main hall of the ground flat is 37x50, with a ceiling fifteen feet. The hall is square and ornamented with mouldings and cornices. Six large iron columns supporting the floor of the upper flat.

THE UPPER FLAT

is a magnificent hall 37x50, with an arched ceiling 22 feet high, beautifully finished. The plastering is particularly neat, and the ornamented centre flowers and heavy cornices give it a rich appearance. There are two ante-rooms in the front part of this flat, and a gallery for the orchestra. It is 8x12, with an ornamental balustrade of tracery work.

The contractors for the different works in the construction of the building were—Stone and brick, John Langford; carpentering, Gallagher & White; plastering, Thomas Dunn; painting, Mr. Howe.

Terrible Catastrophe.

A MAN AND TWO WOMEN DROWNED.

The Sleigh and Horses also Lost.

Last night about 6 or 7 o'clock, one of the most melancholy accidents that it has been our lot to chronicle for some time in this locality, took place on the River Ottawa on the roadway over the ice between the foot of the locks and the village of Hull. It seems that a man, whose name we have not learned, was driving from the city in the direction of Hull, accompanied by his wife, mother-in-law and father-in-law, and on nearing the Quebec shore, he observed a team coming in the opposite direction, and with a view to avoid a collision, turned to the right, partly off the beaten track; and in doing so, approached the edge of a hole which was in the habit of being kept open during the winter for the purpose of obtaining water from the river. His doing so, however, caused the ice, which is now in a very rotten condition, to give way in sufficient quantity to admit of the entire sleigh and its occupants going down, with one single exception. The old gentleman seems to have leaped in some way to sound ice, and thereby escaped the sad fate of the others. The driver, his wife and mother-in-law, together with the horses and sleigh went under the ice, and being carried away by the under-current will doubtless be lost beyond all hope of recovery till spring. The accident is a very melancholy one indeed, and we regret not being in a position to give our readers more details regarding it this morning. The Coroner will, however, take the matter in hand to-day, and the result of the investigation will place at our disposal all the facts relating to this disastrous affair. In the meantime it is to be hoped that others, hearing of what has occurred, will be deterred from venturing to take the ice any more this season.

CITY DRAINAGE.

The Corporation then went into Committee of the whole, Ald. Rowe in the chair, on the question of drainage. The Engineer at the request of the Committee then gave a lucid description of the proposed main drain for the sewerage of the city; illustrating his views by explanations from a very well executed plan of the proposed main sewer. After the answering of several questions put by different Alderman, the Committee then rose and reported progress.

It was moved by Ald. Rowe, seconded by Ald. Birkett, that the tenders for horses for this Corporation, be received and referred to the Fire and Light Committee, to report back to this Council on the same at the next regular meeting, and that said Committee be authorized to obtain the services of Mr. A. O. F. Coleman to advise them thereon.—Carried.

NEW NORMAL SCHOOL.

It being necessary with a view to complete the site of the proposed new Normal School, to close up a street in that locality.

It was moved by Ald. Christie, seconded by Ald. Bronson, that the City Solicitor be instructed to give notice to prepare a by-law, and take all proper steps for closing up that part of Gloucester street which intrudes into that parcel of land lately purchased, by the Ontario Government from the trustees of the By-estate, for the site of a Normal School. Carried.

The Council then adjourned.

A Blatant Alderman.

The City Council Room is the theatre sometimes of a good deal of wordy strife, but the ranting at late meetings of Ald. Rocque has become such a standing nuisance, that it only remains to be a question of expediency, whether it would not be a wise and prudent move to disfranchise that portion of the city that allows itself to be so grossly misrepresented at the Council Board. He manifests great concern as to Ald. Robertson's capacity to represent his constituents while holding a position on the editorial staff of this journal; but Mr. Rocque should get rid of the dose that surcharges his dyspeptical constitution, and at once speak out, and assign his reason, for having such a continual dread of Alderman Robertson. It is nothing new for newspaper men to hold positions of trust in both the Municipal Councils and Legislative Halls of our country; and it is, therefore, time enough for Ald. Rocque to find fault when the Legislature enacts that it is illegal for a newspaper man to sit in the councils of the nation. We think the Council loses nothing by men who work with their brains, when compared with men who, from day to day, toil with their hands as public contractors, to grab the tit-bits that fall from the Corporation table. The public know well which is most likely to serve their interests best, the man who with vigorous mind and an ambition to do his country honorable service, or the man who can only see the distance of constructing a bridge or manipulating some Corporation contract to his own personal advantage. Ald. Robertson is in a position, not to be brought into those little cliques that eat the vitals out of our Municipal institutions, and Ald. Rocque finding him not sufficiently pliable for his ideas of municipal government in this respect, must needs take a fling at him; for he dreads the power that Ald. Robertson is able to wield, to the detriment of barnacles who cling to the Municipal Ship for filthy lucre's sake. It is to be hoped that Ald Rocque henceforward will devote more of his time to the real business of the Municipality, and less to the meaningless oratory that he indulges in night after night, at the Council Board.

Is the mind a ponderable or an imponderable substance; an essence, vapor, or an indescribable something which cannot be grasped, felt, or withheld? Man thinks, studies, invents, tires the brain by over-work, and loses his reason; rests his intellect, becomes calm, uses restoratives; and again thinks. When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, we cannot but conclude that the subtile power is really ponderable matter, from the fact that the ingredients are supplied which render it support and give it vitality. Persons who study hard should preserve their balance of power by using the Syrup. 2505

Ontario Legislature.

The chair was taken at 3.15.

After the usual routine,

Messrs. Cameron and Lauder introduced Mr. James McGowan, member for North Wellington.

Some private bill were advanced a stage.

Mr. Boultbee moved—That in the opinion of this House, it is inexpedient and improper for members of the Local Government, the Speaker of the House, or country officials, appointed by this Government, to interfere with electors for the House of Commons. He said it had been contended when the Dual Representation Bill was before the House, that no interference should take place in the Commons elections; it was found that interference had taken place, not only by members of the Crown, but by the Speaker himself, all of which he condemned.

Mr. Bethune did not think we had any right to cripple the rights of members of this House, by saying that they should not vote; and as for the Speaker, we had no right to say that during recess he should not vote, or that he should not take part in the election.

M. Prince thought if one member descend to support another member holding similar views in the House, there was no reason why members should not support gentlemen holding views in harmony with theirs and of this House.

Mr. Cameron quoted from a speech of the Hon. E. Blake, made while Sanfield McDonald's Government was in power, to the effect that any alliance between Dominion and Provincial Governments was to be deprecated. He contended that no gentleman holding an official position should take part in outside elections and show his party predilections. He referred to workmen on the Central Prison, having been given half a holiday on nomination day.

Mr. Bethune rose to a point of order. This discussion referred to proceedings before the Public Accounts Committee, and should not be discussed.

The Speaker ruled that Mr. Cameron was out of order.

Mr. Cameron said that he would not refer to the matter, but the Speaker must take the responsibility of his ruling. He said that Speaker] of all men should be neutral and take no part in election contests.

The Attorney General said it was ridiculous to suppose that members of the Opposition should speak all over the country bringing charges against the Government, and the mouths of the Government should be stopped. He did not believe any gentlemen on either side of the House could vote for such a resolution.

Mr. Boultbee replied that the Hon. Mr. McKellar said members of the Government were justified in defending themselves when charges were brought against them. With reference to the Central Prison charge, he asked the House to suspend their opinion till all the evidence was before them.

Mr. Rykert spoke until six o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

Mr. Rykert resumed and spoke for some time.

After some further discussion,—

Mr. Merrick moved in amendment to the amendment, That it was inexpedient and improper for a member of the Provisional Government or Speaker to interfere with elections

After another long discussion the members were called in, and the amendment was put at 12.30 and lost. Yeas, 25; nays, 26.

On the original motion being put the yeas and nays were again called for with the same result.

The House adjourned at 12.45 a.m.

A meeting of Roman Catholics was held yesterday at which it was resolved to give Archbishop Lynch a public reception on his return to Canada.

The Bowmanville, Lindsay & Bobcaygeon Railway Bill passed the Railway Committee to-day under the name of the Bowmanville & Georgian Bay Company, with power of issuing stock to the extent of $120,000 per mile.

Marine—The Tichborne Case—The New Parliament—The Indian Famine—The Ashantee War—What's to Pay—Royal Congratulations—Personal—The Bridal Pair.

LONDON, March 1.—Five hundred and seventy casks of refined petroleum have came ashore on the Suffolk Coast, near Lowestoft. They are supposed to have been a portion of the cargo of the barque 'Brilliant,' from Philadelphia, which was wrecked off Longsand.

After the Tichborne verdict was announced, the claimant expressed a desire to address the court, but the Lord Chief Justice refused permission. He maintained his usual composure when sentence was pronounced. He shook hands with his counsel, and was then taken from the court room by a seldom used exit, placed in a private carriage and rapidly driven to Newgate, much to the disappointment of the immense, though orderly crowd, which gathered outside to see him pass.

It is said that the new Parliament immediately after assembling will adjourn for a fortnight or three weeks.

The Queen's Speech will probably recommend a grant of money for the relief of sufferers by the famine in Bengal.

The Treasury Office is preparing an exact account of expenses of the Ashantee war to be included in the forthcoming budget.

The Queen and her Ministers have sent despatches to General Sir Garnet Wolseley congratulating him on his success.

The Prince and Princess of Wales are in Berlin.

The Duke of Edinburgh and bride have left St. Petersburg for England.

FRANCE.

BAYONNE March 1.—The Carlist forces have occupied the city of Tolosa in Quipuzcoa and Odin, a small town in Biscay near San Sebastian.

Typhus fever and small-pox are raging in Bilboa.

The fall of Bilboa is imminent; foreign consuls have left the city. Don Carlos and staff have been in the vicinity since the 23rd of February.

SPAIN.

Appointments—The Carlist War.—Before Bilboa—Spanish Items.

MADRID, Feb. 28.—Senor Serrano has been declared President of the Republic of Spain, and Senor Zabala Minister of War, and appointed President of Council of Ministers.

Gen. Moriones failed to relieve Pilbas, and it is reported his army has been defeated by the Carlists, with the loss of 3,000 men killed and wounded.

Arupoeba, a town on the river has been captured by the Carlists.

Zabala will act as President during the absence from the Capital of Senor Serrano.

A despatch has been received at the War Office from General Mosiones, stating he is unable to force the Carlists from the intrenchments before Bilboa, and that his own advanced line has been broken by the insurgents. He asks for reinforcements and the appointment of his successor.

MADRID, March 1.—General Lomo has arrived at San Sebastian. General Rivera has been wounded.

Serrano and Topete have gone to Santander.

CHINA.

Protection.

HONG KONG, Feb. 28.—It is reported that the Chinese Government notified foreign ministers at Pekin that it cannot guarantee the safety of the lives of foreigners residing at Tientsin, and that the naval authorities have been requested to send war vessels to Tientsin to insure their protection.

UNITED STATES.

Prize Fight.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Preliminaries of the fight between John Baylon, of this city, known as Jack Baylon, of Dublin, and Jas. Turner of New Orleans, were arranged last Thursday evening. The place fixed for the contest being Long Island, and the time, to-morrow (Sunday). The prize is five hundred dollars.

Strike.

A despatch from Cleveland says a strike of an hour's duration occurred among the workmen on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad. Nearly two hundred men participated, demanding an increase of 25 cents per diem on wages. Finally it was resolved to continue at the old price until Monday, when further trouble is anticipated.

South American Items.

Panama dates to February 16th have been received. Nothing new at the Isthmus. Peruvian advices state a thousand cattle died of plague in January in Tumleez. Chilian advices mention an earthquake at Copiapo, Feb. 15th, but although somewhat severe there was not much damage done. The Chilian volcano has resumed eruptions and a new crater has broken out on one side and the River Nuble shows indications that lava is flowing into its headwaters. Provisional President Arias, of Honduras, who was beseiged at Fomayagua, capitulated to Gen. Leiva who is now in full possession of the government. It is reported considerable blood was shed during the troubles.

WEST INDIES.

Extensive Fire.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb 21—There was a fire in Panama on the 19th, which consumed the major portion of the city. Among the buildings burned were the Grand Hotel the City Saloon and Bank. Loss roughly estimated at one million dollars, the greater portion of which is covered by insurance. No further details.

Lamentable Accident on G. W. Railway.

Burning of a Railroad Car.

HARROWING SCENE

TEN LIVES LOST.

FULL PARTICULARS FROM EYE WITNESSES.

STRATHROY, March 1.

A frightful accident occurred last night on the Great Western Railway, three miles east of Komoka and seven milest west of London, by which a number of lives were lost, and many persons badly hurt.

It originated by a lamp in the water-closet of the car following on the floor and immediately taking fire. Efforts were made to subdue it, but without avail, and the fire communicated rapidly to the whole car. The passengers rushed to the hinder part of the car, and it was impossible for a great many to get out. Some escaped by the windows, while others were burned to the crisp.

The bell rope was not attached to the engine, and consequently there was no way of stopping the train. It was running at the rate of about thirty miles an hour, and ran about three miles burning. The car was destroyed in about six minutes, burning like tinder. At present it is supposed that there were about ten persons burned to death, and about the same number injured, some very seriously, by jumping off the train.

Amongst those burned are said to be Messrs. McKellar, school teacher; Rev. Mr. Kilty, of Strathroy; a lady named Miss Purvis, and a child from Petrolia, and a lady and child from Sarnia, besides others who cannot be recognized. Several of the bodies were burned to cinders, and it will be impossible to recognize them.

Amongst those hurt and partially burnt are Messrs. Dearness, Millar, McGougan, and W. H. Murray, of Strathroy; Mrs. Craford, of London; Mr. Robinson, of Watford; Dr. Smith, of Toronto, and several others whose names we could not obtain. Of these it is said that Mr. McGougan and Mr. Robinson cannot survive. We are unable to obtain full particulars to-day,

LONDON, March 1.—The following is the complete list of killed and wounded in the accident at Komoka last night, as far as can be ascertained to-night:

George Burnham, aged ten, of Petrolia; Harriette Ann Dunn, aged twenty-five, of London; an Indian woman and infant, from Munceytown; Jno. McKellar, schoolteacher, of Strathroy; Miss Purvis, of Petrolia; Annie Scardiff, of Komoka, aged thirteen years, seriously injured; John C. Robinson, Watford, bad scalp wound and face badly burned—cannot survive; Neil McGougan, Strathroy, scalp wound; Jno. Hay, Toronto; Mrs. S. Crawford, London; S. B. Harsden, Simcoe; J. H. Breathens, London; A. Blessing, Strathroy. About twenty others were slightly injured.

(Specially Telegraphed to the Globe)

STRATHROY, March 1.—The excitemen here consequent on the receipt of the harrowing details from the scene of the accident near Komoka has been intense, and last night and all this morning crowds awaited the news which brought relief or consternation, as the disjointed details received affected the welfare of their friends or acquaintances. The train on which the accident occurred usually carries a large number of Strathroy passengers, who get into London in the morning to return at night, and to intensify the terror it happened that on this occasion there had been more that the usual number of friends expected. The feeling of dread which hung like a pall over the town, was intensified by the telegraph officials at London giving orders to answer no questions relative to the accident. What benefit was to be derived from such conduct it is hard to imagine. In consequence of the meagreness of details, a crowd of about two hundred persons went east by the late train last night, and their return about one o'clock this morning was anxiously awaited by most of our townspeople. From these it was ascertained that a larger number of our citizens or their friends had suffered than was at first supposed, while many whose friends were expected still hung between hope and fear as to their fate. By actual count it is ascertained that at least thirty-five inhabitants of Strathroy, or parties coming to the town, were on board the ill-fated train. How many more is uncertain. The following are the Strathroy casualties as far as ascertained:—N. McKellar, Assistant in the High School, burned to death; Mr. McKellar, with Mr. Dearness, Principal of the Public Schools, was returning from a school convention in London. Mr. Dearness escaped through a window and sustained a severe contusion of the brain, by falling among a heap of rails. Mr. McKellar was, owing to a broken leg, incapable of active exertion, and from a desire to avoid the crowding at the rear door allowed the remainging passengers to pass him, at the same time endeavoring to quell the excitement that existed. Portions of his body were afterwards found lying inside the rear door. From their position it is surmised that he survived a few minutes longer than Miss Purvis, who was recognizable from his having fallen upon her. W. H. Murray, dry goods merchant here, was sitting about the centre of the car, on the south side, and when he perceived the progress of flames, broke the window to let in air. After remaining with his head out for a moment, retreat became impossible, and he moved his body outside, placing his overcoat around his right arm to prevent his hand being burned. As the fire gained the coat took fire, and he let himself fall. He was injured on the head and hand, and burned slightly. He is confined to bed. Mr. A. H. Orton, waggon maker, placed his head out of the window for air. He fell heavily, seriously injuring one leg and had to be carried home. Mr. A. B. Reney, watchmaker, jumped on first appearance of the fire, and alighted on his feet uninjured. Mr. Miller, patent medicine agent, jumped out of the window, he sustained several severe contusions. Mr. Augustus Blessing, marble cutter, jumped from the window: he was severely injured in the legs; taken to London. Mr. Daniel Decow, who was in the smoking-car, was uninjured. Mr. F. Saxton severely injured; taken to London. Mr. Neil McGugan, severely injured in the head; taken to London. Mr. Archibald Carruthers, glove maker, Strathroy, with Miss Claflin and another lady, all made for the rear platform on the first appearance of the fire, and remained there till the train was brought to a stand. While in this position several parties jumped over their heads, and they were several times nearly pushed off. Mrs. Samuel Crawford, Globe Foundry, London, with a lady friend, Miss Speers, were on their way to pay a visit to friends in Strathroy. Both ladies escaped through the windows with their clothes partially burnt. They returned to London. Mary Brown, recently living in Strathroy, but now of Petrolia, jumped from the rear platform on the first appearance of the fire, and escaped uninjured. Dr. Smith, formerly of Strathroy and Komoka, but now of Queen-street West, Toronto, was severely cut in the face, and his eye injured. He escaped through the door, and fell on his face. He has returned to his friends at Komoka. Mrs. Freeman, living at Clarke's Mills, Caradoc, injured, taken to London. Her grand son was burned to death. Mr. McKinnon, telegraph operator, who was on his way to fulfil an engagement in Strathroy, sprang from the rear platform and slid a car's length on the ice. He slightly sprained his ankle, Mr. John Hay, formerly of Brayley & Hay, Toronto, very badly injured in the head, lies at Komoka. A man named McCarthy is reported missing. Mr. Lee, insurance agent, who made Strathroy his head-quarters, is supposed to have been among the lost. It is yet uncertain as to whether he was on board, but it is feared that he was. Miss Lawrence daughter of Dr. Lawrence of Paris, was on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Burnham, wife of the freight agent at Petrolia, with Miss Purvis. They visited London yesterday morning taking with them a young lad, son of Mr. Burnham, aged about six years. They were sitting in a double seat, having with them a daughter of Conductor Mitchell. The latter dropped out of the window, and Miss Lawrence followed, while Miss Purvis, with young Burnham, made for the door. Both of the latter were burned to death. Miss Purvis is a step-daughter of the Rev. Mr. Muir, of Galt.

Mr. Geo. Moncrieff, of Petrolia, gives a very circumstantial account of the origin of the fire. He says: "I heard a slight noise in the forward saloon, and [illegible] ascertain the cause. I found that the lamp had fallen, and that a small quantity of oil that had escaped had taken fire on the floor. I went for a cushion, quietly to avoid excitement, but found that it was securely attached. I tried another and wrenched it off, but found that it was stiff and would not stifle the flames. I then got another, but found on my return the sides of the closet on fire All this took but a moment. I ran to the rear of the car for the conductor, at the same time telling the people in the rear to sit quiet, that there was no danger. As this, some one cried out, "Isn't there!"—and I looked around and saw that the flames had eaten through to the main compartment of the car, and some one had opened the closet door, which I had closed behind me. Flames were also issuing from this opening. I then hung with my weight on the bell-rope, but the car did not stop. The excitement by this time became a panic, and after a moment's thought, I concluded that I had better try to get air. The smoke was stifling, and travelled out of the rear door, which was kept open by those trying to escape, as if carried by a whirlwind. It seemed as if a thousand pairs of bellows fanned the flames. I took my valise and smashed three windows in succession, and by this time saw that the flames were gaining so rapidly that my only safety lay in escape. I did not realize this when I first broke the windows, and when I did it was impossible to aid any one else. I climbed through a window, let myself drop, hauling up at the foot of the embankment about twenty feet high. When I got up, I thanked God for my narrow escape. I saw the next moment a culvert about six feet from where I first alighted on the ground. W. H. Murray was then getting up on the other side of the track a few feet on the west of the same culvert. The pitiable cries that rent the air on all sides as I dropped were indescribable, and I hope to never hear their like again."

Mr. Daniel Decow, who was in the smoking car, states that when he first saw the fire coming through the forward door he closed it to prevent a draft, but the next moment two Indians opened it and jumped off the first class car platform. He stood on the platform to try to close it, but could not, owing to the intensity of the flames, which shot up with frightful rapidity. Conductor Mitchell rushed through them, and he tried to help him up to the top of the smoking car, but he could not get up. The conductor then directed the brakesman to try to uncouple the passenger coach while he ran through to the baggage car. He opened the side door and ascended by the sides. Meanwhile Mr. Decow saw the fire drive the passengers towards the rear end of the train, all except one heavy man, supposed to be Mr. Lee, who seemed rooted to his place. The cries were now heartrending in the extreme, and by looking over the side he could see men and women drop off the platform and out of the windows, some uninjured, others lying where they fell. As the train stopped, Conductor Mitchell, who did nobly, asked him to come back and aid the injured. The first he found was a man who was all on fire, and whom he rolled on the ground. Others, men and women, lay along the track for a distance of over a mile and a half. The enquiries relative to friends supposed to be on the train was numerous. A brother of Mr. Benjamin Scott, a bricklayer here, was expected up from Ingersoll by the unfortunate train, and it is uncertain as to whether he came. A young man named Hennessy, another named McLaren, Mr. McKay, brother of the station master here, Mr. Gunn, of London, and his sister, were all expected, but fears as to the safety of all these, except the two first, have been set at rest by telegrams apprising their friends of their safety.

A strange fatality now attaches to the locality of the accident. The first serious accident on this section of the Great Western occurred on the 7th June, 1854, occurred on the same precise spot. On that occasion there was seven emigrants killed by the car in which they were seated tumbling over an embankment.

The scene on the burning car when your correspondent visited it, just as it entered Komoka about two hours after the accident, was horribly sickening. The charred limbs, heads and trunks of bodies lay among the iron work of the car on which the wood work had been entirely consumed. It was a frightful sight, and the smell filled the air as at a barbecue.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

(By Telegraph from Our Own Correspondent.)

LONDON, March 1.—A terrible accident occurred to the Sarnia express on the Great Western Railway, which left here last evening about 6:30, about seven miles west of the city, and within about three miles from Komoka. A fire broke out in the water-closet, in the forward end of the first-class car at the rear end of the train, and, fanned by a powerful draught caused by the rapid motion of the train, which was running at a high rate of speed, the flames spread with great rapidity, driving the passengers, panic stricken and in alarm, to the rear end of the car. The bell rope was tried for the purpose of stopping the train, but without effecting that object. Meantime men and women were leaping from the rear end of the car, preferring to risk death so rather than to face it in the more dreadful way that threatened them. For two miles or more along the track, maimed and mutilated passengers were lying where they jumped, many of them badly injured, and others slightly. Some few miraculously escaped unhurt. When the train was brought to a stand, it was found that a number of persons had been burned to death, their blackened calcined remains being visible in the burning ruins. The car was consumed to the trucks. The casualties, so far as ascertained, are numerous—seven fatal, and fully twenty in various stages of injury. A correct list is scarcely ascertainable, as the dead are charred beyond recognition, and it is impossible to separate the remains so as to tell precisely how many actually suffered death. The following, made up on the spot by your correspondent a few hours after the disaster, is as correct as possible:

DEAD.

Miss Purvis, Petrolia.

Frank Burnham and child, Petrolia.

Mr. McKellar, High School teacher, Strathroy.

Miss Scartliffe, an Indian girl, and her mother.

Annie Dunn.

WOUNDED.

Mrs. S. Crawford, wife of Mr. Crawford, of Crawford & Mahan, London, serious injury to spine, and several contusions.

Miss Spiers, severely burned about the head.

Mr. John Hay, of Brayley and Hay, Toronto, burned badly about the head, and otherwise injured.

Dr. Smith, head injured.

W. H. Murray, Strathroy, hands burned and slight bruises.

Mr. Geo. Moncrieff, Petrolia, slightly injured.

Mr. Dearness, Strathroy, slightly injured.

Mr. Miller, Strathroy, leg and shoulder hurt.

Mr. Blossing, Strathroy, both legs badly bruised.

Mr. Orton, London, badly burned, and in a dangerous condition.

Neil McGugan, dangerously cut about the head, and injuries to his limbs and body.

Mr. Robinson, Watford, also cut severely about the head, and suffering from injuries of the limbs and body; in a dangerous condition.

Rev. Mr. Collamore, London, legs and body badly bruised, but it is thought no bones are broken.

A lady named Freeman, shoulder blade dislocated, arms injured, severe contusions on the head and face.

Mrs. Zavitz, Lobo, shoulder blade dislocated, and other injuries.

Rev. Mr. Hooper, Woodstock, slightly injured.

Miss Lawrence, daughter of Dr. Lawrence, Paris, shoulder and arm seriously hurt, and burned about the neck.

Mrs. Ryan, London, severely injured.

Mr. Zavitz, Lobo, hand burned, slight contusion.

Mr. A. McKellar, severely injured.

Mr. Breathwick, London, very severely injured.

The greatest excitement prevailed in this city and Strathroy, as the majority of the passengers on the train belonged to or were well known in both places.

A wrecking train was sent out at once to clear the track of the ruins, and Dr. Moore, the Company's physician, accompanied it to give assistance to the sufferers. Mr. McGugan, Mr. Saxon, Mr. Blossing, Rev. Mr. Collamore, Mr. and Mrs. Zavitz, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Crawford and Miss Spiers were brought back to this city. Drs. Payne and Strathy were in attendance on the arrival of the train. Mr. Orton, Mr. Breathwick, Mr. McKellar, and Mr. Hays were too badly burned to bear removal. They were left in an hotel at Komoka. Miss Lawrence and the remainder of the injured went on to their homes. A more deplorable disaster, or one more extraordinary in its character, never occurred on the Great Western.

A coroner's inquest was convened to-day by Coroner Flock, and adjourned till tomorrow.

Mr. Morgan, of the Superintendent's office, was among the first to proceed to the scene of the disaster, and made arrangements for the care of the wounded. It is stated that Conductor Mitchell, who had charge of the train, has been arrested pending the coroner's investigation.

A man named Marass telegraphed to his friends in Ingersoll immediately, after the accident that he was badly injured and his wife, and the child burned, but he has not since been seen, and it is not known whether his statement is correct or not.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all tha proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the real conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color, has divested our current politics of half their bygone intensity. However parties may henceforth rise or fall, it is clear that the fundamental principles which have hitherto honorably distinguished the Republicans are henceforth to be regarded as practically accepted by the whole country. The right of every man to his own limbs and sinews—the equality of all citizens before the law—the inability of a State to enslave any portion of its people—the duty of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of this liberty until he forfeits it by crime—such are the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and palsied be the hand which shall seek to displace them! Though not twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of man and the benignant smile of God.

Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and humble from violence and oppression—to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilisation—to stimulate Ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economizing Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gains of Industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, the Tribune contributes its zealous, persistent efforts.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially lucidated in its Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful tillers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who has $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as the Tribune. And we aspire to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage enables us to do; and we are resolved that our success of former years shall be exceeded in varied excellence and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our journal better and better, by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us!

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Paterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published, and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for DR. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen. Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound, in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hance, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

Dr. Granville F.R.S., Author of the 'Spas of Germany.'

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the Pale Oil."

Edwin Canton, Esq., F.R.C.S., Surgeon to Charing Cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL sold only in Imperial Half-pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; Capsuled and Labelled with his Stamp and Signature

GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANREATIC EMULSION

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength. Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the publi against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, ointments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labell on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE ST. PETERSBURG FETES.

The Royal Marriage &c.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 2.

On Thursday, for the first time since the arrival of the wedding guests, the weather was what it ought to be, and usually is, in St. Petersburg at this time of year. A bright sun glistening in ten degrees of frost on white, new fallen snow made a delightful morning for the firemen's parade on the Champ de Mars. At 11 o'clock a Russian and English group gathered on a space cleared away in the snow just before the statue of Suwardoff. The Grand Duke Constantine, the Prince of Wales, and Prince Arthur, and some other great persons were present. The Champ de Mars is an open space about half a mile square, bordered on the east side by a fence of tall trees, now dark and naked against the gleaming sheet of snow spread over the parade. Near these trees the line of Fire Brigade sledges was drawn up, and presently came dashing past us in fine style, with bells ringing, whips cracking, and the horses' feet throwing up clouds of snow, a beautiful dust. There is no water service in St. Petersburg, and considerable part of the fire tram consisted of sledges carrying large casks of water. In practice these are filled easily at the nearest canal, but we can hardly imagine an efficient fire brigade without men at hand to screw the hose to. The passage over the snow of these firemen and their equipment was the most purely Russian sight we have yet seen. Men, horses, engines, ladders, and water casks made a most picturesque cavalcade, and they all looked smart and serviceable, as well as picturesque. The men are picked and do their work, and are told, in the most admirable manner, their skill and quickness and courage covering the shortcomings of the water system or of the engines. These latter do not look so powerful as ours, though in judging of their size and strength one must remember that they are on runners and not on wheels, and look small because they lie near the ground. Flags fluttering from the different sleighs denote the districts they belong to. The horses are excellent animals, strong, well-conditioned, and rapid. The bells and the snow and the beautiful morning, the swift and fearless passage of sleigh after sleigh, immediately in front of where the Prince of Wales stood, while in the distance a train of men and horses, and engines, and ladders, and water barrels dashed across the white plain at still higher speed as to a veritable fire, made this review of the Fire Brigade one of the prettiest sights that can be be imagined. Near the statue of Suwaroff the firemen wound up one of their longest ladders to an extraordinary height, sufficient to scale the roofs of the highest palaces.

Every one was pleased with this picturesque spectacle, and when it was over the Princess drove off to the Michael Manege, where the Emperor's Circassian and Cossack body guard went through their feats. These wild horsemen gave us some scenes of their predatory warfare, exhibiting a skill and activity perfectly marvellous. One after another they galloped by the Princes, shouting fierce war-whoops and firing their long pistols and flint locks at imaginary foes. They seemed to discharge their weopons in every position but from the saddle. Hanging on one side of the horse till the head almost grazed the ground and taking a leisurely aim under the animal's belly, seemed the favorite attitude. One cavalier went by at speed standing on his head in his saddle; others leaped on and off their horses with the ease of circus riders. The manege soon so filled with smoke that it might well, for all we could see, have been some mountain defile, and the body guard a band of robber knights swooping down on some village or cavern, or on the party of peaceable travellers represented by the Grand Duke Nicholas, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, and Prince Arthur. The Czarevna and the Princess of Wales were there also, and altogether the wild riders would have made a good day's work of it had they been brigands of the Steppe instead of the faithful body-guard of the Emperor. Admiral Popoff told me it was a fine sight to see 1,500 of these horsemen playing their warlike pranks for miles and miles about the Imperial cavalcade when the Grand Duke Constantine was travelling in the Caucasus. They always turn out in honour of a member of the Imperial family, going through the whole drama of their war along the road. Once or twice yesterday they divided and fought a battle among themselves. Half of them made their horses lie down and crouched behind the animals, the long barrels of the flint guns pointing in the direction of the enemy. Presently the assailants came riding out of the curtain of smoke with fierce cries, opening a glorious fire in all directions, which rather reminded one of some of the melees of our Autumn Manoeuvres. Every one must have been killed, spectators included, before the bands disentangled themselves from each other and retired again to opposite ends of the manege to take breath and measure powder for another onslaught. It was a picturesque and inspiriting sight, as utterly imposed to the precision and science of modern warfare as anything well could be. The costumes, the arms, the men, and the horses who carried them—all were wild and strange, telling us of a nation of warriors who know not barrack yard and schools of musketry, but who know right well how to fight in their old way: In real fighting these fine fellows, one may suppose, are not quite so gamesome as in the Michael Manegé, Probably, for instance, the trooper who rode with his head in his saddle and his feet in the air would reserve that attitude till the day was over, and till he might safely indulge in the transports of victory. One of the Circassians, a burly man upon a white horse, was a son of the great Schmayl. He was presented to the Prince of Wales at the conclusion of the spectacle. More than one of the Russian officers present wore decorations earned in frontier warfare with such cavalry as those before us.

The ball of Thursday night at the Winter Palace was a magnificent affair. The Nicolas Hall, green with trees and ferns, and bright as day with 10,000 candles, was filled with the many colored crowd I have so often described. The Imperial family and the Royal persons entered at half-past 8. A polonaise was first danced to Glinka's music, and its courtly promenade was succeeded by ordinary quadrilles and waltzes. The Emperor wore the Garter, and English Princes the St. Andrew ribands. Her Majesty and the Cesarewitch wore the white pelisse of the Hussars of the Guard, the Prince of Wales was a Colonel of the 10th Hussars, the Duke of Edinburgh a Captain in the Russian Navy, and Prince Arthur an officer of Kentish Yeomanry. The Empress danced the polonaise and stayed some time, but not till the supper, which was at half-past 12. Right imperially did the Emperor feast his guests. There was a chair for every one, and ecah person received as much attention as though he had been one of ten at a perfectly appointed private dinner, not one of 2,000 in half-a-dozen great halls. Five bands, in successive saloons, played the company into supper, past ranks of Circassians and Cuirassiers. When the tables in the Salle des Armoures, when the Imperial and Royal party sat, had filled, the guests streamed in from hall to hall, always finding the same luxurious feast, spread now on long tables, and now on table semi-circular. Directly one was seated, no matter in what room or at what table, soup was served and wine poured out. It was, in truth, a wonderful supper. The only persons who were not seated were the Chamberlains, who walked about with their sticks of office, and the Emperor, who on these occasions observes a fine point of courtesy, and passes from room to room to see that his guests are enjoying themselves.

course, when His Majesty entered, all made an effort to rise, but the Emperor would have no standing. In the Salles des Armoires there was gold plate on the tables. Here sat the Duke and Duchess of Edinburg, side by side, and next to them on right and left, the Prince and Princess of Wales. The programme of the music was a very pretty design by M. Charlemagne with a Lancer of the Yamboug regiment and a Russian sailor on one side of the list of pieces, and on the other an English Lifeguardsman and a seaman. At the foot was a charming view of the Neva and its quays, just taking in the Duke and Duchess of Edinburg's windows in the Winter Palace. There were also monograms, and altogether the programme was an exceedingly tasteful work of art, and a charming memento of the evening to those fortunate enough to obtain it. [illegible] guest passed out of the supper room many of them stopped to pick a flower from the table which the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh and so many other Imperial and Royal princes and princesses had just quitted. The dancing in the Nicholas Hall was pretty to see, especially the mazurka figure of a long interlaced chain of dancers advancing and meeting.

On Friday there was an Imperial hunt at Oranienbaum. The Duke of Edinburgh remained in town, and at two in the afternoon His Royal Highness and the Duchess of Edinburgh set out in state in a carriage and four to pay formal visits to the members of the Imperial Family, according to one of those points of etiquette which are as the laws of the Medes and Persians. On Wednesday the Dean of Westminster visited the Foundling Hospital, the establishment for the orphans of officers, and other charitable institutions under the direction of the Prince of Oldenburg.

The Ottawa Times

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 1874.

The Hon. Edward Blake arrived in the city yesterday.

A handsome oil-painting of the Hon. R. W. Scott, will shortly be placed in the Reception Room of the Local Legislature in Toronto.

The Homeopathic Bill now before the Ontario Legislature, has been thrown out by the Private Bills Committee. It is generally believed that the Allopathy Bill, commonly known as "Baxter's Bill," will be passed by Parliament.

MR. DISRAELI'S PROGRAMME.

Mr. Disraeli's speech to the men of Buckingham, immediately before the elections, was in his usual happy style. We find in it confirmation of the views we ventured to express a few weeks ago, as to the confidence we felt in the Conservative instincts of the workingmen of England, when he granted them the right of household suffrage, when last in power. The London Times and other leading metropolitan organs, have also credited the present Premier with a thorough knowledge of his countrymen, and rare sagacity in the management of his Party, which he has conducted to power in large majority, and with fair prospects of a considerable lease of office. Mr. Disraeli plainly avows his belief at the time of the last Reform bill, in the existence of such an entity as the Conservative Workingman, an idea derided by the Leaders and journals of the Liberal Party. As we have before observed, and as he now boasts himself, events have established the correctness of his opinions and calculations. He confesses to having been startled by the result of the elections immediately following the Reform Bill, but explains the large majority given his opponent, Gladstone, by the theory of the imperfect understanding of that measure by the people, and want of time to effect the necessary organization, and make the requisite preparations for extracting from it the party advantage desirable and proper under the circumstances. Now, however, the matter is rectified. In the course of his speech, the Premier claimed that various important facts had been established, including the following:—That no hostility existed between capital and labour, or between the landlords and tenants, and that the people had no faith in demagogues, whether styled workingmen or anything else. He stated nothing could be viler than an English Jacobin, who was but a poor copy of that most odious of all things, a foreign jacobin. He also showed himself, as usual, free of snobbery or upstart pride, in speaking approvingly of the two workingmen's candidates, whom he welcomed to the representative body as qualified and deserving. He devoted considerable attention to the famine in India, manifesting great sympathy with the victims, and a disposition to aid the Indian Government to the utmost in its efforts to relieve the starving millions, and preserve them from death. The incidental mention of the British surplus, and the subject of its division, at the end of this passage, would warrant the inference of an intention to appropriate a portion of it to the help of the sufferers. Mr. Disraeli coupled the Irish with the Indian difficulty as calling urgently for the friendly action of the Legislature. He stated emphatically that Ireland had not been tranquillised and harmonised by the measures of the Gladstone Government, but tranquilised by severe and stringent legislation. Coercion still prevailed. A man might be arrested for taking a walk after night. His house might at any moment be invaded and searched by the police, to see if his hand writing corresponded with that of some anonymous threatening letter. By the Church and Land Acts coupled with this treatment, the people had been unsettled, disturbed, and excited; it was no wonder that unreasonable notions seized them, and that many members were elected to favour a policy meaning the dismemberment of the Empire. Mr. Disraeli's remarks create the impression that home rule will find no favour with him, though the coercive policy is likely to be abandoned and the Island treated with more consideration for the feelings of the people, and respect for their rights as free British subjects. On the education question, he disapprovingly criticised the professions of some of the Liberals, of their ability or willingness to make compromises of a nature to satisfy both the advocates of religious and secular education. He plainly and courageously states no compromise is possible, evidencing, at the same time, his preference for education with a religious basis. The new Government will have an interesting and important programme for the coming session, and a grand opportunity of making their mark in British history.

STEAMSHIP ARRIVAL.—The steamship 'Circassian' arrived at Liverpool, from Portland, yesterday.

AMERICAN REFORM NOTIONS

The United States maintain their reputation for what the Eastern man would call "notions," and the foreigner "novelties," or "eccentricities." The inventive genius of our neighbors has long been proverbial, its manifestations embracing all departments of business, and affecting all ages and conditions of life. Their habit of seeking short-cuts has often been commented upon, some explaining it by their peculiar circumstances, including scanty means of labour in face of the enormous demands upon their energies, made by a vast territory and boundless resources. The wits of the people, accustomed to heavy tasks, have been sharpened to the finest edge, the art of economising labour being the grand study of all ranks. The Yankee farmer and mechanic is now credited with a skill, handiness and ingenuity superior to the amount exhibited by his foreign competitor, and, with justice, so far as a very large number of these crafts are concerned. The habit of working for results in the quickest and most practical fashion, regardless of old methods and ancient prejudices, has spread among all classes. We see it in agriculture, the mechanical arts, and in the professions themselves. In journal-writing, preaching and the conduct of public meetings, by leading men in these different departments, the pointed, pithy, practical method is invariably arrived at, and often with success in the creation of impressions. The late Horace Greeley, Henry Ward Beecher, Mr. Miller, President of the Young Men's Christian Association some years ago, may be cited as exemplifying our meaning. The two first always excited attention by the peculiarity of their style, which was original, clear and forcible, and calculated to arrest attention. Mr. Miller and other members of the Y. M. C. Association used to astonish Canadians, accustomed to the old, rambling, prosy method of speech-making, at religious meetings, by stirring, effective speeches of two to five minutes length. Some of the two-minute addresses were particularly happy, the orator having his points ready, and line of thought carefully traced out in his own mind before rising; and his remarks often came with a force and directness, which moved even the most indifferent. The Americans understand well the best way of eliciting and giving effect to the sentiments of a gathering. We see an instance of their skill in stirring up the public mind, in the success of Mr. Sandy's and colleague in the Religious Revival in Scotland. Two American laymen, all on fire with zeal, one a capital short speech-maker, on religious subjects, and the other a good singer, commence the work of rousing the devotional feelings and moral sympathies of the people of Edinburgh and other Scotch cities, and in a short time the kind of movement, styled the Revival, is absorbing general attention. The persons influenced are, in a multitude of cases, highly intelligent, and respectable, and have been all their lives participants in religious privileges. In other words, thousands of church-goers, in good standing who have had the best of opportunities for religious and moral cultivation and improvement—who, to use a Scotch phrase, have "sat under" the ablest preachers in North Britain—find themselves "awakened," impressed or powerfully excited for the first time, by the appeals of these two plain earnest laymen, and by the services they have been conducting. It is not our purpose to analyse the causes of this phenomenon, at present. We may give, however, the explanation of a certain Doctor of Divinity, not without fame in Canada—namely, that the ministrations of the regular clergy of the Scotch cities had so affected the minds and hearts of the people as to render them as susceptible as tinder, ready to be fired by the spark of American enthusiasm. This may or may not be a correct diagnosis—we use the word in no offensive sense—but the reader will notice that it is not uncomplimentary to the cloth in Scotland. Certainly the labors of the Americans prove highly acceptable to the people concerned, and the confession of their fruitfulness is no mean encouragement to their prosecution. If revivals are not exactly an American idea or institution, they are, at least, an oft-used agency with our neighbours, exciting religious and moral feeling, and disposing people to self-denial and self-sacrifice. Whether, in the majority of cases, the effects produced be lasting, or not, is another matter. There is no doubt an account to be kept with failure as well as success; but any considerable share of the latter is, of course, matter for congratulation, as showing that humanity is not so insensible to good influences as some of the bilious theologians imagine. To people, like our neighbous, then, so accustomed to moral as well as political excitement, it is not surprising that they should possess not only valuable skill in the excitation of the passions, but much faith in the utility of the operation. Hence, as in the present anti-liquor crusade in Ohio, Indiana, and adjoining States, when police restrictions and domestic objurgations fail to restrain or convert the intemperate husband, sweetheart or brother, we find the American habit of association brought into play, and the resort to emotional excitement made with characteristic fervour. Bands of benevolent women have taken the reformatory movement into their own hands, acting harmoniously as to sentiment, but variously as to means, in order to put down liquor selling, or, as the erring male relatives style it, in the words of the old song—"to rob a poor chap of his beer."

The ladies are zealous and determined, having driven many publicans out of the business, in some cases by expostulation, in others by intimidation, and in not a few by appeals to religious motives and a siege of observation near the premises, which none but the most callous could resist. The earnest, pleading or reproving faces of these female crowds must have constituted a terrible trial to the sensitive grog-seller in a land where women's rights are deemed sacred, and where it is the fashion with multitudes to treat the sex as something between a toy and a divinity, to be alternately coddled and worshipped. No wonder the poor defences of liquor often fell before the battery of hundreds of flashing female eyes; what were alcoholic spirits to theirs, when fired by vengeance, or philanthropy? This crusade is spreading eastward, and it may extend to near the Canada border. It is such an enterprize as we should expect to witness in the States, whatever may be its permanent effects. If men can be reformed in mass, by female open air demonstrations, and unpopular trades extinguished by female remonstrance and hymn-singing, then a new and powerful moral force has been discovered in the States, and added to the resources of humanity. The existence of the new power granted, the next consideration will be to guard it against abuse. Should the ladies hereafter turn their attention to immorality in trade, generally, we suspect that other branches of business will furnish them righteous employment for many a day.

ASSAULT.—A case of assault was brought before Thos. Langrell, J. P., County Magistrate, by County Constable Gordon. It seems that a man named George Campbell, living in the vicinity of Britannia and working on the Canada Central, maliciously assaulted a fellow workman named Robt. McKay. The Magistrate satisfied of his guilt, inflicted a fine of $10 and costs. He has gone home, it may safely be asserted, a sadder if not a wiser man.

REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—A telegram received to-day from Bishop Cummins conveys the intelligence that the Rev. Mason Gallagher, an able Minister of the Reformed Episcopal Church, will reach Ottawa on Friday, and hold services on Sunday next. Bishop Cummins also states in the telegram that he will follow as soon as he possibly can. The place in which the services will be held will be announced in due time. Citizen please copy. 2507

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.—At an adjourned quarterly meeting of the St. Andrew's Society it was decided to hold a grand concert early next month. Our Scotch friends will doubtless look forward anxiously for the occasion, as there has been a dearth of amusement under the auspices of the above society throughout this season.

FIRE.—Last night, about 10 o'clock, an alarm of fire was sounded. Upon arriving on the scene, it was discovered to be in an unoccupied house, lately occupied by Mr. T. Lawrence, situated on the By property off bank street. When first discovered the flames were seen issuing from the roof, and is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. There were some few effects in the kitchen which were not saved. The fire companies were promptly on the ground, but their services were of no avail, as the building was a wooden structure, and quickly burned to the ground.

St. Andrew's Church.

The annual meeting of the Congregation of St. Andrew's Church was held in the basement of the new Church, Monday evening. E. McGillivray Esq., President of the Temporal Committee, in the chair.

The Annual Report of the Temporal Committee together with the Treasurer's financial statement and the Report of the Building Committee, were presented, approved and found to be satisfactory.

The new election was then proceeded with for the ensuing year, and resulted as follows:—

E. McGillivray, President; C. S. McNutt, Treasurer; Robert Cassels jr, Secretary; and the Hon. James Skead, H. F. Bronson, A. Drummond, G. E. Elliott, members of Committee.

The following gentlemen were appointed to be associated with the Temporal Committee in all matters relating to the erection of the new Church:—J. M. Currier, M. P., Thomas Patterson, John R. Booth, Robert Skead, James L. Orme, Allan Gilmour, E. C. Malloch, M. D., George P. Drummond, Andrew Mann, McLeod Stewart, T. S. Scott.

The Congregation in a very generous manner raised the salary of their much esteemed Pastor, to the munificent sum of $2,500.

It would have been, to say the least of it, but courteous on the part of the Congregation to have returned thanks for the somewhat laborious services rendered during the past year, especially to Messrs. McGillivray and Drummond, who evinced such an interest in the erection of the new Church.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE DROWNING CASE.

Yesterday we gave our readers but a synopsis incidentally received from hearsay, regarding the sad case of drowning in the Ottawa River. To-day we are in a position to give the names and other details in relation to the unfortunate affair. It seems that a man named Cyrille Bertrand, his wife and daughter, Mrs. Morrison, had come to the city from some miles up the Gatineau, and for that purpose had procured the services of a man named Ayott, from the same locality, who is in the habit of letting horses out for the purpose of taking people to and from the city. On their return home on Monday night the sad disaster befel them, which led to the loss of three human beings, a team of horses and sleigh. On nearing the further shore at Batson & Currier's mill, it seems that the party met by them, and referred to in our issue of yesterday, was Dr. St. Jean, M. P., who was coming home from the village of Hull. At the approach of the Doctor's horse it would seem that one of Ayott's horses shied, and leaping towards the edge of an open water hole caused such a break in the ice as to cause the accident already adverted to. Cyrille Bertrand, it would seem, is the only survivor of the occupants of the sleigh, he being rescued by Mr. Batson and another gentleman who was very fortunately on hand when the accident occurred. An attempt was made to rescue the bodies of the others, but night having come on, the darkness operated disadvantageously to such a work being successfully carried out. Yesterday morning a boat was procured, and the necessary apparatus having been obtained, the body of Mrs. Morrison was recovered in a short time, said to have been near the surface. The search for the other bodies was then continued throughout the afternoon, but up to a late hour was unattended with success. Dr. Graham held an inquest on the body of Mrs. Morrison during the afternoon, and a verdict returned of "Accidental drowning."

"The Great Lone Land."

This is the title of one of those poetically eloquent lectures, which only such men as the Reverend Dr. Lachlan Taylor can write, and which scarcely any other man than Dr. Taylor could read with a like effect. By the "Great Lone Land" is simply meant Manitoba, and the reverend gentleman painted prairie and mountain, lake and river, with all that brilliancy of colouring for which he is distinguished.

The lecture was delivered last night in the lecture room of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, at the corner of King and Besserer streets.

At 8 o'clock, before the naming of a chairman, or the introduction of the lecture, a prayer was offered up by the Rev. Mr. Sparling, of Aylmer.

The Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, Premier of the Dominion, was, upon its conclusion, requested to accept the position of Chairman, and did so, with the remark that he had been acquainted with Dr. Taylor for over thirty-two years, and neither Dr. Taylor nor himself could say how long their acquaintance might continue, and had much pleasure in taking the chair. He hoped in truth that a Greater Britain would be built up in the course of time, but he did so in contradistinction to the views of Sir Charles Dilke. While he hoped Canada would rival, and even excel in power and wealth the United States, he nevertheless sincerely hoped that we should long continue to be in unity of feeling with our neighbors, and that there would be permanent peace between us. However he knew that every moment of time in preliminary proceedings would be begrudged and he therefore would now only introduce the lecturer.

An anthem was very beautifully sung by the choir, when Dr. Taylor opened his mouth and spake. He alluded to the opinion expressed by Talleyrand to the first Napoleon, of the commercial and military aptitudes of Great Britain. Of the value of ships, colonies and commerce, of the vast extent of the British possessions, one out of every six acres of dry land on the globe constituting the British empire, quoting the eloquent speech in Congress of the great Daniel Webster, who was inspired by the strains of martial music when on a visit to the ancient city of Quebec, and which was to the effect that the reveille or morning drum of England followed the course of the sun in one continuous roll, testifying to the might and power of the grandest empire which the world had ever known, foremost in peace, first in war, and unexcelled in commerce, as she is unrivalled in general knowledge and in intellectual power.

Dr. Taylor then spoke of the vast extent of Canada as compared with the United States and Europe, acknowledging to have derived his information chiefly from Dr. Hurlbert, and, particularizing, came to his subject the "Great Lone Land," which he most graphically described; taking Archbishop Tache, Mr. Donald Smith, Mr. Mackenzie, Mr. John McDougall, and Mr. McKeown for his authorities; but painting graphically all that had come under his own immediate supervision during a tour through those stupendous prairies, which resemble in vastness the mighty ocean, boundless and limitless, without house or tree, in rich verdure clad, the floral beauties of which are such, that to sleep on the ground is literally to sleep on a bed of roses, of jassamines, violets, pansies, sunflowers, and daffadown-dillies. He described the climate, the variety and excellence of the cereal and root productions, 60 bushels of corn to the acre, and eight potatoes to fill a patent pail. Then the Dr. dreamed. He dreamed as he was driving over this ocean of primitive grazing ground, where the buffalo, the horse, and the domestic ox fed themselves during the entire winter without the shelter of stable or barn, then when a liberal Government obtained power there would come with that power the locomotive to become a leading part of their programme, and that printing presses and everything else conducive to civilisation would spring up as if by magic in a new land 1,000 miles long and 2,000 miles broad, which was the extent of that part of the great west now available for settlement. The valley of the Saskatchewan was 20,000 miles in extent, and the Red River, the Assinaboine, the Saskatchewan and other of the rivers in which were brook trout and other fishes were larger than the Danube and the Rhine. Quoting Lieutenant Maury, he spoke of the effect of the ocean rivers in the Atlantic and Pacific in ameliorating our climate, advised strongly the part rail and part water mode of immediately opening up trading communications with the Far West, alluded to the the saving of time, which the Yankees admitted would be effected by the termination of overland communication at Puget Sound instead of at San Francisco, by vessels proceeding to India, China or Japan, and wound up a stirring and effective lecture by expressing his loyalty to the Queen and attachment to Great Britain, repeating the first verse of "God Save the Queen," as a final, and took his seat amidst a storm of applause.

An alarm of fire was given, which slightly interrupted the lecture, as people who lived in the neighbourhood of St. George's Ward, naturally felt anxious on account of the continued ringing of the bells.

Dr. Taylor very justly received a vote of thanks for his very able and most interesting lecture.

Knox's Church Lecture.

A goodly number, considering the state of the weather and other sources of attraction, assembled in the basement of Knox's Church, Elgin Street, last night, to hear the lecture of the Rev. Mr. Grant, of Ingersoll, on "the Mischievous Mistakes of Young Men."

Alex. Mutchmor, Esq, occupied the chair.

The Chairman expressed his satisfaction at seeing so many present under the circumstances, as there were many other sources of attraction this evening. When the night was fixed he said he took especial care that nothing else should take place to interfere with the proposed lecture. It, however, turned out that other attractions were offered this evening, and to this he attributed in a measure the meagre attendance. He had great pleasure in introducing the Rev. Mr. Grant to the audience.

The reverend gentleman on coming forward adverted in general terms to the mischievous mistakes made by young men, and the evil consequences that, as a rule, followed such mistakes. He cited a striking illustration of a mistake made by a young astronomer, who thought he had discovered a new star when making a scientific observation, but which turned out to be the headlight of a steamship coming into the New York harbor. He then alluded to the many mistakes made by young men as to their ideas of becoming educated men. Some, he said, believed that cramming in a certain number of books constituted what they looked upon as an educated man. Education, however, did not consist in this, but rather in the development of all the powers of the mind. He contended that men could educate themselves if possessed of ambition, and cited E. Burritt, Horace Greeley and Hugh Millar as peculiar instances of self-educated men. He stated it to be an incontrovertible fact that nearly all the great men of the Dominion were self-educated, and he therefore maintained that it was a mischievous mistake in young men to think that a good education could not be had except through a collegiate training. He then dwelt at some length on the mistakes made by young men in choosing the avocations in life for which they were most adapted, and multiplied instances of the mischief caused by mistakes in this respect. He next referred to the evils arising from a too frequent change from one calling to another. The lecturer next gave a very amusing account of the necessity that existed for avoiding mistakes in the selection of a good wife; and said that a great deal of mischief and misfortune often arose from young men making serious mistakes in entering on a matrimonial career. He drew a very striking picture of what the prevalent idea was as to the qualities of a good wife among men, and how they, by mischievous mistakes made, brought eternal ruin upon themselves. He protested strongly against young men marrying rings, rouge and ribbons, for he thought the ball-room, theatre and public promenades poor places from which to select their wives. He concluded a very instructive and amusing address, by giving a strong moral lesson for the guidance of young men, and we feel sorry that we cannot with the space at our disposal, either do the lecture or lecturer that justice which is due the importance of the subject. The lecturer retired amidst loud applause.

Mr. McMillan moved, seconded by Mr. Shearer, that a vote of thanks be given the Rev. Mr. Grant for his very entertaining and instructive lecture. Carried unanimously.

The chairman conveyed to the lecturer the wish of the meeting, which he cordially acknowledged.

The singing of a Doxology and pronouncing of the benediction brought the proceedings to a close.

IRISH PROTESTANT BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

Grand Concert.

A grand concert under the auspices, and in aid of the above society, took place last evening at the Court House. For some time past busy rumour had it that a rare musical treat might be expected, and that the spirited and energetic impresario, Mr. Sheriff Powell had been succesful in enlisting the aid of artistes of high repute in Toronto and Quebec; and the attendance was consequently numerous, and comprised the elite of the city.

Previous to the performance, the Sheriff expressed his regret that the space afforded was not sufficient, but throughout the evening he had remarked one prominent vacant spot, the prisoners' dock, which had remained without an occupant until his friend, Mr. McGillivray, had voluntarily occupied it. He left it to the audience to decide whethetr the five gentlemen then in it could be found guilty by their looks. He often regretted that he had withdrawn from public life and from public speaking to assume the office of Sheriff; but, if from his place on the bench he could witness every day the brilliant display which he then saw before him, he would never have cause to regret his assumption of office. He thanked the large and distinguished audience for their presence and support to the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, the object of which he briefly explained.

The first part of the concert then began with the overture to Fra Diavolo, which was well executed by Gowan's Orchestra, after which Mr. Neil McLaren sang 'Fly Forth, O! Gentle Dove," which was loudly applauded. Mrs. McGarity next sang Millard's song 'Darling,' and, in reply to an encore, 'Kathleen Mavourneen,' which were well received. Mr. H. Murray Scott, of Toronto, next sang Mr. Santley's favourite song, by Molloy, 'The Vagabond.' In reply to repeated calls for an encore, he re-appeared, and simply bowed his acknowledgments.

'Dermot Asthore' was next splendidly rendered by Miss Brokovski, also of Toronto; and in reply to an encore, that lady gave 'There are as Good Fish in the Sea, as Ever yet were Caught.'

Monsieur Lavigne, of Quebec, whose abilities as a violinist had been highly spoken of, next executed a 'Fantaisie brillante,' (Der Freyschutz) and the audience evinced their appreciation by loud and continued applause.

Madame Beaubien next sang with much sweetness, 'I Pray for Thee,' and 'O! Come to the West.'

Part second commenced with the overture to the 'Gazza Ladra,' by Gowan's Orchestra; after which Miss Brokovski again appeared and sang the 'Blind Girl's Dream,' and 'Robert toi que j'aime,' the favourite air from the opera of 'Robert le Diable' with the same success as before. Mr. Kimber next gave 'Infelice' from Verdi's 'Ernani,' and did justice to the popular Lombardian's composition. Madame Evanturel next appeared, and received quite an ovation. She first sang splendidly an aria requiring much skill and study, from the second act of Auber's Comic Opera, 'The Crown Diamonds,' and for an encore gave Arditi's, Il Bacio. Mons Lavigne again favoured the audience with a Concerto, by De Beriot, in which the several movements requiring a display of mastery were brilliantly executed. Mrs. McGarity next sang a Serenade, with violin obligato by Mons Lavigne; after which Mr. H Murray Scott again appeared and sang 'The King and the Beggar Girl,' and for an encore, gave 'The Miller of the Dee,' playing his own accompaniment. The performance concluded with the National Anthem by Gowan's Orchestra, which throughout the evening played with marked success under the able leadership of Mr. Marley. Professor Mills presided at the piano with his usual ability.

A vote of thanks to the artistes who had so kindly lent their assistance was moved by the Lord Bishop of Ontario and seconded by the Hon. L. S. Huntington.

THE KOMOKA TRAGEDY.

Later particulars—The Inquest.

LONDON, March 2.

The terrible accident on the Great Western completely engrosses public attention. Crowds discuss it on the streets, and every item of news concerning it is eagerly swallowed.

The injured under medical treatment in the city are progressing favourably, with the exception of Mr. Robinson, of Waterford, and Mrs. Ryan, who show no signs of improvement, and are in a very low and dangerous state. Of the others, Neil McGugan, of Strathroy, are the most seriously injured, but reports of his condition are favourable. All the rest are doing as well as could be expected.

It is pretty generally believed that the dead will be found to be more numerous than has been stated. The inquest that was instituted yesterday was resumed this afternoon.

Among the remains there is a face that is perfectly recognizable as that of one of the unfortunate young ladies. A locket she wore was found on the neck in good preservation.

Last night eight coffins left this city for Komoka station, to receive the remains.

Yesterday afternoon, in searching among the wreck, a number of gold nuggets were found, supposed to be melted jewellery; also, two gold watches, which have been identified.

After seven corpses had been identified a number were still left.

Two gentlemen of Petrolia were reported still missing, and they were understood to be on board the train. Hope is still indulged, however, that they may turn up.

It is stated by survivors that had the train been stopped within one mile, the fire would have been put out. Instead of that, the distance made while the car was burning was about three miles, at a high rate of speed. It is alleged that there was no bell rope, and the engineer could not be signalled.

LATER.—The following is the latest regarding the injured at Komoka:—Mr. Breathwick is very low, and probably will not recover. Mr. D. McKellar is improving. Miss Donaldson is improving. Mr. Hay is about the same. Mr. Horton is very low.

LATEST.

Mr. Breathwick, of London, injured on Saturday, is reported to be sinking fast. The doctors have no hopes of his recovery. Mr. Hay, of Toronto, is reported to be worse. The others at Komoka are doing well. Among the injured brought to London, Mr. Robinson, of Watford, the most serious case, is doing well. The rest will probably recover.

STRATHROY, March 2.—The injured by the late accident near Komoka who were brought to Strathroy are progessing favourably, and all will recover. Mr. A. Murray is more seriously hurt than was at first supposed, and has had a relapse to-day. His injuries are internal. Arthur Horton is also confined to bed. Mr. Dearness and Mr. Miller are no better.

At a meeting of the High School Board, held here to-day, it was resolved to place a tablet in the school to the memory of the late Mr. J. A. McKellar.

Electricity! Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric Oil! — Worth Ten Times in Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cents.

The lives of thousands of horses have been saved during the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half as successful or given such universal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. DR. WHEELER'S Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya.

SANDY CREEK, Aug. 31st, 1872.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you I have been for two years using LARGELY in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anemic women, of whom we have so many, and in cases convalescing from prostrating diseases, I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is the remedy.

I am yours truly,
J. LYMAN BUCKLEY, M.D.

TORONTO.

Homœpathic Bill Defeated.-Allopathy wins the Race—Central Prison Difficulty—A Fussy Opposition—Burglars in League with Detectives—Portrait of Hon. R. W. Scott.

TORONTO, March 3.

The Homœpathic Bill in charge of Hon. Mr. Crooks was killed in the Private Bills Committee this morning.

Dr Baxter's allopathic bill passed the Special Committee, and is being reprinted.

Wagner was again before the Committee of Public Works, and stated that he had lost the now celebrated letter from the Hon. Mr. McKellar, respecting the half-holiday to the Central Prison workmen.

The opposition are making a great fuss over what nearly every large employer of labor in the city did.

The statement is again freely made that burglars in the city are in league with the detectives or some of them would have been arrested ere this.

A very handsome oil portrait of Hon. R. W. Scott is to be hung in the reception room of the Local House in a few days.

Ontario Legislature.

The Speaker took the chair at 3:25 p. m. After routine

Mr Cameron moved the adoption of the second report of the Committee on Private Billl.

Mr. Gibson moved, in amendment, that the report be recommitted, with instructions to consider the preamble of the bill to re-unite the North and South ridings of Huron for registration purposes.

After a discussion which lasted until nearly six o'clock, the members were called in and the amendment was carried by 40 to 29.

The House then rose.

AFTER RECESS.

The House went into Committee on the Assessment Act, which was passed with some trifling alterations. The bill was then read a third time and passed.

A Bill respecting the incorporation of Joint Stock Companies was read a third time and passed.

In reply to Mr Meredith, the Attorney General said, while admitting that it would be advisable to introduce a winding up act, he could not do so this session.

The House went into committee on resolutions to the Liquor Bill. The resolutions were passed.

Hon Mr. Crooks moved the House into committee on the Liquor Bill, which was reported with certain amendments.

On motion of the Hon. Attorney General, the House went into committee on the Ballot Bill. Eighteen clauses were passed, and progress was then reported.

The House adjourned at 11:40.

MONTREAL.

An Extradition Case—Survey on Upper Ottawa—St. Francis & Megantic R. R. Debentures—"Witness" Libel Suit—Market Quotations—Italian Immigration—New Buildings.

MONTREAL, March 3.

Thirty-five Italian Immigrants arrived here yesterday, and left this morning for Toronto.

A young man named Lebreche, was suffocated in the burning of Coyle's rope walk on Saturday.

The Montreal Telegraph Company have moved into their new building at the corner of Francois Xavier and Sacrament streets. It is one of the finest buildings in the city.

Work on the new City Hall will shortly be resumed.

The petition of Rosenbaum against the decision of Judge Ramsay, condemning him to be extradited, was refused to-day by Judge Mondelet in the Superior Court.

It is said that Mr. Legge, who is exploring in the upper regions of the Ottawa, has completed his exploration of the River Gresse, and finds that the Lower Canadian bank from the source to the mouth is most conveniently adapted for a railway.

The Hon. J. H. Pope left for England on Saturday last to place the debentures of the St. Francis and Megantic Railway on the market.

The Witness libel case was resumed this afternoon before the Police Magistrate. The foreman of the Witness was examined as to the circulation of the paper and of the articles in it.

It has been thawing all day, and the snow is rapidly disappearing.

Money market is very easy, and in very little demand. Stock loans may be quoted at from 6 to 7 per cent. Business at the banks is quiet. Sterling exchange is firmer and sold in round amounts this morning at 108⅞.

The stock market this morning was quiet, buyers thinking the market rather high, and sellers being inclined to hold on. Montreal which opened dull, closed firm with buyers at 193½. Commerce was also firm, with 125 bid. Some brokers think that with money so easy, prices will probably go higher. Sales—10 Montreal at 192¾, 39 at 192½, and 10 at 192¼; closing at 192¾ to 193. 10 City at 102½ and 2 at 103½; closing at 102 to 103½. Commerce, 125 to 125½; Merchants, 111½ to 112.

QUEBEC.

Court of Appeals—Transfer of Fortification Grounds—Coroner's Inquest—House Rule League.

QUEBEC, March, 2.

The Court of Appeals opened this morning, when Judges Taschereau and Ramsay were present on the Bench. There not being a quorum, the presiding Judge, Mr. Justice Taschereau, adjourned the Court till to-morrow. There are 17 cases on the roll. It appears that Chief Justice Duval has, prior to his resignation, obtained leave of absence until June. Judge Badgley has resigned, and Judge Monk has obtained leave of absence, thus causing the three vacancies on the Bench. It is said that these vacancies will be filled by Wednesday, so that the business of the Court may be proceeded with.

Col. Pope has returned from Ottawa with Mr. Peachy, and reports that the cession of most of the fortification grounds and other military property, to the Corporation, is likely to take place. The other members of the delegation, except the Mayor, are remaining at the capital to continue the details of the conference, which will include the transfer of leases, &c.

The Coroner's inquest on the bodies of the children found at Levis has been postponed until Thursday. In the meantime an investigation is going on before Judge Doucet, which brings to light new facts, and implicates several medical students of this city, who seem to have been regularly organised, having their headquarters in St. Lewis Suburbs.

A meeting was held in the Temperance Hall on Saturday night to organize a branch association of the Home Rule League of Ireland. There were about 400 persons present, comprising the most respectable and intelligent classes of the Irish population of this city. Mr. T. Mallony, Advocate, was called to the chair. Addresses were delivered by Dr. Bradley, Dr. Ahern and Messrs. Gallagher, Jordan and Glass. A list was opened, and a large amount of money subscribed. The meeting broke up at 11 o'clock.

KINGSTON.

Diocesan Offices—Races—Grand Service—License.

KINGSTON, March 2.

A letter from the Bishop of Ontario gives great satisfaction to churchmen here. He promises to discountenance any proposition in the Synod to remove the Diocesan offices to Ottawa, and if necessary to use his veto power, unless the removal be decided by an overwhelming majority, as the Bishops will virtually decide the matter.

Pools selling this evening for the ice races to-morrow. The track is very soft from the thaws, but safe. Great interest is taken in the sport which will end with a fox hunt

Last evening there was a grand service in the Roman Catholic Cathedral over the close of Father Langcake's mission. Over 5 000 attended, and the singing was grand. The burning of over 1,000 candles during the consecration of the Sacred Heart was grand in effect.

The Police Commissioners pending the passage of the new license law are not going to reduce the large number of liquor licenses.

HAMILTON.

Incendiaries at Work—Attempted Suicide—Two Fires.

HAMILTON, March 3.

About five o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the barns and stables of Mr. Forbes' ashery, on the corner of Wellington and Barton streets. In the barns were six horses, a cow and a calf, a quantity of harness, three tons of hay, and several other articles, which were all consumed, with the exception of two horses. Mr. Forbes was insured for $500. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary.

About three hours after this, another fire was discovered in a house owned and occupied by Mr. B. Haign, on Canada street, near Queen street South, which was completely destroyed. The fire originated from a defect in the chimney. The building was insured for $400.

On Saturday evening a woman named Watson, the wife of a baker, residing on the corner of King and Queen street, attempted to cut her throat with an old razor. She may recover.

HAMILTON, March 2.

A fire broke out in the stables of Forbes' ashery this morning, between five and six o'clock, but owing to the distance from the alarm bell, the buildings were destroyed before assistance reached. A cow and calf, four horses, and three tons of hay were burned. The value of the building was insignificant. No insurance.

About eight o'clock a fire broke out in the residence of R. Haigh, bookbinder, on Canada street, doing considerable damage to the building before assistance reached. The fire was caused by a spark from the chimney getting under the joists. The house was insured for $400 in the Provincial Insurance Company, which will not cover the damage done. The furniture was saved. Both fires were at a considerable distance from the centre of the city.

ENGLAND.

Salutes—Appointments.

LONDON, March 2.—Salutes were fired on Saturday in several places, on receipt of the news of the verdict in the Tichborne case.

At Wardour, Wiltshire, a cannon burst, and several persons were killed and wounded.

Some Democratic journals deplore the verdict, denounce Chief Justice Cockburn for unfairness in his conduct of the trial, and quote against him the criticisms of Caleb Cushing in his recent book on the Geneva Arbitration.

The appointment is officially announced of the Earl of Pembroke to be Under Secretary for the War Department, and of the Earl of Rosslyn to be Lord High Commissioner in the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland.

SPAIN.

Embarkation—Official Reports.

MADRID, March 2.—General Lomas' force will embark at San Sebastian for Santander, where it will be joined by the troops under Gen. Moriones.

The official reports of the battle on the heights of Somorostro admit that the Government troops lost 800 in killed and wounded.

FRANCE.

Surrender of Bilboa.

BAYONNE, March 2.—A despatch has been received by the Carlist Junta here, reporting that Bilboa has surrendered to the Royalists. It is said that one church, several banks, and seventeen private houses have been destroyed by the bombardment of the city.

Surprised.

Five thousand Republicans encamped near the village of Somorostro, 15 miles northwest of Bilboa, were surprised by Carlists, and a bloody engagement took place, in which one thousand of the former were killed. The remainder took to flight and were closely pursued by the Royalists. All of them were either captured or drowned, in an attempt to cross the river in the way of their retreat.

Personal.

PARIS, March 2.—It is reported that the Count de Chambord is seriously ill.

UNITED STATES.

Locomotive Engineers' Convention.

CLEVELAND, March 2 - The convention of locomotive engineers' adjourned sine die Saturday evening. It is authoritatively stated that a demand will be made upon all the R. R. Co's. that have made a reduction in the wages of their engineers to restore them to the former figure, and if this is not complied with, a strike will be ordered. It has also been determined that in case of the necessity arising for a strike on any of the through lines, it shall become general.

Gold Mines.

NEW YORK, March 2—A New York Company claim to have discovered extensive gold mines in the Island of French Guiana.

Disapproval.

An Havana letter states the Madrid Government disapproves of Jovelar's late proclamation, and will soon send ex-Captain General Concha to resume command of the Island of Cuba.

Scared.

A despatch from Tortugas says the steamer Fortune arrived from Havana, and reports great excitement over the reported escape of the steamer 'Edgar Stuart,' from Baltimore, the Spaniards threatening to sink her at sight. The frigate 'Wabash' sailed for Havana last night. The above scare is unfounded, as the Cuban have given up the 'Edgar Stuart' as useless, being too slow for their use in running a blockade. Captain Oslen, her late commander, is in New York, and has been for several weeks.

Boarded.

NEW YORK, March 2—The barque 'Everett Gray,' of Yarmouth, Me., from Matamoras, which arrived this morning, reports that on Feb. 17, off Havana, was boarded by force by Spanish soldiers and searched.

San Domingo Again.

It is said the arrest of Baez will re-open all the old San Domingo controversy, and will lead to revelations connected with the annexation scheme.

The Fleet.

Despatches from the naval fleet state that orders have been received from Washington yesterday, to continue the naval exercises until April 15. The fleet are now en route for Key West for coal.

American Estates.

An Havana letter states the order from Spain removing the embargo from American estates has not been carried out, and the authorities, being pressed by the United States Government in demanding the release of these estates, have added such enormous taxes to them that the owners will be forced to sell or abandon their property.

The Goodrich Case

Kate Stoddard or Lizzie King, is to be tried about the Goodrich affair in April. Her counsel wanted to throw up the case in consequence of some eccentric letters she had addressed them, but were formerly assigned to defend her by the judge. It is a lengthy epistle to her father, she remarks she hopes all her relatives will break their necks if they come to the court. She says she intends to plead her own case.

Rescued.

PHILADELPHIA, March 2.—Capt. Kelly and crew of the schooner 'Julia Rider,' of Portland, which they had abandoned in a sinking condition, have been picked up and brought to this port.

Firing at a Train.

BALTIMORE, March 2.—An unknown person fired into a train from Philadelphia, narrowly grazing two heads.

Obit.

BOSTON, March 2.—James E. Libbey, journalist, and one of the former proprietors of the Courier, is dead.

Auction Sale.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The furniture of Jay Cook's late Wall street office was auctioned off to-day, bringing twelve hundred dollars.

Prospecting Party.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—General Custer writes from Fort Lincoln that the projected prospecting expedition from Bozeman, Montana, will, he thinks, embarrass military operations and precipitate the difficulty.

Explosion.

NEW YORK, March 2.—An explosion took place at the corner of Twentieth street, at Broadway, in a toy store, this evening. The whole front was blown out, and several persons were seriously injured.

Losses.

NEW YORK, March 2.—A despatch from Petersburg, Va., estimates the loss by fire to-day at $40,000; insured for $38,000.

Fire.

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—A fire to-night destroyed the Dollar Store on North Fourth street. Up to 10 o'clock the firemen were unable to extinguish the flames. Loss not known.

A rubber company had $50,000 worth of goods, on storage in the cellar of the same building destroyed. Insurance, $40,000.

CUBA.

SECURITY SHOULD BE THE PRIMARY CONSIDERATION.

This old and favorite Company offers this in its large Capital, and the unlimited liability of the shareholders.

Special attention is drawn to a new feature in in Life business, just introduced by this Company,—that of insuring on the half-credit system. By this method, persons who wish to insure for their families an insurance for a large amount, but whose present income, though improving, will not admit of it, or persons in business who wish to utilize their funds to the fullest extent, and cannot therefore spare the necessary premiums for a large life policy, can insure $5,000 for the same amount of premiums as is required for $2,500, the remainder half-premium standing at 6 per cent. interest, as a debt on the policy until paid off.

BONUS.

Persons insuring now, or within the next few weeks, will obtain the benefit of one year's bonus.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color, has divested our current politics of half their bygone intensity. However parties may henceforth rise or fall, it is clear that the fundamental principles which have hitherto honorably distinguished the Republicans are henceforth to be regarded as practically accepted by the whole country. The right of every man to his own limbs and sinews—the equality of all citizens before the law—the inability of a State to enslave any portion of its people—the duty of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of this liberty until he forfeits it by crime—such are the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and palsied be the hand which shall seek to displace them! Though not twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of man and the benignant smile of God.

Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and humble from violence and oppression—to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilisation—to stimulate Ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economizing Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gains of Industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, the Tribune contributes its zealous, persistent efforts.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially lucidated in its Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful tillers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who has $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as the Tribune. And we aspire to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage enables us to do; and we are resolved that our success of former years shall be exceeded in varied excellence and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our journal better and better, by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us!

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published, and should very speedily be widely used. The illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of Dr. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of Dr. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of Dr DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen. Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that subtance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil, in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound, in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

Dr. Granville F.R.S., Author of the 'Spas of Germany.'

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the Pale Oil."

Edwin Canton, Esq., F.R.C.S., Surgeon to Charing Cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. De Jongh's Light Brwn Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL sold only in Imperial Half-pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 4s. 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; Capsuled and Labelled with his Stamp and Signature

GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength. Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, oitments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labell on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

"SAVORY & MOORE,"

The Original and only Manufacturer Chemists to the Queen, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, H.I.M. Napoleon the Third, His Highness the Khedive of Egypt, &c., 143 NEW BOND STREET, LONDON.

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

The most ordinary ironer is enabled to compete with the most skilful, giving the linen the appearance it had when it came from the store,—new and beautiful. Goods done up with it keep clean much longer, thereby saving time and labor in washing. This is the most economical article that can be used, costing only about three cents to do the ironing of a large family. It gives the Linen such a smooth glossy surface that the dust and dirt will not adhere to it, so that it will keep clear much longer. It is very highly recommended by the Montreal Herald, La Minerve, Le National, and by all the leading American papers.

It is put up in boxes to last a family about three months, and can be had from all respectable Grocers, Druggists, and Dealers in House Furnishing Goods, 25 cents per box.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Resignation of an Episcopal Minister—Another Gain to the Reformed Episcopalians.

The following letter explains itself. The Rev. William McGuire, who now leaves the Episcopal Church, is a son of the late Rev. Dr. McGuire, of Virginia, so widely known and greatly venerated. He is a clergyman of fine talents and great scholarship, and will be a very valuable acquisition to the new movement led by Bishop Cummins. As a preacher—of marked ability and address—he is said to be well fitted to lead the new movement in the capital of the country.

The following is the Rev. Mr. McGuire's letter of resignation:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6, 1874.

RIGHT REV. WM. R. WHITTINGHAM, D. D.:—

RIGHT REV. AND DEAR SIR,—Having, after much deliberation and earnest weighing of the whole matter involved, determined it as my duty to dissolve my connection with the Protestant Episcopal Church and to unite with the Reformed Episcopal Church, I hereby, in accordance with the canonical provision in case of those renouncing the ministry of the Church, request that my name may be erased from the list of ministers of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Maryland, and that the usual deposition from the ministry required by canon in such cases may be performed at the time specified in said canon.

I would not, right reverend sir, here enter upon any full exposition of the wide reasons connected with the doctrinal and ritual attitude of the Protestant Episcopal Church, which have impelled me to the course I have marked out for myself. Suffice it now to say that in my view the position of the Church as a living, acting organization, whatever the alleged soundness of it, doctrinal formularies may be, is essentially, increasingly and hopelessly a Romanizing position. I say hopelessly so, for the one obvious reason, among many, that the dominant party in the Protestant Episcopal Church cannot ever be expected to renounce its distinctive features any more than can the evangelical body in the Church abandon the truth of God, which is to them dearer than life.

The opposition of the two systems is diametric and indestructible. Protestant and Romanish sacramentarianism cannot now live and breathe together, any more than they did when the deep and vital contrarieties of Church parties in the sixteenth century culminated in the separation of the ever blessed Reformation.

I sever myself from the Protestant Episcopal Church, among many graver reasons, because I am unwilling longer to bear the responsibility of a supposed upholding in spirit of the Church system with which I am connected. Membership in any organization necessarily involves toleration, and directly or indirectly patronage of the objects and operations of that organization, and in the case of a church which, as I believe, has departed from the faith, to have membership therein is to contribute to the subversion of the souls of the people and to the dishonour of the Lord Jesus.

With a deep sense of the solemnity of the step I am taking in this severance from the Church of my fathers and with every sentiment of good will towards yourself, from whom during my connection with the diocese, I have received only courtesy and kindness, I remain very respectfully yours,

WILLIAM McGUIRE.

The Famine in Bengal.

(London Spectator, Feb. 14.)

The famine news is, on the whole, disastrous, the correspondents of the Daily News announcing that hundreds of deaths have occurred in Sarun, and that high-caste women are working on the roads; according to the Times correspondent, Dinagepore has been heavily struck, and in North Moorshedabad the laborers are reduced to one meal a day, while in Goruckpore starving children are received in the Mission Orphanage; and rice is 2d. a pound, far above famine-level. His telegram of the 12th instant, however, conveys some gleam of comfort. Sir R. Temple has given up the labor test, in Tirhoot, at all events; has established twenty-five relief centres, not relief works; has drawn out carriage by large offers of pay, and has in some way reached the villages in Chumparun. If that is the case he has anticipated Mr. Disraeli, whose speech, however, printed in Calcutta on the 11th instant, would be a great support to him; has reversed the policy we have condemned, and is trying to distribute to the people, instead of drawing people away from home. The statement that "South Behar is saved" is, however, unintelligible. How can a great province declared only a day or two since to be in the extremity of danger be saved in twenty-four hours? We shall know, however, soon whether the only possible mode of saving the people—a mode treated, when we first suggested it, with contumely—has really been adopted in time. If it had been adopted two months ago there would have been 600 relief centres by this time, and quick daily supply from them to the villages throughout the "famine district," with its 38,000,000.

Pacific Mail Matters.

The Pacific mail steamship 'Acapulco' sailed from this port Saturday with full cargo, consisting of 1,214 tons of freight, 98 cabin and 150 steerage passengers. It is announced that Captain A. G. Gray, the oldest commander in the employ of the Company, has been appointed commodore of the Company's fleet, and his salary increased from $3,000 to $4,800 gold per annum. Commodore Gray is about sixty years of age and was formerly in the United States Navy. Since his connection with the Pacific Mail service he has sailed ninety eight trips on various vessels of the line without ever having met with any accident or put the Company to any trouble or expense on account of lawsuits or difficulties with underwriters. On two occasions ships under his command have taken fire, one at sea and one in port, but in both instances danger and loss were avoided by prompt effort, under his direction. The representatives and managers of the Company congratulate themselves upon the opportunity afforded them to reward faithful and successful service on the part of an employe. It is said to be the design of the Board of Directors to revise the company's service so far as practicable upon the model of the best known and most efficient transatlantic lines, and in accordance with this plan a uniform for officers and employes on shipboard has been adopted, consisting of a navy blue suit trimmed with buttons having the insignia of the Company.

The people of Australia are just now very prosperous. A letter from Sidney says:—"The finances of the colony were never so plethoric as at the present moment. The Colonial Treasurer boasts of a credit balance of nearly ten million dollars, besides the collections of the present current month. Last year's revenue amounted to £3,330,913, a net increase of £519,000 over the receipts for 1872. The grain harvest is so plentiful in all the Australian colonies that England will have to become the granary of a large portion of it. The only cargo of foreign wheat received last year, that ex 'Atlanta,' from California, has just been shipped to London, rather then sell here at a loss. The wood growers also boast of a most prosperous season, with an increase in the clip sufficiently large to compensate for any depreciation that may occur in value."

The Ottawa Times

THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1874.

Mr. John Sharples, a timber merchant, of Quebec, has been appointed a Legislative Councillor in the room of Mr. Thos. McGreevy, the member for Quebec West in the Commons.

Among the new railways under construction, noticed in the Report of the Commissioner of Public Works just issued, is the Montreal and Ottawa Junction Railway. Sixty-nine miles of the eighty-one and a half to form the road, will be within the Province of Ontario. The Eastern end will connect with the Grand Trunk at River Rouge, near Coteau, from which Montreal can be speedily reached. About eighteen miles are graded already. The road will open up the back portions of Russell and Glengarry, a thinly peopled region, presenting attractions to the settler, lumberer and trader. We believe the track will be completed in a couple of years. Ottawa has a large interest in the success of this undertaking.

The financial statement of the Secretary of the United States' Treasury shows that the Internal Revenue receipts have improved lately, which indicates a better state of the manufactures of the country. The receipts from customs for February fell short of the estimates $4,000,000. The state of the national finances is not flourishing. To help to withstand the panic and its effects on business and fiscal receipts, $26,000,000 of legal tender reserves had to be issued. The Treasury is now in arrears $7,000,000 of the public debt, and $30,000,000 of the sinking fund. Should Congress make no provision for an increased revenue this year, another panic would necessitate an extra session and extraordinary measures for relief. The Secretary apprehends a continually increasing deficit, and a precarious condition of the finances, should Congress do nothing to strengthen his hands.

MORE OPPOSITION ROMANCING.

The people are by this time, thanks to the experience of the late elections, so thoroughly accustomed to Opposition canards as to feel no surprise at their periodical invention. Indeed, the fib has become a regular and recognized weapon of the smaller fry of the press which still sticks to the broken fortunes of Sir John Macdonald. We had to nail their inventions every day during the recent contest, but when it was over, the tactics of the enemy being thoroughly understood, and notoriously incapable of doing much mischief, we decided to treat these productions with silence, except on rare occasions. A better use can be found for newspaper space than exposing every cram or slander sent forth by the party in defeat and disgrace. An Ottawa evening journal, which has gained notoriety by the reckless use of its imagination, as well as by the spiteful nature of its hostility to the Government, worked itself into an amusing mock passion, on Tuesday, in regard to the Inspectorship of the Gatineau Boom. That journal tries to be as offensive as possible in blowing up, soap-bubble fashion, its little grievance, not sparing a reference to the Premier unnecessary and impertinent in the last degree. This outburst of sham virtue, with the "high falutin" as to the "escutcheon of honor and manliness," is all about the displacement of an unnecessary official, and the saving of his salary to the public! The petty character of the assailants of the Premier may be judged from their assumption that he would, in the midst of his important business, take the trouble to enquire how all the host of humble Government officials voted on the occasion of the late elections! Messrs. Mackenzie and Scott have far more important business to engage their attention, and different ideas of statesmen's duty. What are the facts? Mr. Larose, whose knowledge and competency are sneered at by our contemporary, has simply been appointed to inspect the works going on at the Gatineau Boom. It is charged against him that he is a mason, and knows nothing about booms. It happens, however, that he has been attached to the Department of Public Works for a long time. He was Clerk of the Works in connection with one of the three new Parliamentary Buildings, in Ottawa, in all its branches. He is now discharging the important duty of Inspector of the new Post Office in all its branches. Now, if he is capable of judging the fine joiners' work of these valuable buildings, he can hardly lack the qualifications for inspecting or overseeing the work on a boom. Being unoccupied lately, the Government thought it no great sin or abuse to find him suitable employment for the present, which they did solely in the interest of the public which should not be saddled with the salaries of officials who have nothing to do. Ministers would be recreant to their duty, and particularly in the face of their former opposition to useless appointments and a needlessly expensive civil service, if they allowed the fear of the accusation of spite or partisanship, to stand in the way of reforms called for by the public well-being. Perhaps the silly doctrine will hereafter be laid down, that no official should be dismissed, however unnecessary and expensive he may be, simply because he has voted for an Opposition candidate. Yet this notion is no more absurd than many from the side of the Opposition, whose ingenuity is sorely taxed for grievances against the Government.

Another cock-and-bull story has seen the light in an Opposition paper, whose vagaries we often have to laugh at—namely, that Mr. Biggar, Superintendent of the Welland Canal, has been dismissed on the report of a Lockmaster, or some such subordinate official! Was ever insignificance so powerful before! There must be a rivalry between our Opposition friends in the matter of absurd fiction. What next? It is to be hoped this wonderfully influential lockmaster will stay his potent hand, or the highest in the land may be officially decapitated. If those organs are not striving to outstrip one another, they exhibit amazing ignorance of how Executive business is done, a thing inexcusable in critics of the Capital. Their last efforts are so ridiculous and futile, that they will have to try again. We look for the next crop of canards with the old interest, though we do not engage to waste much time with their exposure.

THE CONTEST OF THE MEDICAL SCHOOLS.

The battle of the medical schools has long raged hot in Toronto and Western Ontario, and now the Allopaths have succeeded in defeating the Homœopaths' Bill, in the Private Bills Committee. The latter, though a minority, have met with much abuse from the gentlemen of the old school, who seem determined to keep them down. The Homœopaths, however, are in Canada, as in England, and the States, a constantly growing body, and, from their intelligence, industry, and devotion to the higher science of medicine, have acquired great respect and influence in the leading circles of society. Apart from the aim of these men—many of them brought up in the old or Allopathic School, which they have with maturer knowledge and experience abandoned—to keep up with the progress of therapeutic and general science, the persecution they have been subjected to, has gained them a great deal of sympathy. If physicians simply preferred to lead a quiet, easy life, they would not exchange allopathy for homœopathy; but, when men by hard study, close observation and careful experiment are conscientiously driven to a particular course, they generally disregard considerations of personal convenience, and even disadvantage. This kind of intelligence and spirit, however, ultimately commands the respect of the enlightened public, while the men actuated by it invariably enjoy no trifling reward in the shape of a genuine mental satisfaction. It would be folly to suppose the Legislature has seen the last of this agitation for the rights of the homœopaths, who are not the stuff to be easily scoffed down or discouraged. On this subject the Kingston News remarks:

The Globe has taken strong ground against the arrogant claims of the Allopaths. In the issue of that paper the other day there was a report of a meeting held in Toronto by those favourable to the passing of the Bill incorporating the Homœopathists, at which Mr. J. Gordon Brown, editor-in-chief, moved one of the resolutions, which was as follows:—

"That this meeting consisting of laymen who have devoted some attention to the system of medical treatment known as the Homœopathic, and have seen it applied to the cure of disease, feel a deep interest in the Bills now before the Ontario Legislature for the regulation of the Medical profession and anxiously desire that no measure shall be permitted to pass which will restrict their free choice of medical attendants for themselves and their families."

"That the members of this meeting have watched with anxiety the union of all the medical bodies under one Council, under the Act of 1860, and that they are unanimously of opinion that that union is prejudicial to the progress of medical science, the effect of it being to exclude from practice adherents of the Homœopathic School, and to give a monopoly to the rival system.'

"That whatever may be the ultimate result of existing controversies on medical practice, it is the belief of this meeting that the interests of the public will, in the meantime, be best served by a return to the system which existed before the present Act was passed, viz —the establishment of a Homœopathic Medical Board, with power to examine students in medicine and grant diplomas to those who prove themselves duly qualified to practice in Ontario."

A resolution was also passed appointing a committee "to use all legitimate means to cause the passage of the Homœopathic Incorporation Bill through the Legislature"

We do not pretend to pass any opinion upon the merits of the rival systems for the simple reason that we are not "posted;" but we are of opinion that those to whom the homœopathic system commends itself should not be persecuted by their opponents, and that they should be allowed incorporation if they desire it, to which they are as justly entitled as any other body of professional men.

The British Columbia Trouble.

The following explains the attitude of the British Columbia members a short time ago, whatever may have been their opinions lately on the Graving Dock question:—

The arrangement and agreement endorsed at Ottawa in November last by all the British Columbia members is an instrument of which the following is a copy:—

Hon. A. MACKENZIE.

OTTAWA, Nov. 11, 1873.

SIR,—We fully concur with the proposal of the late Government to ask Parliament to grant to British Columbia £50,000 sterling, in lieu of the guarantee in the Terms of Union, for the construction of a first-class Graving Dock at Esquimalt; and have the honor to say, that if the same be submitted by the present Government to Parliament for its sanction, it will receive our undivided support.

(Signed),

A. DECOSMOS,
E. DAWDNEY,
J. S. THOMPSON,
R. W. W. CARRALL,
H. NATHAN,
H. NELSON.

The Standard says:—

"We challenge Dr. Helmcken, or any other man, to adduce the slightest tittle of evidence in support of the assumption that the Mackenzie Government have the most remote intention of breaking faith with this country, either with reference to the Pacific Railway or any other matter embraced within the terms of union. On the contrary, Mr. Mackenzie has declared his determination to deal justly by British Columbia, and to do all that possibly can be done to carry out the agreement made by his predecessors. True, he has expressed the opinion that it will be impossible to carry out the conditions now in their entirety, for the reason that those conditions have already been violated, the work of actual construction not having been commenced at the expiration of the stipulated two years. Besides, the exploratory surveys have not yet been completed, and until they are it will be impossible to begin the work of actual construction. Mr. Mackenzie truly says that this is no fault of his, or of the Administration of which he is the head. The default is with his predecessors, who, he alleges, entered into a reckless contract with British Columbia, pledging the honour and resources of the Dominion to the accomplishment of an undertaking which he characterizes as incapable of literal fulfilment." If the Government of Canada are disposed to do their utmost to keep faith with British Columbia, and to go on with the work of actual construction so soon as the exploratory surveys have been completed, what more can reasonably be required of them? And this they have promised to do. The word of Mr. Mackenzie has been pledged to the early commencement of the railway at the Pacific end of the line, and we have no reason to doubt he will faithfully keep that promise."

The Count de Chambord is reported, by the cable, indisposed. Political intrigue has been taking a new direction in France lately, if we are to credit the following intelligence, recently published in an English paper:

"The unnatural alliance between the French Legitimists and Bonapartists is, it appears, to be maintained as a matter of policy at the instance of the Count de Chambord. The Paris correspondent of the Journal de Bruxelles writes that he has good reasons to believe the information which he has received in Legitimist circles, relative to the opinion expressed by the Count de Chambord, that if France does not wish to return to the hereditary Monarchy, there is only one candidature possible before the national electorate—that of the Prince Imperial. The Count has therefore instructed his followers to keep up good relations with the Imperialists."

During the late gales the barque 'Grace Darling' was wrecked on the Scottish coast, and fifteen of her crew were drowned. Four men belonging to the Life Saving Association, who had assisted to rescue some of the crew, also lost their own lives by the swamping of their boat.

M. De Logeril has achieved a success which might be envied by the author of any screaming farce. Everybody in Paris is enjoying a hearty laugh at the expense of the eccentric legislator. He has proposed, as a safe means of enabling France to raise her receipts to a level with her expenditure, to establish a tax of two francs apiece on chimney-pot hats.

Dr. Kenealy, counsel for the Tichborne claimant, has had the audacity to apply for a new trial for his client. The application being refused, he threatens to bring the case before the House of Lords. The doctor should be proceeded against as an enemy of the State for having even hinted at a new trial.

In Persia, brigandage appears to be increasing. The English mail proceeding to Ispahan, and the Russian mail between Teheran and Resht, have both been plundered by brigands. Slavery still exists in Bokhara, fifteen fugitive Persians having lately escaped from slavery in Bokhara and taken refuge in a Russian fort.

Of all the workingmen candidates nominated for the Imperial Parliament only two were elected—Mr. Burt who takes the place of Sir George Grey of Morpeth, and Mr. A McDonald, who represents Stafford. The former was until comparatively recently a working collier, and the colliers of the north have agreed to give him £500 stg. per annum while he remains in Parliament.

Dr. Schmidt, Professor of Astronomy in the University of Athens, has just completed his great map of the moon. It is two metres in diameter, and is a marvel of accurate mapping and minute draughtmanship. The shading is so exquisite that any part of the map may be examined by a lens without the appearance of coarse or rough work. The map represents the labor of thirty-one years, and is without doubt one of the greatest astronomical results of the century.

The very name of the Kingdom of Poland having thus been changed into that of the Province of Warsaw, a portion of the eastern district will be shortly embodied with the adjoining provinces of Russia Proper. By this change the inhabitants of the annexed districts will lose the right of using the Polish language in their intercourse with the subordinate authorities—the only privilege still reminding them of their former independence.

Irish papers state that at a meeting of the Irish Rifle Association, the Mayor presiding, a vote of condolence with Lord and Lady Elcho, on the death of Lieutenant Charteris was adopted. The vote will be transmitted by the Duke of Abercorn, as captain of the Irish team. Major Leech announced that the American Rifle Association had accepted the challenge of the Irish Association to meet them on their own ground. The Americans requested that the eleven hundred yards range should be omitted, and that the ranges be 800, 900 and 1,000 yards only. The Association agreed to do this. The Irish team will use the Rigby rifle. The match will probably come off at Staten Island, New York, in September next.

"John Wesley and High Churchmen."

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—The above caption is the title of a book said to be issued by the Diocesan Church Depository in Kingston, and to be found in the Sunday School Teachers' Library, Christ Church, Ottawa. Coming from so orthodox a source we cannot but reasonably suppose that the work in question has received Episcopal sanction for circulation in the Diocese of Ontario.

On page 6 the doctrine of Regeneration in Baptism is thus alluded to:—"Regeneration is so properly the grace of Baptism, that either word is used indifferently in Holy Scripture to express the same thing. "Baptized into Christ," "by the washing of Regeneration," is equally expressed by "Regenerated into Christ, by the washing of Baptism" And so has the Church always taught. Correctly speaking, Regeneration never takes place without Baptism; and vice versa. Baptism is never duly received without Regeneration.

The following extracts will suffice to shew the teaching of this pernicious book with reference to the rite of Confirmation. On page 10 we read—"Confirmation, or Laying on of Hands," is the means through which God offers to the baptized the gift of the Holy Ghost—not barely the gift of Grace, but the gift of the Spirit of Grace."

Chapter V., page 12—"The Real Presence" in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is thus taught and insidiously set forth as the teaching of the Church of England—"That Christ in His whole nature is really present in the consecrated elements is solemnly assured to us by His own words." The writer then quotes the various texts of New Testament Scripture referring to the Lord's Supper, italicising the words, "This is My Body, This is my Blood;" and then goes on to say, "That so were these words understood by the Apostles, and by those who received Christ's teaching from them, is certain."

He then quotes from the writings of St. Justin the Martyr, to justify the teaching of the doctrine of the Real Presence (page 13), which is as follows: 'So likewise have we been taught that the food which is blessed by the prayer of His Word is the Flesh and Blood of that Jesus Who was made Flesh; for the Apostles in their memoirs composed by them, which are called Gospels, have thus delivered unto us what was enjoined upon them."

In the chapter entitled, "The Eucharistic Sacrifice" (page 15), the following words occur: 'It is necessarily identical with, and irresponsible from the same glorified offering in Heaven, where Christ now is, showing His wounds, and bearing His Blood within the Holy of Holies'"

In part 3, page 18, entitled, "Eucharistic Adoration." The adoration and worship of the elements is that taught and enjoined: "In the Sacrament of the Altar, we believe there is His body and His blood; the Divine declaration is the warrant of our faith; and wherever his presence is, there also is He to be adored."

In the chapter entitled "Benefit of Confession," page 40; priestly confession and absolution is recommended in the following passage—"God doth not speak to us with a voice sounding out of Heaven," this voice we can hear only through his ministers; and when a truly penitent man hears it, he has Divine assurance that sins remitted on earth are remitted in Heaven."

"Some men choose to be their own physicians, their own lawyers, their own advisers (not as all but themselves can see, to their own advantage), but no man may safely dispense with the services of a spiritual confessor."

Alluding more directly to the power of a Priest to forgive sins, or as the writer entitled the chapter "of Sacerdotal Absolution' page 51, the following passage will suffice to show the high ground he takes on this doctrine. "Following, therefore, God's Holy word, and the teaching of the Church from the first ages, High Churchmen confidently believe that the penitent and believing man receives the forgiveness of all his sins when the words are pronounced over him by the Priest, as certainly and may be as comfortably assured thereof, as if he had heard the same voice direct from Heaven."

Chapter 7, page 52, is entitled "Of Annointing the Sick with Consecrated Oil." This chapter sets forth the desirableness of sending in case of sickness for the priest of the church, and that the annointing with oil shall be done by a priest only. Or in other words, plainly teaching the Romish practice of the unction of the sick.

Speaking of "the Virtue of Ordination," page 54, the writer says—"Once received the sacerdotal character is indelible; no priest can rid himself of it, any more than a baptized man can free himself from his baptism and the obligations which it imposes upon him. Such priests in the Christian Church there are, and have always been, offering the Holy Sacrifice."

On page 64 will be found the chapter entitled "Of the Celibate State," The writer in this chapter strongly recommends the celibacy of the clergy, and gives the following quotation from a poet, evidently a kindred spirit:—

> "A Virgin Priest the Altar best attends,
> Our Lord that state commends not, yet commends.

Alluding to the opposition of Protestants to the celibacy of the clergy, the writer says: page 65—"this is what the Protestant world hates, and seizes every opportunity of calumniating."

Chapter 13, page 84, recommends "Prayers for the Dead." The following quotations will suffice to show how untenable the writer feels his position to be, and the entire absence of scriptural authority for "prayers for the dead." He say:—"We cannot say even the Lord's prayer without using a petition for the faithful departed, "Thy kingdom come," an event which manifestly concerns them as much as it does us; since on that they wait for the perfecting of their bliss, and "the redemption of the body." Then again he quotes 2nd Timothy, 1 chapter, 18 verse, in support of his argument, and says with reference thereto, page 85: "At this time Onesiphorus was dead, and the continued use in that age, and all ages succeeding, of these very words as a prayer for the faithful departed, places it beyond reasonable doubt."

I might go on giving further examples ad infinitum from this mischievous book, circulated for the purpose of corrupting the youth of our Protestant Sunday Schools connected with the Church of England in the Diocese of Ontario, but I think the above extracts should be sufficient to arouse the members of the Church of England to a sense of their duty in the premises.

AN EPISCOPALIAN.

Ottawa, 4th March, 1874.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

DEAR SIR,—If "Colonus" had read Mr. Horetzky's pamphlet with a little attention, he would not have deemed it necessary to write to you for explanations. In Mr. H's. pamphlet, reference is made to two different routes by which the writer would carry the railway across the Rocky Mountains, rather than by the Tete Jaune Cache: The first lies along the valley of the Peace River; the second is known as the Pine Summit Pass, and is some sixty miles south of the Peace River. One of these routes has been explored by Mr. H.; his knowledge of the other is derived from the Indians in its vicinity. Mr. H. does not favour the Peace River Valley route. His plan would be to carry the railroad across the mountains by the Pine Summit Pass. If this latter is impracticable, then the Peace River Valley route should be chosen.

The value of Mr. H's. trouvaille can easily be guessed from the number of those who claim the right to father it.

DARIUS W.

Is the mind a ponderable or an imponderable substance; an essence, vapor, or an indescribable something which cannot be grasped, felt, or withheld? Man thinks, studies, invents, tires the brain by overwork, and loses his reason; rests his intellect, becomes calm, uses restoratives; and again thinks. When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, we cannot but conclude that the subtle power is really ponderable matter, from the fact that the ingredients are supplied which render it support and give it vitality. Persons who study hard should preserve their balance of power by using the Syrup. 2505

All should secure seats early by at once procuring tickets for the concert.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—The Board of Public School Trustees meets in the City Hall this evening at 7 o'clock. A good deal of business has to be transacted, owing, in a measure to the irregularity and indifference with which meetings, as a rule, are attended. It is to be hoped there will be a full meeting, in order that all the work that has accumulated for some time may be entirely disposed of.

TRADES UNION DEPUTATION.—A deputation from the Ottawa Trades Council, composed of Messrs. D. Robertson, McKvels, Gould, Limoud, Walker and Williams, waited on the Hon. Mr. Dorion, Minister of Justice, yesterday, to elicit his views regarding the repeal of the Criminal Law Amendment Act in reference to Trades Unions, which they consider as unjust and unfair to members of the same. In answer to the arguments of the deputation, the Minister said he would give them his most careful consideration, and would compare the laws bearing on the subject; and if he found that it would be consistant with the protection of general interests, he would modify the measure complained of.

POLICE COURT.—Thomas Jones, was charged with being drunk upon the public street. Tom had been out of jail for only about a week. Fined $2 and costs, the needful not being on hand, Tom was sent down. The case of Payne charged with stealing a pair of blankets was resumed. Mrs. Stokes gave evidence that she had never seen the blankets except on Payne's bed. He was sentenced to jail for one month at hard labor. John McClough and Mr. Slattery were charged with being disorderly. They were remanded until to-morrow.

THE WALL STREET OF OTTAWA.—It would seem that Wellington street is destined to become the Wall Street of Ottawa. On this street there are already no less than four banks located; the Bank of British North America, Bank of Montreal, Quebec Bank and Canadian Bank of Commerce. One other bank has already secured a site on the same street, the Bank Nationale; and it is also said that the Ontario Bank proposes procuring a site on Wellington street with a view to the erection of a new and handsome building. It will then only remain, for the Union Bank of Lower Canada, to remove across the bridge, to have all our banking institutions on the one and same street. The next move, will be to get all the insurance and exchange offices on this street, to complete the parallel with New York. A place must also be left for a "Corn Exchange" or "Mercantile Mart," for if there was ever a lack of anything in a city, it is a Monetary and Commercial Mart, where the commercial men of the city can assemble and discuss questions relative to their business. Farmers complain as a rule of the poor report of commercial matter by the Ottawa newspapers, but this will always be so, untill the Ottawa Board of Trade, moves in this matter of "A Corn Exchange."

NEELIN BROS. have just received a new stock of shirts, collars and ties. 2497 3m

The Lumber Trade.

Lumbermen calculate that it has cost them one cent and a half per cubic foot to winter over what unsold stock they had on hand since last fall, in consequence of the high rate of interest for money, and the low state of the market. It is feared that a great deal of square timber and saw-logs will be left in the woods this spring, as an early break up is anticipated. If mill owners sell what stock they have on hand now at the prices at which the market closed last fall, they will be losers by the interest and insurance it cost to carry the stock over the winter. They feel that they are poor men in consequence. When the lumber trade flourishes all Hull and the Flats rejoice.

Mr. J. R. Booth made a sale of one million and a quarter feet of good timber, which is to be shipped to Burlington. The price at which the lumber was sold is kept a secret between the buyer and seller. The lumber is for Vermont.

Messrs Perley & Pattee sold a million and a half feet of strips and re-sawed deals to Bronson, Weston, Green & Co., of Burlington,

Contracts are being made for freighting lumber during the coming season at $6 to $6 24 per M. to Troy and Albany, and $7 to $7.25 to New York, American currency.

The Chaudiere mill owners are going to cut more deals this season than heretofore, for the European market. They are inclined to cut under in prices and they fear to let out what rates they sell at. The purchasers are also very reticent as to what they pay, so that it is impossible to give correct quotations of the Ottawa market.

DR. WHEELER'S Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya.

SANDY CREEK, Aug. 31st, 1872.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you I have been for two years using LARGELY in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anemic women, of whom we have so many, and in cases convalescing from prostrating diseases, I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is the remedy.

I am yours truly,
J. LYMAN BUCKLEY, M.D.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Feb. 25, 1874.

The Speaker took the chair at 3.10.

After routine,

The Attorney General in reply to Mr. Ardagh said that the Government had under their consideration whether they would submit to the House this session a new or consolidated tariff of fees, for Clerks of the Peace, holding office in this Province.

Mr. Rykert moved for the return shewing the names of all persons who relinquished timber berths purchased by them at the Government sale in the fall of 1872, the amount forfeited by each buyer and of purchase money, if any, returned to each purchaser and the number of berths re-sold, at any subsequent sale, the names of purchasers and prices paid therefor.

Mr. McCall moved for copies of all papers, documents and communications had or passed between the promoters of the Victoria Railway with anyone or other Minister or the departments of the Government. He was opposed to heavy land grants and feared a commercial failure, such as caused the collapse of Jay Cook & Co. But in this case, he thought judicious aid to the railway would result advantageously.

Mr. Boultbee said that this House must proceed with great caution, as it was a matter of grave importance, granting lands and moneys of this province. The route of the proposed railway lay through a district of country which was almost untouched by railways, and would remain unopened for a long time if aid were not granted. He thought it desirable that grants of both money and lands should be given to any railway having such desirable objects as the opening up of the Ottawa district. This line by lapping the Ottawa River at DesMoines opens up communication with the very centre of the lumbering operations, and by it not only would this province be greatly benefitted, but lumberers would be assisted by having supplies brought them at cheap rates.

Mr. Clarke, of Norfolk, opposed the scheme, as he thought the country was sufficiently opened up by Government colonization roads.

Mr. Lauder was in favour of the building of Railways. The narrow gauge roads made by this Province had proved a great success—had more than doubled the value of property along their routes, and he thought there could not be a more provident way of expending the surplus, than by aiding such a railway as the Victoria. Ex-Commissioner Scott had testified to the increased value of the Crown Lands, by an increase of our railways; and Mr. Alexander Begg spoke of their great advantage as aids to immigration. He hoped this House would at the earliest opportunity aid the Victoria Railway.

Mr. Wood supported the scheme heartily. He was pleased to see it favoured by Messrs. Boultbee and Lauder, whose constituencies had not so direct an interest as his own. All that tract lying north of Peterboro' was in an undeveloped condition, and unless railways were aided by Government grants, there would be no means of developing the country for years, as it was too sparsely settled to build the Railway by bonuses.

The Attorney General admitted the importance of aid to this Railway, but said it was such an important scheme, involving such large interests, that he did not think it could be considered this session.

The motion was then carried.

Mr. Merrick moved his resolution respecting license duties, but the Attorney General having introduced his bill on the subject, he would withdraw his motion, although he still thought that a $2 fee should be paid to the issuer of licenses.

The Attorney General ridiculed the idea of $2 being too high, as a man who could not afford that sum was not financially in position in money.

Mr. Rykert moved for certain returns connected with the Agricultural College.

The Attorney General explained that the papers giving the desired information was already before the House, and the motion was withdrawn.

The House rose at six o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

The London and Port Stanley Arrangement Bill was referred back to the Committee.

The adjourned debate on official salaries was resumed.

The Hon. Mr. Fraser showed the unfair character of Mr. Lauder's comparative statement with reference to the increase of law fees.

A long debate ensued, and Mr. Oliver's amendment, moved on Wedneseay, was carried without division.

The Attorney General moved that the name of the Hon. Mr Fraser be added to the Public Accounts Committee, in place of his own.

Mr. Cameron opposed the motion at great length, and announced his intention of speaking all night rather than the motion should be passed, so it is not likely the debate will conclude for several hours, if the Government continue to press their motion.

Defeat of Broad Street Bill—A Dry Goods Man Slopes—Opposition Caucus—Public Accounts Committee.

Preamble of bill for widening Broad Street, Ottawa, was declared not proven in Committee this morning, this kills the bill.

It is rumored that a prominent dry goods merchant of King street, has bolted to the States, leaving creditors claiming $10,000.

A caucus of opposition members was held after the rising of the House last night. Business before Public Accounts Committee this morning was unimportant.

Anxiety in the War Office is such that Mr. Gathorne Hardy stays there until a late hour, and clerks remain on duty all night.

A steamer from Cape Coast Castle with despatches was due at Lisbon on the 28th ult It is possible she may not have intended to stop at Lisbon and is coming to London direct, but such a course would be contrary to rule.

Canadian Insurance Companies.

ALBANY, March 3.—Senate—Mr. Glenson has introduced in the Senate a bill permit Canadian Insurance Companies to transact business in this State on their depositing Canadian securities with the Superintendent of the Insurance Department.

Financial.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Senate—Mr Fenton, New York, presented the petition of a number of business men of New York City, representing five hundred millions of capital, setting forth that they were alarmed at the assumption of the Secretary of the Treasury in issuing United States notes without the authority of the law; that no civilized government had ever resorted to paper issue of irredeemable money in time of peace, and asking Congress to put an immediate stop to any further issue of greenbacks by the Secretary, and cause the retirement at once of the legal tender reserve issued. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Marine.

NEW YORK, March 3.—The steamer 'Wyoming,' which left Liverpool for New York, February 21, put back again with a broken funnel.

Electricity! Thomas' Excelsior Electric Oil!—Worth Ten Times in Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

FOREIGN NOTES.

The announcement that the Russian Government has, at the Czar's command, seriously taken up M. de Lesseps's Central Asian Railway scheme is corroborated by the Official Gazette of St. Petersburg, which publishes an imperial order to that effect.

Baron Schweinitz, the German Minister at Vienna, has requested Count Andrassy to officially contradict the reports that he had complained of the conduct of the Austrian bishops. His Excellency assured the Count that no interference in Austrian politics was ever contemplated at Berlin, as the friendly relations of the two countries rested on their mutual independence. It is said that the denial will be given as requested.

The North German Gazette calls attention to an article in the Assemblie Nationale claiming on behalf of France the sole right of protection over the Roman Catholics in Turkey. The North German Gazette take serious exception to this pretension. The statement having been made in a letter from Constantinople, which the Gazette credits with inspiration by the French Minister, it expresses a hope that the Government at home (in France) may not share its ambassador's opinions.

A Chicago Grain Dealer's Suicide.

A party of gentlemen from New York visited County Physician Buck in Jersey City yesterday, and identified the body found floating in the Central Railroad docks on Saturday, as that of Thomas C. Chisholm, of Chicago. Mr. Chisholm had been engaged in the grain trade throughout the West, but during the closing months of 1873 sustained large losses. His misfortunes affected his mind, and there seems to be no doubt that he committed suicide. On the 18th of December last he arrived in New York from Chicago, and put up at the Stevens House. Having eaten his supper he went away from the house for an evening stroll, and since that time no tidings of his whereabouts have been received by his friends. A valuable gold watch and chain, a considerable quantity of money, a gold draft for a large amount, and passes upon several of the western railroads were found on his person.

Horses Saved.

The lives of thousands of horses have been saved buring the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half as successful or given such univ rsal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co, is on each package. Northorp & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., Proprietors for Canada, Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

250,000 COPIES SOLD
—OF—
FOR THE
PIANOFORTE.
This, the par excellence of all Piano methods, maintains the front rank, and its sale eclipses that of all others—Foreign or American, combined. The publishers claim its annual sale of 25,000 copies is indisputable proof of positive and intrinsic merit, and its success is no mystery, but due to thorough excellence in all its departments—rudimental and instructive; to its valuable exercises as well as its charming recreations.
A new edition just issued contains "Schumann's Maxims" and the famous "Czerny's Letters on the Art of Playing the Piano." "Richardson's New Method" thus contains over 260 pages full music size, and is justly claimed to be the best Piano method extant.
PRICE $3.75.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital; the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century skepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color, has divested our current politics of half their bygone intensity. However parties may henceforth rise or fall, it is clear that the fundamental principles which have hitherto honorably distinguished the Republicans are henceforth to be regarded as practically accepted by the whole country. The right of every man to his own limbs and sinews—the equality of all citizens before the law—the inability of a State to enslave any portion of its people—the duty of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of this liberty until he forfeits it by crime—such are the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and palsied be the hand which shall seek to displace them! Though not twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of man and the benignant smile of God.

Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and humble from violence and oppression—to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilization—to stimulate Ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economizing Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gains of Industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, the Tribune contributes its zealous, persistent efforts.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially elucidated in its Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful tillers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who has $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as the Tribune. And we aspire to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage enables us to do; and we are resolved that our success of former years shall be exceeded in varied excellence and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our journal better and better, by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us!

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. * * They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published, and thould very speedily be widely used. The illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers."

PINE LANDS.

OVER 300,000,000 FEET, well located, mainly on the rivers leading into Lake Michigan. The numerous streams and lakes surrounded with pine timber along the line west of Reed City, offer the best of locations for mills, where logs can be held safely free of expense, and free from the annoyance of Boom Companies. The railroad direct to East Saginaw and Toledo offers the best source of supplies, and never failing market for Lumber Shingles, etc., which may be delivered anywhere on the line.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of Dr. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of Dr. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of Dr DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its Early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen Physician to Guy's Hosp......

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it to be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound, in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

Dr. Granville F.R.S., Author of the 'Spas of Germany.'

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the Pale Oil."

Edwin Canton, Esq., F.R.C.S., Surgeon to Charing Cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL is sold only in Imperial Half-pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 4s. 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; Capsuled and Labelled with his Stamp and Signature

GENUINE PANCREATINE

PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength. Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, oitments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labell on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussiq Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE
FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion; Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE ASHANTEE WAR.

The Latest Advices from the Seat of War.

(Cor. of the London Times.)

PRASHU, Jan. 13.

The King of Ashantee has sent a reply to Sir G. Wolseley's letter, and has liberated one of the German missionary captives—Mr. Kuhne. The Royal messengers were detained at the first outpost, and will receive their reply from the General today. Mr. Kuhne arrived this morning.

The correspondence is kept secret. It is therefore impossible for me to form an opinion as to whether we shall go to Coomassie peacably or have to fight on the way. It is certain that the King desires peace; he has nothing to gain and everything to lose by being invaded; but will he pay the price of peace?

The irregulars are moving on towards the Adansi Hills, but on account of the breakdown in transport the general advance is postponed from the 15th till the 23rd. The 23rd Regiment will not be employed excepting a hundred men.

January 15.

To-day three British regiments were to have crossed the Prah from this camp, and at three other points similar movements were to have been made by Captain Glover with his Houssas and native allies, by Captain Butler with the Akims, and by Captain Dalrymple, 88th Regiment, with the Wassaws. It is believed that Captain Glover has crossed the Prah with about 800 Houssas and Yorabas; Captain Butler has reported favorably; Captain Dalrymple has been working hard to stir up the Wassaws. The invasion is "unavoidably postponed till the 23rd, and the 23rd Regiment cannot be employed. Col. Wood's irregulars move over to day; Major Russel's regiment is at a village called Akrofoom, and Lord Gifford, with the scouts, has reached a little village which marks the frontier of Ashantee Proper. I have already explained that up to the Adansi Hills the country is Assin, but having been abandoned by the Assins—who were subjects of Ashantee—their old villages were occupied by Ashantees, though not in great numbers. These people resisted at the first village and wounded one of Lord Clifford's men, but since that time I believe no shots have been fired; the villagers ran away as soon as the white man appeared, and in his frontier hamlet ten muskets were taken. There can be but little doubt that the hills are half way between Coomassie and the Prah, and so the march through a hostile country will not be more than 30 or 40 miles. Even if the Ashantees attempt to resist us there can scarcely be more than one day's fighting; but it is by no means certain that there will be any fighting at all. Mr. Kuhne the German missionary whom the King sent down as a proof of his friendly feelings for the white men, believes the King has despatched messengers to collect his army, and this week's delay will be profitable to that purpose. But Mr. Kuhne has some doubts as to whether the army will come. He heard that the forces which crossed the Prah a twelve month ago consisted of 40,000 men, and that only 20,000 have returned. He himself saw nearly thirty corpses of chieftains carried through the streets of Coomassie followed by women, who bewailed and cried, their bodies being painted with red earth and their heads adorned with green leaves. Since the arrival of Sir Garnet Wolseley the Ashantees suffered much from famine and disease, and the Ashantees say that at Abrakrampa their loss was more severe than at the famous battle of Dodowa in 1826. But their mortality must briefly be ascribed to those two epidemics—one of dysentery, the other of small pox—which, breaking out in the rains, ravaged, at the same time, Cape Coast Castle and the Ashantee Camp. But though the terrible death-rate of the Ashantees is attributable to disease rather than our arms, it must, on the other hand, be allowed that they have been now taught to dread Europeans even in the bush. In the two last skirmishes—one near Abrakrampa, the other at Fasowa—the Ashantees were decidedly victorious; but it may safely be asserted that they do not wish for such victories. At Fasowa, Col. Wood's regiment fought the Ashantee army; it was of necessity defeated; but the impression left on the Ashantee mind was not that of superiority in arms. The Chiefs who have just returned from the campaign are precisely those who urged the king to make peace with the white men.

The Ashantee army re-crossed the Prah in the first days of December; it entered the capital on the 22nd, and almost immediately dispersed. On the 25th the King called an educated Fantee named Dawson, whom he had long detained as a captive, and dictated a letter to the Governor. It was, I believe, chiefly filled with complaints. Among other things, it alleged that his General and troops were marching quietly home when, in a most wanton and unprovoked manner, they were attacked by the English troops. Messengers with this epistle were sent down to the Prah, Shortly before their return various rumours were afloat in Coomassie. It was said that war was coming and that the King intended to fight. Royal messengers, distinguished by the gold plate on their breasts, were seen leaving the town in all directions. It was said that the missionaries would be taken with the army—employed as intercessors if the Ashantees were beaten, and killed if the Ashantees were victorious. Such is the "noble savage." On the 8th the messengers returned. The missionaries heard the reports in relation to themselves and went to a powerful Chief requesting information. He gave them no definite reply. The same day they were called to the Palace and the General's letter was read. It was received in profund silence. All the great Chiefs were there. Not one of them spoke. The missionaries were ordered to withdraw, and afterwards Mr. Kuhne (who is suffering from consumption) was informed that the King intended to send him to the General. This announcement was accompanied with a gift of a Royal robe, such as is only worn by the relatives of the King, and a perigum of gold (36 dollars). These presents were intended to remove any little annoyance Mr. Kuhne might feel at having been detained four years and a half in captivity. He was told that he must start that same night, and just after dusk the King sent for him with orders that he should put on the Royal robe. Mr. Kuhne was taken into a small apartment, where he found the King alone, dressed in a white cloth, and seated on a low chair playing with his cats. He told Mr. Kuhne to say when he saw the Governor that the King wanted peace.

It is needless to say that the conquest of Coomassie is not a very serious business; but it is just about as much as this expedition is able at present to accomplish. We may congratulate ourselves that we have not a great distance to traverse or a formidable army to encounter. The transport is still in a shaky condition, and would not stand a severe strain. However, under the circumstances, it will no doubt carry us through. Sir G. Wolseley will soon be at Coomassie, and then Ashantee will be in his power. What may be the terms of the treaty, which it seems he is anxious to make with the King, I cannot pretend to say; the negotiations are being kept secret until they are concluded. The King just at present would be happy to promise anything. It would have been better to avoid all negotiations and merely to state that the question of terms would be discussed at Coomassie. The King of Ashantee will resist us if he thinks that he can do so with effect; if he does not resist us, it will be simply because he sees that it is useless.

(From Another Correspondent.)

FREETOWN, SIERRA LEONE, Jan 22.

Her Majesty's ship 'Simoon' arrived here on the 18th from Cape Coast, having on board one officer and ninety-seven rank and file invalids from the 2nd West India Regiment and eight of the Kossohs who had been wounded. The 'Simoon' left Cape Coast on the 9th. She was delayed some time at Cape Palmas endeavoring to procure from Kromen for the services of the ship; at present the greatest difficulty is found in engaging Kroomen for service on board men-of-war. The 'Simoon' goes from here to St. Vincent, where she is to remain as an hospital ship.

No fresh news comes by the 'Simoom,' but the intelligence brought by her fully confirms the news of the defection of the motive bearers and carriers accompanying Sir Garnet Wolseley's force. All of them have obstinately refused to cross the Prah. Both the 1st and 2nd West India Regiments are now acting as carriers. Sir Garnet Wolseley, it is reported, addressed a sort of a circular letter to the Colonels and officers calling for detachments of the two West India Regiments, explaining to them that the entire success of the expedition now depended on the co-operation of the black troops in the new capacity. Both regiments have responded extremely well to the call. They have been liberally dealt with by Sir Garnet Wolseley. The men receive a gratuity equivalent to about 3s. a day each over and above their pay, the sergeants 5s. a day, and the officers 10s. a day.

Sir Garnet Wolseley evidently anticipates a very brief campaign. All the transports anchored off Cape Coast have been ordered to be ready to re-embark the white troops on the first of March. The break-down of the transport arrangements may probably prolong operations. However, at least six weeks of fine weather can be confidently counted on after the 1st March. The troops can hardly want for medical attendance, as there are now over 90 military doctors on the Gold Coast, independently of those with Captain Glover.

Chief Justice French has received a dormant commission as Administrator of Sierra Leone. This commission empowers him to assume the Government during the absence from this settlement of the Governor-in-Chief. No better selection could have been made, and this appointment has given great satisfaction here. Chief Justice French has now resided almost uninterruptedly for seven years in this settlement. He is thoroughly familiar with local matters and has always taken an active and useful part in the Legislative Council. He is deservedly popular both with the native population and the European officials.

It has been decided that the officer commanding the troops here is not in future, under any circumstances, to administer the Government of this settlement. This change has been brought about, it is stated, owing to very urgent representations having been made by the authorities at the War Office to the Secretary of State for the Colonies as the great inconvenience caused by military officers being employed in civil capacities and being thereby unable to attend to their proper duties.

The news of the defection of the native carriers accompanying Sir Garnet Wolseley's force has caused great excitement among the native population here, who have from the beginning taken the keenest interest in the war. Although the natives of Sierra Leone, especially the educated and well-to-do classes, are thoroughly the entire cause of this war, a strong under current of feeling in favour of the Ashantees has prevailed among the negro population. This is caused by their sympathy for a race of their own colour, and by a feeling of pride that an uncivilized negro race, with every disadvantage of weapons, has been able to offer so stout a resistance to our arms. This feeling found utterances recently in an article published in the leading local paper here. After same lukewarm expressions of hope for our success in the attack on Comassie the article proceeds—"On the other hand it is impossible to extinguish the latent pride in the mind of every African who contemplates the gigantic preparations making by one of the first European Powers for the subjugation of any uncivilized Sovereign of the race of Ham."

The disturbed state of affairs on the Coast has greatly crippled trade even here, and the revenue is in a very embarrassed state. The fiscal changes introduced during Mr. Pope Hennessy's administration have wholly failed to produce the expected result owing to the war. The Customs duties, the sheet anchor of the revenue, produced last year £9,000 less than they were estimated to do. The entire deficiency in the actual revenues from the estimated revenue was during the year 1873 not less than £11,000.

The recent outrage at Bullom Shoar still excites much attention here. Six of the ringleaders have been arrested and brought into Freetown. They will be tried here, as it has been ascertained by actual measurement that the house where the attack was made by Coulson's party is within English territory being within the ceded half mile.

There are many curious stories afloat about the King of Ashantee's proceedings now that his territory is being invaded. The following is a fair specimen of them and illustrates well the extreme superstition of the Ashantees showing by what influence Koffee Calcalli is popularly supposed to be guided and on what counsellors he is supposed to rely in the present crisis.

Koffee Calcalli, the story goes, recently summoned the great meeting of his Fetish men and sought their advice as to how he should act towards the English, whether he ought to seek for peace or stake his fortunes on the result of the war. The Fetish men at first declined to give any answer until they had been guaranteed that, no matter what their reply was, their lives should not be forfeited. Having been re-assured on this point, they then replied that they saw everything dark except the streets of Coomassie, which ran with blood. Koffee Calcalli was dissatisfied with the vagueness of this reply, and determined to appeal still further to oracle. He resorted to what he considered a final and conclusive test. Two he goats were selected, one entirely black, and the other of a spotless white colour, and after due Fetish ceremonies had been performed over the two goats, they were set at each other. The white goat easily overcame and killed his opponent. Koffee Calcalli, after this test, was satisfied that he was doomed to defeat at the hands of the white men. He immediately sent to Embassy to Sir Garnet Wolseley to seek for peace, of which you have already been apprised.

News has been received here from Accra of Captain Glover having gained a very decided success over the Awoonlahs, who were endeavoring to impede his progress up the Volta. Captain Glover, at the head of a large force, crossed the Volta on Christmas Day, and was almost immediately engaged with the Awoonlahs, who had mustered in great force. A sharp engagement ensued. The Awoonlahs were defeated and driven back with a loss of over 400 men. Our loss only amounted to 24 wounded and two Houssas killed. On the 29th of December, Capt Glover recrossed the Volta with 1,200 of the disciplined Houssas and Yorubas, and is now marching on Quowhoo, the frontier town of the Ashantee Kingdom. It was expected that Captain Glover would reach Bagaraw, which is within about a day's reach of Quowhoo, on the 15th of January. Captain Glover left Mr. Goldsworthy, his second in command, in the Awoonlah country to inflict further punishment on this turbulent tribe. Mr. Goldsworthy has under his orders a body of 400 disciplined Houssas, and is assisted by a corps of about 15,000 native allies, consisting of Agrapims, Accras, and Krepees. As soon as the Awoonlahs have been dealt with, Mr. Goldsworthy and the larger portion of his forces will march to rejoin Captain Glover.

The steamship 'Finisterre,' one of the ships sent out with supplies from England to Cape Coast, arrived here to-day, having left Cape Coast on the 16th. She brings news that Sir Garnet Wolseley has advanced 17 miles from the Prah, and that his reconnoitering parties have advanced eight miles further, and are only 40 miles distant from Coomassie. It is reported that the greater portion of white troops have not as yet crossed the Prah on account of the difficulty of forwarding supplies.

The Ottawa Times

FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1874.

L'Evenement claims that Mr. LeBouthillier will have a majority of about 100 in the County of Gaspe. There now remains but two places to be heard from to complete all the elections for the Dominion. There are Algoma and Cariboo.

We are glad to notice the elevation of Mr. E. G. Penny, of the Montreal Herald to the Senate. His talents, character and knowledge of Canadian and general affairs, justify his appointment, and fit him for a useful part in that Chamber. Mr. Penny's claims on political grounds are of the strongest, his useful services to the Liberal party extending over many years.

Capt. Huyshe, of the Anglo-Ashantee army, whose death is now reported in the New York papers, was an officer of the 60th Rifles, long stationed in Canada. He accompanied the then Col. Wolseley to Red River, proving a useful, hard-working officer. He afterwards wrote a book on the Expedition and the North West, which we believe has had a fair sale in Canada. He died of acute dysentery.

The Report of the Auditor of New Brunswick shows that the amount in the Treasury at the beginning of the expired financial year was $123,337. Received from the Dominion $425,000 and for emigration $10,000. The total, including the balance on hand, reached $691,886. Total expenditure $540,486. Agriculture absorbed $12,694; Board of Works, $123,242; bye roads, $81,425; Crown Lands, $9,630; University, $8,844; Grammar Schools $4,821; Parish Schools, $89,544; advances to Counties, $33,155; Immigration, $22,000; Legislature, $27,636; Lunatic Asylum, $25,000. The expenditure exceeded the old revenue, but will be within the income henceforth to be swelled by the "better terms" recently granted the Province.

La Minerve is afflicted at the discovery that its charges at the time of the elections, that Mr. Mackenzie intended giving the contracts for the improvement of the Welland Canal to Americans, for money wherewith to carry the elections, were well founded. It is gravely, sadly stated now, that this bargain has been carried out. Our contemporary prefers bargains from which it draws substantial advantages like the Allan-Macdonald. It is also distressed to think the Northern Pacific Railway is resuscitated by the present Government; but what odds so long as Canada loses nothing? That road, which was not disliked by Sir Hugh Allan, the Minerve's benefactor, is not quite alive again, however, and our contemporary should be tired as well as ashamed of such bosh as this old slander; but just now there is a rivalry among Corruptionist sheets in the matter of romancing. La Minerve will probably try again, with something new.

The Ontario Opposition received a wholesome lesson in the division on the motion of Mr. Boultbee and its amendments, which were directed against the Ministry as a means of censure. The motion aimed at an affirmation of the principle that neither the Ministers of the Crown, the Speaker of the Local House nor any County officials should interfere in Dominion elections. As a matter of fact, such persons have felt an interest, voted or otherwise "interfered" in Federal elections since Confederation, whether publicly or privately, and without any great harm to the people. So long as the interference is not one-sided, there is no just reason to complain. The truth is both parties in Ontario politics have worked for their friends on the Dominion stage, exercising their rights as citizens of the larger country, Canada. The Opposition did not go far enough to prove their sincerity or good faith in regard to the complete separation of Dominion and Provincial politics and politicians, when they excluded their own party from the prohibition proposed for the Government side. If it is wrong for one set of leaders, or Provincial legislators, to take part in Dominion elections, it can not be right for the other. The Opposition in question did their best to help their Federal friends at the late elections, making abundant reference to Provincial affairs and transactions, with a view to proving the misconduct of their opponents, and the unfitness of their friends for the Ottawa Parliament. It would have been manifestly unfair to deprive the assailed Government of the opportunity of self-defence, or of exercising rights exerted by their enemies. It cannot be answered that the Opposition has little influence to set against the Government, for it may sometimes have a preponderance of talent, and be on the eve of power. Of course it is gratifying to think that this is not the case with reference to the Cameron Brigade, whose mistakes and methods of warfare deprive it of any chance of early success. There is no necessity at present for further curtailment of the rights of our citizens or public men, any more than for legislation partial and unjust in its nature. The Government's victory by 46 against 25 speaks for itself.

CANADA AND BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The recent elections in British Columbia developed the same style of warfare on the part of the Opposition as we were all made familiar with in these Eastern Provinces. Mis-statement of facts, dishonest straining of expressions, pure invention and slander, were the tools resorted to in the hope of damaging the new Government, and depriving them of that fair trial, which, after the long and generous indulgence accorded their predecessors, they were every way entitled to. The enemies of Mr. DeCosmos and the Local Government, supposed to be friendly to the Ottawa Cabinet, stopped at nothing in the shape of falsehood and vituperation to defeat them, but this course was as successful in that new Province as it had previously turned out in Quebec and Ontario. The utmost efforts were made to create the impression that the Premier intended shirking the bargain with British Columbia, and leaving her without the all important railway, while Mr. DeCosmos was assailed with the vilest abuse as one who had conspired with the Federal authorities to violate the terms of union, his price or reward being the assurance of a seat in the Ottawa Cabinet, with $7,000 a year. Perhaps we can hardly wonder at such misrepresentations and attempts to excite the fears and prejudices of the Pacific Colonists, when we think of the similar efforts of the late Premier at Kingston. He harped recklessly upon the alleged breach of faith with British Columbia, which, of course, was wholly imaginary, even going the length of suggesting secession to her, in case the insane obligations his Government contracted, in utter ignorance of their onerous, their impracticable character, were not carried out. Men who can go to such lengths in the gratification of their party spleen, and for the accomplishment of personal objects, demonstrate their total unfitness for the task of wisely governing even a petty province, let alone a great nation. They lack the dignified temper, the breadth of mind and patriotism which any one aspiring to the second rank of statesmanship, even, should possess. Well, these rule-or-ruin tactics have happily failed. The excitement carefully organised in British Columbia was only a tempest in a tea-pot, which soon died out, while the men who were to be annihilated have gained the positions and influence they sought, and now enjoy the benefit of that revulsion of feeling which is sure to punish selfish and unscrupulous enemies, whose miserable game has been found out. The nature of the hostility of the foes of the Federal Ministry may be judged from the fact of their attempts to weaken confidence in Mr. Mackenzie's word, and to distort from its plain and obvious meaning this sentence of his communicated pledge—"It was never intended to relax the efforts to secure the earliest possible commencement of the Railway works in British Columbia." Of course it is useless to try to convince men who will not see a truth, but the people generally have shown they were wiser and more enlightened than their Opposition guides. Mr. De Cosmos, for his part, denied positively having made any private or open bargain with Mr. Mackenzie, in the shape of a relaxation or abandonment of the terms for the construction of the railway through the Pacific Province, in return for a Cabinet seat. He averred he had neither asked nor received the promise of such a position, while confessing, in a manly fashion, that he would feel honored in serving the Dominion under such a chief as the Premier. As the whole subject of the capitalization of the Graving Dock Guarantee, the advance of the million to British Columbia, and the position of Canada with respect to the commencement of the railway, is of great importance at present, we reproduce the subjoined article from the Victoria Weekly Standard of February 18, a paper in the confidence of Mr. De Cosmos and the Local Government, of which Mr. Walkem is the Premier:

"If the small knot of obstructives in the House of Assembly have a single spark of sincerity left in them, we should think they will now, in the face of Mr. Mackenzie's telegram, published in Saturday morning's issue of the Standard, withdraw their opposition to the scheme of the Government for raising money to build the dry dock and to push forward the other public works contemplated for the opening up of the country and the development of its resources. All along they have expressed an equal desire with the Government to see these works executed, the only difference between them being as to the manner of accomplishing the object. The facts are simply these: The Local Government were impressed with the necessity of obtaining the means whereby to build the dock and to construct certain roads, both on the mainland and this island, which for years have been loudly called for, and which are absolutely demanded as outlets for the productions of the interior and essential to the building up and settlement of the country. With the ordinary revenue of the country these desirable objects could never be accomplished. It was therefore necessary some scheme should be devised by which the requisite capital could be raised, without entailing an oppressive burden of taxation upon the mere handful of people who at present compose the taxpaying portion of the community. Accordingly negotiations were opened with the Dominion Government with a view to ascertain whether that Government would consent, in the first place, to capitalize the dock guarantee of five per cent. per annum on £100,000 for ten years, by advancing the sum of $250,000 in lieu thereof, $150,000 to be paid down, and the balance in such sums as may be necessary as the construction of the dock progresses; and, in the second place, to pay over the amount of money at our credit in the hands of the Dominion Government, being the difference between the actual debt of British Columbia at the time of union and the allowed debt, as determined by an arrangement entered into between the various Provinces composing the confederation. In round figures this amounts to $1,000,000. Those proposals, we need scarcely observed, were received by the Dominion Government in the most generous spirit, and assurances were given that the wishes of British Columbia should be complied with. On the strength of these assurances, the local Government, after much deliberation, matured their plans and prepared their estimates. These estimates are now before Parliament and the country, for adoption by the former and approval by the latter. It was confidently expected that a scheme so fraught with advantage to the country, would have been hailed with the greatest satisfaction both by the representatives of the people and the people themselves; but strange to say such has not been the case. An unscrupulous opposition has been raised to the scheme of the Government, not alone on the floor of the Legislature, but by a certain clique on the outside, who by a false cry have sought to excite a feeling against it, with a view to defeat it if possible. Before the plans of the Government could be brought to maturity, it became necessary by legislative enactment to make certain alterations in the terms of union before this money could be obtained, and for this purpose the bill now before the House was prepared. A similar measure must needs be laid before the House of Commons, and passed before the money can be paid, and should either fail the scheme will fall to the ground. As soon as it became known that the terms of union were about to be changed, a hue and cry was got up against the proposal, on the alleged ground that any change whatever in the terms would place this Province at the mercy of the Dominion Government, that the commencement of the railway would be indefinitely postponed, and that the best interests of the country would thereby be sacrificed. It was said that Mr. Mackenzie did not intend to carry out the terms, that his policy was to give British Columbia the go-by in respect of the railway, and that the price he was to pay for so doing was the advancement of the $1,250,000 for dry dock construction and other purposes. On no other conditions, it was contended, would Mr. Mackenzie and his Cabinet consent to let us have so large a sum of money on such exceeding favorable terms. The Government and their supporters have all along contended that the railway scheme would in no way be affected by proposed alterations in the terms, that no suggestion to that effect had ever been made by Mr. Mackenzie or any one else, but that on the contrary it was the policy of Mr. Mackenzie's Government to carry out the agreement made with British Columbia in good faith, so far as it was possible for them to do so. If that be so, said those loud-mouthed opponents of the Government, why do you not telegraph to Mr. Mackenzie and obtain his guarantee to that effect? They would settle the matter at once, would allay all excitement, and clear all opposition out of the way. Mr. Mackenzie's despatch is now before the public. Will it satisfy the malcontents? We shall see. We feel assured it will satisfy an honest and impartial public. Mr. Mackenzie tells us that his Government have agreed with Mr. De Cosmos to submit a measure for the approval of Parliament, to enable the Province to proceed with the construction of the Graving Dock, and one to enable the Province to use the balance of the debt assumed by the Dominion for local improvements, under the impression that the Province has urgently required such action. And who will say that such action was not required? Would not the expenditure of so large a sum of money at this particular crisis of our history prove an incalculable blessing to the country and a perfect god send to the people? Let the settlers shut up in the interior and the hundreds of able bodied idle men scattered over the country answer. But does Mr. Mackenzie manifest any eager desire that we should take that money? Not a bit of it. He says in effect, if not in words, that if we do not want the money, we need not take it. We may do just as we think proper about it—it will be all the same to him. But whether we do or not, it will in no way affect the policy of the Government in respect of the commencement of the railway. He plainly tells us that it was never intended (by the advancement of the money in question) to relax the efforts to secure the earliest possible commencement of the railway in British Columbia, and in the face of such a declaration on the part of the Premier of the Dominion, the opposition to the policy of the Local Government should at once cease, for it has left them without a peg to stand upon. We feel assured the public will now see that the Government have been actuated by none but the purest and best of motives, by a sincere desire to promote the best interests of the country, and will cordially sustain them in their efforts to do so."

Not a few of the Opposition organs strove to make a great point against the Dominion Government on the score of alleged prodigality towards British Columbia, in the matter of the £50,000 for the Esquimault Graving dock. So far as this charge is concerned, they but proposed to carry out the undertaking of the late Government. Mr. DeCosmos in his election address said:

"The result of my negotiations with Mr. Tilley, Finance Minister, at Ottawa in October last, was an agreement to grant the Province £50,000 sterling, in lieu of dock guarantee Not one word was ever mentioned by the Macdonald Government as to bartering off the railway clause of the terms of union, or any other article. The Mackenzie Ministry came into power, and Mr. Mackenzie confirmed the agreement that I had made with Mr. Tilley. There was no bartering off the railway or any other clause of the terms of union, in order to get the $250,000 for the dock. That sum was promised to be given in order to keep faith with British Columbia, and to aid the Province in the immediate construction of the Esquimault dry dock."

The Vancouver Island Standard gives the following interesting information as to Mr. De Cosmos's views on the subject of the terms affecting Canada's obligations as regards the Pacific Railway:

"The same objections have been urged against the proposal to accept an advance of one million dollars to be expended upon public works, as have been urged against the dry dock capitalization scheme, viz, that it would involve an alteration in the terms of union, and thereby jeopardize the railway clause of the said terms and indefinitely postpone the commencement of the railway in British Columbia. Mr. De Cosmos shows very clearly that the terms so much talked about can in no sense be considered in the light of a treaty, but are simply part of an Imperial statute, that may be altered or amended as circumstances may require, just as any other statute may be altered or amended, without affecting any other clauses than those specially intended to be so altered or amended. And this is really the only common sense view that can be taken of this question. Only sovereign powers, Mr. DeCosmos shows, can make treaties, and as neither Canada nor British Columbia are sovereign powers, they could not be parties to a treaty in the sense used by the opponents of the Government scheme, and therefore no such treaty exists, and cannot, consequently, be broken."

Pacific Railway Passes.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—Your issue of the 3rd instant contains a courteous reply from Mr. Horetzky, to my questions regarding a railway route to the Pacific Ocean. But more information is necessary; and, as Mr. H. has introduced himself in print, to a new friend, the public, he will find that considerable efforts are requisite in order to keep up a good understanding. As he has undertaken to enlighten mankind in regard to certain matters connected with the North West Territories, something more than what was known before through the writings of Sir Alexander McKenzie and other able writers will be expected of him. Your correspondent does not doubt that Mr. H. proposes the much desiderated knowledge. But it must not remain imprisoned in the memory or within the narrow limits of his field notes. He has become by his own free act, the confidant of the public and if he does not yet, from inexperience, show a due sense of his obligations in this new relation, something must be done to drag forth his latent knowledge from its hiding place. I have thought, Sir, that it might be expedient to hand him over to the tender mercies of the critics. But, on reflection, I come to conclude that this might prove too severe an ordeal, and by discouraging drive to Coventry or to the tomb of all the capulets, a writer so full of promise, who has just made the acquaintance of the reading public. I have considered it more judicious as well as more kind, to ask him once more to abandon the style laconic, extend his notes a little, and communicate freely and without stint, what he knows concerning the routes and passes to the Western shores of the Dominion.

In a former letter, Sir, your correspondent proposed to Mr. Horetzky the question whether there were higher grounds than the Rocky Mountains to be got over in the way to the shores of the Pacific; and his only reply is "that between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Coast, there do exist a few trifling obstacles." This is surely very far from being a satisfactory amount of information in regard to a subject, which the Canadian public holds to be of the highest importance, and which, at the present moment, presses so strongly on our attention.

Your correspondent had also asked of Mr. Horetzky whether the plains to the west of the Rocky Mountains, were higher than those mountains, or if there were mountains of greater elevation than the Rocky Mountain range between that range and the ocean. This question was suggested by Mr. H's statement that the Rocky Mountain barrier could be pierced at a height of 1,800 feet, or thereby, but that still, there were heights to be got over "probably nowhere exceeding 2,400 feet above the sea."

The writer's reply reminds one of the answer that a Squire, one day that he was indisposed, and donned his night cap, directed his servant to give to all visitors, "Master said, sir," was the man's allocution to the first visitor, "that I was to give you an evasive answer." Mr. Horetzky's answer in addition to being evasive, very modestly makes profession of ignorance, He does not know that there is any plain between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Coast. And, yet does he not in his pamphlet, (p. 29) after crossing the Rocky Mountains bring us to the great Chilcotin plain or valley? Most writers use the term plain, and so did the late Mr. Waddington in his lecture some years ago at Ottawa. If it be strictly a valley, it can be no other valley than that which lies between the Rocky Mountains and the cascade range. Once more, if positively a valley, it must be of less elevation than either of the two mountain ranges by which it is bounded. And, this is the idea of it, which Mr. Waddington gave in his lecture, remarking, moreover, that it continued to decline in height towards the north. Understanding on such good authority, that the Chilcotin plain or valley attained so moderate an elevation so far north as the pass suggested by Mr. Horetzky, I was not a little surprised, Sir, to learn from this gentleman that after having traversed the Rocky Mountains at the height of only 1,800 feet, we had still to climb a height, whether rocky plain or rocky mountain, of 2,400. In our bewilderment we ask for explanation, for light; and, we are favoured, as you have seen, Sir, with an evasive answer. When Sir Alex. McKenzie travelled and wrote his famous journal, railways were not as yet thought of, and that celebrated traveller gave all the information suited to his day and generation. Why do not modern explorers take a stray leaf or two, if not from his journal, at least from the instructive book of his example, and write for their time—the railway time?

I am, Sir,

ENGLISH MAIL.—The English Mail for the steamship 'Hibernian' closes at the Post Office this morning at 11:05 o'clock. A supplementary bag will close at 12:25 noon. The steamship leaves Portland to-morrow for Liverpool.

REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—The Rev. Mason Gallagher, D. D., will (D. V.) hold Divine Service in the Court House, Daly street, on Sunday next, the 8th instant. Morning at 11 o'clock, evening at seven o'clock. Worshippers will bring with them the book of common prayer. Hymns will be provided.

WATER WORKS.—Rapid progress is being made by the Commissioners in the prosecution of the Water Works. It is said that water will be run through the principal streets ere midsummer. There is only some 1,000 feet of rock excavation to be made now, to enable the supply pipe to reach the source of supply in the Ottawa River.

THE LATE MR. G. BOGGS.—The remains of the above lamented gentleman were conveyed yesterday to their last resting place, Beechwood Cemetery. The large and influential attendance at his funeral shewed the general esteem in which he was justly held for his kindly and generous disposition and gentlemanly deportment. The pall-bearers were the Hon. Dr. Tupper, C.B., Rev. D. M. Gordon, Mr. J. G. Layton, Chief of the Census Branch, Mr. Layton, jr., Mr. H. J. O'Neil and Mr. A. J. Duffy. The service was performed by the Rev. Mr. Pollard.

CURLING.—The members of the Ottawa Curling Club, entitled to play for the Governor General's medal commence play to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. The following are the gentlemen who are entitled to compete: His Excellency the Governor General, Allan Gilmour, President of the Club, and Messrs. Thorburn, Inglis, Gallagher, G. Hutchinson, Thos. McKay and Dr Bentley. At the request of His Excellency the competition will take place on the Rink at Rideau Hall. Some good play is anticipated, the competitors all being old curlers. The games will be played by points, and under the same rules as the Royal Caledonia matches. This saves the trouble and expense of travelling around from one city to another. The medal goes to the team that secures the highest number of points.

ROCHESTERVILLE TEMPERANCE MEETING.—The above organization held a most successful and pleasant re-union on Wednesday night, in Division room S. T., Rochesterville. Mr. Howe, G. W. A., S. T., of the Division, occupied the chair, and opened the proceedings by making some appropriate remarks. The Rev. Messrs. Johnson and Young, with Dr. Mark, also were on the platform, and during the evening delivered addresses on the subject of Temperance. The programme was made up of some very carefully selected favorite glees, solos, recitations, &c., in which the Rochesterville choir, Master Rochester, Mr. Hunter, Master Davis, Miss Scott, (a most pleasing vocalist,) and others took part. We need scarcely say that the efforts of all were duly appreciated and the entertainment gave the utmost satisfaction. The interval was employed in the distribution of some very beautiful fruit, which was enjoyed by those present. The pleasant gathering came to a close about ten o'clock.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.—An ardent disciple of Blackstone, hailing not 50 miles from the village of Kemptville, and now in pursuit of legal lore in a law office of this city, felt anxious as to making some arrangements with the railway authorities, whereby he could pay a weekly visit to his paternal mansion at a reduced fare. He accordingly sets to work to write a plaintive epistle, as he thinks, to the Managing Director of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway; but not being a digester of the contents of railway guides and such periodicals, he draws upon his imagination, and addresses his effusion to a well-known Real Estate and Land Agent on Rideau street. The recipient is in ecstacy over his new appointment, and with that becoming manner and portly dignity which he deems to be in consonance with such an honourable position, has given instructions to his private secretary to answer the correspondent at some time hence, not if possible, to exceed the term of one year.

Reformed Episcopal Church.

A meeting of persons interested in the organization of a Reformed Episcopal Church was held last evening in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association Rooms, and was largely attended. The chair was occupied by Mr. MacAggy, Mr. Alexander acting as Secretary. Amongst the gentlemen present were Aldermen Rowe and Graham, Messrs. Wilson, R. L. James, Kirby, W. Scranfield, T. Beament, J. Mahon, Bradley and Mitchell.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the Secretary, after which the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

Communications from Bishop Cummins were next read by the Secretary. In these letters that Rev. Clergyman expressed his regret at not being able, on account of sickness in his family, to visit Ottawa, but would send an earnest worker in the cause in his stead, the Rev. Mr. Gallagher. He, however, hoped to be able to visit his friends in Ottawa at an early period.

A communication from the Rev. Mr. Gallagher was also read, which stated that the rev. gentlemen would be in Ottawa next Sunday to hold services.

The Committee appointed at a meeting of the members of the Church of England, held on the 12th Feby., to consider the advisability of organizing an Episcopal congregation upon well defined Evangelical principles, and to take such other steps in the premises, as they might deem necessary, handed in the following report:

Your Committee are fully impressed with the fact, from all the information they have been able to gather, that a widespread and positive feeling prevails for the organization of a congregation in connection with the Reformed Episcopal Church in this city. They therefore recommend that a subscription list be at once opened with the view of ascertaining what amount will be guaranteed to meet the salary of a minister and other church expenses.

Your Committee further recommend that Churchwardens and Sidesmen be temporarily appointed until Easter, when a regular meeting of Churchwardens and a Vestry for the ensuing year will take place.

A discussion arose as to the advisability of appointing a committee to receive the Rev. Mr. Gallagher on his arrival in this city on Saturday.

It was moved by Mr. Kirby that a committee composed of Messrs. Rowe, Wilson, Beament, Bradley, and Tracy, receive the Rev. Mr. Gallagher at the depot on his arrival, and that Mr. Alexander be appointed to proceed to Prescott to meet the Rev. gentleman at that place.—Carried.

Mr. Kirby moved a vote of thanks to the newspapers of the city for their courtesy on all occasions.—Carried.

The meeting adjourned after agreeing to hold a meeting on Monday evening next, in the Court House.

Catholic Young Men's Society Concert.

The second annual concert of this society was held last night in the Rink Music Hall and was largely attended. The proceedings opened with an overture splendidly executed by the orchestra composed of Marrier's band. The President said a few well chosen words as to the object of the Society, and "one gentle heart" followed by Miss Chevrier and the St. Joseph's Church choir. We do not pretend to criticise the music because it was all excellent, M. Gauthier elicited oft repeated plaudits, and Mr. and Mrs. Selwyn fairly brought down the house. We have already spoken of Mrs. Kearns as a pianiste, and do not think that either professional or amateur can be her equal, but certainly Miss Peachy came so very close upon her last night, that we do not consider it altogether unnecessary advice just to ask her to look to her laurels. Mrs. R. W. Scott, awoke the old echos so familiar to Ottawa ears, and she did it in fine style. The duett by Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Beaubien was superably rendered and elicited much applause. Space will not permit us to criticise the whole programme, but we must not omit to mention Miss Willis who sang with much power and sweetness, or Mrs. Robertson whose voice though not in the best of trim was true to every note, and manifested that extraordinary power and sweetness which ever makes it popular with the public. In the second part of the programme Mrs. Kearns surprised the audience by a magnificent composition of her own. It would be too long to particularise all the performance, but we cannot omit to mention Messrs. Scott and Adams whose singing certainly deserved all the applause they received. Of the long programme—we think it was too long—there was not a piece that could challenge censure. The young men may well feel proud of their annual entertainment, and we can well afford to congratulate Mr. Ryan and Mr. James Bowes on the success which has attended their efforts. They were countenanced by a large number of leading citizens on the platform, and by a singular display of good taste they did not bore the audience with any speeches.

Police Court.

Before Mr. O'Gara, P. M.

THURSDAY, March 5.

Amable Morin was charged with being drunk and disorderly, and with smashing things generally in his house. He owed some rent to his landlord, and told him that if he wanted it, he had better come and take two sewing machines which he had up stairs. He then went deliberately to work to smash his goods and chattels. His Worship adjourned the case until Monday.

C. P. Leparade was sent down for two weeks for drunkenness.

John Curtis was called on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Curtis, but neither plaintiff nor defendant appeared, and the case was dismissed with costs.

PERSONAL.—It gives us much pleasure to note the promotion of an old and much respected citizen, Mr. Benjamin Gordon, to a higher position in the Custom House in this city.

THE FOOT GUARDS.—The Foot Guards had a march out last nigt, headed by the splendid Brass and Fife and Drum Bands of the regiment. They paraded the principal streets of the city, and a great concourse of people collected on the streets to witness the martial tramp of our now favorite regiment. The full compliment of six companies turned out and each company was fully represented in the muster. It is to be hoped this fine corps will keep up their drill, so that when the Queen's Birth Day comes around, they will receive deservedly from the hands of Lady Dufferin the stand of colors about to be presented them on that occasion. The officers deserve every praise for the efficient way in which they keep up the credit of the Governor General's Foot Guards.

ENTERTAINMENT AND TABLEAUX.—One of the most pleasing entertainments that has taken place for some time was held in the Temperance Hall last night. The Rev. Mr. Pope occupied the chair. The programme was one of the most varied character, comprising music from a band, solo and duett songs of the sweetest melody from several lady and gentlemen amateur vocalists, a series of Tableaux—a feature becoming very fashionable at entertainments since their introduction at Rideau Hall; and a new and somewhat eccentric innovation on the customary promenade styled "bow knot drawing." The latter may briefly be described as follows: Each lady made two bow knots or rosettes of the same color and material, one she presents to her escort, the other to be folded in a paper parcel with the name endorsed; on entering the Hall, the lady deposits her parcel with the distributor, for which she receives a check. At intermission the lady depositors drew indiscriminately. The gent whose name and color corresponded became her escort during the remainder of the evening. The entertainment was largely patronized, and was immensely enjoyed by all who had the pleasure of attending.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

Another Unsuccessful Attempt to Have a Meeting.

The Board of School Trustees should have met in the City Hall last night, for the transaction of business, but there being no quorum nothing could be done.

The Secretary at the appointed hour called the roll, but the following members were present: Messrs. Kirby, Graham, Iliffe, Robertson, Bronson and the Inspector.

Mr. Taylor entered shortly afterwards.

The members present finding their mission to be a fruitless one, took their departure, trusting Deo Volente too meet again at the very earliest opportunity.

Medical Association.

At a meeting of medical men held last night in the Water Commissioners' rooms, there were present—Drs. VanCortlandt, Sweetland, St. Jean, M. P., McDougall, Robillard, Malloch, Bell, Bentley, Lynn, Valade, Church, Carmichael, DeDonnell, Horsey, Gibb, Wright, (Ottawa), Corbett, McGillivray, Church, (Aylmer), Wright, (Wakefield.)

The meeting was convened for the purpose of forming a Medical Association, to be entitled the "Ottawa Medical Association."

Dr. VanCortlandt was called upon to occupy the chair.

It was determined by those present that the Officers should be elected by ballot, which resulted as follows:—

Dr. Hill, President; Dr. Sweetland, first Vice-President; Dr. Church, (Aylmer), second Vice-President; Dr. Wright, (Ottawa City), Secy.-Treasurer.

After the election of offices an Executive Committee was formed for the purpose of drawing up rules, &c., to be submitted to the Association on this day fortnight, March 19th.

The following gentlemen compose the Committee—Drs. Bentley, Lynn, McGillivray, Gibb and McDougall.

After a vote of thanks had been returned ta Dr. VanCortlandt, far the efficient manner in which he filled the chair, the meeting was adjourned.

DOMINION NEWS.

ONTARIO.

It is reported in Kingston that Captain King, Paymaster of the 14th P. W. O. Rifles, has been appointed military store keeper at Kingston, vacant by the death of Colonel Corbett. A more worthy officer than Captain King, who has for many years been an active member of the Volunteer Force could not get the position.

Petitions have been filed against the return of Mr. Chisholm for Hamilton; Mr. Peter White for North Renfrew; and Mr. John Stuart for South Norfolk; Mr. John Walker of London; Mr. A. F. Macdonald of Cornwall; Mr. William McGregor of Essex; and Mr. Orton of Centre Wellington.

The first day's races at Kingston proved successful as far as entries and sport were concerned; but the ice was in very bad condition. Two races took place, the first being the Citizen's Purse of $100, and the second a Local Race for a purse of $75. The first race was for horses which had never beat three minutes, bar Toronto Chief, Kitty Wells and Paragon. There were four entries for this race, viz: Mr. C. P. Reid's Lady Clarion, Mr. Harris' Happy Jack, Mr. Barton's Bailiff, Mr. Murdock's Kitty Burlock. The race was well contested, and Lady Clarion took the first money, $70, winning the 1st and 2d heats, and running a dead heat in the third. Bailiff was drawn after the second heat, and in the fourth heat Lady Clarion won easily, beating Happy Jack, the favorite. In the local trot, open to horses owned in the city and village of Portsmouth, for a purse of $75, the following entries were made: Grey Harry, Buffalo Bill, Lottie Crawford, Boston Maid, Silver Tail and Lily. The two latter did not put in an appearance. Buffalo Bill took the first heat, and Grey Harry took the 2nd, 3rd and 4th heats, getting first money, $45; Buffalo Bill 2nd, $20; and Boston Maid 3rd, $10. Grey Harry was the favorite against the field, and the result showed his backers had not misplaced their interest in him.

The Rev. Wm. Macaulay, for nearly half a century the Rector of Picton, died on the 2nd inst., at the advanced age of 79 years. The Kingston News has the following in reference to the deceased: Mr. Macaulay was born in the year 1795, and was a brother of the Hon. John Macaulay. He was educated at Oxford, where he graduated as M. A., and where he was ordained a clergyman of the Church of England. He returned to Canada in 1819, and was appointed by Bishop Mountain to the charge of Coburg, where he remained for seven years, removing to Picton (then called Hallowell) in 1826, where he has remained ever since.

The Michigan Central and Great Western railroads have had constructed a new ferry boat at Detroit, Mich., which is a monster in comparison with the others hitherto in operation at that point. It has a capacity for 16 cars, and will transport the entire heaviest passenger trains. A new slip has also been constructed on each side of the river by the two roads, with which combined additional facilities they claim to be able to ferry 600 cars from each side a day across, besides accommodating the regular passenger trains.

Upon the appointment of Mr. Henry Browne to the position of Assistant Inspector of Public Schools in Toronto, the Trustees of the Davisville school, in releasing him from his engagement, presented him with a highly complimentary testimonial deeply regretting his retirement from their school, which he had raised from a low position to the grade of A 1, the highest grade attainable. This is alike creditable to the Trustees and to the recipient of the flattering testimonial, who has already entered on his duties in Toronto. Mr. Browne, it may be stated, was formerly head master of the Louisa Street school for over ten years, and consequently is no stranger to the work which is now required of him.

The High School in Elora was totally destroyed by fire. It seems that the caretaker had started the fires, as usual, and left, only one of the female pupils having arrived. She was in the large room, and, smelling smoke, she looked in the small room and saw the stove pipe, which goes out of the window, red hot, and the sash and some maps on fire. She tried her best to put it out, but not being able to do so, she ran for assistance, but before it arrived the building was so far gone that nothing could be saved, except one case out of the museum. The building was one storey, of stone, and was worth about $2,000; insured for $1,000.

NOVA SCOTIA.

According to the Truro Sun, Captain R. M. Marriam will lay the keel of a 550 ton vessel at Broad Landing Bridge on the 1st March.

The Antigonish Casket states that Vincent J. Wallace Esq., is a candidate for the vacant seat in the Local House for Guysboro.

Captain Charles Boudrot and Mr John Frehil are the candidates nominated at Arichat on Wednesday last, to contest for the vacant seat caused by the resignation of Mr. Flynn.

Mr. Hugh McDonald crossed from his home, on Pictou Island, to Pictou, with a horse and sleigh, a few days ago, a thing which has not been done for fifteen years.

The Journal of the Telegraph announces the organization of a new company in London, to lay a light cable from the coast of Great Britain to Halifax, N. S., via the Azores Islands. The capital is £370,000, and the prospectus, which was opened during the first week of the present month, says it is the intention of the company to convey messages over its cable at the rate of one shilling per word.

The Halifax Boating Club had a meeting at Mason's Hall on Thursday evening, when in reply to Henry Coulter's suggestion for a sweep stake scull race to include Brown and himself, it was resolved that a challenge be sent to him to make a match with Brown for a five mile race, with one turn, to take place at Pictou in June next, for $1,000. The Secretary was instructed to ascertain if the St. John amateur crew will row the Halifax ([illegible] Foley) amateurs in shell boats.

SUDDEN DEATH.—At Porter's lake, on the 19th inst., while a number of young men were engaged at a chopping and hauling for Mr. William Bond, and were preparing their loads to proceed home, one of their number, named Jesse [illegible] Parks, fell dead on the ice. He was conveyed to his father's residence where an inquest was held by J. L. Griffin, [illegible] J. P. The verdict of the jury was that the young man "died suddenly by the visitation of God, of heart disease."—(Chron.

A man named Cluncy, recently from Halifax, living off Fore street, Portland, Me., had a child about three months old taken sick, and summoned a physician, but as the child did not improve a messenger was sent to the drug store, corner of Fore and India streets, for paregoric, but instead of paregoric laudanum was given. This was Tuesday night, 18th. It was noticed that a mistake had been made as the child went into a doze. A physician was sent for, but it was too late, and the child died late that night.

One day last week, as Mr. Alex. Smith of Alton, was driving a load of wood to Kentville, coming down a steep hill on the Canaan Road, back of Lyon's hotel, the whole affair—sleigh, oxen, and all—slid over the bank, which is about thirty feet in height, performing a succession of sommersaults, and finally bringing up against a tree at the bottom. By cutting the ox yoke the cattle was extricated without injury. Mr. Smith had barely time enough to spring out of the way and prevent being crushed.—Kentville Chronicle.

The Chignecto, N.B., Post states that Messrs. Lunt, the enterprising steamboat owners of St. John, will if properly encouraged place a boat of 125 feet keel and drawing four and a half feet of water, on the Basin Minas next season, the boat to be in every way adopted to the transportation of freight of all kinds and passengers, to develop the trade of the Basin. The Government of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick will give the usual subsidy. It now rests with the Dominion Government to decide whether the service shall be performed or not.

ACCIDENTS.—At Valley Station on the 19th inst., Mr. Daniel Mackenzie of [illegible] field met with a serious accident. He was engaged at loading timber, a [illegible] stick of which fell on him, breaking the bone of his right arm close to the shoulder and otherwise bruising him severely. He was attended by Dr. H. Muir and is doing well. On Monday last as Mr. John Hennessy and some other men were loading timber in the woods, a heavy stick fell from the sled catching both of Mr. Hennessy's legs and jamming them very severely. He will doubtless be confined to the house for a week or ten days, which is a sad inconvenience during good hauling weather, as he has quite a lot of timber to get out.—Truro Sun.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Some days ago an Indian living at the mouth of the North Arm committed suicide under the following circumstances. He had been acting rather strangely for some time and his squaw was keeping a close eye on his movements. She saw him take down his gun and load it, and to her question as to what he was going to do he answered that he was going duck-shooting. He then proceeded to put on his shot-belt, powder-horn, &c., and walked out of the house. After going a few steps he took off his boot, and leaning over the muzzle, discharged the contents into his chest, killing himself on the spot.

Electricity! Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric Oil!—Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now.' H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.Q., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Grand Reform Banquet at Almonte.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

ALMONTE, March 5.

A grand Reform banquet took place here this evening. The evening train which arrived at 7.25, brought down the Hon. the Premier and the Hon. Messrs. Huntington and Laird, who were met at the station by an immense concourse of people, and escorted to Davis' Hotel by a torchlight procession with a band. The banquet took place in Anderson and Reed's Music Hall; the attendance was large and enthusiastic, the guests numbering upwards of 200. The chair was occupied by John Scott, Esq, and on either side of him were the Hon. Messrs. Huntington and Laird, W. Galbraith, M.P., Rev. Messrs. Manning, Mackenzie, McMorin, Messrs. J. Jamieson, W. Templeman, J. Greig, J. McCarter, J. Mennes, B. Rosamond, J. B. Wylie, &c.

Dinner having been partaken of and the cloth removed, the chairman proposed the usual loyal and patriotic toasts which were duly drunk, and then proposed the toast of the evening.

Mr. Mackenzie rose and deeply thanked the large and influential assembly for this magnificent demonstration of friendship and confidence in the present administration. He sketched the course of the policy pursued since he first entered political life some thirty years ago, shewing conclusively that the career of the party now in opposition had ever been tainted with corruption. The Liberal party, he said, strove for principles, not for power, and these principles they were determined to carry out by legislative enactment. They would tolerate no oligarchy, either political or religious. He concluded a lengthened speech by bespeaking a fair support to his Administration, and was loudly cheered on resuming his seat.

The Chairman next proposed the health of the Hon. L. S. Huntington, whom he praised for his courage on every occasion, and more particularly during the last session of Parliament.

Mr. Huntington was received with long and continued applause, the whole assembly rising en masse. He said when their esteemed chairman spoke of courage, he thought the toast about to be proposed was the 'Volunteers." He remarked that Sir John A. Mackonald seemed to think he was not quite a respectable man; that he had spoken too much of the Pacific Scandal, but the country had now pronounced in the matter, and he was proud of the country which had driven into the sea the enemies of peace and good government. Mr. Huntington made some further well-chosen remarks, and intimated that his speech should then conclude, when he was met by deafening shouts of "Go on!" and he said that as he stood there to address them, they looked so like his own constituency which he had represented for so many years, that he felt quite at home amongst them. He thanked them on behalf of the Government and on his own for the eloquent testimony of confidence which they had given that night, and concluded amidst loud and enthusiastic applause.

The Chairman next gave the Hon. Mr. Laird. After appropriate music,

Mr Laird rose, and was also received with loud applause. In the course of his speech he remarked that he had been taught to look back on the people of Ontario and their representatives as a dangerous lot, but he had ever failed to see the danger, and he instanced the fact of that large Province having voluntarily given one of its seats in the Cabinet to the little Province of Prince Edward's Island, as proof that they meant justice in its fullest sense to the Provinces. He deprecated the sectional jealousies engendered and fostered by the late Government, and said that the present Administration worked no more in the interest of one Province than of another, but sought alone to promote the general welfare of the Dominion at large. The Government of the United States, he said, had sufficient territory of their own to engross their attention, without turning a covetous eye on Canada; the latter sought not to acquire fresh territories. He concluded his brilliant speech, which was rapturously applauded, with the following beautiful metaphor: "Let us hope that the two nations, Great Britain and the United States, the bulwarks of freedom the world-over, may never again be found bathing their hands in each other's blood; that the stars and stripes, the emblem of God's great, grand and glorious work of creation, and the Red Cross flag, the emblem of God's greater, grander, and much more glorious work of Redemption, may henceforth be intertwined in the folds of perpetual peace."

Stirring speeches were afterwards made by Mr. Galbraith, M. P., and the Rev. Mr. Manning, both of whom deprecated the vexatious or frivolous opposition to the present Administration, and bespoke for it a generous support.

After some other toasts had been disposed of, the company separated.

TORONTO.

Local Legislature.

TORONTO, March 5, 1874.

The Speaker took the chair at 3.20.

After routine,

The debate on the motion to add the name of the Hon. Mr. Fraser to the Public Accounts Committee was resumed.

Hon. Mr. Cameron resumed his speech from this morning.

The Attorney General thought that in all fair play the Hon. Mr. Fraser's name ought to be added. There were four Opposition lawyers on the Committee and only one legal gentleman represents the Government. He was unable to attend the Committee himself, and therefore asked for the change. If the hon. gentlemen opposite insisted on speaking against time, he must take the responsibility.

Hon. Mr. Cameron said that he would accept the responsibility. If an additional lawyer was all the Government wanted, let them name any other legal gentleman than Mr. Fraser, who would make no objection. He only opposed Mr. Fraser because his volubility would impede the business on the Committee.

Mr. Boultbee said if the Government objected to place the name of that member on the Committee, he could not see the justice of adding the Hon. Mr. Fraser's name.

Mr. Lauder thought the charges in Mr. Dickey's accounts were far too high, and that Mr. Merrick as a mercantile man should be placed on the Committee.

Mr. Rykert read the correspondence of the past Commissioner to show that during the Sandfield Macdonald Government the Commissioner's had barely a preponderence.

At six o'clock the Hon. gentleman still held the floor.

After recess several private bills were advanced a stage.

Mr. Deacon moved the second reading of the Western Ontario Orange Bill.

Mr. Merrick asked a silent vote, as the subject had been already fully discussed.

Mr. Cameron was not in favor of this proposition.

The Attorney-General explained why the previous bills had been disallowed. He was not in favor of granting a special act, as the Orange Association could be incorporated under the general act which the Government had introduced.

Mr Code moved in amendment, that the name of Mr. Merrick be added to that of Fraser on the Public Accounts Committee.

Mr. Cameron supported the amendment at great length. Mr. Cameron concluded at 11:20.

The Speaker ruled that the amendment was out of order, as it had been already decided that Mr. Merrick should not be admitted to the Public Accounts.

Mr. Boulter moved in amendment that the names of Meredith and Hodgins be added to that of Fraser.

Mr. D'Arcy Boulton supported the amendment.

D'Arcy Boulton spoke for forty minutes, and was succeeded by

Mr. Sinclair, who condemned the obstructive policy of the Opposition, and wanted to know if the Hon. Mr. Fraser was objected to on account of his religion. He moved the previous question.

The Speaker ruled this out of order.

Hon. Mr. Cameron then supported the amendment.

Mr. Rykert also supported the motion.

Mr. Daly repudiated the idea of a religious feeling against the Hon. Mr. Fraser.

Mr O'Donoghue would vote for the Provincial Secretary as the Attorney General could not attend.

Mr. Lauder moved the adjournment of the debate.

Mr. Robertson condemned the waste of time, stating that if the members of the Opposition were allowed to go over the same speeches two or three times the debate might last two days. At least he thought the Government ought to stop this.

Mr. Deacon said that he knew that the Government would ultimately carry their motion, but the country would judge whether the Opposition or the Government were the most anxious to investigate the public accounts.

Mr. Boultbee said there was a difficulty to obtain a full meeting of the Public Accounts Committee, therefore the proposal to add the names of Messrs. Merrick, Meredith and Bethune ought to be carried.

The House then divided on the amendment to adjourn, the motion being lost; yeas, 22; nays, 42.

The question was then put on Mr. Boulton's amendment, that Meredith and Hodgins be added. The amendment was lost, yeas 23, nays 41. Messrs. Meredith, Hardy and Fraser rose, and a dispute arose as to who had the floor.

Mr. Corby moved the adjournment of the House.

Mr. Cameron briefly spoke, and the motion was lost on division.

The motion was then put that Hon. Mr. Fraser be heard. Carried. Yeas, 41; Nays, 20.

Mr. Merrick moved the adjournment of the debate. Lost on division.

The original motion that Hon. Mr. Frasers' name be added was then put and carried. Yeas, 41; Nays, 22.

The House then adjourned at 3:35 a.m.

Arrival of Mayor Featherston and Mr. Young, of Ottawa, and Mr. Gilbert of the Merryweather Steam Fire Engine Co—Funeral—A Long Debate.

Mayor Featherston, of Ottawa, Mr. Young, Chief of the Ottawa Fire Brigade, and Mr. Gilbert, of the Merryweather Steam Fire Engine Company, are in the city, and were yesterday shown over the fire halls of the city.

The funeral of Mr. Chisholm, formerly a member of the Corn Exchange, took place to-day at Oakville. Several members of that corporation attended.

Hon. Mr. Cameron having spoken for an hour last night on the motion to place the name of the Hon. Mr. Fraser on the Committee of Public Accounts, the House was adjourned. He resumed the debate and occupied all the afternoon, and the Opposition announce there intention of speaking all night in resistance of motion. These are the gentlemen who complain of the delay of public business.

LONDON, March 4.

The remains of an unknown man, being one of those discovered in the ruins of the burning car at Komoka, were brought to the city this evening, and will be deposited in the vault at St. Paul's cemetery. The remains are those of a large-sized man; a pair of spectacles were found in one of his pockets. It was at first thought the body was that of Mr. Lee, but that gentleman has since turned up safe and sound. Among the many who have viewed the body, fearing that it might be that of some friend who was thought to have been on the train, not one has identified it.

The burglars and street robbers have not been got rid of yet. Mr. Bell, a colored barber, was attacked while going home at a late hour last night, and in the scuffle shot and wounded one of his assailants. Both of the ruffians, however, escaped. Two men also made an attempt to enter a dwelling on Bathurst street, west, but were heard, and help being called they decamped. Some of the new specials were mistaken for burglars during their rounds last night, and were in danger of receiving a warm reception by vigilant householders on the alert for nocturnal intruners.

FRANCE.

Postponed.

PARIS, March 4.—The French Academy has postponed the contemplated reception to Emile Olivier, because he persists retaining his inaugural eulogy of the Emperor Louis Napoleon.

SPAIN.

Aid from the People.

MADRID, March 4.—The aggressive movements of the Carlists have aroused a feeling on the part of the people to aid the Government by all means in their power to crush the insurrection. Contributions of money are pouring in, and all the theatres in this city have given performances in aid of the cause. Telegrams have been received from the Provincial authorities offering moral and material support. Latest advices from Bilboa report no change in the situation. The Carlists keep up the bombardment. Two hundred shells are thrown into the city daily.

GERMANY.

Banquet.

BERLIN, March 4.—U. S. Minister Bancroft has issued invitations for a banquet to-day, in celebration of the anniversary of Grant's inauguration.

UNITED STATES.

The Late Fire.

BOSTON, March 4.—The loss by the last Boston fire is $120,000, of which the Eastern Railroad Company lose $60,000; no insurance. A train of 20 loaded freight cars was burned. The large building, composed of brick and wood, was thoroughly gutted. The fire was caused by the breaking of a carboy of vitriol.

Criminal Libel.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The criminal suit of libel of Luther C. Challis, against Mrs. Woodhull, her sister Claflin, and her husband Blood, was brought to trial in the Court of Sessions to-day. A plea for delay by the defendants' counsel was denied, and the empanelling of a jury began. Defendants are now without a bail, their bondsmen having surrendered them into the hands of the sheriff, and must sleep in Ludlow Street Jail until new sureties are obtained.

Suicide.

Abby L. Merriam, daughter of the publisher of Webster's Dictionary, committed suicide to-day, while laboring under a fit of temporary insanity.

Ex-President Baez.

NEW YORK, March 4—The case of ex-President Baez, of St. Domingo, is again up in Brooklyn. To-day, on motion to vacate the order of arrest issued by Judge Pratt, an affidavit was submitted by his counsel to the effect that the complainant Hatch was an active participant in the insurrection, was captured and sentenced to death but the sentence was commuted to exile as a favor to the United States Government. In conclusion the deponent says that all and every part of the capture, trial and sentence so far as he had any connection with them, were merely the proper exercise of his powers and duties as the President of the Republic, and were in no respect related to him in any other way. Of course he denies the jurisdiction of the Court.

Strike.

WAVERLY, N.Y., March 4—All the employes of the Lehigh Valley Railroad at this end of the line, except the engineers, struck this morning, numbering about 200 and they have thus far captured all the trains that have reached the junction of the Erie and Lehigh Valley Railroad.

R. R. Meeting.

CLEVELAND, March 4.—At the election of Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis R. R., to-day, thirteen and a half millions of stock was voted out of a capital of fifteen millions.

In the Supreme Court.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The Tribune says a case will be argued in the Supreme Court of this State for this county next Saturday, in which the U. S. Government will be placed in an attitude of lending public funds to sustain the credit of a private banking house while receiving as security property, the title of the borrowers in part of which was questionable and relations of the borrower to all of which were of such a nature that the leading private banking houses did not consider it good security.

Fire.

The fire at Bainhall last night burned the panorama of the Pilgrim's Progress.

Failures.

Four large Government bonded warehouses have failed this week, owing to the falling off in the imports since the panic of last September.

Libel Suit.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines has entered a suit against Caleb Cushing, claiming $200,000 for libel, stating in one of the recent bills filed by Mr. Cushing, he charges her with making a wanton and grossly malicious accusation of himself. Judge Paschal brings the suit for Mrs. Gaines.

CUBA.

Reported.

HAVANA, March 4.—Ex-Cuban President Cespedes is reported killed and buried at Santiago.

Horses Saved.

The lives of thousands of horses have been saved during the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half as successful or given such universal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co, is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., Proprietors for Canada, Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 2491

Is the mind a ponderable or an imponderable substance; an essence, vapor, or an 'indescribable something which cannot be grasped, felt, or withheld? Man thinks, studies, invents, tires the brain by overwork, and loses his reason; rests his intellect, becomes calm, uses restoratives; and again thinks. When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphities, we cannot but conclude that the subtle power is really ponderable matter, from the fact that the ingredients are supplied which render it support and give it vitality. Persons who study hard should preserve their balance of power by using the Syrup. 2505

DR. WHEELER'S Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya.

SANDY CREEK, Aug. 31st, 1872.

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you I have been for two years using LARGELY in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anæmic women, of whom we have so many, and in cases convalescing from prostrating diseases, I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is the remedy.

I am yours truly,

Special attention is drawn to a new feature in Life business, just introduced by this Company,—that of insuring on the half-credit system. By this method, persons who wish to insure for their families an insurance for a large amount, but whose present income, though improving, will not admit of it, or persons in business who wish to utilize their funds to the fullest extent, and cannot therefore spare the necessary premiums for a large life policy, can insure $5,000 for the same amount of premiums as is required for $2,500, the remainder half-premium standing at 6 per cent. interest, as a debt on the policy until paid off.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all tha proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests, or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color, has divested our current politics of half their bygone intensity. However parties may henceforth rise or fall, it is clear that the fundamental principles which have hitherto honorably distinguished the Republicans are henceforth to be regarded as practically accepted by the whole country. The right of every man to his own limbs and sinews—the equality of all citizens before the law—the inability of a State to enslave any portion of its people—the duty of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of this liberty until he forfeits it by crime—such are the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and palsied be the hand which shall seek to displace them! Though not twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of man and the benignant smile of God.

Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and humble from violence and oppression—to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilization—to stimulate Ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economizing Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gains of Industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, the Tribune contributes its zealous, persistent efforts.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially elucidated in its Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful tillers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who has $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as the Tribune. And we aspire to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage enables us to do; and we are resolved that our success of former years shall be exceeded in varied excellence and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our journal better and better, by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us!

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School, Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. . . . They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published, and should very speedily be widely used. The illustrations constitute an admirable feature and add much to the value of the Readers

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for DR. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST

The extraordinary virtues of Dr. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of Dr DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor, Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in which the use of that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

"I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

Dr. Granville F.R.S., Author of the "Spas of Germany."

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the Pale Oil."

Edwin Canton, Esq., F.R.C.S., Surgeon to Charing Cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL sold only in Imperial Half-pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 4s. 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; Capsuled and Labelled with his Stamp and Signature

GENUINE PANCREATINE

PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength. Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, ointments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the label on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

Goods done up with it keep clean much longer, thereby saving time and labor in washing. This is the most economical article that can be used, costing only about three cents to do the ironing of a large family. It gives the Linen such a smooth glossy surface that the dust and dirt will not adhere to it, so that it will keep clear much longer. Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

These periodicals constitute a wonderful miscellany of modern thought, research, and criticism. The cream of all European books worth reviewing is found here, and they treat of the leading events of the world in masterly articles written by men who have special knowledge of the matters treated. The American Publishers urge upon all intelligent readers in this country a liberal support of the Reprints which they have so long and so cheaply furnished, feeling sure that no expenditure for literary matter will yield so rich a return as that required for a subscription to these the LEADING PERIODICALS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

EDINBURGH REVIEW.—The Leonard Scott Publishing Co.'s reprint of the "Edinburgh Review" for January has just reached us through the courtesy of J. Durie & Son, booksellers, of this city, from whom it can be received. The following is a summary of the contents:

'Libraries, Ancient and Modern.' A short account of the history of ancient libraries, and of the nature and circumstances of book-collecting in early times, followed by a survey of the progress made within the past few years by the library of the British Museum and its rivals abroad—an attractive article to biographers. 'Memoir and Letters of Sara Coleridge.' A thorough review of the work, interspersed with many quotations, illustrating the moral and intellectual characteristics of a highly gifted woman. 'The Diplomatic Service.' Dwells mainly on the difficulties with which the younger members of the service have to contend. 'Autobiography of John Stuart Mill.' The most interesting of the many reviews we have seen of this work, written by one who was personally acquainted with the author. It will be no fault of the periodical press if the public fails to form a correct estimate of this distinguished author. 'Ninth Census of the United States' Comments mainly on the Southern States and the effects produced by the war and emancipation. 'Heer's Primeval Life in Switzerland.' Describes the remains of ancient animal and vegetable life that abound in its mountains from base to the very summit. 'Life and Correspondence of the First Earl of Minto.' After a glimpse at the early records of the Elliot family, we have here a condensed narrative of the life of Sir Gilbert Elliot, now better known as the first Earl of Minto. Many interesting details are given connected with his career in Parliament during the anxious times of the American and French Revolutions. For many years Elliot was intrusted with various important foreign missions and embassies; and he was raised to the peerage, with the title of Earl of Minto, as a reward for his services in Corsica. Eventually appointed Governor-General of India, he won no mean place in history by his efficient administration of the Government. 'Results of the Education Act.' 'The Doctrine of the Sacred Heart' suggests that the style and metaphorical language of the worship of the Sacred Heart had possibly their origin in the mystic effusions of the famous Puritan Divine, Thomas Goodwin, the Jesuits only giving the additional body coloring, which Romanism imparts and admits, to the vigorous but less definite outlines traced by the Calvanist. 'Disraeli's Glasgow speeches.' A timely paper, considering the present state of parties in England.

WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE.—The March number of 'Wood's Household Magazine' is a capital one. It opens with an interesting story entitled, 'The Guilding Hand,' by Mrs. H. G. Rowe; following this Joseph Snider gives his 'Experience in the City,' an article which for its simple truth the youth of the land should read to their profit; 'My Prayer' is not a religious sketch as one would suppose from the title, but is a most touching story told in the sincere manner and rough speech of a railroad hand. 'The Weekly Diabolical,' by Karl Kase, aims a sharp and timely blow at sensational literature. 'The Kaiser Frederick,' is one of Mary Hartwell's entertaining stories. In the instalment of 'Misery Jippeau,' H. V. Osborne raps the knuckles of the fashionable clergymen, and buries Penny Post from sight. There are several other articles of merit, and some choice poetry. The Magazine contains six illustrations, including a fine design for a Country School-House. Terms only one dollar a year—with chromo 'Yosemite' one dollar and a-half. Subscriptions may begin with any number.

NEW CITY JOURNAL.—We have just been favoured with the prospectus of a new journal, to be issued every Friday, in the interest of the German population of Ottawa and its vicinity. The first number of The Ottawa Germania will be issued on the 13th of March, and will be printed partly in English and partly in German. It purposes dealing in a general and impartial manner, when discussing the political questions that agitate the country. With a view to making the paper practically useful, the German part of the paper will contain short, practical lessons in the English Language, in the form of letters, which in the English department will be represented by original and practical lessons in the German language, and literature. It promises to establish a system of correspondence by which news from different parts of Germany, England, Canada, and the United States, will be procured. We hail with pleasure the advent of a new journal in our midst, and the more especially so, as it is to be the advocate of the interests of the German population, who have heretofore been without this very essential means of furthering their rights in a new country. This is, we believe, the only German journal as yet published in the Dominion, with perhaps a single exception, and this fact alone will have a tendency to give the new organ something of an influence through the entire country. We wish our new confrere God Speed, and trust that what may at the outset appear a hazardous enterprise, may prove a source of profit to its publishers, and also a benefit to those interests and welfare it is about to promote. It will be under the direction of Prof. Tiepke, well known in Ottawa circles as a litterateur, and this itself will be a guarantee as to the character likely to be given the new journal.

Electricity! Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric Oil!—Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes —"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cents.

The Ottawa Times

SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1874.

Exports for month of February, at the Port of Fort Erie, 1874, $305,609; corresponding month of last year, 1873, $134,733.

Mr. John Haggart, M. P., for South Lanark, is in town, and staying at the Russell House.

Mr. C. A. Ferguron, M. P., for North Leeds and Grenville, is in town and staying at the Union House. He is here preparing to defend a protest said to be filed against his election by the late member, Mr. F. Jones.

Captain Geo. L. Huyshe held his commission in the Rifle Brigade, while in Canada, not the 60th Rifles. He took an active part in the matches of the Metropolitan Rifle Association, when the Brigade was here. He was also one of the English team in the International Match.

We are pleased to observe another great acquisition to the Senate in the appointment of Mr. Joly, the member for Lothbiniere, and present leader of the Opposition in the Local Legislature of Quebec. A considerable amount of talent has lately been introduced into the Senate, shewing a desire on the part of the present Government to raise the character of the Upper House, increase its usefulness, and mark a proper appreciation of personal and political merit.

"MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING."

A great deal of opposition nonsense has appeared within the last few days on the subject of the dismissal of Dr. Strange, of the Kingston Battery, which is denounced with a wordiness and violence such as high treason itself could hardly justify. The doctor's friends take his misfortune more to heart than he probably does himself, since he is alone responsible for it, and must have expected such a result to his labors during the late election. We assume, of course, he was no fool, and must have known he was exposing himself to the risk of deprival of his situation, when he entered upon a course of open, active and determined hostility to the Government, whose employe or official subordinate he was. To suppose him ignorant of the course followed by public servants in Britain and Canada at election times, and which the interest of the service requires, would be to offer a defence of him at the expense of his intelligence, and to cast doubts upon his qualifications for any post demanding average information, let alone good taste and discretion. There is much force in the remark that an official, whose feelings are sufficiently excited or prejudiced to drive him to the work of a partisan, is not the sort of man to attract the confidence of his superiors, whom he has tried to defeat at the polls, or to work very harmoniously with them, even in matters involving the public interest. There is no objection, of course, to any Government employe quietly recording his vote on whatever side; no Minister or person high in authority would be justified in spying into such conduct or punishing it. But there is reason in all things, and when a man takes his situation in his hand, and audaciously or defiantly challenges the notice and disapproval of his superiors, by conduct becoming only an avowed electioneering agent, or Knight Errant, he cannot complain if such exceptional conduct entails exceptional treatment, or fitting chastisement. If one official should act as Dr. Strange has, why not all? Could anything, then, be in worse taste, and more calculated to destroy the discipline of the public service, and produce distrust and enmity between heads of departments and their subordinates, than their mutual conflicts during the elections? Such a scandal could not be tolerated. As a contemporary has well remarked, the present Government may truly be congratulated on their moderation in victory, and consideration for a host of officials, shoved into the departments by the late Ministers for purely party or personal reasons, unconnected with the wants of the public service. Perhaps a weeding process should have begun by this time; but, be this as it may, no Ministry confining itself to the discharge of two or three officers who have offended, as has Dr. Strange, can justly be accused of vindictiveness.

"A DANIEL COME TO JUDGMENT."

Le Canadien and other French Opposition journals have been wofully exercised by the fictitious reports concerning the decisions of the Government in regard to the judicial vacancies in Quebec. Day after day false telegrams from Ottawa and other cities, on this subject, have constituted provocation for our excitable contemporaries, and also texts for indignant comment. The above Quebec organ of Mr. Langevin, with groans and declamation, displayed its horror at such an act as the elevation of Mr. Wilfrid Dorion to the Bench. No attempt was made to show the incompetence of this gentleman for such a position—a feat beyond the power of Le Canadien—but the mere fact of his relationship to the Minister of Justice seemed to it sufficient reason against such a step. Thus a respectable man, and an experienced, able lawyer should have his claims to professional promotion overlooked, by even those in the natural position to know him best, simply because he is connected with them by blood. Was ever such wonderful self-denial exhibited by Mr. Langevin and friends, now so expert at hypocritical affectation? The bare idea of his organs condemning Hon. Mr. Dorion for nepotism is perfectly amazing. Impudence and inconsistency could take no bolder flight. Mr. Langevin, of all men, talk of nepotism! Why, his offences in this direction made him the reproach of his party and the country, and the laughing-stock of all not serious enough to lay to heart the evil results of crowding the departments with incompetent relations, "to the third and fourth generation," as the common phrase ran in Quebec. It used to be sarcastically remarked, as a kind of parody of one of the most amusing sayings of Artemus Ward, that Mr. Langevin, having provided for all his own relations, was determined to look after his wife's, so that no tit-bit or "soft-thing," as the slang goes, in the way of patronage, should be lost. Common report was not far astray in crediting the ex-Minister of Public Works with unselfish efforts in this direction up to the moment of his fall. He and his connections must have experienced similar feelings to those of the patriot who thanked God he had a country to sell—"a country to fasten on" would be the suitable expression for them. But all this virtuous indignation with Mr. Dorion was uncalled for, as he had not appointed his brother at the time of its display. A little moderation and truthfulness would be a needful change with some of the Opposition organs, short of material for use against the Government. They are often too fast, but in these cases furnish fine indications of the spirit by which they are actuated. Observance of the old country maxim, "never howl till you're bit," would save them often from a ridiculous position

RAILROADS TO THE BACK COUNTRY.

The discussion in the Ontario Legislature, on the motion by Mr. McCall, for copies of all papers that had passed between the promoters of the Victoria Railway and the Ministry, or public departments, was very interesting. There can be no doubt that the speakers, Messrs. McCall, Boultbee, Lauder and Wood, treated the above enterprise with great favor, evincing in regard to the reasonable encouragement of all such works, a commendable spirit. The compliment paid Mr. Wood, through whose county a considerable portion of the proposed railway would pass, in reference to his able advocacy of it, was well deserved. Perhaps Mr. Mowat included the other gentlemen in his remarks, which seemed quite appropriate on personal as well as public grounds. We have already noticed this scheme, which, though brought up too late, or under other circumstances forbidding action thereon this session, is likely to attract much attention hereafter, if not to command the practical aid of the Legislature at no distant day. The object of the promoters seems to be the running of the road past Lindsay, Peterborough and other settlements on that line, and thence through the Free Grant district to Lake Nipissing and the head waters of the Ottawa. Thus connection would be made with the various branch roads debouching on Lake Ontario, and serving Hamilton, Toronto, Port Hope, Cobourg and other towns. The products of the back country would be promptly carried to the various markets on the front, while the large bodies of lumbermen working in the North and Upper Ottawa, could easily be supplied with all necessaries from the marts bordering Lake Ontario, or the settlements in rear. The friends of the Victoria Railway lay great stress upon their prospects in connection with the lumber regions, correctly assuming that they would furnish it much trade both ways. Supplies at the shanties now cost a great deal, aggravating the lumberer's difficulties, to which the time and money spent in forwarding his products to market, are material contributors. No doubt, moreover, the immense wilderness region between the furthest line of the present back settlements and Nipissing and French River, would remain long unsettled if not opened up by a railway. There is nothing so encouraging to the pioneer or immigrant as the scream of the locomotive. It brings him news from the outer world, and constitutes the strongest bond of connection between it and him, while always suggestive of the best facilities for trade or travel. In the present instance, the Ontario Governments is asked for grants of money and land, the railway advocates being aware of the reduced condition of the surplus, and the liabilities of the Province for just such promising public works. Land there is to give in abundance, and if the road can be completed by means of this mixed aid, there can be no doubt the ungranted domain of the Province in this vicinity will sell at prices adequate to its liberal compensation for preliminary sacrifices. The Company urge this point strongly, instancing the sale of land along some of the present new northern railways at two dollars an acre, for which ten cents an acre could not be previously obtained. Besides, a fine mineral region would be opened up, as also connection with the eastern section of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and probably the roads now creeping up the Ottawa, or hereafter to be carried through its valley. Mr. Mowat, while admitting the importance of the enterprise, said naturally enough that the Government in view of its existing obligations, could not decide upon its policy with regard to the Victoria Railway offhand, but would require some time for reflection. In other words, nothing could be done this session, though the matter should not be lost sight of. This is a prudent course, in view of the claim upon Ontario of $100,000 a year for assistance to such enterprises. It is to be hoped, however, that anything that can reasonably de done for the benefit of these roads into the interior, will be set about cheerfully. If the Upper Ottawa railways be pushed forward vigorously, our city will be a gainer by the Victoria to no trifling extent.

It is highly gratifying to learn, by the cable, that Sir Garnet Wolseley's army is safe, on its way to the Coast with the King of the Ashantees a prisoner. The recent anxiety in all quarters is now happily dispelled, and all fears as to the future may be banished in a few days when the army takes passage for England. The Ashantee host is reported annihilated so that the only source of danger to the British will be the climate. No doubt the district will be left behind as soon as preparations for embarkation can be effected. It is probable the West India regiments with a small force of white troops, and friendly Africans are all that will be left in charge of the Gold Coast stations.

It is pleasant to learn that an investigation into the management of the Montreal Post Office is shortly to take place. Messrs. Mercier, of St. Hyacinthe, Parmelee, of Waterloo, and Dewe, Post Office Inspector, are named for the duty, which has been decided upon, it is asserted, in obedience to the request of citizens of Montreal, including some or all of the gentlemen connected with the publication of the Pope-Macdonald letter. It is desirable to ascertain, if possible, how it miscarried, and who were at fault in the matter, and we are already assured that some of the parties so severely and unjustly taken to task by partisan journals and politicans in distress, for their action in making known the contents of the letter in question, are among the most anxious for the clearing up of the mystery. This disposition is at any rate an evidence of conscious innocence and good faith. The Herald states that the petitioners believe the identity of the thief was announced both to the Minister who forwarded the letter and him to whom it was addressed, and asks why the offender was not proceeded against. If this be true, the affair is rendered still more suspicious; and the argument for an enquiry strengthened. Recent difficulties and defalcations in the office also call for a strict investigation. All will remember that the letter-theft was a perfect God-send to the Opposition, who dinned it into the ears of the people incessantly throughout the elections, striving to connect the Ministers with the offence, and to offset the Pacific Scandal with its pigmy proportions.

"A MODEL CHURCH."

Friendly or polite criticism of church parties and services is allowable enough, and when differences of opinion have arisen as to any changes in the views of the one, or the manner of conducting the other, comment always commands a certain amount of interest. But the spirit of irreverence is unfortunately too common at present, and the phraseology it employs in dealing with ecclesiastical subjects, or personages, is often offensive, calculated to bring sacred things into contempt, if not so intended. We regret the style of the following language used in the description of a recent service at St. Alban's Church, against which many will protest as unjust, particularly that portion referring to the choir. Its members are gentlemen deserving of different treatment. If the Western writer disliked St. Alban's service, he might have found other language in which to express his feelings.

"Our editorial friend of the Ontario Reformer—who, by the way, was Managing Editor of the Ottawa Free Press while we were connected with it—recently paid a visit to the Capital, the scenes of his former labors. While there on the Sabbath, he "went to church" of course—most editors do—and he thus speaks of the services of St. Alban's Church:—

'St. Alban's always had the name of being especially a 'high church,' but it is only lately that it has succeeded in educating the prejudice of the parishioners to forget the primitive simplicity of the Church of England. The service was opened by a sound of chanting proceeding from without the church which after a time ceased, when the vestry door opened revealing a procession headed by the Rev. T. Bedford Jones, in full canonicals, and after him a string of persons numbering perhaps twenty, clad after the manner of Shacknasty Jim when captured by the U. S. troops, that is to say, with their boiled linen outside their clothes, looking for all the world like a body of gents turned out in the middle of the night in their bed-gowns, by an unexpected alarm of fire. Among these choristers we recognized several well-known "hard seeds" about town, looking in their white robes, in the chancel very much as a sheep might be expected to do in wolf's clothing. The space inside the chancel stalls, altar, &c., was gorgeously decorated, and presented the appearance of a Roman Catholic Church at High Mass, wax candles, etc., included. The good old service of the church was murdered by the curate in a dismal howling, supposed to be "chanting," in which manner the whole service is conducted. The whole proceedings were as hollow and artificial and hypocritical as it is possible for any such sham to be. There was neither the devoutness of the true Catholic, nor the simple earnestness of the true Episcopalian, but a shallow mockery, in which each actor seemed to feel miserably conscious of his part. We never mean to go to the St. Alban's Church again, until the "money changers are cast out of the temple."—Newmarket Courier.

SAD BEREAVEMENT.—The family of Mr. J. H. Fulford, formerly of Easton's Corners but now residing at L'Original, have met with sad affliction during the past week About six days ago their four children were taken down with diptheria and since that time their eldest son and only daughter aged respectively 15 and 9 years have been taken from them by death. The remains will be brought to Easton's Corners for burial. Mr. Fulford's many friends will doubtless feel deep sympathy with him and his family in this the hour of their bereavement. The remaining two children are slowly recovering.

GRIEVANCE ON GEORGE STREET.—The people of George street are truly a patient lot; for years they have asked for the covering of the By-Wash, but as yet, nothing has been done. The starting of the drainage, however, shortly will remove that great eyesore from the public gaze. Another improvement, however, is being sought, and one with which they will not be quite so patient. A platform is wanted on the south side of said street, between Dalhousie and Cumberland streets, a small favor, which it is to be hoped will be granted old citizens in that locality by the Board of Works.

Smokers! For a good smoke, use the Myrtle Navy. See T. & B. on each plug.

CITY AND VICINITY.

ODDFELLOWS.—The Ogdensburg Lodge of I. O. O. F., celebrated its 27th anniversary on Friday evening.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH—Cornelius Carolin, omnibus driver for the Seymour House, Ogdensburg, was killed by being thrown from the omnibus on Saturday last.

A SOCIAL.—A tea meeting was held in W. M. Church, Farmersville, on Wednesday evening last, from which the sum of $160 dollars was realized.

THOSE CABBIES.—The carters of Brockville are petitioning the Corporation of that place, praying for an increase in the tariff. Don't they wish they may get it.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS — A gang of men are employed repairing the B. & O. Railway Wharf at Brockville. They purpose rebuilding the entire front of the wharf, to meet the growing trade of the Company.

ICE BRIDGE.—The channel of the St. Lawrence is now open from Brockville to Ogdensburg. Above the town from Big Island to the American shore the river is entirely open.

EFFECTS OF THE THAW.—The inhabitants of Brockville, are complaining of their cellars being flooded in consequence of the late thaws. Let them take consolation from the fact that their neighbors suffer from a like infliction.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.—The attention of our readers is directed to the Church Directory in another column. It embraces all the places of public worship in the city, the hours of service, and names of officiating clergyman.

PERSONAL.—The Chief of the City Fire Brigade arrived from the West yesterday morning, after making a careful inspection of the working of the steamers and fire brigades of Toronto, Whitby and Oshawa. He will make a report to the proper authorities in a few days.

REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—The Rev. Mason Gallagher, D. D., will (D. V.) hold Divine Service in the Court House, Daly street, on Sunday next, the 8th instant. Morning at 11 o'clock; evening at seven o'clock. Worshippers will bring with them the book of common prayer. Hymns will be provided.

PROBABLE FRESHET.—The water in the Rideau, near McLaren's Bridge, is open and the ice is piling up against the bridge. The people of New Edinburgh are dreading the Spring, when they expect an unusually high freshet. The city Corporation had better see to it that the Ottawa street Bridge is fixed ere it be, too late and lose the structure entirely.

LEGAL.—It is with pleasure we note the fact of the Hon. John O'Connor, Q. C., having commenced the practice of his profession in the capital of the Dominion. Mr. O'Connor has a high reputation at the bar of western Ontario; and his accession to our locality will have a tendency to contribute materially to the talent of the Ottawa bar. He succeeds Mr. Wm. Mosgrove, having taken that gentleman's office, for the practice of his profession in this city.

The trot on the ice, near the Marine Railway, Ogdensburgh, Saturday, drew a large crowd. Four heats were made. The race was won by Mr. Hutchison's White Face Kitty. The following is the score.—

White Face Kitty	2	1	1	1
Bay Billy	3	2	2	2
Black Flora	1	3	3	3
Black Diamond	4	4	4	4

Time: First heat lost; 3 40; 3 35; 3 35.

PERSONAL.—The Rev. Mason Gallagher, D.D. of the Reformed Episcopal Church of New York, accompanied by his lady, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and is staying at the Russell House. Mr. W. H. Alexander met the rev. gentleman at Prescott, and escorted the party to Ottawa. They were met at the depot by Z. Wilson, Esq., Collector of Customs, Ald. Rowe and others, who accompanied the rev. gentleman and his lady to the Russell House. At the latter place they were received by Mr. W. A. MacAgy and others, who made all necessary arrangements for their comfort during their short stay in the city.

A NEW KIND OF LAMP.—Last night the corner of Elgin and Sparks Streets, was the resort of many scientific as well as other men to witness a new kind of gas lamp affixed to a telegraph pole at the corner of Bangs' Block. At first it seemed to have a connection with the city gas pipes, but upon closer examination, this turned out to be an erroneous impression. At the back of the lamp there is a sort of tin box capable of containing a sufficient quantity of gas to feed the appended burner for one night. It is truly a novel idea, and is well worth while the consideration of the Fire and Light Committee, with a view to its use in the back streets, instead of those miserable coal oil lamps.

GLOUCESTER ROAD COMPANY.—A meeting of the Ottawa and Gloucester Road Company, was held in the Union House, on Thursday afternoon, Mr. E. McGillivray, President in the chair. A deputation composed of Messrs. Dickinson, Eddy, Blair, Williams, Mansfield and Dunlop, from the townships of Gloucester and North Gower and the Village of Manotick, waited on the company with a view to having a branch road run from Billing's Bridge up the Rideau to North Gower by way of Manotick. The company have promised to take the matter into their immediate consideration, and purpose giving an engineer instructions to make a survey of the proposed route. Should the report prove at all favorable, the work will be undertaken without much serious delay.

KEEN CURLING.—Yesterday, in accordance with a previous arrangement, the Ottawa Dominion team appointed to play a Curling Match for the Governor General's Gold Medal, assembled in the Rink at Rideau Hall. The following persons comprised the Ottawa curlers on the occasion, and succeeded in making the score annexed; George Hutchinson, 20 points; Allan Gilmour, 18 points; Thos. Gallagher, 17 points; N. Moore, 17 points; John Thorburn, 16 points; Henry Inglis, 13 points; Dr. Bently, 12 points; and J. D. Wallace, 12 points; scoring a total of 125 points. His Excellency, Earl of Dufferin attended throughout the entire game, and the Countess also evinced an interest in the match by honoring the players with her presence. Ottawa is ahead so far, but there is many a slip between the cup and the lip, and as there are some queer chiels in Montreal, our Curlers may yet lose their laurels. Quebec came very close having made the fine score of 124 points.

SAD AFFAIR.—A misfortune has befallen our friend, Mr. W. Champness, of the "British Lion Hotel," in the loss of a fine span of horses worth about four hundred dollars. This however is nothing as compared with the suffering endured by the men, who along with the horses broke into the ice up the Ottawa some miles above the Mattawa. It seem that a man named James Walsh was deputed to make a survey of some timber limits up the Ottawa; and for that purpose had engaged a team from Mr. Champness and the services of a driver named Frank Albert. Having got through their mission in that far distant region, they were returning homewards on Wednesday last, when all at once, the ice gave way, and they were precipitated into the river. The ostler, Frank, struggled with all his might to save the horses and was seconded in his efforts by Mr. Walsh, but their endeavors were in vain, and nearly cost both of them their lives. Mr. Walsh had one foot frozen, and Frank had both feet up to the knees terribly frozen, in fact, so much so that, it is feared, both legs will have to be amputated above the knees. Mr. Champness cares nothing for the horses as compared with the man whom he deemed a favorite around the livery stable.

The Ottawa Races.

FIRST DAY.

Thursday afternoon the Bank Street Road was all bustle and excitement, it being the opening day of the Annual Winter Trotting Races on Mutchmor Park. The weather was propitious, and just cold enough to place the track in excellent condition for trotting. The judges on the occasion were Messrs. R. P Young, W. Champness, M. McNaughton and Robert Graham, and the track was under the management of Mr. E. C. Barber.

The Railroad Purse of $50—open to all horses owned in Ottawa, that never trotted for money—$35 to first horse; $10 to 2nd, and $5 to 3rd. There were four entries for this race—Renaud's 'Clementine,' Baldwin's 'Syringe,' Graham's 'Gold Dust' and Champness' 'Lady Kate.' The first heat was an exciting one the horses keeping well together until the finish, when 'Syringe' made a spurt, winning by a few lengths, followed by 'Clementine' 'Gold Dust and 'Lady Kate' distanced. Time 3.01½. The second heat was won by 'Syringe' in 3 01. The third, however, was taken by 'Clementine' in 3.05, 'Syringe' having made a bad break a short distance from the start The fourth was taken easily by 'Syringe' in 3 10, which entitled him to victory. In the third heat 'Gold Dust' withdrew from the contest.

The next race was for the Proprietors' Purse of $125, open to all horses that never beat three minutes—$85 to first horse; $25 to 2nd and $15 to 3rd. The entries were 'Ottawa Chief,' 'Lady Jane.' 'Captain Jack' and 'Victory.' This race was well contested, but it was apparent from the first that 'Captain Jack' would come out victorious, 'Victory' appearing too light for the contest, 'Lady Jane' being given to frequent breaking, and 'Ottawa Chief' lacking in speed. 'Victory' won the first heat, 'Lady Jane' the second, and 'Captain Jack' the third, fourth and fifth. Time—2.46½, 2.42½, 2.40, 2.42 and 2 43.

This race all through was very exciting, and betting changed frequently on the result, 'Captain Jack' being first choice in some and 'Lady Jane' in others.

This concluded the afternoon's sport. The attendance was very good, and the best of feeling prevailed.

SECOND DAY.

Yesterday, the excitement of the previous day continued. The sporting fraternity were largely represented, and they evinced a considerable interest in the day's proceedings.

The Butcher's Purse of $50, open to all horses owned in Ottawa that never won money, opened the ball yesterday. There were eight entries:—Renaud's 'Clementine,' Richardson's 'Nellie Gray,' Coleman's 'Syringe,' Smith's 'Jennie,' Thomas' 'Snowball,' Graham's 'Gold Dust,' Connolly's 'Lady Carleton,' and Champness' 'Lady Kate.' This race might be said to have been altogether between 'Clementine' and 'Syringe,' for in the first heat all the rest were distanced. 'Clementine' took the first heat, but the next three heats were taken by 'Syringe.'

The Albion Hotel Purse of $125, not being filled, was left over till to-day.

The next race was the finest race of the day, it being the City Purse of $100, open to all horses that never beat 2.45, and for a distance of five miles. There were five entries: Ives' 'Bullet,' Connolly's 'Lady Jane,' Huntingdon's 'Kitty Smith,' Graham's 'Gold Dust,' Joe Brown' and 'Plug.' There was intense interest in this match, and considerable tin must have changed hands, as the horse that was favorite in the pools, 'Bullet,' was beaten by 'Lady Jane.' 'Lady Jane' won in the extraordinary good time of 13m. 58s. 'Bullet' came in a good second, but the rest were nowhere.

We cannot close without complimenting Mr. Samuel D. Page, the pool seller, for the honest and straightforward manner in which he carried out his part of the programme.

THIRD DAY.

This afternoon will terminate proceedings. The following programme is in store for those who may be disposed to pay Mutchmor Park a visit in the course of the day.

HOTEL KEEPERS PURSE OF $225.

Open to all.

Mr. T. Ives' b 9 'Lew Ives.'
Mr. W. H. Mitchell's b. 9 'Harry Mitchell.'
Mr. F. Farnum's br. h. 'Dread.'
Mr. W. Fanning's b. m. 'Eva.'
Mr. J. James' s. h. 'Major King.'

LUMBERMEN'S PURSE.

Mr. Therien's bl. m. 'Victory.'
Mr. E. Chevrier's br. h. 'Ottawa Chief.'
Mr. E. Connolly's br. m. 'Lady Jane,'

FIVE MILE PURSE $100.

Entries were made last night at the Albion Hotel for this race, so that on the whole the last day's sport will be the best of all.

FRIDAY, March 6.

A case of selling liquor without license was called, but the defendant did not appear, and Mr. McVeitty explained that he had cleared out.

POETRY.

The following verses, by Carroll Ryan, appear in the "Maritime Monthly," for March. Their merit may be generally acknowledged, though critics may employ different language in its description. The old eastern picture, so prettily presented in musical verse, will make an agreeable impression on any reader possessed of a shred of poetical sentiment. The poem grows in interest with the flow of its fancies, ending well—the true test—with a living, natural subject, suggestive of light, pleasure, and that sacred passion which all poets seem to feel so strongly, as a motive power and source of inspiration:

STRADA SAN GIOVANNI.

'Tis a quiet little byway,
Steep and rugged as Parnassus,
Leading from the noisy highway
Filled with Carbonari asses.
Lofty houses lean above it,
Whispering like neighbors canny;
Still in memory I love it—
Dingy Strada San Giovanni.

Shrined in niches on the corners,
Saints and martyrs smile down grimly,
On the unbelieving scorners
Stalking through the twilight dimly.
Going no one knoweth whither,
By the Casa Frangipani,
Where the votive flowers wither

When the summer days were weary
With the breathings of Sirocco,
Blowing with persistence dreary,
Red and sultry from Morocco,
Pleasant was that shady alley,
When there were not passers many,
Like an ancient cliff-walled valley—
Lonely Strada San Giovanni.

With her cushion, making laces,
Deftly working, like a fairy,
Fairest of the island graces,
Little Anna Camellieri
Sat upon the doorstep singing,
Giving little heed to any,
To and fro her bobbins flinging
In old Strada San Giovanni.

Gentle, dark-eyed, little maiden,
Dream of unforgotten pleasure,
With her tresses, coin o'erladen,
All her dowry and her treasure.
Long ago, while multiplying
Shadows gather thick and many,
Still a sunbeam, time-defying,
Shines in Strada San Giovanni.

15. Montreal	34,449
16. St. Andrews, N. B.	20,100
17. Chatham, N. B	11,456

To-morrow, Saturday, the 6th, the Local Legislature of New Brunswick are to enjoy a ride to Woodstock over the Riviere du Loup Railway.

The Customs duties paid at this port last month amounted to $34,696. Last year the February receipts were but $29,094.

The Fredericton Express says that Mr. John Best, when working in the woods near the head of Cain's River, espied the winter quarters of a bear in a hollow pine, and forthwith plugging the entrance he cut through the tree and killed the bear, which, says the Express, weighed 600 lbs. and measured 6½ feet from tip to tip.

QUEBEC.

Mr. Mousseau, Q. C., has raised a civil action against Messrs. John Dougall & Sons, of the Witness, for defamation of character by libellous articles, published in their paper. The damages are placed at $40,000. The case is still in progress.

News has been received by telegraph from Mr. Chas. Legge, Chief Engineer of the Montreal Northern Colonization R. R. Co. On Monday evening last he had succeeded in reaching the mouth of the Matawan River, and had discovered a splendid route for a railway on the north shore of the Ottawa River, up to that point. Mr. Legge was to leave on the 3rd inst. for Lake Nipissing and Georgian Bay. Mr. John Poupore, M. P. P., and Mr. Moffatt accompanying him.

MANITOBA.

The Manitoban says that Mr. Howard, formerly of London, Ontario, has received the appointment of City Chamberlain, by an almost unanimous vote of the Winnipeg corporation. It feels assured that the Council has secured the services of a gentleman whose past record will fully justify his appointment, and meet with the approval of the citizens at large.

A Manitoba exchange says that four of the New Brunswick volunteers attempted to desert, but failed. They were tried by court martial and sentenced to one year's imprisonment with hard labor, and to be deprived of their land grant.

The quiet calm of last Sabbath morning was disturbed about 7.30 a.m. by the hoarse cry of "Fire!" and many of our citizens were hurried from their warm couches slightly earlier than usual by that sound which is fraught with so much terrible significance to the inhabitants of Winnipeg. Upon proceeding to the scene of the conflagration, we found that the building doomed to destruction was the old Liberal office, and at present occupied downstairs by Mr. Lecourt, Government Architect, and upstairs by Mr. Frank Lynn, as a studio. The flames spread with such rapidity that Mr. Lecourt, had barely time to escape with his life, losing all his personal property, and upstairs a number of valuable and interesting sketches by Mr. Lynn, including an oil portrait just finished, of Mr. Carey, the Prothonotary, fell a prey to the devouring element, together with his colors, brushes, etc. In fact nothing was saved, and the whole building, being uninsured, may be looked upon as a total loss. Once or twice Cronn's Club House, the kitchen of which is immediately adjacent to the burning building, seemed in imminent danger of sharing a like fate, but unfortunately the wind was blowing the flames away from the adjoining buildings, and by great exertions the fire was confined to the spot in which it started. The property belonged to Dr. Schultz, and was valued at about $800.

On the evening after the elections in Marquette a dance was held in a house at White Mud River, and during an altercation which took place between two men named Demarais and West, the former drew a knife and stabbed West in the side. Wa have not been able to ascertain whether any fatal results have followed, owing to conflictory reports. Mr. West was for some time a resident of Winnipeg.

The young man named Kirk, who lately had his hands and feet frozen, and who is now in the hospital at the expense of the St. George's Society, is injured so much that it will be necessary to amputate his hands.

J. W. Taylor, Esq., the much respected Consul for the United States, left here last week for Washington. In his absence A. N. Carpenter, Esq., the Vice-Consul, will transact the consulate business with that urbanity for which he is noted.

His Excellency the Governor-General, by virtue of a commission under the Great Seal, has confirmed the appointments by the North-West Council, of some forty gentlemen as Justices of the Peace in the North-West.

PRINCE EDWARD'S ISLAND.

The Charlottetown Examiner speaks of Mr. Peter Bollom, of lot 49, who died lately at the age of one hundred and six years. The old gentleman was hale and hearty up to a few days before his death.

The Charlottetown, P.E.I., Evening News says: "On Sunday evening while Mr. John C. Lane, a farmer on East River, with his wife and child, were on their way down the ice on the Hillsboro' River, they came upon an air hole on their way in the ice. The horse and sleigh broke through and was submerged, together with all three of the persons. Mr. Lane extricated himself, caught his child and placed the little thing upon a cake of ice while he would rescue his wife, who was struggling in the water. While he was assisting her the child rolled off the ice, and was seen no more. His efforts to save the mother was also unavailing, and she was drowned also. Her body was recovered, but that of the child has not been found up to this date. Mr. Lane has only been married one year. The child was but six weeks old.

Incendiarism is quite prevalent in Charlottetown On Wednesday night last, at 12 o'clock, an attempt was made to burn the house of Wm. McLaren, Esq. The inmates of the house were awakened by the cries of their child, when it was discovered that there was smoke in the room and that the cellar was on fire. It appears that kerosene oil had been poured upon some straw in the cellar, and then set fire to. Had not the fire been detected when it was, the building would certainly have been destroyed.

NEELIN BROS. have just received a new stock of shirts, collars and ties. 2497

ST PATRICK'S ASYLUM.—The drawing of prizes which was postponed on account of the death of His Lordship Bishop Guigues will take place on Monday evening next at five o'clock in the St. Patrick's Asylum, corner of Maria and Hugh streets. Persons holding books will please make their returns before Saturday evening.

RICH. DEVLIN,

Local Legislature.

TORONTO, March 6.

The Speaker took the chair at 3.15.

Before orders of the day were called, Mr. Lauder drew attention to the report of the Public Accounts Committee in the Globe, in which it was stated that Mr. Hardy had used indecent and disorderly language and that Mr. Cameron and Mr. Richards agreed with this remark. He complained particularly of the latter statement, though neither were true.

Mr. Richards said he had not made use of the language attributed to him.

After some further remarks from Messrs McLeod, Hardy and Rykert, the matter was dropped.

The Attorney General moved the third reading of the bill respecting benevolent, provident and other societies.

Mr Merrick opposed the bill on the ground that it gave the right to all manner of societies to incorporate. It gave dangerous power to companies to lock up lands; it was also more expensive, as ten or twelve dollars each for the 1,000 or so lodges in the Province, would be a heavy burden on the resources of society. He moved that the bill be read this day three months.

Mr. Deacon opposed the bill, considering that it granted power to other societies to incorporate without proper restrictions.

Mr. Farewell was in favor of the bill, as he thought it right that other societies as well as Orange should have the privilege of incorporation.

Mr. Monk said that he probably represented a county with more and larger Orange lodges than any other member. He said a resolution was passed at his County Lodge which said, "that this L. O. Lodge of the County of Carleton is unanimous in the approval of the bill introduced in the last session or the Ontario Legislature, to incorporate the L. O. Association, and that nothing short of a bill of the same nature will satisfy the said L. O. County Lodge; and the said County Lodge repudiates with contempt the general bill about to be introduced."

Mr. Boultbee opposed the bill.

Mr. Robinson supported the Government measure.

Mr. Hodgins thought the bill should pass to allow other societies to incorporate.

Mr. Boulton opposed the bill.

Hon. Mr. Cameron opposed the bill and looked upon it as an affront to all Protestants of Ontario.

AFTER RECESS.

Several Private Bills were advanced a stage.

The debate on the Benevolent Societies Incorporation Bill was resumed by the Hon. Mr. Cameron, who declared that his reason for the introduction of the bill was to enable the Government to get out of the difficulty caused by the rejection of the Orange Bill last session. He considered it a great evil that any religious body should be able to influence the Government so far as to bring about a dangerous legislation of this kind.

Hon. Mr. Mowat could not see any danger in the provisions of the bill which were similar to those passed in England in 1862.

Mr. Richards said that when the Attorney General entered political life his leader was engaged in vilifying Catholics in the Globe, and the Hon. Mr. Mowat himself voted for the Orange Bills last session, but having shaken hands with the Roman Catholics, had got rid of them in another way, and had introduced this measure because his Catholic friends present and his late colleagues would not let him pass the Orange Bills.

Mr. Lauder protested against religious denominations being recognized separately in political matters.

The amendment of Mr. Merrick was then lost. Yeas, 24; nays, 36; and a third reading was carried on the same division.

The House went into Committee on the Bill to amend and consolidate the law for the Sale of intoxicating Liquors.

Several amendments were made, and the Committee then rose.

On motion of the Hon. Mr. Mowat, the House again went into Committee on the Ballot Bill, which was reported. Leave to sit again was given.

The Hon. Mr Mowat moved a second reading of the Ballot Bill. He proposed to abolish the revenue derived by the Government from licenses, and to substitute certificates for licenses, and an affidavit for a bond, and to reduce the fee for a license to two dollars, and publications of banns to once instead of three times.

After a brief discussion the Bill was read a second time.

The Hon. Mr. Mowat then moved a second reading of the Bill respecting Industrial Schools, which was carried.

A few other measures of slight importance were advanced a stage.

The House adjourned at mid-night.

Meeting of Lumbermen—Fell in the Ice.

A large meeting of the lumbermen took place in this city yesterday, at which complaints were made of want of accomodation afforded to the lumber traffic on the Northern Railway.

The object of the meeting was to consider what action may best be taken to correct the injuries caused by the inability of the Northern Railway to furnish prompt and sufficient transportation of lumber, the lumber merchants considering, as the Northern Railway Company had publicly notified its intention to seek legislation at the ensuing session of the Dominion Legislature, that this was a proper and promising time for taking action in the promotion of their interests. Among those present were Alderman W Colwell, Clements; Messrs S R Briggs, S C Kanady, Thompson Smith, A Prentice, Peter Scott, J R Sullivan, J S Peckham, S Yale, J H Hatton, S Shortreed, T P Darr, S S Mutton, J Van Nostrand, G Mutton, G Randolph, N J Jenkins, F P G Taylor, N Hilburn, A M Sutherland.

The ice broke on the bay this morning under a number of men with a team, employed in carting ice. The men and horses were only got out with great difficulty.

This forenoon has cleared all the ice out of the bay.

Hon. Mr. McKellar made a very clear statement before the Public Accounts Committee this morning. He said he wrote to Mr. Wagner saying that the men at the Central Prison might have a half holiday on nomination day, if they so desired it, as he only thought it fair that they should have an opportunity of forming an opinion before voting, and as he did not think the Government ought to be more ill-liberal than other large employers. He directed that they should be paid for the half day they were away. He denied having used any political influence whatever in any way.

The Hon. Mr. Fraser's presence on the Public Accounts Committee greatly improved its tone this morning.

Mr. Lauder was much quieter than usual.

MONTREAL.

Lunatics—Customs—Accident—Bank du Peuple—Personal.

MONTREAL, March 6th.

Fifteen lunatics were forwarded to Beauport Asylum from the jail yesterday.

Receipts at the Montreal Custom House yesterday, $18,235.13.

A young man named Smith, residing in Seigneurs street, employed at Smith's thrashing machine factory, St. Gabriel's Locks, had the four fingers of his right hand cut off yesterday morning by a circular saw close to the palm, the thumb was also badly hurt and it is feared that it will have to be amputated.

The annual meeting of the Bank du Peuple was held on the 2nd inst. The paid up capital now amounts to $1,600,000. The profits of the year have been about 10 per cent on the capital, or $160,000, out of which two dividends of 4 per cent have been paid, and the balance added to the "Rest," which is now $211,400, of which $40,000 is represented by the bank's new building on Little St. James street. Messrs. J. Leclaire, G. A. Green, and N. Valois, were elected auditors for the ensuing year.

The Montreal public who travel so constantly to England by the s.s. 'Prussian' of the Allan Line, will miss the familiar and jovial face of the chief officer, Mr. W. Bennett, who has just left the Messrs. Allan, having received the appointment of Captain of the s. s. 'Quebec,' late 'City of Dublin,' now belonging to the Dominion Line. Captain Bennett is an acquisition to the Dominion Line, as he leaves the Allan Line with the best of characters, both as a sober and gentlemanly officer and a thorough navigator, and we have no doubt that ere long Captain Bennett will, by his character and ability make the s. s. 'Quebec' one of the most popular steamers plying between Liverpool and Quebec in the coming summer.

GASPE.

GASPE, March 5.

Intelligence received this evening at Matane gives Mr. Harper, Conservative, a majority of fifty votes in the township of Capchatte, Mont Louis and Ste. Anne Desmontes, making him elected by a majority of about forty-five in the whole county.

BELLE VILLE.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 5.

Last evening a Joint Committee of the Town Council and the Board of Trade met Mr. C. J. Brydges at this town for the proposed new works of the Grand Trunk Railway Company in the Central District. The terms offered in behalf of the town were accepted, and the following was agreed on:—The town to grant a bonus of $15,000 for the establishment of the works, which are to cost not less than $200,000, and to give employment to 200 men in addition to the number employed here; work to be begun on the building immediately after the passage of the by-law, and the bonus to be refunded in case the location of the works is hereafter changed.

ENGLAND.

Appointment.

LONDON, March 5.—It is stated that soon after assembling Parliament will adjourn until the 19th inst.

Committed for Trial.

Jean Luie, the claimant's witness in the Tichborne case, was to day fully committed for trial on the charge of perjury. Large crowds filled and surrounded the court rooms in the expectation of seeing the claimant himself on this occasion, but the latter was not allowed to appear in the court. Andrew Boyle, an old negro servant of the Tichborne family, and one of the strongest witnesses for the claimant, has become hopelessly ill since the verdict rendered against Orton.

Spanish Affairs.

A special to the Times from Bayonne contains the following intelligence obtained from Carlist sources:—"Don Carlos has announced that it is not his intention to impose a contribution upon the population of Bilboa when that place is taken. On his entrance into the city he will proceed to the cathedral and be crowned King of Spain. He will swear to support the liberties of the people, and will constitute a government with General Elio as President of the Council. An appeal will be made to foreign powers to recognise the legitimacy of the Carlists. He will declare Spaniards exempt from allegiance to any other government than his own. He will draw five million dollars as a first instalment of the loan previously contracted.

Riots in Poland.

A correspondent of the Daily News at St. Petersburg writes, under date of the 25th ult., that serious rioting has occurred in Eastern Poland, in consequence of the closing of the churches. In one place the disorder was so great that the military were called out, and fired on the rioters, killing and wounding 70 persons.

Assembling of Parliament.

The new Parliament assembled to-day. The opening proceedings in the Chamber of Peers were formal and uninteresting. In the House of Commons Mr. Henry Chaplin, Conservative, proposed and Lord Cavendish seconded a motion that the Right Hon. Henry Bouverie Brand, Speaker of the last House, be declared Speaker of the present House. After eulogistic speeches the motion was unanimously carried. The Right Hon. Percy Herbert congratulated the Speaker on behalf of the absent Minister, and Mr. Gladstone tendered him the Compliments of the Opposition. The swearing of members then began. Mr. Gladstone was most warmly received by the Liberal members when he entered the Hall and took his seat on the front Opposition bench.

News at Last.

Despatches have at last arrived from the Gold Coast fully confirming the previous reports of the victory, and expelling the fears which were entertained for the safety of the expedition. The Ashantee King has finally surrendered himself into the hands of the British troops and was a prisoner at General Wolseley's head-quarters.

Ancient Custom.

The search of the Parliament Building which has been customary since the discovery of Guy Fawkes' plot was made this morning before the assembling of the Lords and Commons.

PORTUGAL.

Brazil and the Argentine States.

LISBON, March 5.—The Brazilian mail steamer from Rio Janeiro, Feb. 28, has arrived.

The probability of war with the Argentine States, on account of the new insurrection in Paraguay, was increasing, and there was a general decline of values in consequence. Troops and vessels were going forward to Paraguay. At Buenos Ayres the elections were in progress, and were attended with intense excitement. Troops were being despatched to various points on the frontier, and war with Brazil was looked upon as liable to break out at any moment. Ammunition was arriving from the United States. The cholera continues, and the deaths from this disease average seven daily.

CUBA.

Volunteer Drafts.

HAVANA, March 5.—The remaining detachments of the full drafts of mobilized volunteers left for the field yesterday and to-day.

Aliens.

Senate.—The Committee on Commerce this morning agreed to recommend the passing of a bill allowing aliens who have declared their intention of becoming citizens to be employed as engineers or pilots of steam vessels. The law now limits such employment to American citizens.

A bill to provide uniform registry by the creation of a National Board of Survey and Registration, was acted on adversely.

NEW YORK, March 5.—W. E. Dodge, of Phelps Dodge & Co., made a long statement giving the history of the case in which they paid $271,000 as a compromise, and showing the manner in which the firm had been treated by Janyne and other Government officers. The narration was listened to with much interest by the Committee, and Dodge vindicated the firm from all charges or suspicions of frauds.

Horses Saved.

The lives of thousands of horses have been saved during the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half as successful or given such universal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co, is on each package. Northorp & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., Proprietors for Canada, Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 2491

Is the mind a ponderable or an imponderable substance; an essence, vapor, or an indescribable something which cannot be grasped, felt, or withheld? Man thinks, studies, invents, tires the brain by overwork, and loses his reason; rests his intellect, becomes calm, uses restoratives; and again thinks. When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, we cannot but conclude that the subtle power is really ponderable matter, from the fact that the ingredients are supplied which render it support and give it vitality. Persons who study hard should preserve their balance of power by using the Syrup. 2505

The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you I have been for two years using LARGELY in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anemic women, of whom we have so many, and in cases convalescing from prostrating diseases, I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is the remedy.

SECURITY SHOULD BE THE PRIMARY CONSIDERATION.

This old and favorite Company offers this in its large Capital, and the unlimited liability of the shareholders.

Special attention is drawn to a new feature in Life business, just introduced by this Company,—that of insuring on the half-credit system. By this method, persons who wish to insure for their families an insurance for a large amount, but whose present income, though improving, will not admit of it, or persons in business who wish to utilize their funds to the fullest extent, and cannot therefore spare the necessary premiums for a large life policy, can insure $5,000 for the same amount of premiums as is required for $2,500, the remainder half-premium standing at 6 per cent. interest, as a debt on the policy until paid off.

BONUS.

Persons insuring now, or within the next few weeks, will obtain the benefit of one year's bonus. Tables and all information will be given at the office of the Company, corner Sparks and Elgin streets.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle-age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color, has divested our current politics of half their bygone intensity. However parties may henceforth rise or fall, it is clear that the fundamental principles which have hitherto honorably distinguished the Republicans are henceforth to be regarded as practically accepted by the whole country. The right of every man to his own limbs and sinews—the equality of all citizens before the law—the inability of a State to enslave any portion of its people—the duty of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of this liberty until he forfeits it by crime—such are the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and palsied be the hand which shall seek to displace them! Though not twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of man and the benignant smile of God.

Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and humble from violence and oppression—to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilization—to stimulate Ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economizing Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gains of industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, the Tribune contributes its zealous, persistent efforts.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially lucidated in its Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful tillers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who has $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as the Tribune. And we aspire to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage enables us to do; and we are resolved that our success of former years shall be exceeded in varied excellence and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our journal better and better, by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us!

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. . . . They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published, and should very speedily be widely used. The illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for DR. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Senior Physician to Guy's Hospital.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

"I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Dr. Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

Dr. Granville F.R.S., Author of the 'Spas of Germany.'

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the Pale Oil."

Edwin Canton, Esq., F.R.C.S., Surgeon to Charing Cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL sold only in Imperial Half-pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; Capsuled and Labelled with his Stamp and Signature

GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength. Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, oitments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labell on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

By arrangement with the English Publishers, who receive a liberal compensation.

These periodicals constitute a wonderful miscellany of modern thought, research, and criticism. The cream of all European books worth reviewing is found here and they treat of the leading events of the world in masterly articles written by men who have special knowledge of the matters treated. The American Publishers urge upon all intelligent readers in this country a liberal support of the Reprints which they have so long and so cheaply furnished, feeling sure that no expenditure for literary matter will yield so rich a return as that requires for a subscription to these the LEADING PERIODICALS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Post Office, Ottawa," will be received at this office until Saturday, the 28th day of MARCH next, at noon, for the finishing and completion of the above buildings.

Plans, specifications, &c., can be seen at the office of Walter Chesterton, Esq., architect, Ottawa, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 11th inst., where forms of Tender, &c., and all necessary information can be obtained.

Contractors are notified that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except there are attached the actual signature and the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same.

For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required on real estate, or by deposit of money, public or municipal securities, or bank stocks, to an amount of five per cent. on the bulk sum of the contract.

To the Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the contract.

A sample, of not less than a quart, to accompany each tender. The oil to be delivered in good order in new iron-bound white oak casks, containing from 35 to 48 gallons. Among the late appointments by the new British Government, is that of the Earl of Penbroke, who is to be Under Secretary for the War Department.

The present staff of the British Museum embraces about 400 persons. This patronage, heretofore under the charge of trustees, is to be transferred to the Government.

It is remarkable that the Lord Mayor of London, the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, and the Lord Mayor of Dublin have all three been returned to serve in the new Parliament.

A marriage will shortly take place between Lord R. Churchill, second son of the Duke of Marlborough, and Miss Jeannette Jerome, daughter of Mr. Leonard Jerome, of New York.

Admiral John Balfour Maxwell, on the reserved list, died recently at the age of 73. The deceased admiral entered the navy in November, 1812, on board the 'Doedalus,' 38, commanded by his father. He became rear-admiral in 1857, vice-admiral in 1863, and admiral in 1868.

About a million sterling is the vast loss estimated to have been caused by the destruction of the Pantechnicon, London. The catastrophe is the more lamentable as it has proved very disastrous to many Art treasures belonging to celebrated private galleries and temporarily stored in the buildings.

A colossal bronze statue of John Bunyan, by J. E. Boehm, has been cast at the works of H. Young & Co., art founders, Pimlico. The statue is the gift of the Duke of Bedford to the town of Bedford, and is intended to be placed on a large granite pedestal erected on St. Peter's Green, at the junction of five roads with that town. The likeness is taken from a contemporary painting by Sadler.

From a table issued from Lloyd's, it appears that the number of collisions at sea in 1873 is considerably under the total number in 1872. Last year there were 607 steamers and 1,822 ships in collision, as against 655 steamers and 1,957 ships in 1872. The past year also shows less serious results, as of the total number of collisions 529 ships and 317 steamers received no damage. As compared with the seven previous years, 1873 also shows favorably in ships uninjured, but in steamers there is an increase in the number damaged.

The Warrington Guardian states that Mr. Greenall, the newly-elect M. P. for that town has given £1,000 towards building a new hospital and dispensary.

To the list of notable persons recently deceased must be added the name of Mr. Samuel Burt Howlett, for many years principal surveyor and draughtsman in the Department of War, Pall Mall.

Arrangements similar to those made for the reception of the Princess Alexandra on her landing at Gravesend eleven years ago are in progress for the reception of the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh. The royal pair will proceed in an open carriage to the North Kent Railway Station, the route being lined on each side by Kentish Volunteers.

Electricity! Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric Oil!—Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.Q., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cents.

The Ottawa Times

MONDAY, MARCH 9, 1874.

Judge Sanborn is expected by not a few to prove a good successor to Judge Badgley. Judge Loranger is also likely o give satisfaction in the absence of Judge Monk.

The Liberal cause is very prosperous in Nova Scotia, the three recent elections for the Local Legislature having resulted to its advantage. The Provincial Government enjoys a large majority.

It is stated by some that Mr. Steacy has been excommunicated by Bishop Lewis, for his action in support of the new Protestant Episcopal Church movement, but yesterday that gentleman himself was unable to say whether he had or not, and his demeanour, at least, afforded no evidence of any mental depression or physical inconvenience from the ecclesiastical discipline to which he may have been subjected. It is hardly likely he could have been thus cut off from the ancient fold without knowing of it positively. We therefore think the report unfounded or premature. In conversation with parties connected with the Cummins' secession in this city, we found that the prospect of their excommunication had no terrors for them, and particularly as they have taken means to secure a church and pastor agreeable to their views of what is pure in doctrine and becoming and edifying in the conduct of Divine Service. The Rev. Dr. Gallagher seems to have given great satisfaction yesterday, to judge of the attendance, the heartiness characterizing the devotional exercises, and the close attention paid the preacher. He certainly seems in earnest, and his manner can hardly fail to impress his auditory.

CUMMINISM AND ECCLESIASTICAL ANATHEMA.

In our day the "Anathema-maranatha" is very rarely pronounced. As a rule, the curse is obselete, and few believe in a salvation possible only from Church membership. The administration of the sacrament may, under certain circumstances, be righteously withheld, but it is not withheld from even the greatest criminal if he expresses a wish to have it administered. The curse of the ecclesiastic is visited upon men who are not criminal as regards Society, but simply on men who offend against the Church. Whatever the object may be, it is ridiculous and puerile. Anathema cannot and does not prevent schism. It may be presumed that the Church's curse will cause the many to submit to the exercise of mummeries and flummeries against which the judgment of the few rebels, and which are a positive disgrace to modern Christianity. The many do submit. But people, uninfluenced by priestcraft see that Protestant Churches are decorated; that there are candles lighted on the altars; that the services are intoned, that the choristers are surpliced; that the organ, not the congregation, groans the Amen; and that the sermon is slurred over as of no avail. The ungodly smile. The earnest take another view, and see in these absurd ceremonies the beginning of that decay in Christianity which must assuredly result from such heathenish practices. People may complain, but redress is unattainable. The great heads of the Church seem to have lost all authority over the lesser clergy, or to be unable to exercise it, while the more silly among the Bishops approve of doings, which, in themselves, are sufficient to make the very angels weep. With the latter remonstrance is scoffed at or anathematized. Anathema! The word is startling. One is inclined to ask if ecclesiastical malediction can be possible in this age? Will not congregations, in spite of such stupid cursings, rebel and declare emphatically by their acts that they will have a naked christianity, and insist upon being permitted to join in that beautiful church service in which they have been brought up unadulterated by altar-cherubs, lighted candles, gorgeously surpliced curates, or the the weird howlings, which, in some churches, have taken the place of the reverend reading or repeating of prayer. There can be only one answer. These innovations introduced by "educated" clergymen will disgust congregations, and with congregations the true remedy rests. This we state on the authority of the Archbishops of Canterbury and York. Let the theatrical performances of ritualism only go a little further, and as certainly will a disruption of the Church of England take place at home and abroad, as one did take place, for less cause, in the Church of Scotland. More, it is not improbable that the movement will hasten the disestablishment of the Church of England herself. Let those who are astounded at the Cummins reformation take warning by what has already happened, in the matter of the Nicene contaoversy, "Alexander, Bishop of Alexandria, and Arius, who was a presbyter in his diocese, disputed together about the nature of Christ, and the Bishop being displeased at the notions of Arius, and finding that they were adopted by other persons, was very angry. He commanded Arius to come over to his sentiments and to quit his own; as if a man could change his opinions as easily as he could change his coat. He then called a council, consisting of nearly a hundred bishops, and deposed, excommunicated, and anathematized Arius, and with him several ecclesiastics, two of whom were bishops." But the heresy made progress nevertheless. Deposition, excommunication, and anathema had no effect. The difference of opinion was not one of inconsistency but of judgment. And so is the present controversy, culminating in Cumminism. Whatever Ritualism may suppose, the "Fools' Morris Dance,' "triangular candles," "triune heads," and "devils tailpieces" have long given way to that common sense of which Ritualism seems to be ignorant, and unless some change speedily takes place among a peculiarly educated clergy, serious evils, we repeat, will, in the natural course of events, come upon the Church which the maledictions of Bishops will be utterly powerless to prevent. Coercion, in things spiritual, is utterly exploded in the minds of all thinking men, and it does not require much education to produce common sense. Where that quality is to be found, Ritualism, in our opinion, can have no place, and the inference is that a clergyman should not only be an educated man, but be possessed of natural ability, pure instincts, and have a good share of common sense, which very many of them evidently have not.

THE INDIAN FAMINE.

It is almost impossible for people living in productive and thinly peopled countries like Canada, to form any adequate idea of the greatness of the calamity from which a large portion of the Indian Empire is suffering. The entire population of the smitten Province equals that of all England, and about half the number are and have been on short supplies of food, while four or five millions are in a state of semi-starvation, with no prospect but a terrible death before them, if not fed by the outside world. Multitudes have been kept merely in a state of existence by the food furnished them by the Indian Government, while great numbers in the remote districts, difficult to reach, have died of hunger or its resultant diseases. Hundreds of thousands, if no millions are enfeebled and rendered a prey to sickness by insufficient food. The whole region is oppressed with want and dread of the future, and it will require efforts almost miraculous to procure and transport to the needy districts enough food to barely preserve alive the bulk of their inhabitants. Lord Northbrooke estimates the number that will have to be supported, for fully three months, at three millions. Many more may require daily additions to such little supplies as may be within their own command. The task and responsibility thus thrown upon the British and Indian Governments is truly enormous. It is pleasant to know that both seem desirous of doing all in their power to avert this great misfortune, or confine it within the smallest practicable limits. Duty, self interest, patriotism all commend the utmost efforts and sacrifices with this object, for nothing is so precious as human life. The authorities have sensibly determined to obtain some return for the aid granted, in the shape of useful work in road-making and other enterprizes, likely to prove permanently useful. Immense numbers of men and women, too, are being employed with this object, with the advantage of saving their self-respect from the reproach of eleemosynary assistance. One of the hardships of this system, however, was indicated by Mr. Disraeli, in his speech at Buckingham, consisting in the exaction of work from women of high caste, and others, too delicate for such a strain. To save their lives, much humiliation and suffering will, doubtless, have to be borne. It is feared the Government, with all its zeal and resources, will not be able to maintain three or four millions for so long a time. The physical difficulty of forwarding such vast quantities of food to districts remote and ill off for good roads, may be imagined. Were there railroads, it would be another matter. The expense to the authorities, to the end of February, is given at $7,500,000, but that is not the most serious consideration. The lives of so many beings are worth an infinitely larger amount, and we believe the question of money will not be allowed to stand in the way of any possible effort for the preservation of these unfortunate people. Great progress has been made of late years with public works in India, such as railroads, and nothing could afford stronger proof of their need than this famine. If it should give an impetus to such improvements, it will not have turned out an unmixed evil. With the country opened up by iron roads, the starvation of millions in any province, by reason of a failure of the crops, should not be possible under sagacious and energetic rulers.

POLITICAL MOVEMENT IN FRANCE.

It is difficult for Englishmen or Canadians to understand the extreme sensitiveness of the French authorities in everything relating to politics. The last news deemed worthy of transmission by the cable, is that the Minister of the Interior had prohibited the sale of photographs of the Count de Chambord. This Prince was reported ill, lately, and his prospects have been considered the reverse of promising ever since his failure to commend himself to even the bulk of the Royalists, an event immediately followed by the election of President McMahon for seven years. In fact the Count has latterly been considered out of the race in the matter of competition for the French sceptre, so that the compliment now paid his real or imaginary importance, by this embargo on his photograph, is rather puzzling. The man himself not having been shown to be very potent, one could imagine his mere shadow need not excite the alarm of the Ministers. But so it is. In fact the old vice of Government interference in all things—paternal or providential supervision in regard to domestic matters, even—still adheres to the system, no matter how designated, or by whom conducted. The people's characteristics may furnish some excuse for this executive vigilance and meddling, for they seem fond of feeling the authority under which they live, and they certainly are well accustomed to its pressure. Restlessness and love of change are still mighty influences in France, and with skilful working upon the prejudices and feelings of the masses, great results may be obtained from those weaknesses of passions. The partisans of the Bourbons are yet numerous and active, the old Conservative Catholic element being well represented on the Government side, and not inferior to any in the art of plotting and exciting popular enthusiasm at opportune periods. But the Bonapartists have also to be counted with. The young Prince is to attain his majority in a few days, an event for which great festive and ceremonial preparation is being made, no doubt with a view to political effect. Many think, like his Father he will make a descent on France, and try to upset the actual government with the cry of the plebiscite. M. Rocher, one of the ablest and most audacious of the Imperialists, recently counselled his party to bide their time, while expressing the opinion that the present was only a provisional constitution, and asserting that the nation should be appealed to for its decision upon the merits of the different systems proposed, and the claims of the respective pretenders. Prince Napoleon, too, calls for the plebiscite, which he thinks would restore his family to the sovereignty. This is natural enough in view of the enormous majorities the late Emperor was able to command up to the eve of the Franco-German War; but the effect of that contest upon the feelings and judgment of the nation was abundantly proved to be most hostile to the Napoleonic interest, and it is rather soon to expect a return of the tide of favour to a party skilfully and with reason kept before the eyes of the people, long after the peace, as the author of all its losses and humiliation. The existing Government does not excite much affection, perhaps, though it is a safe one, and useful as a compromise between the rival parties. It is felt or feared, it cannot last very long, many predicting its fall before two of its seven years expire. If the French are in a mood for another change, they may not feel inclined to visit the sins of the late Emperor upon his son, who, as yet, can have few enemies. It is said moreover, that the Royalists and Bonapartists are co-operating for the purpose of overthrowing the Republic. They can possibly agree to destroy, if not to build up. Each would, in the anarchy of a fresh revolution, attract many partisans, and stand in a position to bid high for the national favor. The anxiety the Ministry of the Duc de Broglie has shown to prevent any participation of citizens of France in the Chiselhurst demonstrations, in honour of the Prince's majority, proves its apprehension, if not its danger. The public can not but be impressed with a sense of the uncertainty of the situation, by such precautions, and in that state of mind no well-conceived, vigorous political enterprise can be said to be destitute of all chance of success. The proceedings of the 16th of March will be looked for with interest on both sides of the Atlantic.

The bunkum indignation manifested in such abundance by the Opposition press, of late, in connection with Commissioner McKellar's permission to the employes on the Central Prison, to absent themselves half a day, to attend the nomination of Messrs. Bickford and Moss, is now thoroughly exposed. The Commissioner acted openly and considerately in the matter, not attempting to screen his conduct, or play the tyrant to those in his employ. Other large employers of labour gave their men a similar opportunity of discharging their duty as citizens possessed of the franchise. Mr. McKellar never interfered to enquire how the men spoke or acted, leaving them free to do as they pleased, even to supporting Bickford. As to the opinions of the men, there could not but have been a large number in favour of the Reform Candidate under any circumstances, unless they were an exception to the mass of the workingmen of Toronto. Mr. Moss' majority of 500 shewed how the popular feeling ran. The Hamilton Times, in noticing, as follows, the enquiry on the subject of this last Opposition grievance, in the Legislative Committee, in Toronto, makes clear the motives of its authors, which were mainly party and personal and not patriotic, as some innocent Tories might have thought.

"Mr. Hardy resolved to find out the bottom principle of Mr. Cameron's objections, and he found it out, as will be seen from this brief colloquy:—

Mr. Hardy—Do you, Mr. Cameron, object to the men going to cast their votes?

Mr. Cameron—Certainly. It is not right.

This is the whole grievance in a nutshell. The workingmen at the Central Prison, as well as the workingmen and electors elsewhere, were hostile to corrupt government, and therefore Mr. Cameron considered it was "not right" to let them go to the nomination under pay, nor to leave their work to vote, even though the lost time was charged to them. It is not the loss of money that is the grievance, but the fact that the majority of the men men voted against the charter-sellers, and therefore on polling day he would have kept them at work from day-break until dark, so as to prevent them from exercising their franchise at all."

Col. Higinbotham, M. P., Guelph, is at the Union House.

Hon. Donald A. Smith, M. P., arrived Saturday morning. He left by the evening train for Montreal, but will return on Wednesday.

M. Pouchet, in his great work, "The Universe," says that "Anatomically and physically speaking, the human mechanism is very rude and coarse compared to the exquisite delicacy revealed in the organism of certain animals. But in us, the intellect, the real sceptre of the universe, predominates over the apparent imperfection of matter. Through it man alone approaches the chosen creatures who shine near the throne of the Eternal, and form a bond of union between heaven and earth. If in his structure he belongs to our sphere, he seems already to elevate himself toward the Supreme Essence by the splendour of his genius." A grand and philosophic truth, and yet how comparatively small the number, and rare the genius, displayed in proportion to the number of the earth's inhabitants. Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress in enlightenment would then be marvelous. 2511

Horses Saved.

The lives of thousands of horses have been saved buring the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half as successful or given such universal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. CORRESPONDENCE.

THE TIMES will not be held responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—Once more, and for the last time, I have to request the use of your columns to answer Colonus' communication of the 4th inst.

Having already stated that the Peace River flows Eastward through the Rocky Mountains, at an elevation of about sixteen hundred feet above sea level, also the head waters of that stream having their origin West of the Rocky Mountains, it follows, in obedience to the simplest law of Hydraulics, that those headwaters must take their rise at a higher level.

Some of the numerous affluents of the Peace River take their source not far from the Pacific coast, and many thousand feet above the sea. Others again, (for instance, those lying between McLeod Lake and the south), rise at an elevation of about 2,400 feet, or thereabouts. Upon this watershed, then, a little stream takes its rise, and after passing into Lake La Carpe and Long Lake, it falls 150 feet in a single leap, and finally reaches Lake McLeod. The latter empties its surplus waters into the south branch of the Peace River, and seventy miles further down stream those waters, together with many more, unite to push their way eastward through the mighty dislocation in the Rocky Mountains designated by me as the "Gap."

If Colonus will only take the trouble to look into a school atlas or better perhaps, Trutche's Map of British Columbia, he will see through this apparently tough question. Colonus asks if there be higher grounds to be encountered from the Rocky Mountains to the coast?

If a railroad be ever taken through those mountains at an elevation of 1,800 feet, it is certain that higher ground in several places will have to be crossed.

I have already said that I do not know of any "plains" west of the Rocky Mountains, in the direction indicated by me, unless, perhaps, the Chilcotin Valley, or "plains," as they are sometimes termed by persons whose eyes are wearied by the never ending hills and mountains of British Columbia.

Colonus says: "understanding on such "good authority that the Chilcotin Valley "attained so moderate an elevation as far "north as the pass suggested by Mr. "H." etc., etc.

Why? I beg Colonus to bear in mind that a distance of over 200 miles intervenes between either of the passes suggested, and the Chilcotin.

Finally, touching the route suggested, there is, I believe, a practicable line from Bute Inlet to the Chilcotin, thence to the West Road River the country is unknown; from the West Road River, via the suggested pass to Fort Garry, a considerable portion of the route indicated is known to be good, and to pass over a fine country. The unknown parts should therefore be examined, and, if found available, the route for Canada's arterial highway will have been pointed out.

Your obedient servant.

Is the mind a ponderable or an imponderable substance; an essence, vapor, or an indescribable something which cannot be grasped, felt, or withheld? Man thinks, studies, invents, tires the brain by overwork, and loses his reason; rests his intellect, becomes calm, uses restoratives; and again thinks. When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphities, we cannot but conclude that the subtle power is really ponderable matter, from the fact that the ingredients are supplied which render it support and give it vitality. Persons who study hard should preserve their balance of power by using the Syrup. 2505

INSURANCE APPOINTMENT.—Mr. C. G. Austin, of Westport, has been appointed agent for the Gore District Mutual Insurance Company.

ST. PATRICK'S ASYLUM.—The drawing for prizes takes place this afternoon at 5 o'clock, in aid of the St. Patrick's Orphan Asylum.

VISITORS AT THE PROTESTANT HOSPITAL THIS WEEK.—Directors, Messrs. W. Mills and A. Mann; Clergy, Revs. G. N. Higginson and A. Cameron; Physician, Dr. J. Sweetland.

ANOTHER RACE.—Another trotting race will take place to-day at two o'clock p. m., at Mutchmor's Driving Park, between 'Henry Labelle' and 'Grafton,' of Montreal, for $50 aside.

HIGH SCHOOLS.—Renfrew County has three High Schools, located as follows: One at Pembroke, one at Arnprior, and the other at Renfrew. The County of Carleton has three also, located as follows: One in Ottawa, one in Richmond, and the other in Metcalfe. The one in our own city, however, assumes the name of "The Collegiate Institute."

LOTTIE DARLING.—Messrs. Henderson & Co., booksellers of Sparks street, have laid on our table a very interesting novel by John Cordy Jeaffreson, entitled "Lottie Darling." The story is an excellent one, and reflects much credit upon the author, who has already gained some reputation in literary circles, as the author of "Live it Down," "Not Dead Yet," and "Olive Blake's Good Work"

A FRACAS.—Wellington Street was the scene of a fracas yesterday that reflects anything but credit upon the participants, the more especially so as it was after a very fine discourse, that portended anything, in its instruction, but that men should make dogs of themselves on the public streets. The aggressor is a person from whom better would have been expected on the Sabbath day. The Police Court will in all probability ventilate the subject somewhat more.

A ROW.—A row took place late on Saturday night, or early on Sunday morning, on Queen street, some place between the "Union House" and "Daniels" Hotel. It is impossible to get particulars, but this much is known, that the noisy pugilists are all in durance vile, and will have to appear before the Cadi this morning. Some pistol shots were fired from a private boarding house in the vicinity to frighten the noisy combatants away from the locality, and it had the desired effect of making them move further up street. The shets, however, very soon brought the peelers around, who nabbed the lot and put them in safe coustody.

SOCIETY OF ST. VINCENT DE PAUL LECTURE.—"Things Contemptible and Things Ridiculous" is the subject of a lecture to be delivered by Mr. Frederick R. Stokes, A. B., on Thursday, the 12th instant, at St. Joseph's College in this city, under the auspices, and in aid of the above charitable society. Paine, in his "writings on common sense," tells us that one step above the sublime makes the ridiculous, and one step above the ridiculous makes the sublime again; but he leaves us to find out for ourselves how many steps, or flights of steps, we must ascend or descend to reach the contemptible; or how much farther we must pursue our course before we find ourselves on the level of the base, the mean and the despicable. This very useful information will be well and fully imparted by Mr. Stokes, and the small charge for admission, 25 cents, coupled with the strong claims of the society, which has for its object the relief of the poor, will, we have no doubt, draw a bumper house. The band of the College will attend.

Temperance Meeting.

The usual Sunday afternoon temperance meeting was held yesterday in the Temperance Hall, and was largely attended. Mr. Johnston, President of the Association, occupied the chair, and with him on the platform we observed the Rev. R. M. Grant, of Ingersoll; Dr. Beatty, Messrs. Porter, Russell and others.

The Chairman opened the proceedings with singing the 8th Hymn.

Mr. Porter then read a portion of Scripture from the Gospel of St. Matthew, and afterwards led the congregation in devout prayer.

The Chairman next introduced, with a few preliminary remarks, the Rev. R. M. Grant, of Ingersoll.

The Rev. Mr. Grant on coming forward spoke somewhat as to the character of the meeting, it appearing to him to be a platform, where people fancied there was more latitude to be allowed than if he addressed them from a pulpit. All must remember, however, that it was the Lord's Day, and as such, everything that was done must be strictly of the nature of a Christian work. He therefore deemed it necessary to ask all to assume seriously the work of stemming the tide of intemperance; for if such were not done, its progress would naturally be impeded by such indifference, and more injury than good would result from such a course in the world. He did not purpose delivering a lecture on temperance, as some might imagine he should at such a meeting, but would offer a few remarks on a subject referred to very early in Scripture: "Am I my brother's keeper?" He would ask in the first place, who your brother was? In reply he stated that any one who sought your assistance, whether at home, in Africa among the negroes, or in India, where people sacrifice themselves at the shrines of idolatory, were your brethren. Take a young unsophisticated lad from the country, who comes for the first time into your city to live, and who is exposed to every temptation in the way of evil, and in time you will find a younger brother requiring your protection. He said young men who on Sabbath afternoons congregated on street corners, and indulged in chewing tobacco, cursing, swearing and the use of obscene language to passers-by, were also brethren and required your assistance. They had an influence in society for good or for evil, and the better classes of society were responsible if the latter should result to those, who should have been cared for by them in the hour of danger. He then adverted to tipplers and men who had become the slavish victims of intemperance, as brothers requiring the assistance and advice of all those who were a truly christian people. After citing some other instances in a similar direction, he next proceeded to the second portion of his remarks. Am I expected to be their keeper? Or was it expected he said that we as a people were responsible for protecting such, and would God hold us to account for neglect in this respect. He said all who neglected to assist in reclaiming people from vice, crime, the Penitentiary and the gallows, were accountable for their indifference towards their brethren, and they would be held accountable for such neglect. He next adverted to the excuses given for apparent negligence in this respect, and cited a means whereby a test as to our usefulness to our brethren could be had. He attributed the coolness and laxity—exhibited in being your brother's keeper, to a want of a christian and charitable spirit in the community. 'The love of Christ, he said, constraineth us,' and unless imbued by his love, there was little hope of effective redemption for a brother in distress. It had been argued often that a man could be a Sabbath school teacher without necessarily being a professed Christian; this he denied, for no one not experiencing "the love of Christ which constraineth," could effectually succeed in Sabbath School work. Such persons as a rule were discontented, no matter whether in the Sabbath School, Mission work or the Temperance lodge, and for a time might appear to do a little work, but in time they would drop off, and you could not find them again even with a search warrant. They entered a sphere for which they were not prepared, and as a consequence failed in carrying out the divine injunction, implied in the text, "Am I my brother's keeper?" He concluded by calling each and every person to examine himself or herself, and see if they had done what they could towards the relief of their suffering brethren among mankind, if so, then they could say that they had contributed somewhat to being their brother's keeper; if not they should set to work and do so, for it was a noble mission. Some men he said resembled a flower picked out of a bed from among a great number of its fellows, for it never was missed. Other men, again, were like unto the mighty oak or elm in the forest, which when felled created a blank soon realised and missed among the other trees. Such was the fact in our world too, for a man with noble mind and generous heart that had done much towards suffering humanity was greatly missed as being the truest type of one who could really be looked upon as his brother's keeper. The Rev. gentleman then resumed his seat amidst applause.

The President then commented in a few brief remarks on the subect of the lecture and expressed his pleasure at having been favored with such a pleasing and instructive address. He then called upon Dr. Beatty who made some observations in regard to the temperance movement. He related some instances during the past week in our own community, of sudden deaths through intemperate habits. He, however, was glad that the temperance movement was progressing, and that in a few weeks we would likely attain a means whereby the evil would be wholly eradicated.

A collection was then taken up, after which the singing of a hymn and the pronouncing of the benediction brought the proceedings to a close.

The Ottawa Races.

THIRD DAY.

An endeavor was made on Saturday afternoon to finish the races, but it grew so late that it was found impossible to do so. There were four entries for the open race, the Hotel-keeper's Purse of $125. First horse to get $75; the second horse $35; and the third $15. The following horses entered: 'Dread,' 'Harry Mitchell,' 'Ives,' and 'Eva.' The race was hotly contested and gave the sporting fraternity ample chance to ply their vocation. This is the result of the race:

Dread	2	1	1	1
Harry Mitchell	3	3	2	2
Ives	1	2	4	4
Eva	4	4	3	3

'Dread' winning first money, although 'Ives' and Harry Mitchell' kept him pretty close to his work. The following time was made—2m. 36½s., 2m, 28½s., 2m. 38s. and 2m. 42½.

The next race was for the Lumbermen's Purse of $75. The first horse to get $50 and the second $25. The race was a very exciting one and so very close, that it was almost impossible to say which would win. Although three entries wer made only two came to the scratch, Therien's, 'Victory' and Connolly's 'Lady Jane.'

Victory	1	1	2
Lady Jane	2	2	1

The races will be resumed to-day again, when the above will be finished; after which a couple of others will be run, having been arranged on Saturday.

New Protestant Episcopal Reform Movement.

A large, respectable congregation assembled at the Court House yesterday forenoon, to inaugurate this movement, and enjoy the services of the Church in connection therewith. The usual Church of England service was followed with one or two slight alterations, such as the omission of the words "priests and deacons," in the Litany, the minister substituting after the word "bishops" in the prayer for the illumination of "all bishops, priests and deacons," the words "and other pastors," The usual prayers for the Queen and Governor General were read, as in the old churches. After the devotional services, Rev. Dr. Gallagher took his text, the 38th verse of the 18th chapter of Luke's Gospel, from which he preached a good sermon, dwelling upon the love and mercy of Jesus in the case of the blind beggar, Bartimeus, who was a type of all sinners. The lesson of this man's faith was well applied, and the value of prayer effectively illustrated thereby. The preacher earnestly urged the sinner to imitate the blind man's example, to cry to Jesus while He was within call or passing by, that spiritual blindness might be removed, and to act as the cured mendiant had done in following and worshipping the Lord. The Doctor counselled his hearers to let nothing keep them back from the Great Physician, whether spiritual pride, the barriers of ecclesiastical pretension or tyranny, or any obstacle whatsoever. The sermon was earnest and practical in tone and matter, and was listened to with devout attention.

A DISTINGUISHED Physician has said that Neuralgia is the cry of the hungry nerves for their special food, which is the Phosphorous contained in the blood. This painful disease is usually followed by general prostration on account of the great waste of nerve tissue and insufficient supply of nerve force to maintain the functions of the vital organs. The common cause of Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pains is depraved Nutrition arising from derangements of the stomach, mal-assimilation of food, and poor blood. Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya supplies phosphorous for the nervous system, Lime as an excitant of nutrition, Iron for the blood, and Calisaya for promoting strength. No preparation in existence is as reliable to maintain the vital forces and energize all the organs and tissues of the body.

MONTREAL,

The Bench—Sudden Death at St. Lawrence Hall—Lecture by Wendell Phillips—Markets—Police Force—Rev. Mr. Gibson's Removal.

MONTREAL, March 6.

Wendell Phillips is announced to give two lectures under the auspices of the University Literary Society. His first subject will be "Daniel O'Connell," and the second "The Lost Arts."

The difficulty in regard to the Court of Appeals continues. No appointments have been made so far as can be learned, although it was intimated they would be made known yesterday. It seems the refusal of Mr. Justice Stuart, of the Superior Court, to take a seat on the Queen's Bench, has added to the embarrassment of the Government in filling up the vacancies, and the Bar seem willing to give them time to settle the matter. The Nouveau Monde intimates that no appointments will be made until the 1st of May, when the leaves of absence granted to Chief Justice Duval and Judge Monk will expire, as temporary appointments are distasteful.

The police have petitioned for an increase of pay, and they are quite confident from the promises of the Mayor, given on New Year's Day, that their prayer will be granted. If there is not some action taken in this respect, there will begin the same stampede in a few weeks as took place last spring.

Yesterday evening the students of the Canada Presbyterian College, in this city, presented an address to the Rev. J. M. Gibson, a Professor of Exegesis in that institution and pastor of Erskine Church, in this city, expressing their high appreciation of his services and regret at his probable removal from Montreal.

Last night about nine o'clock, a gentleman who had arrived at the St. Lawrence Hall in the morning, died suddenly. The name of the deceased was Alexander Rae Garvie, a brother of the Hon. Wm. Garvie, of Nova Scotia. Shortly after his arrival at the Hall, he went to sleep, and on awakening and not feeling well sent for a doctor. In the evening he felt better and expressed his intention of going home to St. John, N. B. The doctor ordered him a cup of tea and slice of toast, the former of which he took. Shortly afterwards a friend of the deceased and a porter went to his room, to get his luggage, and on entering found him sitting on the bed with his back against the wall. The porter took hold of him and laid him down, when both observed that he was dead. An inquest was held and a verdict of death from disease of the heart was returned. The deceased, it is said, had been a clergyman. He leaves a wife and a child, who are residing at St. John.

Mr. D. Mills, M. P., is on a brief visit to his friends in this city.

A petition is being largely signed here, having for its object the release of J. B. Cornwall from the Penitentiary, where he is undergoing imprisonment for kidnapping a Southern refugee named Britton.

A movement is on foot to raise funds for the purchase of a testimonial for the Rev. Father Crinnon upon his departure from this diocese to become Bishop of Hamilton.

Mr. W. J. Longmuir, Government Inspector, has commenced an inquiry into the management, healthfulness, drainage, cleanliness, quality of water, &c., at the London Asylum. The frequent complaints laid against the Institution, and the constant outlay to keep it in a habitable condition, have influenced the Government to order this investigation.

Steps have been taken to strengthen Blackfriars Bridge, which has for some been in a shaky condition.

D. B. Leitch, Newbury, charged by W. Farrie, of this city, with issuing a forged note, has been discharged, the prosecution failing to make out a case.

Narrow Escape o a Mail Carrier.

SARNIA, March 6.

Mr. Regan, mail carrier on the river between this place and Sombra, narrowly escaped being burried alive last evening. He passed over the route as usual yesterday morning safely, but when returning in the evening both he and his horse were precipitated into a hole in the centre of the road in front of the Indian Reserve. The hole was about six feet deep, and had been formed by the earth caving in. The horse went in head first. Mr. Regan slid over the horses head, and was immediately covered by the horse. He managed, however, to extricate himself while the horse was struggling, and climbed out without assistance; but it took the combined efforts of ten Indians and a span of horses two hours to extricate the animal. Mr. Regan's injuries, although severe, are not dangerous.

HAMILTON.

Molly's Escape—Daring Rescue.

HAMILTON, March 6.

The woman Molly Holbrook, who escaped from the charge of the American Detective, on Thursday, by claiming protection of the Canadian authorities, was allowed to go at large, but not without being closely watched. Yesterday afternoon a confederate of the woman arrived here from New York, a man about six feet or more, stoutly built, with red mustache, broad shoulders, and face marked with small-pox. Shortly after Molly left the hotel where she was staying, and in company with her "pal," walked around town from one house to another until about six o'clock, when they took a cab and drove eastward. During all this time she was under the strict surveillances of the police, and suspecting something wrong, Constable Macpherson took the 8.55 train, while the Chief of the Police, Detective Rousseau, and the American detective hired a conveyance so as to follow the cab, and getting on the scent, traced them to Winona, where they arrived just in time to take the train for Clinton, while the officers arrived a few seconds too late, and returned to the city. After the arrival of the train at Clinton, Molly and her man stopped at a hotel opposite the station, where Macpherson followed them, and telegraphed the facts to the Chief of Police here. Macpherson then informed the police at Clifton of the facts, and Detective Tupper recognized the woman as a most daring and accomplished thief, and as being wanted in Toronto on a charge of shop lifting, and of subsequently breaking gaol. Shortly before the arrival of the New York Express train, which arrived in Clifton at 3:55, seven men came across from the other side with two cabs, and in company with the man who had left here with the woman, drew their revolvers and threatened to shoot the officers if they dared to keep the woman. They then put her into a cab and drove across the river. The American detective, when he received the telegram announcing that they were in Clifton, left here in company with Detective McMenemy, but did not arrive in time to be of any service. This morning two men arrived from Chicago who bailed her when arrested on the charge of stealing bonds to the amount of $20,000. One of them said that after he bailed her she met his wife on the street and robbed her of $2,000. He was very much chop fallen when he found that the woman had been rescued. The entire fault of not having her arrested while here lies with the authorities in Chicago, who neglected to fill the paper properly, by charging her with robbery instead of larceny. The men who performed the rescue are noted thieves.

ST. CATHARINES.

Protection—Welland Canal—New Convent—Purchase of a Tug.

ST CATHARINES, March 6.

A very important meeting of manufacturers was held at the Murray House on Thursday evening, for the purpose of considering the advisability of forming an Industrial Association for the purpose of securing an unanimity of action amongst manufacturers in reference to the tariff. The chair was occupied by Mr. R. H. Smith, of the saw works, and Mr. Wm. Chaplin, of the Welland Vale Works, acted as Secretary. The following resolutions were submitted, discussed and passed unanimously: Whereas, great depression exists among the manufacturing industries of Canada, arising from the monstrously unfair competition to which manufacturers are subject through the working of our present tariff; and whereas efforts are being made by the manufacturers in Ontario to have said tariff so rectified as to reduce or remove the unjust competition; and whereas in furtherance of the object a meeting of the manufacturers of Ontario was held at Toronto on Tuesday the 24th of Feb. last, at which resolutions were passed affirming the necessity for a revision and increase of the present tariff, and at which said meeting a Committee was appointed to prepare petitions to the Legislature of Canada praying for such revision and increase in our tariff; and whereas the said Committee have prepared such petition, and have forwarded copies thereof for circulation and signature; and whereas it has deemed expedient to call a meeting of the manufactures of St. Catharines and vicinity to consider the same and adopt the best means for giving effect to the purpose of the said meeting in Toronto, and whereas this meeting is fully alive to the necessity for united and vigorous action on the part of manufacturers, therefore be it resolved:—1st. That this meeting, composed of the manufacturers of St. Catharines and vicinity, having now heard the said petition read, hereby fully approve of and cordially endorse the same. 2nd. That for the purpose of furthering this object we, the said manufacturers, hereby agree to become members of a Manufacturer's Association, to be a branch of the Central Association formed at Toronto, and to pay an annual subscription of $2, with further assessments as may be needed for the purpose of keeping up the said Association, and defraying the necessary expenses attending the meeting thereof. 3rd. That we agree to subscribe to and abide by the rules and by-laws to be prepared by a Committee to be appointed by this meeting for the purpose of drafting the same as soon as the same be submitted to and passed by a general meeting of said manufacturers, to be called by the chairman pro tem. 4th. That at such general meeting said rules and by-laws shall be submitted, and if satisfactory, passed, or amended until satisfactory, and then passed, and that immediately thereafter the officers required under such rules and by-laws shall be elected to attend to all matters affecting the Association, and to call meetings, and for other purposes. 5th. That a committee composed of W. Chaplin, R. H. Smith, W. A Wait, G. M. Bligh, and J. Riordon be now appointed to prepare said rules and by-laws. 6th. That R. H. Smith be declared chairman of the Association, to act until the formal election of the officers, as provided.

Proceedings are about to be instituted against several persons on a charge of entering into a conspiracy with Orton to get possession of the Tichborne estates.

The explosion of a mould of moulten iron occurred at a foundry in Sheffield yesterday, demolishing the building, and mutilating twelve of the employees.

LONDON, March 6.—Lord Northbrooke, Viceroy and Governor-General of India, telegraphs to the Indian Office, that it is expected that the Government will be obliged to maintain 3,000,000 persons for three months. The expenditure on account of the famine to the end of February last is estimated at $7,500,000.

The Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh are expected to reach England to-morrow. Extensive preparations are being made for their reception. The day will be observed as a holiday.

Parliament met to-day at 2 p. m., and proceeded with the formalities of organization. The oath was administered to members of the Commons in groups of forty. Members of the present and late Governments have received Royal commands to attend a State dinner on Monday next at Windsor Castle, where they will meet the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh.

The 12th instant, which is appointed for the public entry of the Duke of Edinburgh and his bride into London, will probably be observed as a complete holiday.

Mr. Fawcett has re-appeared as a candidate for Parliament in Hackney.

Captain Brown, one of the Tichborne claimant's witnesses, has been remanded for examination on the charge of perjury.

The War Office has received no official advices of the capture of the King of the Ashantees. A despatch from Sir Garnet Wolseley, of a date prior to the taking of Coomassie, declares that the overtures for peace on the part of the Ashantees were treacherous, and part of a plot to lure the army to destruction.

The remains of Dr. Livingstone will be transported from Africa to England at the public expense.

FRANCE.

French Newspapers.

PARIS, March 6.—In the Assembly today, M. Christoph, Radical, asked why the Government tolerated the Figaro newspaper which advised McMahon to execute a coup d'etat, and treated with so much vigor the Dix Neuvieme Siecle for its remarks in regard to the President of the Assembly.

The Duke de Broglie replied that the Figaro supported the Conservative policy, and had promptly disavowed the objectionable article.

PORTUGAL.

Petition.

LISBON, March 6.—It is rumored here that certain inhabitants of Fayal have addressed a petition to President Grant, praying for the establishment of a Protectorate by the United States over the Azores, and that the President replied that the era of popular will have replaced the era of conquest.

TURKEY.

Fire.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 6.—An extensive conflagration took place in Salonica; an immense amount of property was destroyed and eleven persons were burned to death.

INDIA.

The Famine.

CALCUTTA, March 6.—Accounts from Tirhoot show that distress from famine is increasing in Ringpore. Where there has been no actual suffering as yet, the stores of the poorer people are becoming exhausted, and starvation is imminent. The relief organization here is working excellently, but it can hardly meet the immense demands which will be made upon the Government.

UNITED STATES.

Indicted.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Coleman, the $20,000 defaulting clerk of the Virginia Commissioners of the sinking fund, has been indicted at Richmond.

Quit-Claim Deed.

It is stated that a quit-claim deed has been recorded releasing the Howe Sewing Machine Company of Bridgeport, Conn., from a mortgage made by President Stockwell to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

Notice to Quit.

A Key West despatch states that Admiral Cole issued an order requesting all newspaper correspondents to leave the fleet and not again to return to any vessel. Monitors are to be manœuvered today.

Stormy Passage.

The steamship Graf Bismarck, which arrived this morning, several days overdue, reports having experienced terribly heavy gales and head winds with heavy seas, which commenced when two days out, and lasted almost the entire passage.

Railway Accident.

BANGOR, Me., March 6:—Two bridges have been swept away on the European and North American Railroad, and no trains are running

Fatal Explosion.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., March 6.—A disaster happened at the Hoosac tunnel (west shaft) to-day. Two hundred pounds of giant powder exploded, killing James Mulany, fatally injuring James Donnelly, and more or less injuring a number of others. Mullany was endeavoring to warn his companions when killed, and Donnelly was endeavoring to prevent the catastrophe, which was caused by spontaneous combustion. The building was entirely destroyed, and the ground beneath torn up.

The publishers claim its annual sale of 25,000 copies is indisputable proof of positive and intrinsic merit, and its success is no mystery, but due to thorough excellence in all its departments—rudimental and instructive; to its valuable exercises as well as its charming recreations.

A new edition just issued contains "Schumann's Maxims" and the famous "Czerny's Letters on the Art of Playing the Piano." "Richardson's New Method" thus contains over 260 pages full music size, and is justly claimed to be the best Piano method extant.

By this method, persons who wish to insure for their families an insurance for a large amount, but whose present income, though improving, will not admit of it, or persons in business who wish to utilize their funds to the fullest extent, and cannot therefore spare the necessary premiums for a large life policy, can insure $5,000 for the same amount of premiums as is required for $2,500, the remainder half-premium standing at 6 per cent. interest, as a debt on the policy until paid off.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color, has divested our current politics of half their bygone intensity. However parties may henceforth rise or fall, it is clear that the fundamental principles which have hitherto honorably distinguished the Republicans are henceforth to be regarded as practically accepted by the whole country. The right of every man to his own limbs and sinews—the equality of all citizens before the law—the inability of a State to enslave any portion of its people—the duty of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of this liberty until he forfeits it by crime—such are the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and palsied be the hand which shall seek to displace them! Though not twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of man and the benignant smile of God.

Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and humble from violence and oppression—to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilisation—to stimulate Ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economizing Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gains of Industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, the Tribune contributes its zealous, persistent efforts.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially lucidated in its Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful tillers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who has $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as the Tribune. And we aspire to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage enables us to do; and we are resolved that our success of former years shall be exceeded in varied excellence and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our journal better and better, by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us!

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published, and thould very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for DR. DE JONGH'S OIL so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen. Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

Dr. Granville F.R.S., Author of the 'Spas of Germany.'

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the Pale Oil."

Edwin Canton, Esq., F.R.C.S., Surgeon to Charing Cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL sold only in Imperial Half-pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; Capsuled and Labelled with his Stamp and Signature

GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength. Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, oitments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labell on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

VINEGAR BITTERS
VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
PURELY DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

These periodicals constitute a wonderful miscellany of modern thought, research, and criticism. The cream of all European books worth reviewing is found here and they treat of the leading events of the world in masterly articles written by men who have special knowledge of the matters treated. The American Publishers urge upon all intelligent readers in this country a liberal support of the Reprints which they have so long and so cheaply furnished, feeling sure that no expenditure for literary matter will yield so rich a return as that required for a subscription to these the LEADING PERIODICALS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

AVOID QUACKS.

A victim of early indiscretion, causing nervous debility, premature decay, &c., having tried in vain every advertised remedy, has discovered a simple means of self-cure, which he will send free to his fellow-suffers. Address, J. H. REEVES, New York.

Launch of the 'Britannic'—The Second Largest Steamship in the W

There has just been launched from the shipbuilding yard of Messrs. Harland & Wolff, Queen's Island, the 'Britannic' steamship, the largest vessel of the White Star Line, and next to the 'Great Eastern' the largest of any afloat. The customary ceremony of christening was dispensed with as launches are now getting more common in Belfast than formerly. A great number of ladies and gentlemen were present to witness the 'Britannic' gliding from her stocks, and everything went off with the usual success. When completely finished the 'Britannic' will be commanded by Commodore Captain Thompson, at present the commander of the 'Celtic.' Captain Thompson is a gentleman who has been employed in the White Star Line Company since its commencement, and he has won the favourable opinion of many passengers who had crossed the Atlantic under his care. The marvellous success which has attended the White Star Line of cross-Atlantic steamers is something to be wondered at. The company only started into existence some three years ago, and they have now no less than seven steamers constantly running between Liverpool and New York, and these are among the largest and swiftest afloat. In the competition for carrying the mails from the United States on Saturdays, the White Star Line was selected from a number of candidates by the Postmaster General of the United States. This selection was influenced by the circumstance that this particular line possessed the fastest steamers that ran on that day from New York to England. Although as has been stated, the steamers of this only commenced to run at so recent a date yet, owing to the attention paid to the fitting of the cabins and the general regard to the comfort of the passengers, they have become as great favorites as any of the old established lines. And in this statement we include not only the first class passengers, but also the steerage passengers. The 'Britannic,' the latest built vessel, will now have her machinery fitted in. The greater part of it is already at the quay, and will be arranged at Belfast. The Belfast Rope Work Company will rig and fit out the sails, and the upholstery and other fittings will be supplied by local firms. Thus the people of Belfast will have the proud satisfaction of sending forth from their shipbuilding yards the second greatest steamship in the world, complete in every part. The machinery was constructed by Messrs. Wandsley, Sons and Field. The engines will be four compound, direct-acting, of 800 nominal and 400 effective horse-power, with eight boilers, thirty-two furnaces, and two funnels. The managers of the White Star Line have indebted the public to them for many important improvements in the passenger accommodation of their steamers. To judge by the character of this new steamer, it is evident they are determined to keep up the popularity of their line with the travelling public.

Although in general the Britannic is constructed similiarly to the other vessels of the White Star Line, yet, in consequence of its large size and later build, several improvements have been introduced. The length of the vessel from stem to stern is 455ft; breadth of beam, 43ft; depth of hold, 34ft; and registered tonnage, 4,750 tons. The Liverpool Underwriters' Association rate the vessel in highest class for twenty years. She has, in all, three docks, two of which are made of iron, covered with a planking of wood. The hull is divided into eight water-tight compartments, or bulk-heads, extending from the upper deck to the keel. An iron covering called a 'turtle back,' protects the vessel forward and aft. Amidships we have the main saloon and the first-class state-rooms, and we state this arrangement is very popular with passengers. It is well known that a ship rolling and pitching in her sea-way has the least motion in her centre. Along the upper decks are iron houses for the officers, and engineers cabins, in addition to cooking galleys, ice houses, smoking rooms, and other conveniences. From the deck to the main saloon a handsome and commodious stairway runs. The upper portion, at the entrance, forms a large room, which is gorgeously furnished with sofas and chairs, and, abutting on this compartment is the smoking room, decorated and fitted up in quite luxurious style. On the main deck is situated the grand saloon, the dimensions of which are 75 feet by 45 feet. The saloon is lighted from above by a large skylight, in addition to the ordinary port or side lights. The upholstery is extremely a la mode, and the decorations superb. Two hundred persons can conveniently be seated in this handsome apartment. It is heated by steam, and also—what is a great improvement—by a social, open, English fireplace, which in bad weather, or during the season of winter, casts a cheerful aspect over the place. Each passenger is provided with a separate arm chair, thus giving greater facilities for reaching the table, and doing away with the old inconvenient settees. Forward and aft of the saloon are the state-rooms, which are supplied with cold water pipes, and that contrivance that even on shore we marvel at—electric bells. The state-rooms are generally constructed for two passengers, and this arrangement affords more space than is generally allowed in ocean steamers. Every portion of the vessel is thoroughly ventilated, and hot or cold air can be driven at pleasure to every state-room by means of a large fan worked by steam. Under the state-rooms, and communicating with them by a staircase, are bath-rooms, barbers'-shops, servants'-rooms, store-rooms, wine-cellar, baggage compartment, mail-room, and iron specie room. The promenade deck for the first-class passengers is 168ft. long by 40ft wide. It is situated on the top of the middle deck house, and has on it a deck house, containing, in addition to the steerage and chart-rooms, a light and spacious saloon for ladies, with whom this new feature will undoubtedly prove attractive. The culinary arrangements are very complete, separate galleys being provided for cabin and steerage passengers, and everything is on the largest scale. Most particular attention is paid to sanitary matters, and all that was possible has been done for the comfort and convenience of a large number of passengers occupying a small space. The United States Emigration Commissioners, who inspect every vessel that arrives with emigrants, have praised, in particular, this feature of the vessels of the White Star Line. At present there is being built in the yard of Messrs. Harland & Wolff a sister ship of the same dimensions as the Britannic, and for the same Company. The steamship is expected to be launched in about three months.

M. Pouchet, in his great work, "The Universe," says that "Anatomically and physically speaking, the human mechanism is very rude and coarse compared to the exquisite delicacy revealed in the organism of certain animals. But in us, the intellect, the real sceptre of the universe, predominates over the apparent imperfection of matter. Through it man alone approaches the chosen creatures who shine near the throne of the Eternal, and form a bond of union between heaven and earth. If in his structure he belongs to our sphere, he seems already to elevate himself toward the Supreme Essence by the splendour of his genius." A grand and philosophic truth, and yet how comparatively small the number, and rare the genius, displayed in proportion to the number of the earth's inhabitants. Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress in enlightenment would then be marvelous. 2511

TUESDAY, MARCH 10, 1874.

Since a considerable number of petitions under the Controverted Elections Act have been filed, we may repeat what we have alredy stated in these columns, that the Judges will not probably be in a position to enter upon the trials before the close of the Assize Circuits now being entered upon, which will not be until towards the end of May.

A deputation selected at the meeting of the Manufacturer's held in Toronto, on the 24th February last, will be in this city, on Tuesday next, to press on the Governor in Council some changes in the tariff. A similar deputation is expected at the same time from Montreal to co-operate with the Ontario delegation on the same subject. Tuesday next has been fixed as the day for such interview, unless something intervene to prevent it.

An influential deputation of the Carpenters and Joiners of Ottawa had an interview yesterday with the Minister of Public Works for the purpose of representing to him that heretofore those of their trade in the city had not been justly dealt with by the Department of Public Works, inasmuch as workmen from the Province of Quebec usually had the preference. Their complaint in this respect seemed to be well founded. They also made representations of other causes of complaint, and Mr. Mackenzie assured them that their grievances would be fully considered by the Government.

The reports from the Gold Coast have been contradictory on some points of late, and not a little puzzling. On the main point, however, of British success, there is a general agreement. We were told a few days ago that the King of the Ashantees was a captive in the hands of Sir Garnet Wolseley; later accounts, while confirming the capture of Coomassie, and adding that it has been burned, state that the King has fled. It is affirmed by another authority in Africa that the British General, previously reported on the way to the coast, with his army, had decided to wait till the 13th Feb., to see whether he could accept the overtures of peace made by the Ashantees. It is satisfactory to notice these various confirmations of the intelligence that the Ashantees have been worsted, and are in no condition to renew hostilities. We may expect full and reliable information from the seat of war very shortly. The latest news received, brief though it be, is also confirmatory of the despatches announcing the triumph of the British arms. The thanks and congratulations expressed by Sir Garnet Wolseley were, no doubt, well deserved by his gallant little army, which perhaps could not have found an abler and more worthy leader.

THE GENERAL INCORPORATION.

The Ontario Opposition did their best to defeat the Attorney General's bill respecting Provident, Benevolent, and other Societies, notwithstanding that it was intended to establish a law under which the Orange Lodges might obtain incorporation at pleasure, without trouble. Under the provisions of this measure, a few persons desirous of forming societies of the above description, may obtain legal sanction and recognition, together with that public status so useful, and in some cases so necessary to the success of laudable objects. Mr. Mowat, in reply to hostile criticism, explained that the bill was framed upon the model of an English Act, which enabled seven persons, with similar objects—that is to say of a public and unobjectionable character—to obtain an Act of Incorporation. But while the English law set no restrictions upon the amount of property which those corporations might hold for their use, the Ontario proposed the limit of $1,000 annual value. He also explained that this bill gave greater advantages to the Orange Societies, in whose name the chief opposition to it was made, than their own proposed bills, as it admitted of the incorporation of their local lodges, which had as good claims to the privilege as other organizations. Considering that the Attorney-General, last year, voted for the Orange Bill, and this year brought in a measure to enable the Brotherhood to secure the objects it has hitherto sought in vain, he might claim, with reason, that its true friends sat on the Ministerial Benches, and argue that the gentlemen on the other side of the Speaker's Chair were merely making a pretense of devotion to the order, and striving to use it for political purposes. The objections of Mr. M. C. Cameron and friends to the bill were mainly trivial, any others being more than overborne by the case made for it by Ministers. Such arguments as that it was dangerous to place such privileges as were proposed within the command of seven persons associating together, and that it would be injurious to the local lodges to put them in a position to sue or be sued, proved how destitute were the Opposition of arguments worthy of the name. Various of their number, wedded to the old bill, of last year, which Sir John Macdonald, though he had the power to sanction, would not, stuck out for that luckless measure. Like children, because they could not get the red sugar-plum, they would not accept the white, though ever so much bigger. They declared they would not take incorporation for the Orangemen except it were granted by a special measure. They could not bear to see other associations obtaining legal advantages as well as the Brotherhood, by means of the same general act. The Oddfellows, Temperance, and other benevolent societies were not thought worthy of consideration, notwithstanding the good they accomplish. All the societies of this description should forsooth be put to the trouble of obtaining special acts of incorporation, involving considerable expense and trouble, and the serious occupation of the time of the Legislature simply because the Opposition were stubbornly set upon obtaining special recognition, and facilities for one of many fraternities in the Provinces. Could anything have been more childish, illiberal, and absurd? The attempt to excite the prejudices of Orangemen and Protestants against the Government in the matter, was characteristic of the hardihood and folly of the Opposition. One would think that the ministers were bigoted Roman Catholics, and that the bulk of the people of Ontario were of the same stripe. Need we say there is but one Roman Catholic in the Cabinet, and he not a bigot, while his co-religionists are a small minority of the whole people? The cry of "Protestantism in danger" is thus ridiculously out of place. The truth is, the general act was sadly wanted for the benefit of all sorts of of associations with proper objects, and there can be no great risk or error in adopting an English remedy. If any corporation refuses to avail itself of its advantages, out of mere whim, spite, or with political design, it is its own affair; its motives will meet with that public disapproval which constitutes the weightiest punishment. The general act was wanted, too, to protect the Orange Order from the insincerity and bad faith of those of its professed friends who have figured as the warmest promoters of the stranded act of last year. Those who may have read the reported speech of Mr. Snetsinger, M.P.P. for Cornwall, made recently at the nomination for the House of Commons, in his constituency, in which he defended his action against the old bill, will remember that he said that the leading Orangemen who were the promoters of the bill had acknowledged to him that they cared nothing for it, excepting in so far as it served the purpose of embarrassing the Reform Government; that since the Government had made capital out of the Scott murder affair, they were justified in trying to make the Orange Incorporation Bill serve that purpose to them. Those unprincipled factionists and agitators wanted not to pass the Orange Bill, but to keep it pending, a source of strife and disquiet, that, however hurtful to the country, was just the thing for them if only it brought them political capital. From such champions as those may all good Orangemen pray to be delivered. And if Mr. Mowat, instead of giving them a stone when they ask for bread, after the example of their leaders of the Conservative stripe, gives them the fullest freedom of corporate rights for the taking, he should be regarded rather as a benefactor than otherwise.

ELEVENTH ANNIVERSARY.—To-day is the Eleventh Anniversary of the marriage of the Prince of Wales and the Princess Alexandra.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Alexander Begg, immigration agent for the Ontario Government, in Glasgow, Scotland, was a passenger by the steamship 'Hibernian,' which left Portland for Liverpool on Saturday last.

TEMPERANCE READINGS.—The usual temperance readings will take place in the Temperance Hall this evening. A rich and varied programme is in store for those disposed to attend.

PENNY READINGS.—Our readers are requested not to forget the readings in the Temperance Hall this evening. A capital programme is arranged, and several of our city amateurs have promised their kind assistance.

CITIZENS ABROAD.—A dispatch just received from the "Grand National Hotel," Jacksonville, Florida, acquaints us of the safe arrival at that place of Messrs. D. O'Connor and R. Ryan of this city.

REFORM ASSOCIATION.—As will be seen in another column a meeting of the Reform Association is called for Thursday night. Members are urgently requested to attend as business of importance has to be transacted.

LEG BROKEN.—A man named Mortimer, from the township of Gloucester, was thrown from his sleigh on Sandy Hill on Sunday, and had his right leg broken. He was taken to a medical gentleman, who reduced the fracture.

OTTAWA COUNTY COUNCIL.—The County Council of Ottawa met in one of the rooms of the Model School, Hull, on Wednesday, 11th March. A large amount of business is expected to be gone through in relation to the County Buildings, such as the Jail, Court House, and Registry Office.

ST. ANDREW'S CONCERT.—The Executive Committee of the St. Andrew's Society meets in the St. Andrew's Hall, Elgin street, to-night, to make arrangements for the grand concert proposed to be given early next month. Scottish entertainments, as a rule, are very popular, and it is to be hoped the Committee will dish up a good bill of fare, especially as the House will be in session about that time.

OTTAWA VS. TORONTO.—The market tolls of Toronto were leased on Saturday last for $4,600 to one James King of that city. Ottawa has a revenue out of her market this year of $8,000. Fie! for shame, Toronto!

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.—As will be seen by an advertisement in another column, Mr. Jackson principal of the Ladies College, has established a conservatory of music in connection with that institution. Prof. E. J. Butler, who is a graduate of the celebrated "Liepsic Conservative," and thoroughly conversant with the class system in operation in the leading schools for music in Germny. We commend this long needed institute to the consideration of our citizens, for in it they have supplied them, a want long experienced in the city. It is to be hoped that Mr. Jackson's efforts will be warmly supported, for it is in such enterprises as these that lasting and material benefit accrues to the rising generation. The terms are reasonable, and can be known by making application to the principal at the College.

OPENING STREETS.—The ratepayers of St. George's Ward are anxiously enquiring as to the possibility of at once opening up the streets in a southerly direction towards the boundary line. It is becoming a work of more necessity, now that steps are being taken to build a bridge over the Rideau at the upper end of the Ward. If the streets be opened, it will facilitate the getting to market of all farmers that choose to come into the city in that direction. Some objection is made owing to the vast hollow intervening between two hills in that locality, but this is no excuse, for it will become incumbent upon the Coteau railway authorities to raise that to at all suit their purposes. This improvement, once done, a vast area of ground will be given for the growth of the city in that direction. It would be well that the Corporation gave this subject its immediate consideration.

DISCOURTEOUS TREATMENT.—At the Bishop's Chapel Sabbath School last Sunday afternoon, Rev. H. Pollard, Bishop Lewis' curate, announced that the services of Mrs. Tracy, as a teacher in the school were no longer required because she and her husband were in sympathy with the Reformed movement. Mrs. Tracy is one of the oldest teachers in that school, having had charge of a class before the Rev. Mr. Pollard came to Ottawa. She has the sympathy of many of the other teachers who have been instrumental in building up the school. They feel very much grieved at the action of the rev. gentleman, and some of them have expressed their intention of giving up their classes. We understand she meets the members of her class to-day to bid them farewell, not being allowed to visit them on Sunday last.

The Ottawa Races.

FOURTH DAY.

Yesterday the unfinished race for the Lumbermen's Purse of $75 was resumed. First horse to get $50, and the second $25. The contest was between Therien's 'Victory' and Connolly's 'Lady Jane,' but it being so late on Saturday it was deemed advisable to postpone the race till yesterday. The result of the whole race was as follows:

Victory	1 1 2 0
Lady Jane	2 2 1 1

'Lady Jane' in yesterday's race distancing her rival, was declared the winner of the whole purse. Mr. Connolly has reason to be proud of his mare, as she has repeatedly won honors on the turf.

SCRATCH MATCH.

A scratch match was arranged between Stanley's 'Plumper' and Wilment's 'Waterhorse,' for a purse af $50. This race was a very exciting one, and resulted in favor of Mr. Stanley's horse.

Plumper	2 2 1 1 1
Waterhorse	1 1 2 2 2

This closed the great trotting races on the Ottawa Course, and all interested seem satisfied with their first experience in winter racing on Mutchmor Park Race Course.

The "Queen" Herself Again.

Mine host Kavanagh of the "Queen," reopened yesterday at 12 o'clock. his fine Saloon, on the corner of Metcalfe and Wellington streets, and made the occasion an opportunity for entertaining his many friends. Many partook of the hospitality thus offered, and exchanged hearty congratulations with friend Kavanagh, on the success that had attended his efforts to improve the internal appearance of his saloon. The carpentering work is of the first class order, and reflects creditably on Mr. Ambridge, who was entrusted with the work. The erection of Pier Glasses and other mirrors was given the Messrs. Wilson and Orr, whose names have only to be mentioned as guarantee to the proper fulfilment of their part of the work. The whole thing has been done at considerable expense, but Mr. Kavanagh being a man that generally tones his conducting of matters with the spirit of the age, has found it necessary to reconstruct the internal fixtures of his saloon, and all can testify as to the success that has attended his efforts in doing so.

Enlargement of Daniels' Hotel.

The growth of our city of late years has rendered it absolutely necessary to increase hotel accommodation to meet its urgent requirements in this respect. Many of our public spirited men alive to this fact, have either built new hotels or so enlarged the old ones, as to now give ample accommodation to the very large floating population that visits our city from time to time. Amongst those men we have at present to mention Mr. Daniels', who has recently enlarged and otherwise rennovated that place,—the great resort of Members of Parliament, and tourists generally who visit the Capital,—generally known as "Daniel's Hotel."

NEW WING.

In the first place a new wing has been added to the rear, consisting of a building three storeys high, giving so much additional accommodation, that Mr. Daniel's is now able to offer his guests 65 well furnished, airy and ventilated bedrooms. The lower flat or ground floor is used entirely as a Dining Room; giving for that purpose as large and capacious a room as there is in the city. On the first floor there runs a fine wide corridor, the entire length of the new wing, well lighted at each end, giving it a bright and cheerful appearance. On each side of this corridor are a series of bedrooms, some arranged as single rooms, others so laid out that families can be located in them. The corridor and bedrooms are richly carpeted throughout, the furniture is new and of the latest design and everything else is in keeping with it. One great feature in these rooms is the attention paid to ventilation; and the beautiful arrangement of gas-fixtures in the corridor. On proceeding to the next flat, which is gained by stairs at either end of the corridor, we find a second edition of the first flat, a corridor similar to the one beneath, with bedrooms arranged on either side furnished and carpeted in the same luxurious manner as below.

THE OLD BUILDING.

The old building has also been somewhat reconstructed to make it chime in with the new. Fine large open archways give access from the old building to the corridors of the new wing on the first and upper floors, thereby facilitating transit to all parts of the building. The sitting and reading rooms will now be enlarged. The Bar, as before, will be distinct from the building proper, being in the basement of the adjoining building, thereby removing from the annoyance of guests the usual noise and bustle peculiar to that portion of any hotel. On the whole, mine host and hostess of Daniels' Hotel have our warmest congratulations in the success that has crowned their efforts to so arrange the internal economy of their house as to meet the desires of even the most fastidious guests that may choose to accord them their patronage. The old patrons will hail with pleasure on the 26th inst. the new and vast improvements that have been made to their favorite place of resort while temporary residents of Ottawa.

Reformed Protestant Episcopal Church.

A large audience assembled in the Court House last night to hear the address promised by the Rev. Dr. Gallagher with regard to the Cummins Reform movement in the United States, the principles upon which it is based, and the aims of the actors concerned.

The chair was taken by Mr. Z. Wilson, who, in a few appropriate remarks introduced the Rev. Doctor, who opened the proceedings with prayer. He then informed the meeting that his physical powers had been subjected to a great strain since his arrival in Ottawa, and he consequently felt in no condition to do justice to the important subject in hand. His remarks would be of a desultory, rambling character, and particularly as he would be obliged to read a number of extracts and quotations from writings and utterances upon this reform and relative topics. He said he felt like a Canadian from the fact that three of his grand parents were born under the British flag and that he had friends and relatives in this country, for whom he entertained a very high respect. It gave him great pleasure to stand before a Canadian audience, to talk on a theme of such vast importance—one which he deemed had a bearing not only on the present Episcopal Church in Canada, but which would affect its whole future being and that of every branch of the Christian Church for all time, in the most salutary and beneficial way. There were so many points to notice that he hardly knew where to begin, or where to stop after beginning. He asserted that the spirit prompting this movement was not one of radical change. They desired to keep as close as possible to the old landmarks of the British Church and the Protestant Episcopal Church of the States, with which he was twenty-seven years connected. Bishop Cummins had told him he desired to make only such changes as were absolutely necessary for the preservation of the faith pure and entire. They desired only to lop off such excresences as were endangering the vitals of the faith. The guiding spirit of their movement was entire love. They did not desire controversy with any of their brethren. It was only where the interest of the faith required it they would answer any attacks. Bishop Cummins was a man of the most excellent, loving spirit. With him from the inception of this movement, he (the speaker) had never heard him utter one unkind word, despite the provocation received. A specimen of the assaults upon him had been furnished very near the audience. Bishop Cummins, in his sermon on the consecration of the first Bishop of the new Church, Cheney, of Chicago, observed, the only principle on which we rely is love; not a word of recrimination, not a hard answer, not a hand lifted to strike back. When reviled, we shall not revile again. If any hears a word of retaliation from his lips, let him proclaim me false. In such ways would they obey the teachings of the Master, and build up the Reformed Episcopal Church. Could any man find fault with the teachings of such a man? The charge of schism was not a just one, but very unfortunate, for the reason that every argument on that head advanced against the Reformed Church bore as strongly against the whole Church of England. Cranmer, Latimer, Ridley and other Reformers had taken most solemn vows to adhere forever to the laws and customs of the Roman Catholic Church, and when the Spirit of God, acting upon their conscience, led them outside that Church, they broke their vows, and instituted a new communion, in which they regarded the Bishop of Rome, to whom formerly they had given adhesion, as Anti-Christ. Bishop Cummins acted upon the same principal, obeying the dictates of his own conscience. With regard to obedience to the Church, its articles which should be placed not back in the prayer-book, but in the forefront of the volume, as condemning every feature of Ritualism and Romanism, were best explained by the famous Bishop Burnet, afterwards by Stillingfleet, one of the greatest names in British theology. This was the standard book in every Protestant Episcopal Seminary in the United States as well as at Cambridge and Oxford. What did Burnet say: "So he, who, being convinced of the errors and contradictions of a church, departs from them, and goes on in the purity of the Christian religion, does pursue the true effect of his baptism and ordination vows." Did not that justify them, if they could show their way, just cause for their secession? Archbishop Laud, the originator of those forms and practices out of which ritualism sprang, thus replied to his Roman Catholic adversaries: "The cause of schism is yours; for you thrust us out from you because we called for truth and the redress of abuses. The schism must needs be theirs who are the just cause of it. Protestants did not get that name by protesting against the Church of Rome, but against her errors and superstitions." Now on the principles of the originator of this high church movement they were fully justified in their action if they could show cause for separation. Approbrium was sought to be cast on the colleagues of Bishop Cummins because they were deposed and degraded ecclesiastically. Now the Protestant Episcopal, the English and the Roman Catholic Churches were the only ones that employed this discipline in the case of ministers seceding for conscientious reasons. All other churches, when character was good, kindly gave such seceders a friendly letter of dismission, wherever they may choose to go, and then treat them as Christian brethren. Those three churches, however, acted in the most unkind, un-Christian and discourteous manner towards outgoers, much to their own injury. Now, one half the ministers of the Protestant Episcopal Church came from other churches, and would be branded as degraded and deposed did they act like the former. The Episcopal would, in that case, be regarded as the most degraded church on which the sun ever shone. There was no force in this argument of deposition. Dr. Gallagher went on to notice the statement of a tract he had seen in Ottawa, alluding to the sermon of Rev. Dr. Tyng, sen., of New York, against the Cummin's movement. He paid a high compliment to Dr. Tyng's Christian character and great services to the Episcopal Church, expressing regret that his name had been used in connection with this movement. His three sons, two of them clergymen, and all connected usefully and zealously with church work, were with this Cummin's movement. The father, a man of 75 years, could not conveniently or with benefit to the Church, abandon his present charge, which would fall to the hands of a less desirable man. Nobody wanted him to leave that splendid field in which God had so much blessed him. He was not favorable to Ritualism. Dr. Gallagher, proceeding, stated that the Laity of the Protestant Episcopal Church were seriously contemplating the errors and abuses that had crept into the Church; the subject was so far down in their hearts as not to make it much worse, but there would be an explosing, like that of a volcano, which would startle this whole continent Stewart Bros. & Co., one of the most influential laymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and a Warden of the Church where Bishop Bedell, formerly officiated, had written—If things remain, as they are in the Church, every Bishop ought to follow the example of Cummins. He also feared there there was little hope of effecting changes in their laws of prayer-book that would satisfy the Low Church members, and should this continue, it would be better to withdraw in peace. The rev. doctor said he believed that if reforms were not made, there would soon be a large secession, and the experience of Bishop Cummins in two Conventions of the Church forbade the hope of any beneficial changes. But for his brave step, there would be no hope. We ought to thank him for opening up a place of refuge should we be driven out of the Church. The speaker then proceeded to show cause for withdrawing from the Protestant Episcopal Church, beginning with extracts from an article in the "British Quarterly Review," headed "Quousque," written by Canon Jelph, of Christ Church, Oxford, himself a High Churchman, and which described the services and practices in some of the English Churches, as almost if not quite Roman Catholic in form and meaning. In one a requiem mass was celebrated for the soul of Mr. Purchas, in others were confessional-boxes. At Clifton, the Minister officiating at Holy Communion insisted on putting the bread into the mouths instead of into the hands of ladies, and so forth. He instanced a church in Newark, N. J., where the pastor commanded people to kneel on the floor at the communion rails, as it was unseemly to be standing in presence of the King of Kings, and to take up every particle of the sacramental bread with the tongue, as every particle contained the whole body of our Lord. He (Dr. Gallagher), could give many similar examples of such teaching and practices, had he time. Canon Jelph wrote, besides, that he had read of the Litany of the holy childhood forming part of the afternoon service in the parish churches. In fact Ritualistic journals almost every day tell like tales. He read an extract containing the following passage:—"Go into any of the Ritualistic Churches, and see whether you will not be reminded of Rome—whether everything does not tell the same tale of Romish celebrations, and services having overloaded everything in the English Church services. When extreme unction is administered to the dying and mass is said for them, when vespers were made a function in the Blessed Virgin's bosom, when we see a yearning towards Romish tenets, practices and institutions, and a desire to conform our services to the Romish type, the result being that we cannot recognize our own clergy, silence becomes no longer possible. It would be to connive at the scandal, to witness it without remonstrance. That was the confession of another clergyman of the Church of England. The Doctor next described the furniture and practices of the three New York Ritualistic Churches. The Bishop of New York consecrated the altar of one in memory of a deceased lady, the service being so like that of the R. C. Bishop in a similar service at St. Stephens, the same afternoon, singularly enough, that the account of the one might have been taken for that of the other. The description of the service at St. Albans, N. Y., on Christmas Eve, showed that at 12 o'clock began the celebration of the Holy Eucharist; then came a procession round the Church, composed of the incense-bearer in a black cassock, the cross bearer in a purple, and others in different colors, including the chorister-boys, followed by the Banner of the Nativity, etc. [Laughter.] All that was seen and done without any rebuke whatever from the Bishop. Then St. John's was presided over by Dr. Ewer, who had declared that Protestism was a failure. He did not think that his audience, especially the large number from Ireland, who knew what Romanism there was, would grant that Protestantism was a failure while they had their senses. [Applause.] Had he not shown good reasons for quitting the Episcopal Church? They had a duty to preserve their children, brought up in this country, and less acquainted with the errors seen to be so mischievous in Ireland, from lapsing from the truth. He believed God was with them and they would succeed. They had a bold, fearless leader, and men determined to stand by him to the end. They wanted to arouse the Protestant conscience of the country, and the United States, and put a stop to these evil things, and compel men to say whether they were Roman Catholics or Protestants. (Loud applause.) He had no faith in this milk and water mongrel theology. It was neither one thing nor the other. It could not be respected of God or honest men, and none more derided it than the Roman Catholics. There was nothing in it. He noticed the Bishop of Huron's (Helmuth's) testimony to the insiduous teaching of Romanism found in hymns put into the hands of children and others, as another indication of the spirit undermining and corrupsing their Protestant Church. As to the priests spoken of in some, it was all falsehood and imposture. There was no Priest but Christ. Priest was an idea hostile to the liberties of the people. The priesthood was striving to secure power over the minds and consciences of the people, and when it could not get the men it got the women. (Laughter and applause.) If they wanted their children to be Protestants, they must stop all that non sense. If they condemned Cummins for leaving the charmed circle of the Episcopate, they must censure Luther, and the great Wesley, whose transcendent merits were cordially acknowledged by Dean Stanley, of the Church of England. The Reformed Episcopal Church believes in the Old and New Testaments as the Word of God and rule of faith, and in the Apostles' Creed and doctrines set forth in the thirty-nine Articles of the Church of England. Second, it recognises Episcopacy, not as of divine right, but as a very ancient and desirable form of church policy. This idea of apostolical succession was being found out to be a mere ecclesiastical fable or assumption. (Laughter and applause.) The ablest scholars and writers in England are now admitting that this notion is unwarranted by the facts of history. The Churches of England and the States in acting upon this theory or doctrine, and keeping aloof from the other Churches had committed grievous sin in dividing, and thus weakening the Church of Christ, and they ought to repent in sackcloth and ashes. The Reformed Church plucked the doctrine out by the roots; but it had no roots. (Applause and merriment.) It did not go back to the Apostles, reaching only Bishop Cyprian, of Africa, 250 years after Christ was born. Dean Stanley gave it up, and Lightfoot, of Cambridge, and Riddell, author of the Greek Lexicon, and Harrison and Mossman—all learned and able. The new church accepted the revised prayer-book, of 1785, reserving the right to amend it, providing the substance of the faith be kept entire. They hoped to have delegates from Canada at the Synod, when revision was entered upon, that the work might be made acceptable to this country. The doctor again controverted the doctrine of the divine endowment or right of bishops, which would have come through a very muddy source—that of the Roman Catholic Episcopate—contending that the Holy Spirit could not have been likely to select such a medium. He wondered how any sensible Christian man could retain such a doctrine. He once believed it, but had abandoned it wholly. Like the Apostle, when he became a man, he put away childish things. (Applause.) They wanted to get rid of some of the blemishes of the prayer book, left the deference to Bishop Savary, 1785, through the weak fear of a split entertained by Bishop White and colleagues of that day, and to adopt the principles and ideas of William the Third and the Reforming Bishops of his day. The would not be cramped as to the liturgy. While having the settled form he presumed they would have the right ta introduce and extempore prayer if they saw fit. He thought they had erred in keeping too closely to a rigid rule. He thought the new church would adopt itself more fully to the genius of this grand western continent. Fourth—This Church condemned the doctrine that Christianity existed in only one form or order of Ecclesiastical polity, and that Christian Ministers were priests in any other sense, than that all belivers are a priesthood. Fifth—That the Lord's table is no altar on which the Body and Blood of Christ is offered anew. We suppose the doctrine of transubstantiation and consubstantiation. We deny that Christ is present in the bread and wine. We believe He is present in the heart of the worthy recipient, in the living spirit. Sixth—We reject the belief, that regeneration is necessarily or inseparably connected with Baptism. Ministers in good standing in other churches should be received into this one, on presenting letters of Dismission, without reordination. Ministers as well as Bishops would take part in the Episcopal and other ordinations. He went on to condemn the practice of erecting altars in churches, saying three-fourth of the Episcopal edifices in the United States were provided with them. They would expunge all phraseology from the prayer-book, and prohibit all vestments and decorations, encouraging Ritualism, which would be put an end to with the blessing of God. He next spoke of the great efforts made by himself and other clergymen in the States, to suppress Ritualistic errors and abuses, but all was in vain. The General Convention would not even print their petitions. The policy had been to draw towards Rome and prevent Communion, Christian intercourse or Cooperation with the Protestant denominations. Bishop Cummins, and others seeing no prospect of relief, determined to leave the Church, being the first Protestant Bishops who had taken this manly and laudable course. He (Dr. Gallagher), had just received a letter from the Bishop, who took a great interest in this Ottawa movement; expressing great sorrow at his inability to come here now. His wife's ill health obliges him to accompany her to the South. He said, that as soon as he could, in the course of a few weeks, he would come to Ottawa. (Applause.) He (the Dr.), thought when Parliament was here, would be a good time for the visit, for he thought Ottawa a great centre of influence, and he trusted that as its citizens had the honor of commencing the work in this part of the Dominion, they would see its influence go forth with great power to every part of the country. (Applause.) The Rev. gentleman concluded with the following, among other announcements; that a meeting would take place on Thursday night, to organize the Reformed Episcopal Church.

The proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of a Doxology and the benediction, pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Gallagher.

A DISTINGUISHED Physician has said that Neuralgia is the cry of the hungry nerves for their special food, which is the Phosphorous contained in the blood. This painful disease is usually followed by general prostration on account of the great waste of nerve tissue and insufficient supply of nerve force to maintain the functions of the vital organs. The common cause of Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pains is depraved Nutrition arising from derangements of the stomach, mal-assimilation of food, and poor blood. Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya supplies phosphorous for the nervous system, Lime as an excitant of nutrition, Iron for the blood, and Calisaya for promoting strength. No preparation in existence is so reliable to maintain the vital forces and energize all the organs and tissues of the body.

Horses Saved.

The lives of thousands of horses have been saved buring the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before given half as successful or given such [illegible] satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. Remember the name, and see that the signature of [illegible] & Co., is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., Proprietors for Canada, Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

Is the mind a ponderable or an imponderable substance; an essence, vapor, or an indescribable something which cannot be grasped, felt, or withheld? Man thinks, studies, invents, tires the brain by overwork, and loses his reason; rests his intellect, becomes calm, uses restoratives, and again thinks. When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, we cannot but conclude that the subtile power is really ponderable matter, from the fact that the ingredients are supplied which render it support and give it vitality. Persons who study hard should preserve their balance of power by using the Syrup.

Electricity! Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric Oil! — Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the chespest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it, it is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & [illegible], Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

BY TELEGRAPH

TORONTO.

Local Legislature.

TORONTO, March 9.

The chair was taken at 3:20.

After the usual routine, several private bills were advanced a stage.

Mr. Sinclair moved for the copies of all rules and instructions issued for the guidance of school teachers, trustees and inspectors. He thought some of the regulations were not what they ought to be, and all information was desirable since the present School Law was being consolidated. Carried.

Mr Baxter moved for all correspondence respecting the improvement of the navigation of the Grand River. He thought appropriations ought to be made for this river.

Hon. Mr. McKellar said the Government were debarred from doing so, owing to the river being in the hands of private companies.

Mr. Rykert moved for the names of all Railway Companies which have not complied, either in whole or part, with the conditions of the Orders in Council ratified by this House.

Hon. Mr. Crooks thought the information important, and would see that the papers were brought down. Carried.

Mr. Lauder moved that in the opinion of this House, all certificates and accounts respecting Public Works and repairs should be checked and verified by the architect and engineer of Public Works before payment, in accordance with the law and regrets that so large a sum as $812 27, part of the expenditure on the Central Prison, should have been paid without being so checked and verified. He admitted that the late government had violated the law, but that was no reason why the present government should continue to break it.

Hon. Mr. McKellar said the law was carried out in every case except in the Central Prison Works, and here the muddle of the late government made this exceptional course unavoidable. He challenged the opposition to show an item of improper expenditure. He understood the opposition had been hunting after such, but had given up the chase.

Hon. Mr. Cameron condemned the government for having taking work out o. the hands of Mr. Elliott, and given it without tender to political supporters.

The Attorney General said it was found that Mr. Elliott was doing work so slowly that it was absolutely necessary to take the works out of his hands, but no political feeling was pandered to, in giving out the works.

Hon. Mr. Fraser thought the government justified in appointing Wagne under the Engineer to look after the works and check accounts.

After a few remarks by Mr. Rykert the motion was lost without a decision being called for.

Mr. McManus asked for all educational correspondence.

The Attorney-General said the correspondence was very voluminous, and he did not think it was such as the honorable gentleman required.

The motion was carried.

Hon. Mr. Cameron moved that in the opinion of this House it is the duty of a member of the Executive Council to submit to be examined under oath when appearing before any Committee of this House empowered to examine witnesses under oath, and to give evidence in the same manner as any other witness; but that no such member of the Executive Council shall be examined respecting any matter or thing which by his oath of office he is required to keep secret and not divulge.

Hon. Mr. Crooks raised a constitutional question, and contended that Committees of the House had not power to administer oaths.

The House rose at six o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

The debate on the second reading of the bill to incorporate the Loyal Orange Lodge of Western Ontario was resumed, and continued at great length, members of the Opposition travelling over the old ground.

Mr. Hodgins moved a three months' hoist.

The Attorney General clearly showed that the object of the Opposition was political, and that they were not actuated by any special love for the Orangemen. The only objection made against the several measures was that it gave them more power than they asked for.

After several other members had spoken, the amendment was put and carried. Yeas, 41 - nays, 30.

The debate was then resumed on Mr. Cameron's motion on members of Executive Council.

The Hon. Mr. Crooks moved in amendment that in proceedings before select committees of this House while reasons of state policy, preclude members of the Executive Council from disclosing any confidential matters connected with their position, a member of the Legislative Assembly by Constitutional usage, may not be compelled by order of this House, to give evidence against his own determination.

Mr. Meredith moved in amendment to the amendment, "That it is expedient that the evidence of witnesses before Select Committees of the House, whether such witnesses be members of the Executive Council or not, should be taken under oath.

The Hon. Mr. Fraser moved the adjournment of the debate.—Carried.

The House then adjourned at 1.45 a m.

The "Sun" Changes Hands—A "Mail" Editor Becomes Manager.

The Evening Sun has changed hands. Mr. Doods sold out to-day to a Joint Stock Company.

Walter H. Barrett, a clever newspaper man, and for some time night editor of the Mail, has been made Manager.

The report of the Commissioner of Crown Lands was laid no the table to-day. The following are important items:—There were sold during the year 98,715 acres of Crown Lands. The sales amounted to $126 509, and the collections to $189,665 Clergy Lands 33,448 acres. The sales $58 078; collections $150,127. Common School Lands 4,908 acres. Sales $11,294; collections $73,766. Grammar School Lands 13,244 acres. Sales $19,494; collections $19,754. There were open for location under the Free Grants and Homestead Act of 1868, at the commencement of the year, 59 townships and 18 others had been appropriated, making a total of 77. The total number of townships now open for location is 69 and appropriated, but not now open for location 14, making in all 83. 757 locations were made during the year on 100 603 acres of land, and 5,038 were sold to 79 locatees and during the same period 383 locations made in former years were cancelled during the year 1873 for non-performance of settlement duty and the lands have been relocated to other parties. The total account of the year from timber dues, ground rents and bonuses is $353,811. This added to the normal collections make the total collections for 1873, $643,724. The amount still due on the sale after deducting $50,186 from the total, for 13 berths in respect to which the purchasers failed to comply with the conditions of sale is $33,737.10. Of the above $11,398.50 was paid at the close of December, 1873, too late to appear in the collections of the year. The payments reduce the balance actually due to $22,338.65. This with the exception of some good which may be considered doubtful, it is expected will be collected next year with interest. The Orange Bill correspondence was laid on the table to-day.

Mr. Lauder's motion respecting public accounts was allowed to be lost to-day without a division. This was caused by Cameron not being in accord with his Lieut. He would have voted against the motion.

The St Lawrence market fees for current year sold on Saturday for $14,600.

Pattieson, Manager of Mail, goes to England on Saturday.

MONTREAL.

Chambly Election Protested—Street Accident—Volunteer Inspection—Markets.

MONTREAL, March 7.

Mr. Benoit, the unsuccessful candidate for Chambly County, this afternoon filed his contestation of the election of Mr. A. Jodoin.

This morning the son of the Rev. Gavin Lang, slipped while crossing St. Catharine street, and had a very narrow escape of being seriously hurt by a public sleigh which was passing at the time. He fell between the horses, and the body of the sleigh passed partly over him as he lay on the ground, fortunately without injuring him seriously.

The Prince of Wales' Rifles mustered in full force last night in the Exhibition Building for their annual inspection by Lieut.-Col. Bacon, and made a most creditable show, being some three hundred strong.

A caucus meeting of the City Council was held yesterday afternoon in the City Hall chambers, for the purpose of making a draft of committee, to be submitted at the next meeting of the Council.

It is not certain as yet that Rev. J. Gibson will accept the call from the Chicago Church, although this seems to be probable. This offer is said to be worth from $8,000 to $10,000 per annum. Erskine Church is prepared to offer $4,000 to retain his services.

Floor, superior extra $6 30 to $6 45; extra $6 07½ to $6 20; strong bakers' $6 75 to $6 20; spring extra $5 60 to $5 65; superfine $5 25 to $5 35; fine $4 70 to $4 75.

Nothing new to report about the money market. Business as usual on Saturday, is quiet. Exchange of all kinds is nominal at unchanged rates.

The New Brunswick railroads have been injured by late freshets and communication interrupted. The rain storm of Wednesday flooded a great portion of Stewiacke Valley in Colchester County, one and two feet of water being on the road in many places. The river and streams were swollen to a great height, and all bridges on the main portions of the Stewiacke and Shubenacadie rivers were carried away. Old residents say the flood was the most destructive one for 20 years. Travelling in consequence is seriously impeded, It is feared that other parts of the Province have also suffered by the flood.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color, has divested our current politics of half their bygone intensity. However parties may henceforth rise or fall, it is clear that the fundamental principles which have hitherto honorably distinguished the Republicans are henceforth to be regarded as practically accepted by the whole country. The right of every man to his own limbs and sinews—the equality of all citizens before the law—the inability of a State to enslave any portion of its people—the duty of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of this liberty until he forfeits it by crime—such are the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and palsied be the hand which shall seek to displace them! Though not twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of man and the benignant smile of God.

Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and humble from violence and oppression—to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilisation—to stimulate Ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economizing Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gains of Industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, the Tribune contributes its zealous, persistent efforts.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially elucidated in its Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful tillers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who has $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as the Tribune. And we aspire to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage enables us to do; and we are resolved that our success of former years shall be exceeded in varied excellence and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our journal better and better, by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us!

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published, and thould very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuiness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of Dr. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of Dr. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat, the disease (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of Dr DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption. its Early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen Physician to Guy's Hosp......

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that subtance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

. Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his gurantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

Dr. Granville F.R.S., Author of the 'Spas of Germany.'

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the Pale Oil."

Edwin Canton, Esq., F.R.C.S., Surgeon to Charing Cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL sold only in Imperial Half-pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; Capsuled and Labelled with his Stamp and Signature

GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength, Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, ointments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labell on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Post-Office, Ottawa," will be received at this office until Saturday, the 28th day of MARCH next, at noon, for the finishing and completion of the above buildings.

Plans, specifications, &c., can be seen at the office of Walter Chesterton, Esq., architect, Ottawa, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 11th inst., where forms of Tender, &c., and all necessary information can be obtained.

Contractors are notified that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms except there are attached the actual signature and the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same.

For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required on real estate, or by deposit of money, public or municipal securities, or bank stocks, to an amount of five per cent. on the bulk sum of the contract.

To the Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the contract.

LIGHTHOUSE SERVICE.

Tenders will be received by this Department at Ottawa, up to noon of WEDNESDAY, the 18th MARCH NEXT, for the supply in bond of 75,000 gallons per annum, more or less, for one or three years, at the option of the Department, of the best quality of double-distilled standard white extra refined Petroleum Oil, deliverable at Hamilton, Sarnia, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N.B., and Halifax, N.S., in such quantities and at such times as the Department may desire.

The oil to be subject to inspection of Department, and re-gauged at place of delivery, and delivered free from all charges, including Inland Revenue inspection charges and gauging, as above specified.

The Old Bachelor.

Silent he sits in his easy chair,
At the close of the Winter's day;
His gaze is fixed on the flickering fire,
And his thoughts are far away.
He thinks of the days when he was young,
And life was full of joy—
When he daily trudged to the village school,
A happy, careless boy.
He thinks of the home of his boyhood's years,
The old farm house on the hill—
Of father, mother and sister dear—
And with tears his dim eyes fill;
For they are asleep in the churchyard now,
And he is left alone,
To struggle through life the best he may,
With none to call his own.
He sees in his vision a maiden fair,
With eyes of heavenly blue,
With golden hair, and a winning grace,
And a heart both warm and true.
Fond mem'ry recalls the shadowy past,
And he seems to live again
In the tender glance of her deep blue eyes,
The happiest man of men;
But, alas for the shortness of earthly bliss!
Death claimed her for his bride,
And, when she passed to the Better Land,
His heart within him died.
Bereft of all that his soul held dear,
Of kindred and of love,
He only waits God's messenger
To summon him above.
His neighbours call him stern and cold,
And laugh at his lonely life;
And the merry girls with wonder ask
Why he never takes a wife.
Ah! little they know of his early love,
And of her his promised bride;
And little they know, when her life went out,
How his heart within him died.
The world may treat him with laugh and scorn
He heeds not the cruel jest;
He knows that the shafts of ridicule
Are aimed at the purest and best.
Alone he plods on his weary way,
For he never can love again;
There are no blue eyes whose tender glance
Can make him the proudest of men.
Silent he sits in his easy chair,
At the close of the Winter's day;
His gaze is fixed on the flickering fire,

The Death of Dr. Livingstone.

The Academy of the 4th Feb. publishes the following letter from Lieutenant Cameron:

UNYANYEMBE, Oct. 16, 1873.

It is with extreme regret I write to announce to you the melancholy news of the death of Dr. Livingstone, of which we received news from Chumah, his servant, who came in advance of his caravan, in order to get some [provisions], as he says they are utterly destitute. From his report (Chumah's) they had passed the northern shores of Lake Bemba (Bangweolo), and arrived at about 10 deg. S lat. on Luapula, when the Doctor was attacked with dysentery, which carried him off in about ten days or a fortnight. His servants have disembowelled the corpse and filled it with salt, and put brandy into the mouth, &c., so as to preserve it, and are bringing it along with them. They have also two boxes of books with them, and say there is another at Ujiji, which the Doctor told them to fetch and take down to the coast with them; so I intend, as the caravan consists of 70 or 80 men, to send part down to the coast at once with the body, and take part to Ujiji to bring back the said box. I intend now to strike as soon as possible for the furthest point reached by the Doctor in 1871, and endeavour to trace the River Lulaba, to its outlet; for this I have sufficient stores, but I have been obliged to purchase largely here at very high prices, the Arabs charging fifteen dollars for a piece of satini (very inferior sheeting) which might cost three dollars at Zanzibar; certainly they are almost out of stores themselves. It is very difficult to get pagazi, as Mirambo's men are all over the country, and they are all afraid to go; however, I am in hopes of getting off now as soon as I have seen the Doctor's body started for the coast. The reason of our long stay is the amount of illness; I have had eight fevers and a bad attack of inflammation of the eyes, which for some time rendered me quite blind, and even now I am unable to use them for long, and my sight is hazy and indistinct. On our arrival here, after paying off pagazi, we had only 13 bales of cloth left, so that I was obliged to purchase largely, especially as I thought Dr. Livingstone would stand in need of supplies, and as it turns out he was nearly destitute at the time of his death.

V. LOVETT CAMERON,
Lieut., R.N

P.S.—Livingstone first reached the middle of the north shore of Lake Bemba; being unable to cross, doubled back and rounded it, crossing it, beside the Chamsi, and three other rivers flowing into the lake. He then went as (far as I can make out) looking for the fountains of Herodotus, and I think crossed the Luapula to the eastward, marching in a dreadful marshy country, with the water for three hours at a time above their waists. Ten of his men died and several ran away. His caravan now consists of 79 men. No doubt I shall learn more when it arrives.

The following despatch has been received at the Foreign Office from Her Majesty's Acting Consul General in Zanzibar:—

ZANZIBAR, January 12, 1874.

MY LORD—I have the honour to acquaint your lordship that for some weeks past rumours have prevailed in Zanzibar, to the effect that Dr. Livingstone had died near Ujiji, and that his body had been preserved and enclosed in a box for transportation to the coast. On the 3rd January these rumours were confirmed by letters received from Lieutenant V. L. Cameron, R. N., commanding the Livingstone East Coast Expedition, the latest of which was dated Unyanyembe, October 22, 1873. As these letters were forwarded under flying seal for the information of the political agent, I have been able to glean from them the following particulars regarding the latest movements of Dr. Livingstone, and circumstances attending his death. It appears from the information given to Lieutenant Cameron by the doctor's servant, Chumah, that Livingstone proceeded from Ujiji to the middle of the northern shore of Lake Bemba, (Bangweolo), and that being unable to cross it, he retraced his steps and rounded it to the southward, crossing besides the Chambesa, three other rivers which flowed into the Lake. He then went (so far as Lieutenant Cameron is able to make out) in search of the ancient fountains of Herodotus, and eventually turned to the eastward and crossed the Luanala. After marching for some days through an extremely marshy country, in which, sometimes for three or four hours at a time, the water stood above the waists of the travellers, the doctor succumbed to an attack of dysentery, which carried him off after an illness of ten or fifteen days. During this trying journey two of his men died, and several deserted. The remainder, 79 in number, disembowled the corpse, and embalmed it as well as they were able, with salt and brandy. On hearing Unyanyembe, Chumah, with a few others, started ahead in order to procure supplies, as the party was nearly starving; and the remainder, with the body, were reported to be distant from ten to twenty days' march from Unyanyembe at the date of Lieutenant Cameron's letter. It will be seen on reference to Dr. Livingstone's last communication to your lordship's address (dated 1st July, 1872) that the account given by the doctor's servants of his latest movements agrees in the main with the route sketched out by the traveller himself Before leaving Unyanyembe, his intention was to go southwards to Ujiji, then round the south end of Tanganyika, and crossing the Chambeze, to proceed west along the shore of Lake Bangweolo. Being then in latitude 12 deg. south, his wish was to go straight west to the ancient fountains reported at that end of the watershed, then to turn north to the copper mines of Katanga, and after visiting the underground excavations, to proceed to the head of Lake Lincoln, whence he would retire along Lake Kamolindo towards Ujiji and home. He distinctly stated that it was not his intention to return northward through the Manyuemo country; and, as he estimated the duration of his journey from Ujiji and back again at eight months, it is not unreasonable to infer that the design had been completely carried out, and that Livingstone was on his homeward journey when attacked by the disease to which he fell a victim. This supposition is rendered more probable by the fact that when the Doctor left Unyanyembe he was well supplied with stores and provisions, and that he is reported by his servants to have been nearly destitute at the time of his death. A letter which I received the same day (January 3) from Jarid bin Jalim, the Arab Governor of Unyanyembe, further informed me that the death occurred at Lobisa. If this is correct, and if that district is accurately laid down upon the maps, Dr. Livingstone must have proceeded further to the eastward than was supposed by Lieut Cameron, who fixes the spot where he had died approximately at 10 deg. S. latitude and 28 deg. east longitude. The messenger who brought Lieutenant Cameron's letters reports that the road from Ujiji to the coast is now perfectly clear, and that, as Mirambo is entirely destitute of ammunition, nothing is to be feared from him or his adherents. In fact, he asserts that there is not a charge of powder in the whole country. As a mark of respect to the memory of Dr. Livingstone, the flag staff of this agency was kept at half mast from sunrise to sunset on the 5th of January. This example was followed by His Highness the Sultan, by Her Majesty's ships of war then in harbor, the 'Briton' and the 'Dauphine,' and by the consular representatives of the other foreign powers in Zanzibar, from all of whom I received letters of condolence on the death of this eminent explorer and distinguished servant of the Queen.

Electricity! Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric Oil!—Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11, 1874.

OTTAWA AND NORTH SHORE RAILROADS.

A correspondence has been going on in the London Financier with regard to the Quebec and Montreal North Shore Railway scheme. It arose out of a letter to that journal, written by Nelson & Sons, reciting that at a meeting of the proprietors of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, on the 22nd ult., Mr. Potter said that a number of Chicago speculators have contracted to build a second line of railway from Quebec to Montreal. "You would hardly believe how men would enter into such contracts; and they are coming over here to sell their bonds. Although we have worked this line between Quebec and Montreal for twelve years, and it does not pay its working expenses, owing to the competition with the river in the summer, and owing to the absence of traffic in the winter; and although this competitive line is on the North Shore in a more severe climate, and without access to the sea, I believe they are now, or soon will be, in London, attempting to float their bonds. Of course, they take it as an operation and do not care a straw whether the line pays or not." In reply to this statement, we beg to say that no Chicago, or any other American speculators, have anything whatever to do with the undertaking; neither are they here, nor soon will be, to float their bonds, nor is the line on the North Shore in a more severe climate (than the Grand Trunk), or without any access to the sea The real facts are, the project has been taken up by the Honorable Thomas McGreevy, and a large number of the most respectable and responsible gentlemen in Lower Canada, and they have obtained a grant of 1,200,000 acres of land in aid of the undertaking, and also a subsidy of £600,000 in bonds of the Provincial Government, and City of Quebec and municipalities along the line, which together they think fully equal to the entire cost of the railway, which is estimated at £1,400,000. The time is not far distant when the Directors of the Company will probably offer a portion of these bonds on the London market, and we feel confident that, notwithstanding Mr. Potter's attempt to disparage their value, the public will look upon them with greater favor than any of the best class of Grand Trunk securities."

Mr. Potter replied to the above, repeating his previous statement that the North Shore was in the hands of Chicago speculators, the most prominent of whom were formerly officers of the Chicago and North Western Railway in the days of its sore trouble. He continues:—

These gentlemen have followed the American fashion of creating a Credit Mobilier, or Construction Company, and have undertaken to build the North Shore Railway, and to stock it, receiving in payment the municipal and county bonuses, the wild lands, and the bonds authorized by the Charter.

It was in this fashion that the Union Pacific was built, and many other Western roads, including the completed portion of the Northern Pacific

In the case of the Canada Southern, the Construction Company consisted of the Directors themselves, who received in payment the shares and bonds of the Company, and issued the bonds in New York and London at the best market price obtainable.

The Chicago speculators, contractors for the North Shore Railway, during the spring of 1873 attempted the negotiation of their bonds in London to a syndicate of capitalists, I think at the price of £60 per £100 bond of six per cent. The negotiation made some progress, but was suspended to enable the Chicago gentlemen to arrange for the control of the share capital by the London Syndicate. They obtained such control in Quebec, and returned to London in the summer, but failed to complete the negotiations

They will soon be in London again, and it was with the legitimate object of inducing the proprietors of this Company to put their house in order between Montreal and Quebec. that I mentioned the subject.

In a subsequent letter Mr. Potter says:

The prominent members of the Chicago Construction Company, to whom the North Shore Railway Company assigned their bonuses, bonds and wild lands, are—Mr. G. L. Dunlop, late General Superintendent; Mr. Perry H. Smith, late Vice President of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company, and Mr. Sam Keith. The English capitalists last season were—Messrs. Benson and Messrs. Waring Brothers. Within the last few weeks these gentlemen have sold out and transferred their contract to Mr McGreevy, of Quebec, so that the British capitalists will be introduced, not to Messrs. Dunlop, Smith and Keith, but to their assigns.

The Globe's London correspondent states in reference to this subject that the North Shore project is likely to receive considerable attention from the railway press of this country, now that the company are coming to England to raise the requisite capital. The contractor, Mr. McGreevy, has reached England before this, and may have made some progress in raising the needed money. At any rate, he is, doubtless, busily engaged with this object. It will be noticed that Mr. Potter at first was not aware that the enterprise had passed out of the hands of the Americans, but his second letter was penned with the advantage of that knowledge. Neither does he speak disparagingly of the prospects of the new managers, with reference to the raising of the needed capital or the completion of the road in Quebec. Several of the present stockholders, including Col. Rhodes, and leading timber merchants of Quebec City, are men of means, whose names ought to inspire confidence in England and Canada. If they made liberal investments in the stock, which some may have done, they would contribute materially to the floating of the scheme in the London market.

It will be noticed that the President of the Grand Trunk gives rather a discouraging account of its experience with the line between Montreal and Quebec. We are told it has not paid, though on what some people think the warmest and best side of the St. Lawrence, and enjoying connection with United States roads. There is not much in the notion of a difference of climate, though connection with the States is a factor in the business calculation not to be despised. It may be presumed from the intelligence of the present North Shore Company, whose members are old residents of Quebec, knowing well its people and resources, that they have thoroughly considered the difficulties the railroad is likely to encounter. The Provincial Government has also thought of, and provided for them in the liberal grants made the Road last session of the Local Legislature, amounting to something like $7,000 a mile. This, aid supplemented by the million voted by Quebec city and the County bonuses, reduces the risk of loss or failure to a minimum, so far as the actual construction of the Railway is concerned. The experiment of working it afterwards is another matter. The earnings for some time, unless the Roads from Montreal to Ottawa and above, created a good current of business, might not be very large. But the Northern Colonization will be built as soon as, if not before the North Shore, and the chances are that a considerable through traffic may offer from the first. With regard to winter, should the Levis and Kennebec Road, only ninety miles to United States connections on the frontier, be constructed within the same period of two years, these northern interior roads would constitute the shortest, most direct route to the Maine seaboard. From Quebec to Portland, by the Levis and Kennebec, is only 240 miles. The existence of such a short through line would be a great advantage to this whole Ottawa and North Shore region; nor is it likely it would injure the Grand Trunk to any considerable extent. No one wants to see that main line, so useful to Canada, suffer loss. It is certain the cheapening of freights in the back country, and the attraction of Western trade to the Ottawa route would advance the general interests of Quebec and Ontario, to the benefit of the Grand Trunk as well as all other public enterprises. With economical, sound construction, and judicious management, the new roads should prove a success.

HALF-DAY—WHOLE SORROW.

We have already expressed our opinions upon the attempts made by the Ontario Opposition to magnify the act of Mr. McKellar, in granting the Central Prison employes a half holiday, to attend the Toronto nomination, last December, into a heinous, unpardonable political crime. This party have laboured by tongue and pen to fix a stigma upon the honest, good-natured Commissioner, such as the vilest criminal might resent as unreasonable. The time of the Legislature both in Committee and the House has been prodigally wasted in absurd, wordy conflicts upon this trifling transaction, the accusers looking as grave and acting as pompously as if upon their constitutional learning, political virtue and dignified procedure depended the fate not only of Ontario, but the whole Dominion. The leaders of the Opposition made the most of their charges of corruption, intimidation, Ministerial interference and all that, harping on the theme day after day in Committee and elsewhere, fancying they had at last got a lever by which they might eject from power the present Government. This great, suggestive subject monopolised their thoughts, and made them, in their own opinion, as interesting to mankind as was that famous day "big with the fate of Cato and of Rome." The Fates are still capricious, however, and the toilers for office had better count upon another mortifying disappointment. They have already supped sufficient sorrow for one session, all their little schemes of ambition like the best laid, of mice and men, having gone "aglee" as the Poet puts it. The defeat on the Orange Bill, the case for which was made up with such immense care and trouble, was the last hope knocked away. There is nothing else to replace it, and the prospect of a Ministerail check, however slight, has vanished into thin air. It is but right to give Mr. McKellar's own explanation of his act, so misrepresented, distorted and unscrupulously used against himself and colleagues, premising that the loss to the Province, of the half holiday, under the most unfavourable view of the matter, would not exceed $200. He states:

"On the forenoon of the day of the nomination of Messrs. Bickford and Moss, Mr. Dickey called upon me at my office, and told me that some of the men at the Central Prison desired to attend the nomination. He also told me it was customary for large employers of labor to give their men on such occasions time to attend nominations without reducing their wages. I thought if that were the rule—and I know I had acted upon the principle myself when I hired men—that it would be only a fair thing for the Government to give the same indulgence to their men I then gave him a note to Mr Wagner, the Superintendent of the works, a copy of which I did not keep. The language, however, was to the following purport, and as near as I can recollect to the original: "If the men desire to attend the nomination, you are at liberty to give them half a day's liberty, and let their wages go on." That was all I did, and my reason for doing it was as I have already stated. I thought it was only a graceful and proper thing for the Government to give the same indulgence to their men that other employers of labor gave. I have done it myself and I believe no person, company or corporation loses anything by giving such an indulgence; for the men work better, and make good any little loss that may be sustained in the way of wages. By letting all the men go no jealousy could arise between Moss and Bickford men. I had no intention of making any distinction between the political parties. I thought no objection could be raised on party grounds to letting all the men go to the nomination where both candidates and their friends were to discuss the public questions of the day, and where no division or show of hands was to be taken to indicate which party had a majority on the ground. I had no communication, verbal or otherwise, with any of the foremen or men on the works, before or during either of the elections, further than the note I sent to Mr. Wagner, and to which I have already referred. I never directly or indirectly asked any one how he intended to vote, or attempted in any way to influence the men to vote for one candidate or the other. I had no knowledge then, nor have I now, of the relative numbers of the Moss and Bickford men."

Up to this date the following elections in Quebec have been contested:—Two Mountains, Chambly, Richmond and Wolfe, Joliette, Bagot, Montreal West, Montreal Centre. The last three were filed yesterday at the same moment.

The anti-liquor crusade continues in the States, public attention being greatly occupied with it. Many saloon-keepers have been induced to abandon the trade and multitudes persuaded to take the pledge. The movement is being sharply criticised and in many places opposed, but it appears to have a good deal of vitality, and to be capable of effecting much useful result.

CORRECTION.—Some typographical errors appeared in our report of Rev. Dr. Gallagher's address yesterday, but the sense of the passages will have enabled the reader to correct them. One only we will notice, as the point affected is very important. The sentence conveying one of the views of the Reformed Protestant Episcopal Church should read: We "oppose" Transubstantiation and Consubstantiation—not "suppose," which appears, The succeeding sentence, correctly enough printed, declares the Cummins Party deny the presence of Christ in the bread and wine.

The New York Herald, in an article on the "Stockinged" or hoarded gold, states that during the last twenty years over nine hundred and ninety millions of dollars in coin, have been exported from New York city, a very inconsiderable quantity having returned. Most of it has gone to England, which received from Australia, also, about a thousand million dollars in specie. The fact of England's showing no great surplus is explained by the theory of the distribution of this gold in Egypt and other semi-civilized or barbarous countries, the natives of such lands requiring gold in exchange for their merchandise, and hoarding much of it, while using no little in the manufacture of personal ornaments.

The St. John Telegraph refers to the want of a railway bridge at the mouth of the St. John River, to connect the lines running east and west from that point, and says it has cause to believe that the Minister of Public Works is in communication with the Directors of the European and North American Railway on the subject of the construction of this link in a most important line of communication. This is the only break in the line from Halifax to San Francisco. Whoever shall build it, there can be no doubt that it ought to be built without loss of time. The Telegraph hints that a deputation of the railway interests involved will shortly visit Ottawa, to confer with the Premier, and learn the views of the Government on the subject.

The Nor'-Wester, of Feb. 23rd, which now comes to us in colour of blue, instead of red, as last time, has the former melancholy hue only on the outside. It is in good spirits with regard to the business prospects of Winnipeg and Manitoba the ensuing season. Many persons have been out of work for some time, but are now waiting for the opening of spring to fall to farming, and building, which will afford employment for not only all on the spot but the crowds of immigrants expected. The Dominion has a number of public works to erect this year, and a large number of private buildings are also to be run up. Last year being the grasshopper season, the land was for the most part neglected, but there is no need this year of such abstention. Our contemporary's remarks on this subject, which appear in another column will interest people even not thinking of a trip to Manitoba.

Is the mind a ponderable or an imponderable substance; an essence, vapor, or an indescribable something which cannot be grasped, felt, or withheld? Man thinks, studies, invents, tires the brain by over work, and loses his reason; rests his intellect, becomes calm, uses restoratives; and again thinks. When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, we cannot but conclude that the subtle power is really ponderable matter, from the fact that the ingredients are supplied which render it support and give it vitality. Persons who study hard should preserve their balance of power by using the Syrup. 2505

THE BAY VERTE CANAL.

We have heard a great deal of the benefits which it is supposed by some, would flow from the Bay Verte Canal. There is nothing so useful as the other side of every story or theory, and in this case it will be found in the following letter:

To the Editor of the Halifax Chronicle.

SIR,—Upon the opening of the Dominion Parliament our venerable Senator will "put a question to the Government as to the present state of the Bay Verte Canal;" at least we can have no doubt as to his so doing, as that has been the sum total of his public doings at Ottawa (except to draw his pay) for the last six years. Now, as Mr. Mackenzie is universally believed to be an honest, upright man, it is to be hoped that instead of putting up some one with a lie in his mouth, as has hitherto been done, and say that the work has received a "valuable impulse," that he will meet the matter squarely, and say that he wants more data to justify the expenditure of some eight or ten millions of money. It is true that no public undertaking in this country (always excepting our great Spring Hill Mines) has been so industriously written up—cracked up, or puffed up, if you will, as this Canal. This is all very well in its way, but will it justify the expenditure of the people's money? An article in a late number of the Trade Review,—probably written here by some land holder—urges the building of the Canal to carry the produce of P. E. Island to St. John. Now, it is quite true that the Island is an excellent place for raising cereals, but it would so happen that about the time they must be exported that the Canal will be frozen up solid, and continue so for at least six months in the year. The Island has steam and rail connection with St. John, and an enquiry might show that a good size ship would carry all they have for that market in one cargo. Then again we are told of the great Pictou coal trade which would pass through it. Now, let us look into this. In 1873 there were exported from all the Pictou mines to Boston, 52,080 tons, and we may fairly reckon that when the millions of tons which Spring Hill is to raise and ship at a much less freight, that this trade will be totally cut off. But I would like to have some better authority than a lawyer, whose career has been a failure in both law and politics, that a ship at the mouth of Pictou harbor would leave clear weather and plenty of seamen and go exploring amongst the rocks, sand banks and oyster beds, to find the entrance of Tignish River, and then pay canal dues for twenty miles and be landed in a mud creek nearly a hundred miles distant from a harbor, and where for months the fog is so thick that no ship of any size dare run a mile, and coasters are often from fifteen to twenty days making the passage to Boston. Mr. Keeler, on page three of his report, says that the entrances to the canal are likewise beset with difficulties but it is believed that none of these are insurmountable." Believed, indeed? And upon such facts the guardians of the the public money are asked to expend millions. Who believes Tupper's statement that a remonstrance from two New Brunswick members postponed the work? No, sir; a member of the Government had heard of a certain Shubenacadie Canal, and wanted more light, and Smith and Burpee were merely the scape goats.

Your obedient servant,
AN OLD SHIPMASTER.

Cumberland, Feb. 1874.

Thoroughly tired of the present gas supply in the city of Montreal, because of its bad quality and dishonest measurement, a number of business men of the city have associated themselves under the name of the Consumers' Gas Company. This Company was organized under its charter the other day in Montreal. In the discussion which followed, one well-known gentleman told his experience, which no doubt many of our readers will recognise as being akin to their own, and which is as follows:—

"He felt that it was high time that there should be another Company in Montreal. His reasons were first, on account of the inferior quality of the gas which had been furnished until within a very recent date; then there was the high charge which was levied for the inferior article. He would give his own experience on the subject. Last year he thought that his gas bill had arrived at a position than it could hardly go higher it being considerably higher than the two previous years. Last summer, for his own comfort and convenience, he had abolished gas in his dining room and partly in his drawing room, and yet, this last half quarter his bill has been 25 per cent in advance for the same quarter for the previous year. This was not an isolated fact. He referred to the reduction which had taken place in other companies rates under the pressure of opposition, and said that prices might well be reduced and still a handsome profit made. He spoke of the improved quality of the gas which the new Company proposed to supply, and added that he believed it might profitably be furnished at $1 per thousand feet.

The Senatorship for Alma.

In writing on this subject, we must ask for once, to be allowed to do so from the personal point of view, and as the senior editor of this paper. Our object in doing so is to thank, not only many friends and fellow-citizens, but also our confreres of press, for the kind and generous expressions with which they have received the announcement of Mr. Penny's appointment to the Senate. He is, of course, quite aware that this is at least as much due to partiality for himself, as to any fitness which he professes for the post which has been conferred upon him. But he feels it to be no light ground of self-congratulation that he has been able to acquire the good-will of the large number of members of his profession, many of them of opposite politics to his own, many with whom it has been his business to maintain long standing controversies—who have been good enough to testify their approbation of the action of the Government on this occasion. It will always be a source of pleasure to him to remember the favor thus manifested. He can sincerely say that the sentiment which prompts it is heartily returned; that if one reason more than another has made his appointment a source of pleasure to him it has been the handsome and cordial manner in which it has been so frequently mentioned by members of his own profession; and that with the thanks which he now tenders them he asks them also to accept his hearty desire for the prosperity both of the profession as a whole, and of every individual member of it.—Herald.

M. Pouchet, in his great work, "The Universe," says that "Anatomically and physically speaking, the human mechanism is very rude and coarse compared to the exquisite delicacy revealed in the organism of certain animals. But in us, the intellect, the real sceptre of the universe, predominates over the apparent imperfection of matter. Through it man alone approaches the chosen creatures who shine near the throne of the Eternal, and form a bond of union between heaven and earth. If in his structure he belongs to our sphere, he seems already to elevate himself toward the Supreme Essence by the splendour of his genius." A grand and philosophic truth, and yet how comparatively small the number, and rare the genius, displayed in proportion to the number of the earth's inhabitants. Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellows Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress in enlightenment would then be marvelous. 2511

The concert promises to be one of the best of the season, the best amateur talent in Ottawa and other cities of the Dominion having promised to lend their assistance. It is not only intended to give the audience a musical treat, but the committee of management have invited several gentlemen who have promised to give addresses, and among whom are Mackenzie Bowell, M.P., Worshipful Grand Master, and H. S. Macdonald, Deputy Grand Master for Ontario East.

OTTAWA LITERARY AND SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY. Mr. Edward Miall will deliver the next lecture of the course in connection with the Ottawa Literary and Scientific Society, on Thursday evening next, the 12th inst. The subject selected by Mr. Miall is, "What is the Legitimate Sphere of Government." In this practical age when old institutions of every description are undergoing a sifting examination, it is well that everyone should be fully informed as to what ought to be the legitimate functions of government, we hope, therefore, to find a large audience present at Mr. Miall's lecture, which will doubtless be an interesting one.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.—The Managing Committee of this Society met in their Hall, last night, and took initiatory steps towards having the proposed concert early in April. Sub-Committees were struck as follows:—Finance, Decoration, Reception, Printing and Music, so that sharp, quick and decisive measures, will soon give our citizens another opportunity of having a first class concert. The best amateur talent in both vocal and instrumental music will doubtless be secured; for our Scottish fellow-citizens hardly ever allow themselves to be outdone in this respect, More Anon! For the present we must live in happy expectations as to the character of the coming event,

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION,—A mass meeting of all the persons interested in the welfare of young men will be held in Knox Church, City Hall Square, on Friday evening, the 13th instant) at 8 o'clock. Addresses will be delivered by Messrs. T. J. Claxton, President of the Montreal Y. M. C. A.; Alfred Sandham, Secretary of Montreal Association; Robert Gray, of Port Hope, and Mr. T. J. Wilkie, of Toronto. We hope to see a large attendance at the meeting, as it will be one of great interest, and more especially of the speakers will be strangers in our midst, and to whom we should give a hearty welcome. coming as they do to take part in this meeting, held for the special purpose of furthering the good work in which the Y. M. C Association is engaged in our city. A preliminary meeting for prayer and conference will be be held in the rooms of Y. M. C. A., Sparks street, on Friday, at 4 o'clock p. m. All are invited.

ROAD IMPROVEMENTS—A meeting of the Township of Osgoode Municipality will be held in the Village of Metcalfe, on Friday next, the 13th inst., to take into consideration the question of a proper disposal of the sum of $8,500, of a surplus now in the hands of the Treasurer of that Municipality. It is proposed to invest it in the construction of a good gravel or macadamized road from the Village of Metcalfe to the boundary line of the Township of Gloucester, it being on the present line of road from said village to the city of Ottawa. We would commend the project as being one in which the said township is deeply interested, for the farmers from that region labour under great disadvantages, at certain seasons of the year, in getting their produce to market. Should this scheme be adopted, it is altogether likely that the Ottawa and Gloucester Road Company will extend their present road some five miles further to meet the proposed road, which, when done, will give a continuous line of road between that village and this city, available at all seasons of the year, to the farming community, so deeply interested in its speedy construction.

ST. PATRICK'S ORPHAN ASYLUM.—The drawing of prizes in the lottery in aid of the St. Patrick's Orphan Asylum, took place on Monday afternoon at five o'clock, and continued until eleven. COUNTY LIQUOR CASES.

Before Thos. Langrell, J. P.

CITY POLICE COURT, March 10, 1874.

County Inspector Gordon has set about his duty in earnest in bringing to time all violators of the "License Act" in the County under his supervision. This time the townships of Huntly and Fitzroy have furnished him several victims.

Wm. Dooley, of the township of Huntly, was arraigned on a charge of selling liquor without a license. He was fined $20 and costs.

James Armstrong, of the same place, on a similar charge, was fined $20 and costs.

Dennis Egan, also of Huntly, was charged with a like violation of the law, and was relieved of $20 and costs.

Another Huntly man, named Cornelius Mahoney, for a similar offence, was mulcted of the sum of $20 and costs.

Francis Audson, of Fitzroy, was charged with selling liquor without license, and fined $20 and costs.

Thos. Hartnell, also of Fitzroy, was charged with a like offence, and fined $20 and costs.

Death of the $40,600 Cow.

The eighth Duchess of Geneva, the noted high-priced Short-horn cow of the late sale at New York Mills, is dead. It will be remembered that we published her likeness with a short history of her breeding and produce, in our issue of January 17. The cow was due to calve about a week ago, but owing to a mal presentation of the foetus she suffered greatly, and finally delivered her calf dead. It was at the time thought that she would recover and still prove of great value to her spirited owner, but fever set in, and despite the best medical assistance she died a few days after. Although this cow was bid off at Mr. Campbell's sale for $40,600 by the agent of Mr. R. Pavin Davis, of Gloucestershire, Eng., it was through inadvertence on his part, as in the excitement of the moment he lost sight of the relative values of the currencies of the two countries, and bid more than he supposed. In view of this fact she was, by request of Mr. Davies, resold for his account to our own countryman, Col. Lewis G. Morris, of Fordham, N. Y., for $30,600, the same price that was paid for her daughter. 1st Duchess of Oneida, at the sale mentioned, the purchaser being Lord Skilmersdale, of England. This loss of Col. Morris will be a matter of regret to short-horn breeders throughout the country. In a financial point of view it is, of course, a severe one, but we apprehend that the disappointment, in another sese, will be felt much more keenly by the spirited and enthusiastic breeders upon whom it directly falls. The plans and expectations frustrated by the inopportune loss of the cow cannot be readily righted, though the price were again willingly forthcoming for her duplicate. In full appreciation of this fact, we extend to Col. Morris our fullest sympathies and regrets.—Spirit of the Times, March 7.

The Settlement of the Country.

It must be admitted that the Local Government are giving due consideration and attaching great importance to the question of the settlement of the country. They propose to expend during the current year $33,000 in promotion of this object—$22,000 on immigration, and $10,000 under the Free Grants' Act. The experience already gained by the Government in this work will enable them to spend the sum asked for to good advantage, and we may anticipate excellent results, direct and indirect, from the expenditure. The Government are evidently on the right track in this matter, and we trust they will keep pushing ahead in the direction taken, cautiously yet with steady energy. The results of their patriotic and spirited policy will soon become pleasingly and strikingly apparent.—St. John, N. B., News.

Horses Saved.

The lives of thousands of horses have been saved during the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half as successful or given such universal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. At the residence of her nephew, James H. Molloy, Esq., in the Township of South Plantagenet, on Monday, March 2nd, 1874, Miss Alice Molloy, in the 91st year of her age.

The deceased was born at the city of Albany, in the State of New York, January 10th, 1784. She lived with her parents in the City of Montreal till the year 1824, when she came with her late brother, James Molloy, Esq., and settled in Plantagenet. A convert to the Catholic Church, she strictly and rigidly adhered to its sacred dogmas. She was esteemed by all who knew her for her kind, generous and benevolent disposition. Her remains were attended to the Parish Church, at Fournierville, by her relatives and a numerous concourse of sympathising friends, where solemn Mass of Requiem was celebrated by the Rev. S. A DISTINGUISHED Physician has said that Neuralgia is the cry of the hungry nerves for their special food, which is the Phosphorus contained in the blood. This painful disease is usually followed by general prostration on account of the great waste of nerve tissue and the sufficient supply of nerve force to maintain the functions of the vital organs. The common cause of Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pains is depressed Nutrition arising from derangements of the stomach, mal-assimilation of food, and impure blood. City News

The Mail this morning makes an abject apology to Mr. Robert Wilkes, for the libellous article written some time since, explaining that it was published during the heat of election excitement.

Mr. Bethune to-day gave notice of a bill to provide for compulsory voting at elections; one of the impracticable ideas of the Canada First Party.

The premises of J. Davis living in Yorkville, were entered this morning by two burglars. Admission having been obtained through the back window; the noise made by one of the burglars in Davis' bedroom awakened that gentleman, who attacked the thief with a chair with such effect that he fled. Davis pursued him, when the burglar turned round and shot him in the breast, the lodging near his heart. It is doubtful if the man will live.

The Government expect that they will be able to prorogue the House by the close of next week.

QUEBEC.

QUEBEC, March 9

The Court of Queen's Bench closed on Saturday, no business having been done. It is thought the vacancies will be filled in time for the sitting to be held in Montreal this week

A young lady had her shoulder dislocated while sliding on the glacis on Friday night.

The stables and outhouses of the Rev. Charles Hamilton were entered through the dung pit by burglars, who stole two sets of harness, two extra bridles, and three horse blankets. The detectives entrusted with the case were successful in arresting the thieves, and recovering a part of the property. The prisoners, Lajouresse, Laberge, Verret, and Mulrony, are now in custody. It appears that they got in during the early part of the night, and hid in the hay loft until an opportunity occurred of making off with their booty, which amounted to about $100 in value. They left no trace behind them except the upturning of the hay in the loft, and their capture reflects much credit upon the officers The prisoners are well known to the police, being regular gaol birds, Laberge has been in the Penitentiary, and Lajouresse and Verret are just out of gaol.

HALIFAX.

HALIFAX, N. S., March, 9.

The Local Government sent a Commissioner to Antigonish last week to take evidence in regard to the alleged failure of magistrates to do their duty on the occasion of the riot during the Rev. Mr. Chiniquy's visit last summer. After the evidence had been taken, the Presbyterian Committee instituted proceedings before other magistrates against the parties charged with engaging in the riot, and eight of them were bound over to appear for trial in the Supreme Court. On the same night the windows in the shop of one of the witnesses were broken, and another witness says he was pursued in the street by one of the rioters.

Members of the Local Legislature are beginning to assemble to attend the opening on Thursday. The session is not expected to be a long one.

LONDON

LONDON, March 9.

Rev. Mr. Cuthbertson cited the congregation of St Andrew's Church, yesterday, to attend a meeting on the 16th inst., for the purpose of re-considering the call of the congregation of North Bruce to their pastor, Rev. John Scott. The Presbytery meets on the 17th, when the call will again come up for consideration.

Wong Chin Foo and his agent, who had advertised for a lecture here to-night, slid out by an early train yesterday morning with unreceipted bills from the hotel, printing offices, and the hall proprietor.

St Patrick's Day is to be commemorated by a grand sacred concert in St. Peter's Cathedral.

ENGLAND.

Famous Snow Storm

LONDON, March 10.—A famous snow storm has prevailed in England to-day. The ground is covered in Cornwall to a depth of three inches. In some places the storm was accompanied by lightning.

Dr. Kenealy Protests—Apology—University Boat Race:

LONDON, March 9.—Dr. Kenealy, counsel for the Tichborne claimant, has published a card protesting against the language of the press, and the conduct of the Court towards his client. He protests particularly against what he styles the one-sided use of the power of committal for contempt, which he declares is unconstitutional and a revival of the Star Chamber proceedings. In conclusion, Dr. Kenealy says, "The prosecution has succeeded in destroying the claimant, and now seeks to ruin his counsel." Charles Orton has made a confession, which is published in the Globe, that the claimant is his own brother.

Dr. Kenealy, the Tichborne Claimant's Counsel, has written a note apologising for the violence of his letter of protest published this morning, and declaring that he had no intention of reflecting on the judicial acts of the Court.

The approaching University Boat Race begins to attract general attention. The Cambridge Crew arrived at Putney to-day. The Oxford men will take up their quarters on the Thames early next week.

Royal Banquet.

A royal banquet was given at Windsor Castle this evening; the Queen, Prince and Princess of Wales, Duke of Edinburgh and bride, Duke of Cambridge, Duke of Abercorn, members of the old and new Governments, and other distinguished persons were present, the total number of guests being 150. It is intimated as possible that the Queen may formally open Parliament in person on the 19th instant, in which case there will be a grand display.

Adjourned.

The House of Commons to-day adopted the motion to issue writs for the re-election of the members who have entered the Ministry, and then adjourned till Thursday.

The Indian Famine.

Lord Northbrooke, Viceroy of India, in a despatch dated Calcutta to-day, assures the Government that the relief works set in operation at Patna have warded off the danger of disease from famine in that district, all needy inhabitants being supplied with employment and sufficient provisions for themselves and families.

HUNGARY.

Riot.

PESTH, March 9—A riot broke out here to-day, and was not suppressed until the military, who were called out, had fired on the mob, killing four persons and wounding many. Several buildings were burned by the rioters.

GERMANY.

Arrest of the Bishop of Treves.

BERLIN, March 9—The arrest of the Bishop of Treves last week caused much excitement among the Catholic population. It was followed to-day by the forcible closing of the seminary attached to the Bishop's See, in accordance with the decrees of the Court and the orders of Government. Large numbers of people gathered around the institution and tried to prevent the officers from doing their duty. A riot followed which threatened to become serious. Troops came to the assistance of the authorities, and quickly dispersed the mob. To-night the city is again reported quiet.

SPAIN.

Rumoured Appointments.

MADRID, March, 10—It is said that General Jose Concha is to succeed Jovellar as Captain General of Cuba.

Expulsion of Carlists.

By an order of the Government, several prominent Carlists have been expelled from Madrid.

UNITED STATES.

Early Navigation.

NEW YORK, March 9.—A Cleveland despatch says the opening of navigation on the Erie promises to be unusually early. There is but little ice on the Lake.

Snow Bound.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—Numerous trains are snow bound on the Central Pacific Railway.

Snow Blockade.

All freight trains caught in the snow blockade have been abandoned for the present. In Summit Valley the snow is 25 feet deep on the level. Several snow ploughs and engines are off the track. One eastern bound passenger train is still at Alta, and western bound trains at Reno. Other western bound trains lie at Foano and Halleck. At San Francisco over six feet of snow has fallen during the present storm.

Wrecks.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Cable telegrams to-day report a large number of vessels damaged in the late storms on the Atlantic, but no loss of life or total wreck.

Plantations Burned.

It is reported from Havana that several plantations have been burned near Remicas, and various insurgent bands are operating in that jurisdiction; also that five hundred men have crossed the Trochia and the dispositions of General Portillo have been ineffectual to arrest the forward march of the insurgents into the Villas.

Statistics.

The statistics show for the past year a decided increase of sugar and a slight decrease of molasses production on the island. The United States take 67 per cent of the sugar, and 93 per cent on the molasses.

Death of Millard Fillmore.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The following was issued this morning:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, March 9.

It is with deep regret the President announces to the people of the United States the death of Millard Fillmore, who died at Buffalo, N. Y., last evening. The long continued public services and eminent purity of character of the deceased ex-President will be remembered beyond the days of mourning in which the nation will be thrown by the event which is thus announced. As a mark of respect to his memory, it is ordered that the Executive Mansion and the several departments at Washington be draped in mourning until the close of the day on which the funeral shall take place, and that business be suspended on the day of the funeral. It is furthermore ordered, that the War and Navy departments cause suitable military and naval honors to be paid on the occasion to the memory of the eminent citizen, whose life is now closed.

(Signed), U. S. GRANT.

Heavy Passage.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The steamer 'City of Dublin' arrived at Boston, from Liverpool, to-day, and encountered fearful gales on the passage. She was hove to for four days, and lost four boats and a number of sails.

Hurricane and Loss of Life.

The steamer 'Pennsylvanian,' from Liverpool, arrived at Philadelphia to-day, reports having met a violent hurricane on the 27th ultimo at midnight. The sea carried away the bridge, on which was Captain Bradburn and the first and second officers, and two sailors, who were all washed overboard and lost. The fourth officer had a leg broken. The ship's hull and machinery were not injured, but she lost her boats and deck houses. Captain Bradburn belonged to Baltimore, and the other officers were from England. After the loss of the officers, a consultation was held, and it was agreed that a steerage passenger, named Brady, formerly third mate of the ill fated Atlantic, who swam ashore and secured a line from the Atlantic, thereby saving a number of lives, should take charge of the ship, and it was through his management the vessel was brought to port.

The Coming Summer.

The summer of 1874 bids fair to be an unusually busy one in Manitoba generally, and in Winnipeg in particular. Last summer, notwithstanding the immense number of buildings which were erected in this vicinity, more or less unemployed men were to be found throughout the entire season, and during the winter now about ended a very large portion indeed of our inhabitants have had nothing whatever to do. This has not been because work was not to be had, but because there were too many to do it. 1873, as is well known, was what is called a grasshopper year, and in consequence, except in the western part of the Province, little or nothing was done in the farming line, and those who would otherwise have been employed in tilling the ground were compelled to either turn their attention to some other branch of industry, or else pass ten or twelve months in complete idleness. Few were inclined to the latter alternative, and therefore we find a very large number flocking into Winnipeg as the likeliest place to obtain employment. Add to these the unusually large immigration of mechanics and others from Ontario and the United States, and the only wonder is that so few failed in procuring steady work, particularly as, the jail here excepted, no work of a public nature was prosecuted.

Unlike last year, the farmers throughout the entire Province are making preparations for putting in an unusually large crop the coming season, and scores of men here are but awaiting the opening of spring to move out and occupy their "claims." This will, of course, leave just so many less to perform the labour of next summer. A very large immigration we undoubtedly will have, immediately navigation opens, but we are confident we will need it all, and probably a great deal more, to get through with the work ahead.

The Pembina railway, we believe, will be commenced in a few months, and this alone will employ hundreds of men throughout the season. Failing this, however, there is the Dawson road bridge across the Red River. The Parliament buildings, Custom House, Post Office, Lands office, and the Penitentiary at Stony Mountain—all Dominion Government works. For some of these the material is at present being placed on the ground, and all of them will, without doubt, be prosecuted without delay.

Besides these, there are public works of another character. Winnipeg is now incorporated, and during the summer of 1874 an immense amount of ditching and grading has to be done, a long stretch of sidewalk built, corporation buildings, etc., all of which will employ number of persons a good part of the year.

And this is not all, there is all private enterprise—the same that found employment for almost all that came here last summer. We hear of hundreds of buildings to be commenced as soon as the weather will permit—some indeed commenced already. Mr. Geo. McMicken has advertised for tenders for the erection of a large three story brick building on the corner of Carry street and the Portage road, and almost opposite a three story stone building is about to be erected for the Merchants' Bank. At Point Douglas Messrs. Ross & Co. have commenced operations on a large frame building, and at Silver Heights Messrs. Livingston & Co. intend making some extensive improvements, in order to go into the gristing and distilling business on a large scale These are a few of the larger buildings, but the list of dwelling houses, etc., proposed to be built next summer is almost without end.

It will be seen by this that a very large number of mechanics and laborers will be required, and to these two classes throughout Ontario and the Eastern Provinces we would extend a cordial invitation to come right along. By steady industry a poor man can soon get money enough ahead to start him up on a "claim," and then he has but himself to blame if in a few years he be not independent.—Nor' Wester

SECURITY SHOULD BE THE PRIMARY CONSIDERATION.
This old and favorite Company offers this in its large Capital, and the unlimited liability of the shareholders.
Special attention is drawn to a new feature in Life business, just introduced by this Company,—that of insuring on the half-credit system. By this method, persons who wish to insure for their families an insurance for a large amount, but whose present income, though improving, will not admit of it, or persons in business who wish to utilize their funds to the fullest extent, and cannot therefore spare the necessary premiums for a large life policy, can insure $5,000 for the same amount of premiums as is required for $2,500, the remainder half-premium standing at 6 per cent. interest, as a debt on the policy until paid off.
BONUS.
Persons insuring now, or within the next few weeks, will obtain the benefit of one year's bonus.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital; the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color, has divested our current politics of half their bygone intensity. However parties may henceforth rise or fall, it is clear that the fundamental principles which have hitherto honorably distinguished the Republicans are henceforth to be regarded as practically accepted by the whole country. The right of every man to his own limbs and sinews—the equality of all citizens before the law—the inability of a State to enslave any portion of its people—the duty of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of this liberty until he forfeits it by crime—such are the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and palsied be the hand which shall seek to displace them! Though not twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of man and the benignant smile of God.

Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and humble from violence and oppression—to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilisation—to stimulate Ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economizing Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gains of Industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, the Tribune contributes its zealous, persistent efforts.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially lucidated in its Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful tillers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who has $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as the Tribune. And we aspire to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage enables us to do; and we are resolved that our success of former years shall be exceeded in varied excellence and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our journal better and better, by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us!

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School, Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. [illegible] They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, LL.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published, and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitute an admirable feature and add much to the value of the Readers

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for DR. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

al.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength re ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of Dr. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of Dr. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of Dr DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its Early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Senior Physician to Guy's Hospital.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that subtance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil, in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

Dr. Granville F.R.S., Author of the 'Spas of Germany.'

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the Pale Oil."

Edwin Canton, Esq., F.R.C.S., Surgeon to Charing Cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL sold only in Imperial Half-pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; Capsuled and Labelled with his Stamp and Signature

GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength. Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, oitments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labell on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

Goods done up with it keep clean much longer, thereby saving time and labor in washing. This is the most economical article that can be used, costing only about three cents to do the ironing of a large family. It gives the Linen such a smooth glossy surface that the dust and dirt will not adhere to it, so that it will keep clean much longer. It is very highly recommended by the Montreal Herald, La Minerve, Le National, and by all the leading American papers.

It is put up in boxes to last a family about three months, and can be had from all respectable Grocers, Druggists, many Dealers in House Furnishing Goods, [illegible] cents per box.

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Post Office, Ottawa," will be received at this office until Saturday, the 28th day of MARCH next, at noon, for the finishing and completion of the above buildings.

Plans, specifications, &c., can be seen at the office of Walter Chesterton, Esq., architect, Ottawa, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 11th inst., where forms of Tender, &c., and all necessary information can be obtained.

Contractors are notified that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms except there are attached the actual signature and the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same.

For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required on real estate, or by deposit of money, public or municipal securities, or bank stocks, to an amount of five per cent. on the bulk sum of the contract.

To the Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the contract.

GREAT "PROGRESS OF MONTREAL."

Mayor Bernard's Inaugural Address.

(From the Gazette.)

Naturally, in order comes first the statement of our finances. From this it appears that the actual revenue exceeded that estimated by nearly two hundred thousand dollars, the estimate having been $894,000, and the actual revenue $1,084,000 It is explained, however, that of this increase about one-half, or a little over one hundred thousand dollars, was due to the natural increase of the city; of the balance fifty thousand dollars was for increased school tax, handed over to the Commissioners, and forty thousand was for interest on the unused portion of the English loan. The actual funded debt of the city is stated at $7,378,000, of which two and one-half millions bear interest at the rate of five per cent.; while the large sum of $700,000, part of the proceeds of the English loan, remains unexpended, and is of course bearing interest. The statement is made that recent advices from England are to the effect that the loan placed upon that market has all been taken up by bona fide investors, and that the securities are becoming very popular, evidenced by the fact that already they have advanced by six per cent. The borrowing power of the city is increased by recent legislation to $14,870,000, including larger sums for street improvements, enlarged water works, aid to railways and other purposes, all calculated to add to the value of property, and increase the prosperity of the city. His Worship advises that the works thus authorized should be proceeded with in such a way that "our present satisfactory financial position will be maintained, and an addition to the rate of taxation rendered unnecessary."

The details given by the Mayor in relation to improvements in the general departments of the city government are very interesting. For the road department, he recalls advice given by himself some years ago, that the wasteful system of mere patchwork repairs should be abandoned, and a loan raised to put the leading thoroughfares into a really good condition, and he expresses satisfaction that this plan has at last been resolved upon, the city having obtained authority to raise a loan of a million and a half of dollars for this purpose. We join with the Mayor in his congratulation on this subject, and believe that it is a step in the right direction and will prove not only vastly more economical than the system hitherto pursued, but will afford us more substantial results as well. The improvements in the fire departments are referred to, and the progress of the city, as illustrated by the number of buildings erected during the last twelve months, stated. Seven hundred and forty-two new buildings, equal to a frontage of 19,125 feet of building in length, is certainly a fair exhibit for a year during which, owing to a variety of circumstances, the temptations to build were not great. The improvements made during the past year on the water works and contemplated in the future, are referred to in considerable detail, for which we refer the reader to the address itself.

Upon the subject of the parks and public squares of the city, the Mayor repeats the announcement which was made some time ago, of the cession to the city, for use as public parks, of Logan's Farm and St. Helen's Island, upon conditions which make them revert, in certain contingencies, to the Government. And the the fact of having obtained these induces the Mayor to suggest, in relation to the Mount Royal Park, that the gentlemen who have been so intensely anxious to embarrass the city in the acquisition of certain properties, and who have succeeded to the extent of obtaining a judgment discreditable to the Bench, and justified by neither law nor logic, should be permitted to retain their properties. Already there have been actually acquired no less than four hundred and fifty arpents of park property, at a cost to the city of about $554,400. The portions for which awards had been given, but the awards in which were defeated by the judgment referred to, include an area of about one hundred and forty-six arpents. While these properties would be undoubtedly of value to the park, they are not essential to it; and the suggestion that all further efforts to obtain them should be abandoned is likely to meet with considerable favour. We express no opinion on the subject at present, but certainly the saving of the large sum of $228,500, even supposing the proprietors to consent to accept the awards actually made, or that other commissioners to be appointed gave no more, is a strong temptation to acquiesce at once in the view which the Mayor has advanced. We should still have our Mountain Park, and with the other parks and squares of the city, could scarcely be said to be without fair breathing room.

Practical Liquor Reform.

From the New York World.

While alcohol remains the uncertain substance which the World has shown that it now is in the liquor sold by the 20,000 bar-keepers of New York, medical doctors may be easily pardoned their differences concerning the pathological effects of alcohol upon the human system. For accuracy in medical science, as in all other sciences, can only be attained when observed results are attributed to certain and well known causes. And the Physician who thinks moderate drinking is not necessarilly harmful, may, and doubtless does have in view, the effects produced by actual alcohol, while the physician who condemns all drinking as pernicious may have in view the effects of merely supposititious alcohol and of actual fusel oil or prussic acid. The doctor's either medical or moral, however, have no excuse for differing upon the effects of the "alcoholic" liquors which are sold at the cheaper bar-rooms of New York, which are responsible for so much of the crime and pauperism of the city. For the basis of them is not alcohol, but a mixture of alcohol and of fusel oil, which is a deadly poison when pure, and which in liquor produces the brutal, if not demoniacal phenomena of intoxication in the persons who have drunk it. Other poisons are added to restore the strength and pungency lost by the dilution required to reduce the original article to a price whereat it will be abundantly accessible to all. An abundance of it, however, is not necessary to transform the drinker of it immediately into a maniac, and ultimately into the wreck of humanity which helps to fill our gaols and poor-houses. The exhibit of the cost to the community of cheap and unadulterated liquor which we present to the readers of the World this morning reveals an important aspect of the liquor question which sentimental reformers have too generally overlooked. The advocates of abstinence may talk themselves hoarse without convincing a large portion of almost every community that it is not a pleasant thing to get tipsy once in a while. But it is by no means necessary that the man whose inclination leads him to get tipsy once in a while should become a criminal or a pauper, as he is very likely to do by gratifying that inclination with the poisons which are sold to the poor man for whiskey or gin. The actual loss of productive power of the laboring population which results from the drinking of this deleterious stuff is a source of poverty to the entire community, and of incalculable misery to the class whose muscle is weakened and whose brain is fevered by it. And as the history of all races of men contradicts the wild supposition that total abstinence from alcoholic beverages can be induced or enforced by any means, it is the duty of all true reformers to seek rather to improve the quality of the liquor sold than to endeavor to suppress the trafic in liquor. The former object may be attained by sensible legislation. The latter is unattainable either by legislation or preaching.

Ontario Crown Lands' Report for 1873.

The Report of the Commissioner of Crown Lands was presented to the Legislature yesterday, and with its copious appendices, affords a large amount of interesting information with respect to the several branches of this important department of the public service.

Of Crown Lands, property so-called, there were sold in 1873, 98,715 acres, against 113,623 acres in 1872, or a decrease of 14,998 acres. On the other hand, the sales of Clergy, Common School and Grammar School Lands in 1873 amounted to 51,601 acres, against 22,074 in 1872, showing an increase of 29,657 acres. The total acreage, therefore, disposed of by the department in 1873, exceeded by 14,619 acres that of the previous year.

The sums received for sales by the department, in the two years respectively, were as follows:

	1873.	1872.
Crown Lands	$126,508 86	$138,436 50
Clergy Lands	58,078 25	28,757 61
Common School "	11,294 64	12,341 42
Gram'ar School "	19,495 05	5,535 47
Total	$215,376 80	$185,071 00
Total increase in value of sales in 1873 over 1872		$30,305 80

The total collections for lands' sales in 1873 were $433,311.91, against $407,805.55 in 1872, an increase in actual receipts of $25,506.36.

The area appropriated to "Free Grants" has been largely extended during the past year. At the commencement of 1873, 59 townships were open for settlement, and 18 others had been appropriated, making a total of 77. Ten of the latter were opened for location during the year, and six new townships were appropriated. The total number now open, therefore, is 69, and 14 not yet open are appropriated, making a total of 83. During 1873, 757 locations were made, against 875 in 1872. The area located in 1873 was 100,663 acres against 115,065 acres located in 1872. In 1873 there appears to have been a somewhat vigorous application of the law against locatees who had failed up to that time to conform to the terms upon which the lands had been originally granted to them, for 383 locations were cancelled and re-located to other parties. In 1873 5,038 acres were sold to 79 locatees, against 2,268 acres sold to 97 locatees in 1872.

In the Woods and Forests Branch, the total accruals for 1873 were $568,725 33, against $659,155 91 in 1872, or a decrease of $90,430 58. The collections in 1873, exclusive of any sums received on account of the sale of timber berths in the Lake Huron district, were $353,811 65, against $566,142 59 collected in 1872, or a decrease of $212,330 94. The receipts in the form of bonuses, ground rents for 1872-3, and interest from the Huron sales, were $289,912 61, making a total revenue from the Woods and Forests Branch of $643,724 26.

	1872.	1873.
Crown Lands	$193,168 98	$189,665 35
Clergy Lands	121,313 07	150,126 78
Common School Lands	80,967 47	73,765 76
Grammar School Lands	12,356 03	19,754 01
Woods and Forests	903,952 19	643,637 56
Mines	68,328 33	34,427 51

Colonization Roads		1,500 00
Total	$1,416,825 73	$1,121,264 46
A decrease of		295,561 27

The following statement shows the receipts of the Department, which are considered as revenue for the years 1873 and 1872 respectively:—

	1873.	1872.

POND'S EXTRACT is derived from the most potent curative agents. Its efficacy is wonderful. 2511.

Electricity! Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric Oil!—Worth Ten Times in Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cents.

The Ottawa Times

THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1874.

Mr. David Glass, ex-M. P. for East Middlesex is in town, and staying at the Russell House.

Some of our contemporaries were rather premature in announcing the appointment of the Hon. E. B. Wood, Chief Justice of Manitoba. Of course this act has been expected for some time. We may now state that the appointment is made, all necessary preliminaries being possibly completed. All will admit the Hon. gentleman's qualifications for this important position so far as ability, legal knowledge, and political deservings are concerned.

The supplement to the Tichborne trial, and key to the whole mystery of the case would appear to be furnished by Chas. Orton, who confesses to be the brother of the "Claimant" Arthur, now a convict. The London Telegraph publishes the story of the former, including the statement that he was bribed to conceal the truth as to the Claimant's indentity. But what kind of a Brother must Charles be? will be the puzzle to many. Certainly this whole case continues a wonder, and it is not likely to die out of the public mind for many a year.

The further intelligence respecting the overthrow of the Ashantees, and the submission of King Koffee, will be welcomed by everybody. The completeness of the foe's defeat and humiliation, and the wholesome fear of the British, with which he has been inspired, is evident from the ready production of the thousand ounces of gold, and the willingness to accept the other conditions of the victors. It is pleasant to see such an early end of a serious trouble, which threatened heavy loss to the British, both in men and money. The climate would very shortly have become the most deadly enemy.

MARRIAGE MADE EASY.

The friends and contemplators of matrimony must have had their hearts gladdened by the Ontario Government's bill for the reduction of the fee from six to two dollars. One of the principal reasons for this change, if not the chief, was the injustice of the old law in appropriating to public uses and the benefit of people of all creeds, money obtained from only a number of them. Thus, while the Protestants contributed the marriage license fund, the Roman Catholics, who got married without license, paid nothing, enjoying meanwhile the application of that revenue to Provincial purposes. Other motives, no doubt, actuated some of the reformers, including, we will charitably suppose, the desire to remove all possible obstacles from the path to the connubial paradise, in which they have themselves so long revelled. Marvellous philanthropy! The age of selfishness bids fair to pass, to be succeeded by the millenium of mutual help and consideration. Some of the unconverted bachelors say that the married gentlemen in the Legislature simply coveted that malignant consolation derivable from seeing others in as hot water or as bad a fix as themselves. Doubting Cœlebs is a firm believer in the prevalence, with his friend in the united state, of the passion for a community of suffering as well as, or in the absence of a community of bliss. While crediting the Government and allies in this matter with a sincere desire to scatter roses on the way to the Temple of Hymen, we compliment their hearts at the expense of their understandings; for who would imagine that any gay bachelor would allow a six dollar fence to stand between him and, let us say, supreme happiness? The miserable few who regarded the Government Registrars as grim and greedy janizaries, blocking the road to that Temple, with outstretched palms for the indispensable toll, are not worthy to dust the coats of the happy in-goers. However, even the meanest are now relieved, only it is a pity to give such any encouragement to enter a state of which they are so unworthy. What about the poor fellows who had the good or ill fortune, in a pecuniary sense, to get "spliced" under the high tariff? Will they claim consideration or damages? If so, the single man has a telling answer in the reminder of all the benefits his friend has claimed for marriage, which are worth little if not outweighing the lost four dollars. Taking another view of the matter, this new policy seems consistent with that hitherto pursued, in encouraging immigration. Useful and desirable as the foreign-grown man or woman is, the home-grown is more so, and every encouragement to the natural domestic increase of our population should be afforded on economic as well as philanthropic grounds. Why not sacrifice money at home, as well as on emigration agents abroad, for such a purpose? The Ontario Government have been seeking where to invest their spare funds most advantageously, and there is no doubt exchanging a surplus of money for not a surplus, but an adequate population would be a wise proceeding. Ministers are popular with the bulk of the male population as it is, but will be enthusiastically admired by the female, when their measure passes, as it will in a day or two. Theirs is the party really entitled to credit for a policy of "Union and Progress," to which the Conservatives lay exclusive claim. We may now look out for a heavy run upon the offices of the Registrars, and a rapid filling up of the waste places of Ontario. Doubtless, as two-thirds of the hymeneal toll have been wiped off, the other will follow soon, should experience prove the continuance of baccalaurian timidity, from natural shyness in this modest age, and hard times. As the legislators are in a gushing humour just now, the failure of their present experiment might warrant a proposal to stand the wedding lavenders, and the cab-hire to church and back. Our single friends will, we trust, appreciate our disinterested efforts towards getting them into harness under the easiest circumstances. All that could then be wanting would be a statute declaring every year Leap-year "for the purposes of this Act," which would enable the ladies, who have pluck, to go straight for their hesitating, shilly-shallying sweethearts, and ascertain the state of their mind—that of their hearts being no secret—with the demand, in the practical language of the suggestive song—"Oh name, oh name the Wedding Day!"

DEATH OF SUMNER.

The telegraph announces the death of Senator Sumner, one of the most accomplished and able men in public life in the United States. He has long played a leading part in the Republic, and has been particularly noticeable since the attack upon him by Senator Brooks in connection with his anti-slavery labours before the war. Brooks is dead long since, his wounded opponent having survived him to help to carry out the abolition policy to a triumphant conclusion. Senator Sumner was an enthusiastic Republican of the advanced school, and co-operated with Lincoln's Government all through the war. He took very high ground on the subject of American rights, and the duty of neutrals towards belligerents in the position of the North, formulating those celebrated claims for indirect damages, on account of the depredations of the "Alabama" and consorts, which led to so much controversy and ill feeling between England and the States. His great speech in the Senate on the occasion, was listened to by Sir Edward Thornton and other European Ministers at Washington, and was circulated and discussed everywhere with the deepest interest. Sumner's character was good; he acted in sympathy with intellectual and philanthropic movements of various kinds, and took an active part in the anti-corruption Greeley crusade, designed to defeat Grant's re-election. He was one of the literary, sentimental, speculative politicians, not available for unscrupulous party work, but useful in helping to give a respectable tone to a party, elevate its aims, and preserve it from the stigma of selfishness and corruption. The Senator was in poor health of late, we believe. His death leaves a void in Congress and society, that will not readily be filled.

EX-PRESIDENT FILLMORE.

An American citizen of great worth has just passed away—an ex-Chief Magistrate of the United States. Humble in his origin, inured to poverty in his youth, with many struggles in early manhood to contend against, Ex-President Millard Fillmore showed to great advantage, as compared with such men as General Pierce, when he arrived at the highest dignity which his fellow citizens had it in their power to bestow. There was no "vapoury nonsense" in his Messages, no attempt to gull public opinion, nor was there exhibited at any time that envious dislike of England and her institutions which has marred the public utterances of abler men in Republican North America. Yet he lived a public life in troubled times. He was in Congress when the steamer Caroline was cut out of her moorings and sent blazing over the Falls of Niagara. He was an anti-Mason after the villainous Morgan had been, as is supposed, summarily disposed of for perjury. He succeeded the hero of the Mexican war, General Taylor, in the Presidency, having the Honorable Daniel Webster, an admirer of England and the English, for his Secretary of State. He sympathised with Kossuth and his misfortunes in Hungary, being a Whig in politics, but averse to such extreme measures of obstruction as tend to revolution. He opened up Japan to American and European commerce, and was, indeed, a far-seeing, clear-headed, high-spirited, honorable man. Possibly, since the days of Washington, he was the best Chief Magistrate that the United States has had. Firm, but not offensive, he was a thorough American; but he had one grand fault in a statesman, which he eminently was, that while he promoted the best interests of his country, he failed for the want of the acuteness of the mere politician to surround himself with a strong party. Mr. Fillmore, in a word, was deficient in humbug. Seventy-three years of age when he died, on Monday last, Mr. Fillmore had been the witness of some extraordinary changes in the old and new worlds. The wonders of steam and electricity, dynastic changes in the old world, marvellous resolutions, extraordinary progress on this Continent, disruptions and rebellion, the abolition of a system of slavery, an institution which was upheld during the term of his own rule, by the Fugitive Slave Act, and many other striking events came under his ken. Such a man as Mr. Fillmore passing away for ever, deserved a more than ordinary notice, and it is pleasing to observe that President Grant has ordered the "Executive Mansion and the several Departments at Washington to be draped in mourning until the close of the day on which the funeral takes place," and that "the War and Navy Departments" are directed to cause suitable military and naval honours to be paid in memoriam in memory of that "eminent citizen, whose life is now closed."

STATUTES OF CANADA.

We have now in our Press, to be published in a few days, a work on the Statute Law of Canada, by Mr. R. J. Wicksteed, of the Law Department, House of Commons.

With our limited space it would be quite impossible to review the book at any length—at least for the present. The contents are as follows:—

1st. Index to Imperial Statutes passed with express reference to Canada, either inclusively or conjointly with other Colonies, and remaining wholly or partly unrepealed, down to the end of the Session of 1873.

2nd Tables of the Statutes passed by the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, in their chronological order, and the B. N. A. Act, 1867, with references to the Acts they amend or by which they are amended.

3rd. Alphabetical Index to the Statutes passed by the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, and the B. N. A. Act, 1867.

The country at large, and more particularly Members of Parliament and the Legal Profession, have long felt the urgent need which such a publication supplies. In it we have a digest of the whole body of Statute Law, expressly governing the Dominion of Canada, (including of course, the enactments on these subjects within the jurisdiction of the Local Legislatures.)

It does great great credit to the author, and will entitle him to the gratitude of the profession for so valuable an aid to the performance of their daily duties.

Mr. Wicksteed has spared no pains in accomplishing the object he had in view, and well deserves the patronage of those whom he thought to serve.

Familar with such matters, and competent to form an opinion. We know that the publication will not, under the most favourable view, realize "the money out of pocket." The author must be content with other reward. He will at all events, by the work in question, establish a well-earned reputation as an industrious and able commentator on our Statue Law.

QUEBEC LETTER.

Quebec East Election—The Candidates.

QUEBEC, March 9.

As-tu vu les writs? That is the main topic which outdoes every other point of conversation when Quebecers meet in the streets. Of course any answer cannot be given to it. On one side, it is rumored that the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly does not think it opportune to examine the thing now; on the other, it is stated that the clerk of the Crown in Chancery keeps the writs in his own hands like carrier pigeons, waiting for the final official order to set them at liberty. A hypocritical clique, whose members are well known here, try to obtain the issuing of the writs only after Easter, under the pretence that electioneering would inflict a mortal blow on the religious dispositions of the people during Lent. The Government seems to indulge that notion. The Speaker, Blanchet, must be severely blamed for not having yet complied with the instructions of the House about the issuing of the writs. On the 21st January last, when the House was then sitting, Mr Bachand, seconded by Hon. Mr. Laframboise, proposed that, in consequence of the resignation of Messrs. Pelletier and Tremblay, the writs for the electoral constituencies of Saguenay and Chicoutimi, and of Quebec East, should be issued immediately. The motion was adopted. In accordance with the spirit of the law they should have been sent out immediately. In delaying the execution of the order of the House, Mr. Blanchet has made himself guilty of a very gross offense, and will have to explain his doings at the next session.

Notwithstanding this, canvassing on both sides is going briskly. The candidates invite their friends to meet together once a week. But till now, the most popular of the three candidates is certainly Mr. L. B. Caron. He has been brought forward by a large and influential section of the electoral division, and, since, he has worked up his own interests with much ability and the greatest energy. The meetings of his friends he convokes from time to time crowd to the utmost capacity the hall. People here like the public meetings, large demonstrations, and are particularly fond of good hustings speakers; on that account Mr. Caron is well received. He is aided by the most popular speakers of the city. Add to this that as an orator, he is himself very effective with the masses, and it will be easily understood why the public feeling is favourable to him. Besides that, Mr. Caron is a man of experience in men and things, and is thoroughly acquainted with the Provincial and Federal politics. One of his opponents, Mr. Keronac, cannot sincerely claim to be possessed of the same necessary qualifications. His particular title to the representation of Quebec East, is to be an elector of the Division, a citizen of St Sauveur, whose commercial interests are not in St. Sauveur, nor in St. Roch, but in Lower Town, in the vicinity of the Custom House wharves, when Mr. Caron, who lives in Upper Town, has many important properties in St. Sauveur. Mr. Keronac is a Churchman, certainly I will not censure him on account of that circumstance; he is at the head of many religious congregations, with all the honours which the church can invest a layman, have been conferred on him; he is not to be blamed for it; but I must observe that the church wardenship is not sufficient to entitle anybody to the membership in the Local or the Federal Parliament. The country requires something more from its representatives. It requires that a candidate for parliamentary honors should have a thorough acquaintance with all its immediate wants, its largest interests, a general idea of the political machinery, all which Mr. Kerouac cannot boast of. Instead of promoting the interests of some public enterprise in Quebec East, if those interests were in conflict with the purchase of a church utensil, he would give up the public enterprise and vote the money for the purchasing of that last named article. For thus the sexton has the precedency before the Prime Minister. Had Mr. Kerouac had his religious dispositions coupled with experience in political matters, he would have been the right candidate.

There is a third candidate, Mr. P. V. Valin alias Canal Valin. As he declared himself, by the organ of his mouth-piece, H. S. Vallerand, his brother-in law, entirely opposed to physicians, advocates and notaries in the political community, ces gueux là, as he termed all of them, it is more than probable that he will obtain blank votes on the polling day. He is a well known shipbuilder, but his experience in public life does not go beyond his trade.

Saturday last, Mr. Kerouac, called at L'Evenement office, to pay up his subscription and break off his connection with that paper as a subscriber, in order to inflict a severe punishment on the Editor for having stated that he, Mr. Kerouac, had resigned.

I learn just now that Mr. Kerouac is going to give up his pretensions, and resign to night at a meeting of his friends.

PAULUS EMILIUS.

DEPUTATION.—A deputation from the Wesleyan Methodist Conference, consisting of the Rev. Dr. Rice, President of the Conference, and Rev. Drs. Wood, Taylor, Evans and Boreland, arrived in this city on Tuesday evening. They had an interview with the Hon. Mr. Laird, Minister of the Interior, yesterday morning, on matters relative to Wesleyan Missions at Munsee. The ladies of the Metcalf Street W. M. Church entertained them at a complimentary tea last night, a report of which will be found in another column.

CITY AND VICINITY.

Smokers! For a good smoke, use the Myrtle Navy. See T. & B. on each plug.

REFORM ASSOCIATION.—The Reform Association meets this evening in the Reform Hall, at 7:30 o'clock.

Canadian Lustres, bought at auction, slightly imperfect and offered very low by Allan, McKinnons & McMorran. 2458

REMOVAL.—The Gas Company's offices were being removed yesterday to the building formerly occupied as the city Registry office, Elgin street.

REMOVAL OF WORKSHOPS.—Rumour says that the Machine Shops of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway are to be removed from Prescott to Ottawa at an early day.

WARDEN OF COUNTY OF OTTAWA.—At the meeting of the Council of the County of Ottawa yesterday in Hull, Mr. Devlin of Aylmer was elected Warden. The vote stood Devlin, 17; and Eddy, 14.

A CONFRERE.—Our old and esteemed friend Mr. D. Wylie, of the Brockville Recorder, has been elected Chairman of the Board of High and Public School Trustees of the town of Brockville.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—A Literary and Musical entertainment will be given in the basement of St. Andrew's Church, on Friday evening, consisting of reading and music. Chair to be taken at 8 o'clock precisely. Admission 25cts.; proceeds in aid of the Church Building Fund.

POSTPONEMENT.—In consequence of Mr. Miall having been unexpectedly called upon to leave the city in his official capacity, the lecture in connection with the Ottawa Literary and Scientific Society, referred to by us yesterday, has been postponed.

ASSESSMENT.—The Assessors are on duty in Brockville, and dogs have to take a back seat in the cellar, while the assessment is being made, otherwise their owners are charged the usual dog tax. It is to be hoped the Ottawa Assessors will take a peep down cellar, for fear of this thing becoming an epidemic.

CALEDONIA SPRINGS.—It is said that Mr. James Gouin, of the Russell House, has purchased the Caledonia Springs. The property is a most valuable one, and we hope Mr. Gouin will lose no time in putting up a good hotel. The curative properties of the Springs have only to be made known to be appreciated.

GOLD MEDAL.—The gold medal presented by Allan Gilmour, Esq., to the Ottawa Curling Club, is now finished and on exhibiton in Messrs. Radford and Goyer's jewellery establishment. For exquisite design and beautiful finish it excels anything of the kind ever offered for competition in Ottawa. It has been won by that keen curler, Mr. H. Inglis.

ST PATRICK'S DAY.—It will be seen by advertisement in another column, that the coming 17th of March is going to be celebrated with the usual enthusiasm by our Irish fellow citizens. There will be a procession, headed by four bands of music; mass in St. Patrick's Church, a sermon by the Rev. Father Stenson, and in the evening a grand Concert in the Rink Music Hall, to be sustained by the first amateur talent of the city, assisted by M'lle Rosa D'Erina. The proceeds of the Concert we learn will be devoted to charitable purposes.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.—We are requested by an old and valued citizen to call attention to a most dangerous practice, unfortunately too prevalent in this city, that of lighting fires with coal oil. This method is adopted by stupid servants who are too lazy to follow a safe and proper course; and heads of families cannot be too diligent in seeking to stamp out a practice fraught with so much danger. It might even be well to introduce a by-law to regulate the mode of kindling fires within the city limits.

THE BALL TO THE GOVERNOR.—To the Ladies of Ottawa.—Thos. E. Moore, of 72 Sparks street, with respectable compliments and sincere thanks for their very liberal patronage, solicits an early call to inspect the elegant assortment of ornaments in steel, pearl jet, and Tortoiseshell, which he has just received, and which he will sell at as low prices as possible, consistent with fair business principles. Fresh importations of all the new goods monthly at the Burlington Hair-Cutting Rooms. 2514.

THE WEATHER.—Old Boreas has again put in an appearance, and his stern grim visage is anything but acceptable to those who had been revelling in the idea that beautiful Spring had come upon us. He no sooner puts in an appearance than he gives visible effect to the expression, Veni, Vidi, Vici. It is, however, all for the best, as a couple of weeks more sleighing will enable the farmers to bring in the balance of their accumulated produce to market. Besides it is a little too early for winter to break up yet, and Spring will also be ushered in at a more acceptable time of year.

CURLING.—Messrs. Thorburn and James Egleson played a match yesterday for the Mull which at present causes so much anxiety to Ottawa curlers. Mr. Thorburn scored 13 points and Mr. Egleson 7, leaving the former winner of the match. In the next draw Mr. Thorburn is paired with Mr. Inglis, both medallists of the club, consequently

"When Greek meets Greek then comes the tug of war."

Much interest will be centered in the result of the match between these two gentlemen.

Is the mind a ponderable or an imponderable substance; an essence, vapor, or an indescribable something which cannot be grasped, felt, or withheld? Man thinks, studies, invents, tires the brain by overwork, and loses his reason; rests his intellect, becomes calm, uses restoratives; and again thinks. When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphities, we cannot but conclude that the subtle power is really ponderable matter, from the fact that the ingredients are supplied which render it support and give it vitality. Persons who study hard should preserve their balance of power by using the Syrup. 2505

A NEW MACADAMIZED ROAD PROJECT.—A meeting of the resident land owners between the village of Manotick and North Gower was held on Monday, March 9th, at the Anderson House, Manotick, with the object of affording encouragement for the construction of a macadamized road between the above named villages. Mr. J. Wallace, Reeve of North Gower, was appointed chairman, and Mr. K. Wilkinson was requested to act as secretary. The following resolutions were then adopted after the chairman explained the object of the meeting. Moved by Mr. Hugh Craig, seconded by Mr. W. Craig, That in the general interest of the township of North Gower and surrounding country, it is desirable that a first-class macadamized or gravel road be constructed from North Gower to Manotick, to connect with a similar road now projected from Ottawa city to Manotick, via the township of Gloucester. Moved by Mr. J. Latimer, seconded by Mr. Harry Mitchell, That a Committee composed of the Reeve, Messrs. W. Craig, J. Moffatt R. Craig, H. Williams, T. Rettzpiece, and M. K. Dickinson, be hereby appointed to obtain the right of way from the land owners between Manotick and North Gower, where it may be necessary to secure a public roadway of the uniform width of sixty feet. The proceedings then terminated by the adoption of a vote of thanks to the chairman and secretary.

Bishops, Priests and Deacons.

"The Ministry of the Church of God, according to Scripture, the Ancient Church and the Reformers."

A lecture on the above subject was delivered yesterday evening in St. Alban's School Room, by the Rev. T. Bedford Jones LL.D., "Priest of St. Alban's". The attendance was not large, and a very considerable number of those present were ladies. Dr. Jones was arrayed in his surplice, and the scarlet insignia of his literary rank depended from his shoulders. He spoke calmly, but somewhat sneeringly of a Yankee doctor in divinity, one of those men who had arisen to speak perverse things and draw disciples after them; alluded to Latimer, Ridley, Cranmer and others, who were reformers, but who had not said as did a recent adventurer, that Bishops, Priests and Deacons were all one—all on an equal footing one with the other. Before, said Dr. Jones, a man can be advanced from one grade in the ministry to another he must be examined, approved, and admitted thereto by lawful authority, and no man unless so tried is to be looked upon as a lawful Bishop. The very effrontery of a man telling him what Dr Gallagher did the other night fairly amazed him. It seemed to him that he must either be a thorough ignoramus or a thorough knave. Clerymen of the Church of England derived their orders by Apostolic succession. Priests were but Presbyters, the words priest and presbyter being synonymous. Some non-conformists allege that the number of the Apostles were not intended to be increased. Dr. Thomson especially maintained that such was the case stoutly maintaining that the Apostles had no successors, and when the case of Matthias, who was specially created an Apostle, was mentioned, he said he believed it to have been a very great mistake. The priesthood of the Christian Catholic Church was founded on that of the Jews. The Jews had three orders in the priesthood—the High Priest, the Priest, and the Levite, equivalent to Bishop, Presbyter and Deacon in gradation of rank and ecclesiastical authority. It was true the indiscriminate use of the words "Bishop" and "Presbyter," the two words having the same meaning in the New Testament, had led to much misconception. It had been a God-send to Presbyterians and non-conformists generally, whom it had enabled to throw a mist over the matter of Apostolic succession, and to throw dust in people's eyes. Bishops were the overseers of the church and Deacons were Ministers. The word Apostle meant sent and the Apostles called themselves Presbyters. According to Blunt it was after the apostolic age that the new nomenclature of "Bishops, Priests and Deacons" took place. Those who oppose the doctrine or theory of Apostolic succession, said that Timothy and Titus were not Bishops but only Presbyters. Yet Paul raised Timothy, a very young man, to the position of Bishop of Ephesus St. Chrysostome, testifying that St. Paul ordained him. In the 20th chapter of Acts are these words:—"Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers (or Bishops), to feed the Church of God which he hath purchased with his own blood, for I know this, that after my departing, shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock." St. Paul cautioned Timothy to be careful not to lay hands (ordain) suddenly on any man. But he could accuse and rebuke, and if these powers did not constitute him a prelate, his (Dr. J's) judgment was at fault. If Timothy was not a prelate why did other Bishops, Presbyters, and Deacons submit to him who was so young a man. According to the Presbyterian theory St. Paul's position in conferring power upon Timothy would have been an absurd one and his directions totally out of place. Titus, too, was a prelate. He was Diocesan Bishop over the Island of Crete, and nothing but an overwhelming prejudice could make men blind to this fact in the face of such evidence. Apostle and Angel had the same signification. Both words meant sent. The offices of Apostle and Angel in the Church were identical. An Angel was a Diocesan Bishop. The seven Angels spoken of in Revelations were Diocesan Bishops. Polycarp, the Bishop of Smyrna, was especially alluded to as an Angel, and so was Onesimus, who only twelve years after St. John had finished writing the Revelations, was Bishop of Ephems. It was amusing to see the shifts to which non-episcopalians are put to get rid of Bishops. Why should St. John pick out only one Angel if it were not that he was a prelate and had power over the Church. The elders were all addressed in the plural as a body, not individually. The status of Bishops was alluded to by St. Clement, the particular friend of St. Paul, and people of the present day must not allow themselves to be hoodwinked by adventurers, who come to trade upon their gullibility. Ignatius, Bishop of Antioch, who in his 80th year, was cast among wild beasts and eaten up, expressly points out that there are three orders of the priesthood. He does so in his epistle to the Magnesians, and also in an epistle to the Philadelphians. Indeed, he says that without the three orders of the priesthood there can be no church. Ignatius, the companion of St. John says this. Now who is right, Ignatius or Dr. Gallagher? Such were Dr. Jones' remarks substantially. It is not a little strange, however, that he should quote the apocryphal new Testament writings in support of "Bishops, Priests, and Deacons." The epistles of St. Clement, Barnabus, Magnesians, Trallians, Philadelphians, Smyrnaeans, Polocarp and Hermas, are all apocryphal and were omitted from the New Testament scriptures four centuries after the birth of Christ.

On the conclusion of the lecture a hymn was sung, Dr. Jones offered up a prayer, and that clergyman having pronounced the benediction, the audience retired to their respective homes.

Pleasing Tribute.

The members of the "Victoria Base Ball Club," of Sandy Hill, desirous of marking their regard for John McGibney, a member of the club, who had the misfortune last summer to lose one of his legs by amputation, presented him on Tuesday last with a fine pair of crutches and an address. It seems McGibney was a favorite with the boys, and his late misfortune has evoked considerable sympathy for him among members of the club; hence their action towards him the other day. The following is a copy of the address:—

To John McGibney.

DEAR COMRADE.—We, the undersigned members of the "Victoria Base Ball Club," wishing to mark in some tangible form the respect we entertain for you as a member of our club, and for the energetic and active part that you have always taken in our meetings in promoting its welfare, would take this opportunity of presenting you with this pair of crutches as a small token of our esteem for you. We hope that you may receive them in all kindness, and that they may prove of some service to you in your now somewhat unfortunate position.

We would remain,
Yours respectfully.

The recipient simply returned thanks for the useful present, and was happy to know that he had the esteem and regard of all the members of the club, as manifested by their address.

The above is a very pleasing incident to take place among young men scarcely yet ushered into the years of manhood, and must read a moral lesson to other young men, as to the charitableness and kind-heartedness that should characterize their lives in their actions one towards the other

Meeting at the Methodist Church.

A meeting designed to offer a greeting to the Rev. Dr. Rice, President of the Wesleyan Methodist Conference, the Rev. Dr. Taylor, and other clergymen of note at present in the city; and to discuss generally a project for the erection of a new church, was held last evening in the chapel in Metcalfe street. Refreshments were provided in the basement of the church, and were dispensed by the ladies' committee, after which all adjourned to the church. Here the Rev. W. J. Hunter, took the chair, and after the singing of a hymn, and prayer by the Rev. Mr. Hall, the Rev. Dr. Rice addressed the meeting He said a good many of the friends of his youth were there present, and he would wish to speak of the difference of to-day and thirty years ago. His life during later years had been filled with labour and he could not therefore hope to speak so well on the object they all had at heart, as his Highland friend (the Rev. Dr. Taylor). It was the honour of the Methodist body that they were ever willing to contribute towards affording church accommodation; and in Canada where they had an immense number, they were better filled with the worshipers of the living God, than those of any other Protestant denomination. The transfer of the Dominion Parliament to this city, and its consequent rapid growth and development rendered it necessary that their church accommodation should be attended to. This was their duty, and they should keep it unceasingly before their minds. A commodious church, properly situated and rightly built in the beginning is invariably the cheapest in the end, for a congregation. If a church corresponds with the locality in which it is situate, it will always command a large number who would but for its presence never go to church, He referred to the Metropolitan in Toronto, which, although very large was always well filled, and this he ascribed to its position. In this age they should have at Ottawa a Home Church; the pews of which should remain for generations to come. It was always a pleasure to him to recollect the Church of his boyhood; its recollections were constantly uppermost in his heart, but when a church was altered or enlarged these recollections were disturbed, and its associations became in some way disconnected. When you limit in the beginning a church sufficiently commodious, its associations lasted through successive ages, and trouble and expense, which must otherwise constantly recur were avoided. If to the Province of Ontario we presented as many churches as all the other Protestant denominations combined, we should present to the capital of the Dominion one which should be prominent and representative. From his own impressions, and from information received from his friends, he did not think it advisable to build a new church on the site of the present one. He had an objection to corner lots, and did not deem them the best suited for ecclesiastical structures; but would prefer a more roomy site in a central position. He had been asked to assent to a collection being made throughout the country for the construction of such a church as they proposed. This permission he had no authority to give, but he had not the slightest doubt that the Conference, within whose power it lay, would give it with their most earnest assistance. A church such as he proposed would cost about $50,000. He did not care for too large a building, but as a memorial church, it should be suited to the wants, conveniences and services of a Methodist congregation, and it should be beautiful in design, and he trusted its whole arrangements would be expressive of the ideas of the gospel and agreeable to their importance in numbers and position in the city of Ottawa, which should in the future be the great capital of a vast Dominion. He assured them that the movement should receive his hearty support, and urged the ladies to take hold of the matter and never cease till the church was completed.

The Rev. Dr. Mark next gave some interesting details relative to the success which attended the construction of the church at Pooley's Bridge, which details had met with the approval of the Rev. President and his other friends of long standing and high position in the church.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor then spoke, referring at some length to the time he officiated in a small stone church in Bytown, which had a more numerous and more influential congregation than any other Protestant church in the locality, and enumerating the old residents who formed part of his congregation. He paid a special compliment to his friend Pitman Lett, who never failed to be present, and acted as a kind of recruiting sergeant. He described the manner in which the Metropolitan in Toronto, which seated 2,200 persons was built at a cost of $50,000 and said he disagreed with the President as to the size a church should have. His church was always full, and its pulpits were always open to those who preached the pure doctrines of the Reformation He thought they ought to construct a building capable of accommodating 1,800 persons, and if they could acquire a large lot in the neighbourhood of the present structure, they ought to acquire it. He concluded by informing them that he would give them all the assistance he could in Toronto, and wished them a blessing in their undertaking. After a hymn and blessing, the meeting separated.

Curliana.

A match was played on Tuesday afternoon at the Rideau Hall Curling Rink, between His Excellency Earl Dufferin and Mr. James W. Russell, for the Mull now being competed for by the members of the Ottawa Curling Club. In the third drawing of pairs, it fell to the lot of His Excellency to play with Mr. Russell. He had previously beaten the Rev. Mr. Gordon and Mr. Wm. Hutchinson, Sr., but on this occasion he had to meet a foeman worthy of his steel. The game lasted about three hours and was keenly contested on both sides, the playing being of the most superior kind, and so close, that it was doubtful which would probably prove the victor. His Excellency, however, succeeded in winning the match by one point. The score resulted as follows:—

Earl Dufferin.......... 21 points.
J. W. Russell,........ 20 "

His Excellency has now played three times for the same prize, and having vanquished such a veteran curler as Mr. Russell, he will doubtless stand a good chance of carrying off the much coveted trophy of the club.

Horses Saved.

The lives of thousands of horses have been saved during the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before given half as successful or given such universal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. M. Pouchet, in his great work, "The Universe," says that "Anatomically and physically speaking, the human mechanism is very rude and coarse compared to the exquisite delicacy revealed in the organism of certain animals. But in us, the intellect, the real sceptre of the universe, predominates over the apparent imperfection of matter. Through it man alone approaches the chosen creatures that shine near the throne of the Eternal, and form a bond of union between heaven and earth. If in his structure he belongs to our sphere, he seems already to elevate himself toward the Supreme Essence by the splendour of his genius." A grand and philosophic truth, and yet how comparatively small the number, and rare the genius, displayed in proportion to the number of the earth's inhabitants. Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites as a restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress in enlightenment would then be marvelous. TORONTO.

Ontario Legislature.

The Speaker took the Chair at 3:15.

After routine, Mr. Rykert moved that in the opinion of this House it is expedient that provision be made by which Municipalities entitled to payment under the Municipal Act of 1873, shall be permitted to expend their appropriation in accordance with the wishes of the ratepayers, as expressed through their Councils, or by by-laws to be passed and approved by them. He said several municipalities desired to found public libraries, and he did not see why they should be prevented.

The Attorney General said it had been decided that this money should be expended on permanent improvements, and he did not think it advisable that the question should be reopened.

The Hon. Mr. Currie regretted that the Government did not see their way to accepting this resolution.

Mr. Merrick thought that non-borrowing municipalities which were only given small amounts, should be allowed to spend that amount in purposes most pleasing to them.

Mr. Sinclair believed that his County was in favour of this resolution.

Mr. Bethune considered limitations of the Act very desirable. If municipalities were free, very few permanent improvements would be carried out.

Mr. Baxter believed the municipal scheme gave general satisfaction, but it was open to improvements.

Mr. Christie said if municipalities were allowed to apply the amount to school purposes, it would be satisfactory.

Several other members having spoken pro and con, Mr. Baxter moved in amendment that it is not expedient at present to take any action with regard to the Municipal Loan Fund Act.

Mr. Lauder moved in amendment to the amendment, that the wishes of the rate-payers should be consulted if they desired to invest money in aid of schools, they should have the power to do so.

Hon. Mr. Crooke's raised the point of order, that as this resolution affected the distribution of moneys, it could not under clause 54 of B. A. A. Act, be dealt with unless under recommendation of the Lieutenant Governor.

Mr. Rykert contended that objection did not apply to this case, as money had been already appropriated, and the resolution only affirmed an abstract principle.

Hon. Mr. Fraser argued against the resolution until six o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

A few private bills were read a third time and others advanced a stage.

By consent of Mr. Merrick the second reading of the Orange Incorporation Bill was declared lost on a division.

The debate on Mr. Cameron's motion respecting examining members of the Executive Council under oath was resumed. A long debate ensued, and at 11 o'clock the members were called in, and the amendment to the amendment was lost. Yeas, 17; Nays, 48.

The Attorney General moved in amendment in effect that it should be whether the opinion of members of the Crown as to what papers they should produce, or whether they appear before the Committee unless otherwise ordered by this House. The House divided and the amendment was carried. Yeas, 45; Nays, 19

The amendment as amended and the original motions were carried on the same division.

The House adjourned at midnight.

HALIFAX.

Sherbrooke, Guysboro' Co., Flooded—Great Damage.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 10.

Immense damage was sustained in Sherbrooke, Guysboro' County, by the freshet on Wednesday. The waters in the St. Mary's River were swollen by the rain and thaw. A couple of miles above Sherbrooke there is a natural dam of rocks across the river, beyond which for several miles it is called Stillwater. The ice on this portion of the river was broke up by the freshet and flooded the whole of the bank of the river where Sherbrooke is situated. The scene is said to baffle description. The river overflowed its bank, carrying thousands upon thousands of tons weight of ice, logs, and even whole trees uprooted from the banks in its almost irresistible sweep.

HAMILTON.

Arrested for Rape.

HAMILTON, March 10.

Yesterday afternoon Detective Rousseaux at the post office arrested a young man named Graham, on a charge of rape, alleged to have been committed on Feb. 20th, 1873, upon the person of the wife of a Mr. Armitage, of London, Ont. It is stated that he and two others boarded at Mr Armitage's house, and when they and the husband were absent on the night in question, he committed the offence, and made the woman promise, upon the pain of being shot, that she would tell no one until he had left the city, which he did in a few days. Then she told her husband, he in the meanwhile having boarded in the house. The police were communicated with. It seems that he left for England, and only a short time ago returned. It is said that letters, which have passed between the two, prove his guilt conclusively. Graham was employed as an agent for a firm in London dealing in fruit trees. Mr. Armitage, hearing that he was back again in Canada and in Hamilton, came down yesterday, and on his sworn information the young man was arrested. Detective Murphy came down for him to-day, and left by the afternoon train for London, where a trial will take place.

The loss is estimated at $20,000. The buildings were insured, and the stock was but partially saved.

An organized band of thieves carried off quantities of goods during the excitement. Mr. Heed, proprietor of the Commercial, while preventing their entrance, was brutally assaulted and his face cut up by steel knuckles.

The fire gained headway for lack of sufficient water pressure.

The Battle of Accomboo—Severe Losses—King Koffee in the Field—Death of His Commander-in-Chief—Major Baird Decapitated.

The following important and very interesting despatches, detailing the progress of the Ashantee war during the period of the march of the British army towards Coomassie, have been received by mail from England:—

LISBON, Feb. 25, 1874.

The 'Enchantress' has arrived, and brings the following news received per the African steamer 'Anoquelle,' which left Cape Coast Castle on the 6th of February:

A severe engagement took place on the 31st of January at Accomboo, on the Coomassie side of the Adansi Hills, lasting twelve hours. The British army was quite surrounded, but the Ashantees were defeated with great loss.

THE CASUALTIES.

The losses on our side were also severe; 39 officers and men of the Naval Brigade were killed and wounded; 9 officers and 105 men of the Forty-second Regiment; 56 officers and men of the Twenty-third; 23 officers and men of the Rifle Brigade. Of the casualty of the native troops there are no returns.

The following are the names of the officers killed and wounded:—Killed—Major Baird, Forty-second Regiment; Captain Buckle, Royal Engineers; Captain Nicholl, Volunteer officer. Captain Grubbe, Sub-Lieutenants Mundy and Rawson, of the Royal Navy, were wounded, the latter severely. Also were wounded, Captain Creagh, Lieutenants Stevenson and Berwick, of the Forty-second Regiment.

The members of the general staff were exposed to much fire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Lizzie L. King, alias Kate Stoddard, now in Brooklyn jail, charged with the murder of Charles Gooderich, in March, 1873, publishes a long statement of what she knows about the tragedy. She says that on the night of Gooderich's death, she retired early, leaving him reading a paper in the dining-room. She slept over two hours, when she was awakened by the report of a pistol. She dressed and ran down stairs and found Gooderich lying on the floor, with his own revolver near his foot. She thought he had committed suicide, but subsequent developments led her to believe that possibly he might have been murdered. According to her own story, no confession of murder was ever made by her to the police. Roscoe she knows nothing of, and Lucetti Myers she never saw, until she appeared as a witness in the case.

A DISTINGUISHED Physician has said that Neuralgia is the cry of the hungry nerves for their special food, which is the Phosphorous contained in the blood. This painful disease is usually followed by general prostration on account of the great waste of nerve tissue and insufficient supply of nerve force to maintain the functions of the vital organs. The common cause of Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pains is depraved Nutrition arising from derangements of the stomach, mal-assimilation of food, and poor blood. Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya supplies phosphorous for the nervous system, Lime as an excitant of nutrition, Iron for the blood, and Calisaya for promoting strength. No preparation in existence is so reliable to maintain the vital forces and energize all the organs and tissues of the body.

SECURITY SHOULD BE THE PRIMARY CONSIDERATION.

This old and favorite Company offers this in its large Capital, and the unlimited liability of the shareholders.

Special attention is drawn to a new feature in in Life business, just introduced by this Company,—that of insuring on the half-credit system, By this method, persons who wish to insure for their families an insurance for a large amount, but whose present income, though improving, will not admit of it, or persons in business who wish to utilize their funds to the fullest extent, and cannot therefore spare the necessary premiums for a large life policy, can insure $5,000 for the same amount of premiums as is required for $2,500, the remainder half-premium standing at 6 per cent. interest, as a debt on the policy until paid off.

BONUS.

Persons insuring now, or within the next few weeks, will obtain the benefit of one year's bonus.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the real conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color, has divested our current politics of half their bygone intensity. However parties may henceforth rise or fall, it is clear that the fundamental principles which have hitherto honorably distinguished the Republicans are henceforth to be regarded as practically accepted by the whole country. The right of every man to his own limbs and sinews—the equality of all citizens before the law—the inability of a State to enslave any portion of its people—the duty of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of this liberty until he forfeits it by crime—such are the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and palsied be the hand which shall seek to displace them! Though not twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of man and the benignant smile of God.

Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and humble from violence and oppression—to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilisation—to stimulate Ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economizing Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gains of Industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, the Tribune contributes its zealous, persistent efforts.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially lucidated in its Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful tillers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who has $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as the Tribune. And we aspire to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage enables us to do; and we are resolved that our success of former years shall be exceeded in varied excellence and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our journal better and better, by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us!

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. . . They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published, and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuiness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of Dr. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its Early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen Physician to Guy's Hospital.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that subtance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe DR. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

. Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

Dr. Granville F.R.S., Author of the 'Spas o Germany.'

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the Pale Oil."

Edwin Canton, Esq., F.R.C.S., Surgeon to Charing Cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL sold only in Imperial Half-pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; Capsuled and Labelled with his Stamp and Signature

GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength. Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, oitments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labell on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE
FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

These periodicals constitute a wonderful miscellany of modern thought, research, and criticism. The cream of all European books worth reviewing is found here, and they treat of the leading events of the world in masterly articles written by men who have special knowledge of the matters treated. The American Publishers urge upon all intelligent readers in this country a liberal support of the Reprints which they have so long and so cheaply furnished, feeling sure that no expenditure for literary matter will yield so rich a return as that required for a subscription to these the LEADING PERIODICALS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

The March on Coomassie.

The following from an English exchange was received at the War Office from Sir Garnet Wolsely, via Lisbon:—

"CAMP FOMMANAH, Jan. 26.

"All is progressing favourably. My outposts are on Bahrein river, about 27 miles from Coomassie. The King has sent all the white captives, and says he accepts the terms I offered and will pay indemnity I demand. I halt here for a few days to collect stores."

We have received, from a correspondent on board the 'Sarmatian' the following intelligence from Cape Coast Castle up to the 24th of January:—

"Sir Garnet Wolsely, Commodore Hewett, with staff and Naval Brigade, crossed the River Prah on the 20th of January by pontoon bridge, and reached Moinsey, a place at the foot of Adansi Hills, the near side, on the 22d; the troops following on that and the two following days. Ambassadors from King Koffee were expected at Moinsey, but we had not heard of their arrival, unless the Government telegrams which we are carrying convey the news, and that of course we do not know. The Naval Brigade were reported by latest letter from the front as marching into Moinsey singing 'Old John Brown,' The country between the Prah and Adansi Hills is all forest. Native scouts under European officers were over the hills at a place called Quisah, some distance on towards Coomassie. The Adansi Hills are about 40 or 50 miles from Coomassie. A good number of men from all classes are coming down sick or waiting for conveyance. Three officers and 39 men of the Naval Brigade are left sick at Prahsu. Captain Blake, of the 'Druid,' who had command of the Naval Brigade, has had, much to the sorrow of all parties, to give up the command to Capt. Grubbe, of the 'Tamar,' and was returning sick. Captain Huyshe, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster General, died of fever and dysentery at Prahsu a day or two before our departure, and was buried there. 200 men of the 23rd Fusiliers were to disembark and proceed up country the morning after we left, leaving half that regiment, much to their chagrin, still afloat; 70 men of the 23d were sick. The 'Victor Emanuel' had nearly 100 invalids on board, most of whom where to leave for St. Vincent by the 'Thames' on the 27th of January. The 'Victor Emanuel' has proved a great success, as the hospital on shore at Cape Coast Castle, is not nearly so healthy for men returning sick on account of the bad drainage of the town, &c., as the floating hospital is away from all disagreeable smells which prevail in the town of Cape Coast Castle. Sir A. Alison left Cape Coast Castle for the front on the 22rd of January.

"Col. De Courcy and about 18 officers and 200 men of the Royal Marine Artillery and Royal Marine Light Infantry are on board the 'Himalaya.'

"The difficulty of getting carrier for baggage and stores prevents the General from landing more men than are absolutely required up country. The ships and boats of the Squadron are employed assisting to disembark troops and baggage, embarking invalids, bringing native carriers from different parts of the Coast, coaling, provisioning, &c. The health of the Squadron is fairly good. Ships roll about a great deal which, combined with the climate, makes a long stay lying off Cape Coast Castle anything but pleasant. Captain Glover, having been deserted by a great many of the Accra natives, was supposed to be on his way from Pong, a place some distance up the River Volta, with 1,000 men, mostly Houssas, to meet Sir Garnet. The Awoona tribe, about 5,000 in number, on the east bank of the River Volta, had threatened to attack Addah, the base of Captain Glover's operations. Her Majesty's ships 'Amethyst' and 'Decoy' were off that part of the Coast to watch affairs. The officers and men of the Expedition had found the protracted halt at Prashu very monotonous, and were delighted to push on. The General, I believe, is expected to be back at the Coast by the middle or the end of February.

"DISPOSAL OF SQUADRON ON THE 24TH OF JANUARY.

"At Cape Coast Castle—'Active' commander's ship. 'Victor Emanuel,' hospital; 'Tamar,' 'Himalaya,' 'Encounter,' 'Druid,' 'Bittern,' 'Beacon,' 'Argus.'

"Off Windward Coast—'Barracouta,' 'Merlin,' 'Coquette.'

"Off River Volta and Coast in that Direction—'Amethyst,' 'Decoy.'

"At St. Vincent.—Simoom, hospital depot ship.

"Mail Service and carrying invalids to St. Vincent.—Dromedary, Thames, Sprite, Eliz. Martin.

"Sarmatian, Captain Aird, transport, hired from Allan Brothers, carrying telegrams to Gibraltar, from Sir Garnet to Government."

REUTER'S TELEGRAM.

ST. VINCENT, Feb 9.

Sir Garnet Wolseley and the advanced posts are beyond the Adansi Hills. The force will be in Coomassie on the 3rd inst. No fighting is expected. The health of the troops is fairly good; 116 men of the 23rd Regiment are going home, their services not being required. The whole of the forces are expected to return to Cape Coast Castle by the end of February, and the squadron and transports hope to be homeward bound about the first of March.

Her Majesty's ship Himalaya arrived on the 6th inst. She has on board 460 troops, some of whom have not landed since leaving England. The Himalaya has some invalids to be transferred to the Simoom, hospital ship, lying here at anchor.

The Thames, transport No. 13, arrived on the morning of the 7th inst., bringing invalids to be forwarded to England. The Adela, transport No. 2, is lying here as tender to the Simoom. The Ethelred, No. 9, is expected hourly.

There was much fever at Cape Coast Castle, but only a few cases were serious.

M. Pouchet, in his great work, "The Universe," says that "Anatomically and physically speaking, the human mechanism is very rude and coarse compared to the exquisite delicacy revealed in the organism of certain animals. But in us, the intellect, the real sceptre of the universe, predominates over the apparent imperfection of matter. Through it man alone approaches the chosen creatures who shine near the throne of the Eternal, and form a bond of union between heaven and earth. If in his structure he belongs to our sphere, he seems already to elevate himself toward the Supreme Essence by the splendour of his genius." A grand and philosophic truth, and yet how comparatively small the number, and rare the genius, displayed in proportion to the number of the earth's inhabitants. Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress in enlightenment would then be marvelous. 2511

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1874.

Mr. DeCosmos, in addressing the electors of Victoria, thanking them for his return, said the Railway and the Esquimault Dock would be commenced in British Columbia this year. He was treated to an ovation, a torch-light procession, and other compliments, fifty men drawing him in a carriage round the town.

The subject of the terms of British Columbia's union with Canada has been discussed to a thread-bare condition in its Legislature. One of the chief points of the controversy was the validity of the other terms in the case of the alteration of one or two, such as those affecting the graving dock guarantee. Some of the best lawyers and politicians have given it as their opinion that changes like the above would not vitiate the other conditions of the union, or relieve Canada from the early commencement of the Railway. This dictum will doubtless quiet the public mind, and disarm the local opposition, who have been as unscrupulous in their attempts to mis-represent their opponents, and create trouble between British Columbia and Canada, as a portion of the Quebec and Ontario opposition.

THE BUTCHER-BARONET AND HIS FRIENDS.

Whether the Claimant be Baronet or Butcher, Tichborne or Orton, a jury has decided that he is the latter, and the Lord Chief Justice of England has consigned him to penal servitude for what may possibly be the term of his natural life. No trial on record has created such a sensation as that which has terminated so disastrously to one of the vilest impostors of any age, or one of the most unfortunate of men. Of a peculiar personal appearance, a gross habit of body, and very considerable shrewdness, the convict succeeded in making very many persons of large intelligence believe that he was the veritable Sir Roger Tichborne, and the belief was strengthened as the trial for perjury proceeded. Indeed the evidence was so conflicting that the idea began to gain ground that a conviction could not be had. The judges were evidently prejudiced against him. They, at least, never for a moment believed that the present convict was entitled to be considered the heir to the Tichborne title and estates. The absurdity of the pretension seemed to be ridiculously apparent to the Lord-Chief Justice. Yet it was difficult to prove by evidence that a man did not himself know who he really was, or that he only pretended to be somebody, whom he was not. It was curious that a mother could be deceived in her offspring, and, while it is not at all wonderful that a brother should fail to recognize one whom for a time it was his interest not to know, it is exceedingly wonderful that, after conviction, Charles Orton should confess the relationship. But there are many strange alleged disclosures, besides that of Charles Orton who acknowledges, it is alleged, to have been paid for keeping quiet. What! this man, without a monthly allowance, would have peached upon his own brother? This is simply nonsense. A verdict has been rendered, and there being still some uncertainty in the public mind in England about the righteousness of the verdict, means are doubtless being taken to show that a conviction has properly taken place. Clearly, Dr. Kenealy, the convict's counsel, could not have believed in the righteousness of the verdict. Dr. Kenealy would not have dared in the face of such a consciousness to have bearded the judges, appealed for a new trial, and animadverted on their repeated punishments for contempt of their proceedings, as a renewal of star, chamber practice, which, in truth, it much resembled, for the contempts did not occur in Court, but arose from seemingly the honest utterances of possibly mistaken men of wealth at public meetings and elsewhere. Dr. Kenealy apologizes, it is true, for the harshness of his language in this attack upon the Bench. The Orton confession necessitated that apology. There was no help for it then. But there is no comparison to be made, as the Montreal Herald seems to suppose between the conduct of Mr. Sergeant Philips in the defence of Courvoisier, and that of Dr. Kenealy in defending the claimant from a charge of perjury. Mr. Onslow, it is said, was to receive £600. If the claimant succeeded, that gentleman would have been entitled to something, considering that he had been fined in a large sum of money for contempt of Court in the claimant's interest. Still it sounds odd that a member of the Imperial Parliament should acknowledge to have been in the expectancy of a consideration for the services which he had rendered. Such a course of conduct is so unlike anything that could have been expected from a person in Mr. Onslow's position that we can scarcely bring ourselves to believe it. Mr. Whalley is alleged to have acted only foolishly in the full belief that Orton was Tichborne. Of course the mere fact that a large number of people believe that the "Claimant" is not an imposter, but a victim, is no proof that he is so. Johanna Southcote had many followers, and thousands, who had never seen her, believed in her. There is no accounting for faith. That is the evidence of things unseen and the substance of something hoped for. This much is certain, the false character which the man "Luie" assumed, the false personality which he took, and the inability to find the vessel "Osprey," although diligently hunted for, and the positive identification of the jail-bird, Lughrens with the witness Luie, completely annihilated the "Claimant" in the minds of the jury, and they could not be uninfluenced by the powerful summing up of Lord Chief Justice Cockburn, who was no believer in the pretended Tichborne from the outset. If it be clear that the pretender is Orton, then, of course, further steps must be taken to secure the punishment, not of one man who has sworn falsely, but of every witness, who, in this costly case, has wilfully given false testimony. The punishment is not greater than the crim deserved. Forgery, at one time, was punishable with death. The "Claimant's" pretensions being unfounded, a forgery of the greatest magnitude has been committed, and those who assisted in that forgery ought assuredly to be punished.

MANITOBA'S CLAIM FOR BETTER TERMS.

Our readers are aware that the Manitoba Delegation, consisting of, or including Messrs. Royal and Howard, members of the Local Government, are still at work, here, with the object of securing an improvement of the terms under which that Province was constituted and admitted into the Union. Those gentlemen, with Attorney-General Clarke, it will be remembered spent some time in Ottawa, last session of the Dominion Parliament, on the same mission, and with the result of making a good impression on the late Government. It promised to give the new proposals favourable consideration, suggesting, if we mistake not, to the delegates the enlargement of the Province as a desirable improvement. This suggestion commended itself to the Local Legislature which, at a session called last November to consider the matter, passed an act unanimously for such extension of the Province. Upon this measure the action of the Dominion is now awaited. Manitoba's total revenue at present is but $77,172, all of which comes from the Dominion with the exception of some $6,000 derived from licenses, the only source of local revenue at the command of the Government, which it will be observed, has not been granted crown lands like the other Provinces, either for settlement or fiscal purposes. The Provincial Treasurer's estimates for the year 1873, show the following disposition was made of this revenue:—Legislative Assembly, $9,750; Legislative Council, $3,715; Civil Government, $17,700, Administration of Justice, $9,000, roads and bridges, $5,000; police, $4,000; education, $7,000; printing, $6,000; miscellaneous, $4,000; and charities, $1,500. The total outlay was $72,665. The official memorandum, prepared by the Government, makes the following cogent representations, which can not but excite attention, and at least secure the delegates from Manitoba a respectful consideration of the case they present:

The absolute inadequacy of the above various items for administration of Justice, Roads, and Bridges, Education, Agriculture and Immigration, in a young and so isolated a Province, where all these public important services have to be borne exclusively by the Local Government, is self-evident.

According to the plan submitted by the Executive Council of Manitoba, the Province as extended would embrace an area of about 109 millions of acres, instead of 9 millions as at present, and would extend to the west, the north and east, and be made to meet the western frontier of Ontario (vide map).

NEW BASIS.

(1) It is submitted that the population of Manitoba when so enlarged should be taken at 200,000, to be the basis of the same financial arrangements as provided by the Manitoba Act.

(2) That the sum of $90,000 be paid yearly by the Dominion Government of Canada to the Province for the support of the Government and Legislature.

(3.) That the Province be represented by eight members in the House of Commons, and by five in the Senate; the boundaries of the new electoral districts to be settled by the Lieutenant Governor in Council of Manitoba, and the elections for the said districts to take place and be regulated according to instructions received from the Government of Canada.

(4.) The Dawson Road, being the principal inlet from Canadian territory for immigrants to the North West, shall remain under the management of the Dominion Government, and be maintained and improved by the said Government.

PROVINCIAL BUILDINGS AND LIBRARY.

3. To commence immediately to push forward as quickly as possible the construction of the Public Buildings of the Province, to wit: Parliament House, residence of the Lieutenant Governor, the Departmental Offices, five Courts of Justice, Prisons, Penitentiary, and to provide for the creation of a good Provincial Library.

The delegates chiefly rest their claim with regard to this item upon the formal promises that were made in the spring of 1870 by the Government of Ottawa to the delegates of the North West, promises fully in accordance with the 108th clause of the British North America Act and the 9th sub-section of the 26th clause of the Manitoba Act.

MOUNTED POLICE FORCE.

3. To organize, equip, and send to Manitoba, a body of well and carefully chosen mounted Dominion Police, over which the Government of Manitoba would have control while stationed in the Province: the number to be stationed at all times in the Province not to be less than fifty, part of the expenses for the maintenance and support of the said number being defrayed by the Province.

This demand was, we are gratified to state, partly conceded. Amendments and details yet to be arranged.

POSTPONEMENT OF THE CANADIAN TARIFF.

4. To postpone the Canadian tariff, except on spirituous liquors, until railroad communication with Lake Superior, through Canadian territory, is established.

The Privy Council yielded to this demand and extended to the 12th of May, 1874, the old tariff of 4 per cent.

IMMIGRANTS OVER THE DAWSON ROAD.

5. To have the free carriage of emigrants over the Dawson Road from the port of Collingwood to Fort Garry, and the extension of the said road to the western boundary of the Province adjoining the N. W. Territories, and the maintenance of the same.

The arrangements made last year for the immigrants going over the Dawson Road fully met the request of the Government of Manitoba.

A number of other advantages are asked, some of the previous, solicited last spring, having been granted in the meantime. The Manitobans wish the Dominion Government to undertake the undermentioned obligations:

7. To provide immediately for the appointment of Immigration Agents in the Province, and at Duluth, Collingwood, Windsor, Sault Ste. Marie and in Europe.

8. To provide for a fair and just compensation for the damages done the several printing offices in September, 1872, during the Dominion election riots.

9. To appoint a Chief Justice for the Province (35 Vict. cap. 3 of the Statutes of Manitoba.) (Now granted.)

10. To provide as soon as possible for the extension and improvement of the Postal Service in the Province of Manitoba.

This demand was readily acquiesced in by the Department and our Postal system was placed on a much better footing.

To this list of claims, we beg to add the following, which have been embodied in later Orders in Council, as per memorandum addressed by the undersigned on the 19th ult., to the Honorable Secretary of State, viz.:—

A. The appointment of Protestant and Catholic Chaplains for the Provincial Penitentiary, and remuneration to the Ven. Archdeacon Cowley and Rev. Mr. Cochrane, and RR. Fathers Lavoie and Dugast for their services in connection with that institution during the past two years.

B. The allotment to the Local Government of its proportion of land retained for Government purposes out of the Hudson's Bay Company grant surrounding Fort Garry.

C. The claim of the Local Government to the building at Fort Garry now used by the military authorities as a hospital.

D. Railway extension from Winnipeg to Pembina and Lake Superior.

E. The support of the North West Territories prisoners confined in the Provincial gaols.

F. Certain amendments to the Act respecting claims to lands in Manitoba (36 V. cap. 6.)

G. The fulfilment of certain promises made to the Indians in the Stone Fort Treaty.

H. The definition of the proposed boundaries of the Province according to natural boundary lines.

The Manitoba Ministers enumerate various reasons for the reconsideration of the conditions of the union as chiefly affecting that Province—including the previous unacquaintance with the cost and responsibilities of self-government, the serious rise in the price of everything, occasioned by the influx of settlers, and the elaborate character of the constitutional system in view of the smallness of the population. The Executive Council, in a Minute of Feb. 1st, 1873, set forth:

"The Council have practised the closest economy, and yet, at the end of three years, the Treasurer reports that the Province has expended $15,688 beyond its receipts, represented, it is true, by Public Buildings, a Library, and certain Public Property. This state of things, too, has been arrived at while the Legislature of Manitoba has only during the last year been able to expend such small sums as $10,000 on Roads and Bridges, and $7,000 on Education, although owing to the exceptional position of the Province, as explained in the Minute of the 6th November last, the Government is obliged to expend $10,000 in maintaining a Police Force, and have expended in three years no less a sum than $25,910 in maintaining the force.

The Province is increasing rapidly in population and will do so still more quickly in the future, but such increase will only add to the embarrassments of the position.

There is, as yet, no Municipal system in force here, though an attempt will be made to introduce it. The people are unused to direct taxation, and the growth of the population will necessitate expenditure which the Province will be unable to meet."

The Local Government consider they would be rendering the Dominion a service in assuming the management of the immense territory East, North and West proposed to be incorporated with Manitoba, which would thus be relieved of a grave responsibility. Without touching on this point at present, we can only say we are of opinion that the Province has a claim to an improvement of its circumstances whether in the shape of more money or land, or of both, and we are not sorry to learn that the delegates consider their prospect of success the reverse of discouraging.

MOTION OF CENSURE.

It can scarcely be that the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature have become emboldened by recent successes. Yet they have ventured upon action that will result in a test of the strength of parties in the Legislature. Their leader, yesterday, in amendment to the motion to go into Committee of Supply, moved that Hon. Mr. McKellar, Commissioner of Public Works, for his action in granting a half holiday to the men on the Central Prison Works to enable them to vote at a recent election in West Toronto, deserved the censure of the House. In our telegraphic despatch it will be seen that the assailed Commissioner fully justified his conduct, and received the applause of the House. By the time Mr. Cameron will have got through with this motion, he will have found that he has added another to his many previous mistakes in political generalship.

THE ST. LAWRENCE CANALS.

The preliminary survey of the St. Lawrence Canals with the view of estimating the cost of their enlargement, having been made, the Chief Engineer of the Board of Works has caused the issue of the following circular:—

The question of the enlargement of the St. Lawrence Canals being now under consideration, it has been deemed advisable to invite Boards of Trade, Ship owners, Forwarders, and persons directly interested, to give information and state their views on the following points:

1st. What is the cost of transporting grain per bushel direct from ports on the upper lakes to Montreal, by sailing vessels of from 300 to 500 tons burden; and by propellors of a like carrying capacity; also the cost per bushel in each case, and difference in time, if the grain is transhipped at Kingston, and delivered at Montreal by barges?

2nd. What would be the probable cost of transportation of grain per bushel from ports on the upper lakes to Montreal direct by sailing vessels of 1000 tons burden, and by propellors of a like capacity; also the cost per bushel in each case, and difference in time likely to be occupied, if the grain be transhipped at Kingston and delivered at Montreal by barges?

3rd. The Welland Canal being now in progress of enlargement to a bottom width of 100 feet, and a depth of 13 feet, or least sectional area 1638 feet, locks 270 feet long between the gates, and 45 feet wide, with a depth of twelve feet of water on the sills; would the interests of commerce in your opinion warrant the expenditure of ten millions of dollars, or more, in making the Canals between Prescott and Montreal of like dimensions.

A reply, if possible by the 21st instant would oblige,

JOHN PAGE,
Chief Engineer Public Works.
OTTAWA, March 13, 1874.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE TIMES will not be held responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—Our new, very kind and most dearly beloved Pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gallagher, has most eloquently and convincingly vindicated in the opinion of all unprejudiced minds, his reasons for leaving the corrupt Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, by a long list of proofs produced at his seance in the Court House on Monday evening, of the existence of ritualistic practices and dogmatic errors in vogue in some churches in England. We must not question for an instant the perfect soundness of our leaders' reasons. The success of every new movement depends on a full and free acceptance of the infallibility of the Dictator—and is it not a pleasure to be dictated to by godly men whose motives are so pure and disinterested. If every man had an opinion of his own, and should think it as good—as and some men think their's better than every other man's—no reformation could prosper. Judged thus, observe Sir, the harmony that prevails amongst us. We are already putting in practice the lesson of his most unctuous sermon on love. We all love one another already, all that a man or an individual of the other sex, whom we may accidentally meet in the street, has to do to insure our friendship, for most ardent devotion is to announce himself or herself as a Reformed brother or sister. People are already beginning to say, "See how these Christians love one another."

Totally abjuring for myself all right of private judgment, except the right—rather the privilege—of approving everything advanced by our pure and holy-minded Pastor—Priest no longer, thanks to the reformation effected by him,—I fully and freely assent to the excellency of the reason he has favored us with for leaving the Apostate Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, viz., because of the unfaithfulness of some score or so of presbyters, out of 20,000, of the Church of England.

Follow this new road, now, for the first time opened to the great god, Truth, but which has hitherto been hid from our eyes by the thick and tangled jungle of error, I have concluded—much to my peace of mind—to abjure forever the name Canadian. The British constitution, under the late Liberal Government, has been shamefully violated in the disestablishment of the Irish Church and consequent repeal of one of the conditions of the union between England and Ireland—the Irish Land Act, the extension of the franchise in England, the education, the factory, and other such acts are such shameful innovations on the long cherished principles of English constitutional legislation, that I can no longer consent to be a Canadian. I therefore by these presents tender to the proper authorities all my rights and privileges, and beseech all who love their country to range themselves round my standard, which I intend to erect in the cause of freedom, of justice, and patriotism. The time, sir, is fast approaching when your eyes will be gladdened by the glorious vision of a pure church in a pure state—the church and state again united in a cordial embrace—when our only altar will be the altar of freedom and the touching simplicity of Reformed Protestant Episcopal worship will not envy the gorgeous pageantry of State ceremony—when the Cumming race will sit in St Peter's chair and enforce its own infallible decisions with the sword of righteous jealously for the truth. Let the Constitution be careful otherwise Americans, if true, as true they will be to this pure and precious doctrine now revealed by Dr. Cummings' Missionaries, will be forced to rebellion against the Government, as we Canadians certainly will against ours, if the United States Constitution is not true to itself.

SOCRATES.

DEWDNEY'S IMPUTATION EXPLAINED!

British Columbia's Good, Mr. DeCosmos' Only Thought.

VICTORIA, Feb. 19th, 1874.

HON. HUGH NELSON:

SIR,—I would like you to inform me whether the statement published by Mr. E. Dewdney, a short time ago with regard to the appropriation of $75,000 worth of Canadian Pacific Railroad stock for my sole use and benefit, or that of my colleagues, is true or false.

I have the honor, to be, sir, your obedient servant,

A. DECOSMOS.

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 19, 1874.

HON. AMOR DECOSMOS:

SIR,—During the first session in 1873, I attended a meeting of certain British Columbia members in your room at the Russel House, Ottawa. Hon. Henry Nathan by general consent of these members was not invited to be present. The meeting was for the purpose of taking into consideration the manner in which the Railway Stock under the Allan contract had been placed upon the British Columbia market. You and Mr. Dewdney, were appointed to call upon Sir John A. Macdonald in regard to this matter. No proposition was made by you to have any stock allotted to the British Columbia members as a bonus, and I believe it was not Mr. Dewdney's intention to convey this impression although this might be inferred from his letter of Feb. 4th. My idea at the time was that you and certain other members from British Columbia were of opinion that the Pacific Railway stock had been unfairly placed upon the market, and the action taken was for the purpose of preventing its being thrown into the hands of a few individuals.

HUGH NELSON.

The Senator of Stadacona.

L'Evenement says:—"Mr. Joly has been named a Senator for the Stadacona Division in the room of the Hon. Mr. Chauveau. We regret to see Mr. Joly abandon the Local House, where he made such a brilliant reputation and rendered so many valuable services to the Province. But it was impossible to choose any man, other than Mr. Joly, in face of the nominations of such eminent men as Messrs. Brown and Penny, so as to secure the French Canadian element in the Senate an equal share of influence. Such selections elevate the Senate, whose ancient regime tended to make it an asylum, and to raise it to its true status in our legislative system. By his character, as well as by his ability, Mr. Joly has great influence in Parliamentary circles in Ottawa. The news that he had left the House of Commons was received with much regret. This regret will be somewhat softened when it is seen that, although he has retired from the House of Commons, yet he does not leave the Federal Parliament. Mr. Joly will certainly take such a position in the Senate as will agree admirably with his elevated character. He is not in the strictest sense of the word a party man, his position in the House being always that of a moderate man. There is no doubt that some day he will become the Speaker, and will always remain one of the most influential members."

Y. M. C. ASSOCIATION.—A mass meeting will be held this evening in Knox's Church, City Hall Square, with a view to promoting the interests of the Young Men's Christian Association under whose auspices it is being held.

KEMPTVILLE FAIR.—The good people of Kemptville, not satisfied with the fair held in that village on the 4th of March, have by proclamation called a special fair for Wednesday next the 18th instant. Farmers in the surrounding country having live stock to dispose of, will be pleased to learn of this announcement.

ENGLISH MAIL.—The English mail will close at the city post office this morning, at 11:05 o'clock, destined for the steamship 'Scandinavian,' which leaves Portland for Liverpool to-morrow. A supplementary bag closes at 12:25 o'clock, noon, for the same destination.

FANCY GOODS.—The finest assortment of fancy goods, specially selected for wearing at balls, evening parties, opening of the House, &c., was shown us yesterday by Mr. T. E. Moore, of the Burlington Hairdressing Saloon. It is without doubt the finest assortment of goods for the ladies' toilette table that has ever yet been imported into Ottawa.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—A special meeting of the Board of School Trustees will be held this afternoon at the City Hall, out of respect to the late William Stewart, one of the oldest teachers in the service of the Board. A resolution of condolence to the bereaved family will probably be passed, and some steps taken towards attending the funeral in a body.

OBITUARY.—It is with regret we, this morning, chronicle the death of Mr. William Stewart, lately a teacher in the Central School West, in this city. Mr. Stewart was an old resident of Ottawa, having for the last quarter of a century been engaged in his profession here. He was highly esteemed among his many friends, a loving husband and parent. He leaves a widow and large family to mourn his loss. He was quiet and unobtrusive in his manner, but took an active part in the promotion of all charitable and religious movements in the city.

LITERARY AND MUSICAL.—A literary and musical entertainment will be held in the basement of St. Andrew's Church, Wellington Street, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of that Church, this—Friday—evening, the 13th inst. Readings will be given by the Rev D. M. Gordon, Mr. Jackson, Principal of the Ottawa Ladies' College, and Messrs. Brodie, Stewart and McNeil, R. N. The musical portion of the programme will be sustained by Mrs. Howett, of Toronto, Mrs. Percival Sheppard, the Misses Orme, Miss Drummond, Mr. Sinclair, who has consented to sing a Scotch ballad, and Mr. N. McLean. Mr. F. W. Mills, the popular organist of Christ Church, will preside at the piano, and Mr. Baxter, organist of St. Andrew's Church, will act as conductor. A good treat is in store. We would, therefore, advise all to go early to obtain good seats. Admission to all parts of the room 25 cents.

ALUMNI MEETING.—The first Triennial Meeting of the Associated Alumni of the Canadian Literary Institute, will be held in Woodstock, on Tuesday, 7th of April, 1874. This Society is composed of former students—all those who attended the Institute for the period of "three terms and upwards" being eligible for membership—and a season of much interest is promised on the above occasion.

An Alumni Dinner will be served in the Dining Room of the Institute, at 3 o'clock p.m. In the evening a full programme of literary exercises is announced, consisting of Orations, by the Rev. D. Baldwin of Strathroy, and R. Laidlaw, Esq., of London; an Essay, by Miss B. Sinclair, of Kincardine; and a Scientific Paper, by Rev. J. Torrance, B.A., of Toronto. These exercises will be interspersed with choice music. Reduced fares have been granted by the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railways, which are issued by the President of the Society, Rev. J. L. Campbell, of Chatham, Ontario. This excellent Institution is in a most flourishing condition under the charge of its able Principal, the Rev. R. A. Fyfe, D. D., and the Baptists of Canada, have just cause to be proud of their College in Woodstock.

NEW ENGINES.—"We understand that the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway Company have ordered two new large engines, with six-feet drivers, for express trains. They are being manufactured in Massachusetts and will be put on the road next spring. They will make a slight change in the time of running from this city to Montreal, and the distance from Ottawa to Prescott will be run in something like an hour. The Company is ever alive to the wants of the travelling public, and secure all modern and improved machinery to quicken the speed and increase the security of travelling. It may be said that this road is the freest from accidents of any in the Province." The foregoing is from an evening paper, and is likely to be incorrect in several respects. It is not probable that the Company have ordered a class of engine that is going entirely out of use, for there are few roads now using six-foot driving wheels; nor is it probable that there is any intention of trying to run the distance from this city to Prescott in "something like an hour." Something like two hours would indicate a more commendable sort of enterprise, and more certainly win public confidence and approval, and Mr. Reynolds knows it.

Horses Saved.

The lives of thousands of horses have been saved during the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half as successful or given such universal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. THE REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH MOVEMENT.

There was a large and highly respectable assemblage in the Court House yesterday evening to listen to the explanations of the Reverend Mr. Gallagher respecting the causes which have led to the formation of "The Reformed Episcopal Church," and the progress which had been made. Mr. Gallagher showed on the authority of the primitive writers that there were originally no distinctions such as that claimed by the unreformed Church of England in the ministry; that Presbyters ordained Bishops, and that indeed, ordination solely rested with the Presbyters, until for reasons of expediency ordination was left wholly in the hands of the Bishops. He further showed that the Prayer Book in the United States Episcopal Church was really altered at the time of the Declaration of Independence, and that the first United States Bishops were ordained in England, and that the United States' Prayer Book was approved of by Bishops of the Church of England in England. Originally he believed, as he had been taught, in Apostolic succession but as he had obtained experience and knowledge he had come to look upon the alleged succession as an ecclesiastical hallucination. There was, indeed, no trace of it until upwards of 150 years after the death of the Apostles. The prayer book did not mention it, and it required the most brazen effrontery therefore to assert that there was such a succession. It had nothing to rest upon. It was like the Hindoo notion that the earth rested upon an elephant, and that the elephant stood upon a turtle, which rested upon nothing. He spoke of the moral courage of Dr. Cummins, of his great piety and earnestness, and showed by books obtained from a Sunday School in this city that the children were taught to believe that there was no doctrinal difference between the churches of Rome and England. The alterations that had been made in the Prayer Book, which had been scoffed at here, had been drawn up under the auspices of William III., "one of the wisest men that God ever made." He took the opportunity of stating that he had not come to Ottawa as an adventurer, but had been invited to come, and sincerely hoped that his coming might be productive of good. It was a mistake to suppose that there was not now a Free Church of England in England. About ten years ago a Free Church of England was formed, and a union effected between it and that of Lady Huntingdon, who, in 1780, supported out of her own means a number of clergymen, who, for conscience sake, had left the jurisdiction of the Archbishop of Canterbury, but retained the formulas of the Church of England. The reverend gentleman intimated that a religious newspaper, The Episcopalian, was published in Baltimore, supporting the Reform movement, and that the movement was making wonderful progress all over the United States. He said it would be necessary to organize at once, and suggested that those who were in favour of doing so would sign a paper to that effect, while a subscription list would be opened to obtain funds for the support of a clergyman.

Dr. VanCortlandt showed his sympathy with the movement by subscribing $5, and there followed others, to the tune of $1,650.

It was then moved by Mr. H. Alexander, seconded by Mr. W. A. MacAgy, and it was Resolved—That in humble reliance upon Almighty God a congregation of the Reformed Episcopal Church be now recognized in the city of Ottawa, in the Dominion of Canada, in conformity with the declaration of Principles, Constitution and Canons of the said Reformed Episcopal Church, and that until the Canadian Branch of the said church shall otherwise ordain in Synod or General Council assembled, the Right Rev. George David Cummins, D.D., be and is hereby acknowledged as the presiding Bishop of the Canadian Branch of the Reformed Episcopal Church.

The resolution was unanimously carried and no less than 102 heads of families joined the church.

The chair was occupied by Zachariah Wilson, Esq., Collector of Customs.

Society of St. Vincent de Paul Lecture.

A lecture under the auspices and in aid of the above deserving society, was delivered last evening in St. Joseph's College by Mr. Frederick R. Stokes, A. B. The attendance was large and comprised the elite of the Catholic population of the city, among whom we noticed Mr. J. G. Moylan, Government Inspector of Prisons, and Mrs. Moylan, Mr. Chas. McCarthy, C. E., Moore Higgins, E. Tetu, F. X. Prieur and the Misses Prieur, R. S. M. Bouchette and Mrs. Bouchette, G. Plunkett, Hon. J. Royal, Dr. and Mrs. Lynn, Col. and the Misses Aumond, P. O'Meara, E. Garneau, Mr. H. J. O'Neil and Miss O'Neil, and a large number of the Catholic clergy of the city. The chair was occupied by M. W. Kehoe, President of the Society, who briefly introduced the lecturer, remarking that owing to the numerous pressing demands this season, the funds of the Society were in a low condition. Mr. Stokes on coming forward was received with applause. He explained that in order to illustrate his subject of the "Ridiculous and the Contemptible," he was obliged to draw from his own experience in life; and he trusted the audience would accept his assurance they were drawn with one or two solitary exceptions, which he would particularize as he reached them, from English sources. After a complimentary allusion to an article which appeared lately in the Times, and a lucid explanation of the words ridiculous and contemptible, he proceeded to ridicule in a humourous and brilliant manner, affectation in speaking among both ladies and gentlemen, young giddy ladies and mature maidens, young shoddy gentlemen, and military swells. He illustrated the ridiculous, which, unlike the contemptible, cannot always be avoided, by examples from the chapter of mishaps in everyday life, in which his display of sparkling wit evoked loud laughter. Going on to rationalism he said that he did not (of course) mean to say that Strauss or Renan were contemptible, but many of those who wished to be thought their followers were stretching the argument in favor of Christianity, he maintained that it was ridiculous to lightly reject it, and yet many men did so reject it, youthful "Daniels came to judgment" whose delight was to proclaim to a deluded Christendom, but it was the victim of an imposture. Men who patronized their LORD with complimentary criticisms; who bracketed him with Moses and Mahomed and Socrates and Confucius, as an estimable reformer for whom they had a great deal of respect and admiration, and these blasphemous fools were not learned nor theologians. They knew nothing of classics; they were wholly ignorant of logic, or ethics, or ecclesiastical history. But they could prattle away the eternal verities, and hold forth about the absurdity of miracles and so forth. To quote scripture would be useless, they would conceitedly refuse to be bound by "Hebrew literature," or the ideas of a "Jewish Platonist" and this apostle belonged to the "Semitic race" and so on. No did it diminish the absurdity to quote from Strauss or Renan, for why should they be believed and St. Paul who lived at the time rejected. He then went on to ridicule lady-killers, and after an energetic denunciation of "men about town," whose lives were a systematic violation of the "Decalogue" were worse than Pagan because passed in a Christian country, and would meet a deeper damnation. He concluded by an eloquent and earnest appeal to his hearers to "do justice and love mercy and walk humbly with their God." We regret that pressure on our space prevents us giving a more detailed account of this very clever lecture at the close of which Mr. Stokes was greeted with long and continued applause.

Mr. J. G. Moylan then rose to propose a vote of thanks. A short time ago, he had read in a paper in the United States a very elaborate article, in which the writer set his face against the practice of moving votes of thanks on occasions like the present, because they were sometimes bestowed on what an Irishman might be permitted to term undeserving merit; but in the present case, the lecturer was deserving of a vote of thanks for two reasons. Firstly, because of the intrinsic merit of his discourse which was the result of deep thought, general observation, and a close acquaintance with men and things. He had in his time listened to many lectures pleasing to the ear, and apparently brilliant; but had almost invariably found that he learned nothing new from them. Secondly, because it was for the purpose of aiding a truly deserving society, the exercise of whose charity is not narrowed by considerations of sect or denomination, but assists all who are in distress in this inclement season of the year. He sought no other grounds than those on which to ask a hearty vote of thanks.

The motion having been seconded, Mr. Stokes briefly acknowledged the compliment.
